President Unfolds Plan To Halt U.S. Recession

Tension Is Felt In Cuba

Some American Families Leave As Strike Looms

HAVANA, Cuba, March 8 (AP)—Rebel leader Fidel Castro's threat to call a general revolutionary strike at any hour sent fear surging through Cuba today.

Some U. S. citizens sent their families to Miami and elsewhere in the United States. Those who stayed stocked up on food supplies. Havana's big foreign colony was tense.

Rebel sources said Castro may call the strike for Monday—the sixth anniversary of President Fulgencio Batista's rise to power. Castro has predicted a strike would topple Batista.

Crush Walkouts Ordered

There are indications of some nervousness within Batista's government. Batista yesterday called off his own anniversary celebrations scheduled for Monday. He has given his troops orders to be ready to crush any general walkout of workers.

Rebel bulletins flooded Havana and other major cities.

"Our final blow," they said, "will be a general revolutionary strike, firmly organized in all workers' sections and with spontaneous collaboration of the Cuban people."

They said Batista will be overthrown and the "comedy of false elections" will be ended.

The campaign for the presidential election June 1 is getting under way. Opposition candidates charge, however, they have no real chance of bucking Batista's candidate, former Premier Jose Aguero Rivero.

The rebel bulletins recalled that a general strike preceded the downfall of dictator Marcos Perez, Jiminez in Venezuela earlier this year.

Castro is seeking what he lacked in two previous strike calls last year—coordination. He promises that the strike will be well-timed and fully supported.

Eusebio Mujal Ardent, leader of the powerful Cuban Confederation of Labor and supporter of Batista, said the union's 1,200,000 members would not strike. Speaking from his heavily guarded home, he told newsmen a general strike would be crushed by Cuba's police and armed forces.

"The rebels don't have a chance of staging a successful strike," he said.

Castro considers the strike his big weapon. He has only 600 men to face the well-equipped government forces, and they are running out of arms. If the people back a general strike, he hopes many of the government troops will desert.

Report Mack's Outside Income Totaled $41,000

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said Saturday that Richard A. Mack's books show he had an outside income of $41,000 while he served on the Federal Communications Commission.

Mack resigned under fire from his $20,000-a-year FCC post Monday while under investigation by a House Commerce subcommittee which Harris heads.

Harris said Mack's chtck stubs and other records showed a total income of $76,000 in a two-year period when his FCC salary amounted to $35,000.

Asked the source of Mack's $41,000 in outside income, Harris said: "That's the point—we don't know."

He noted that there is a provision in the Federal Communications Act which bars a member of the FCC from engaging "in other business."

The FCC post held by Mack paid $15,000 a year when he was first appointed. This was later

Downed Jet Flew Over North Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—The U.S. Air Force admitted Saturday that an F86 Sabrejet was flying over North Korean territory when it was shot down by anti-aircraft fire Thursday.

The North Koreans demanded a meeting with the United Nations Command to discuss "violating of the armistice agreement by your side," presumably the Sabrejet flight.

The Military Armistice Commission set the meeting for Monday.

The pilot, presumably captured by the Communists after parachuting onto North Korean soil, was identified as Capt. Leon Pfeiffer, of Kenosha, Wis.

Five Persons Die In Texas Auto Accident

TEXAS CITY, Tex., March 8 (AP) — Five persons were killed and one injured today in a two-car collision 10 miles north of here on State Highway 140.

The dead were identified as Arthur Wehmeyer, of Texas City, his wife, Edna May, 31, her daughter, Edna Fay, 14, Alton Pierce, a year-old boy who lived with the Wehmeyers, and E. V. Rodden, 51, a Baytown insurance agent.

Injured was Eddie Bay, a stepson of Wehmeyer.

Wehmeyer was the driver of one car and Rodden the driver of the other.

Contract On First 'Big 80' Span Slated

Contracts will be let March 26 for construction of the first section of the transcontinental super highway through this area, District Highway Engineer Wayne Huckaby said yesterday.

Huckaby said the first contract would provide construction of 4.205 miles between Choudrant and Ruston, west of Monroe. The first segment will junction at La. 145 in Choudrant and run west 4.205 miles.

A month later, Huckaby said contracts will be let on the remaining 3.6 miles between Ruston and Choudrant.

First Segment

Huckaby said the first segment of the highway project would require one million cubic yards of dirt for building the road bed. "That's quite a project," Huckaby commented. He said construction would start "this summer."

The district highway engineer said plans and specifications for the project are now at his office on DeSiard Road in Monroe. "Bids are also being advertised in official journals," Huckaby said. He aslo said that all contractors on the mailing list of the highway department were receiving notices.

Huckaby estimated that "big 80" construction operations will get into Monroe and West Monroe "in about 18 or 24 months."

Summit Motive Revealed

Reds Hope For Acceptance Of Hold On East

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP—Russia is maneuvering to force U. S. acceptance of its political stranglehold on Communist Eastern Europe.

This was described by U. S. officials today as a major purpose behind Moscow's insistent drive for an East-West summit conference.

This exchange, including an unexpected message from Premier Nikolai Bulganin to President Eisenhower, showed that the Kremlin and the White House are talking about two different kinds of summit meetings.

Navy Calls Off Test Of Its Vanguard

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) —The Navy tried daylong Saturday to get the slender Vanguard rockett into the air bearing a small satellite but had to call off its efforts when heavy weather locked in Cape Canaveral.

Dr. John P. Hagen, Project Vanguard director, confirmed from Washington that this attempt to put the 72-foot rocket into the sky with a 6.4-inch moon in its nose cone was postponed because of weather closing in.

Hagen said a new attempt to launch the Vanguard will be made as "soon as practicable." However, Hagen said through a spokesman, it was improbable that a test will be attempted Sunday.

There was no immediate announcement as to what caused a succession of postponements earlier in the day.

But it seemed obvious that the weather which boiled suddenly over the cape—blotting out the Vanguard service structure from reporters and photographers little more than a mile away—was the main factor at the end of the day.

Several Long Holdups

Earlier, however, there had been several long holdups during the countdown leading up to triggering of the Vanguard. The exact reason for any of these high above the cape caused at least one of the delays.

At one point, the Navy got to within 35 seconds of sending the Vanguard aloft, then had to stop. After this, the countdown was "recycled" to "T" (rof takeoff) minus 35 minutes. But after "holding" for nearly an hour, the crewmen were ready to "jump" the count to minus 10 minutes and start the Vanguard on its way.

But at this point the weather rolled in.

GETS LETTERS FROM NORTH

Ad Campaign 'Only Beginning'-Rainach

By JAMES McLEAN

BATON ROUGE, March 8 (AP) — State Sen. W.M. Rainach, who placed a Louisiana ad in the New York Herald Tribune upholding segregation, said today that bid for Northern public support was only the beginning.

His mail response ran better than 4½ to one favoring the South's position, the legislator said.

"Some means must be devised to launch a full scale campaign," Rainach said, "carried on jointly by the governments of Southern states with tax money and donations from price sources."

The Herald Tribune ad must be considered "the first reconnaissance" in taking the South's cause to the Northern realm of public opinion, he said, adding:

'Found Achille's Heel'

"We've found the Achille's heel of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People in the North. The heel is the inward desire of the Northerner to achieve a segregated social system such as we have in the South."

His group is taking steps now to carry on an "experimental" campaign in the North, Rainach said, building up to a possible full scale effort in the South "in the next two or three years." He did not elaborate.

The chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation, which authorized the Feb. 17 ad, said it cost $4,488 "and the money did not come from Louisiana taxpayers."

Rainach's segregation "watchdog" committee is vote-strong in the Legislature. It has been the

Indonesian Evacuation Plans Made

JAKARTA, Indonesia, March 8 (AP)—Former Vice President Mohammed Hatta was reported today insisting on a truce with the central Sumatran rebels as signs of a showdown multiplied.

U. S. oil company officials went into a meeting with U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones to survey plans for evacuating American oil workers and their dependents in central Sumatra.

(Revolutionary army headquarters at Padang, central Sumatra, said it expected government troop landings in that area within 24 hours. Two Jakarta air force bombers dropped leaflets over Padang warning an invasion would take place "in a very short time.").

Sudden Postponement

Informed sources said Hatta's insistence on a truce before negotiating a settlement with the rebels brought the sudden postponement of a meeting with President Sukarno yesterday.

Hatta wants to link a truce with the formation of a presidential cabinet. Sukarno wants to take up these problems separately.

Hatta also is said to be demanding amnesty for the young colonels and rebel government leaders who have been branded as traitors by Jakarta and ordered arrested.

Hatta, a former political ally of Sukarno, would be a member of the new cabinet. Many quarters feel his inclusion in the government would bring the rebels around to making peace.

Quit Government

Hatta quit the government more than a year ago after Sukarno had set up his program for "guided democracy." The program instituted the National Council, an advisory group, which includes 12 Communists. Hatta claimed the Communists would have too much influence on the government.

About half of the 45 members of the council were reported urging Sukarno to break off all talks

'Resignation' Offer Is Made By Union Head

DETROIT (UP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther offered Saturday to resign from the labor movement if Sen. Barry Goldwater (R - Ariz.) can prove to a jury of clergymen that Reuther is a "more dangerous menace than the Sputniks or anything Russia might do."

Goldwater made the "more menace" remarks about Reuther in a speech here in January. Reuther challenged Goldwater to "test my good faith by accepting my proposal."

Reuther made the offer in a letter to Goldwater in which the union leader also made an appeal for "sanity and responsibility" in the Senate Rackets Committee study of the 4-year-old strike at the Kohler Co. of Sheboygan, Wis.

The Senate hearings in the Kohler-UAW dispute during the past 10 days have been a "sad spectacle of recrimination by both the company and the union," Reuther said.

He noted that Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.)

Cloudy And Cool Expected In Area

A cool day is in store as the Sunday "bill of fare"—in sharp contrast with last Sunday's warm, sunny weather, according to the federal forecaster.

It will be partly cloudy, with little change in temperature today and tomorrow in the Twin Cities area.

Arkansas can expect a few showers early today, with cloudy weather afterwards, through tomorrow.

Highest temperatures yesterday in Monroe was 65, a sharp drop from the 80 of Friday. Low was 55, compared with 57 Friday. A heavy electrical and rain storm yesterday morning dumped .35 of an inch of rain on the area.

Manslaughter Suspect Held In Jail Here

The Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department last night was holding a 44-year-old carnival concessionaire wanted by Troy, Ala. authorities since 1952, on a manslaughter charge, and by the FBI for unlawful flight.

He was listed on the sheriff's records as Walter L. Swan whose address was given as 416 Duluth Street, Thief River Falls, Minn.

According to authorities Swan was picked up on a routine investigation here Friday night after he moved into town to join a carnival. Sheriff Bailey Grant made it clear that the investigation of Swan was independent of any operation concerning the carnival.

Routine checks of wanted lists in the sheriff's office disclosed that the man had been sought by Alabama authorities and the FBI on the six-year-old charge.

Troy officials verified the fact that a man by that name and description was wanted by them,

Yemen Is Taken Into Arab Fold

CAIRO, March 8 (AP) — Yemen's primitive monarchy today formally federated with President Nasser's revolutionary United Arab Republic.

The signing ceremony was held at Damascus in what is now the Province of Syria under UAR. Nasser signed for UAR and Crown Prince Saif al Islam al Badr for Yemen.

The federation will be called the United Arab States. The charter left the door open for other states to join.

The federation amounts to little more than a tight alliance between two countries—UAR and Yemen.

The charter stipulates that member states will retain their international status and regimes. That means a monarchy like Yemen retains its own system within the federation.

Yemen's crafty old king, Imam Ahmed, has not handed over his country to Nasser as the Syrians did last month.

The terms of the federation, as released by the Middle East News Agency, stipulate that Ahmed and Nasser will preside jointly over the United Arab States. This means Ahmed retains virtual veto power over any decisions affecting federation.

Nasser and Ahmed will form a two-man high council. They will be assisted by a Council of Union comprising equal numbers of members from Yemen and UAR.

FOR SEVEN YEARS

Retarded Youths Held Prisoners

MADISON WIS. (UP)—Three retarded children virtually were held prisoners for seven years in an unheated attic while their four normal brothers and sisters had the "run of the house," police said Saturday.

The three youngsters were forced, police said, to live on a diet of bread, milk, water and cereal once a day. They received their only "decent meal" at a school which they were allowed out of the house to attend, police said.

The mother of the youngsters, aged 12, 14 and 15, admitted their story of hardship and filth was true, police said. They said she was "unable to give any reason for her treatment of the children."

Police said the mother told them she was "relieved" that someone was going to take care of the two boys and a girl.

Charges were withheld pending an investigation.

Asked Policeman For

The plight of the retarded youngsters was discovered when two of them—a 12-year-old boy and his 14-year-old sister—approached a policeman. They pleaded with the policeman to "adopt" them because they were afraid to return home.

Authorities investigated and found the 15-year-old boy sitting in a dark corner of the attic, where the three were forced to live except for occasional visits to the

Contributions Reach $2,832 For Memorial

Friends of the late Dr. William L. Bendel Sr., planning a Little League baseball park as a memorial to the prominent Monroe physician who died last month, have contributed $2,832 in the first count of collected donations, according to an announcement by the board of trustees for the fund.

It was pointed out that pledges exceed this amount, but only collected contributions are being listed. Thus, the $2,822 announced in the initial figure represents actual cash or personal checks already in the hands of the trustees.

The drive got its biggest boost from a single West Monroe family when the mail yesterday brought $2,000 in checks from W. C. "Bill" Feazel, Mrs. Cynthia Feazel, and Miss Lallage Feazel. Feazel contributed $1,000 and his wife and daughter included their personal checks of $500 each.

Dr. Bendel was a follower of all athletics and a football official, and among the first such donors to his memory are an ex-Neville of Monroe football player, F. M. Johnson of Hot Springs, Ark.; and ex-football official and baseball umpire, Walter Veach; and a former football coach, Howard Barker.

While only cash donations are being tabulated, other valuable donations in materials necessary to building the planned park are also being acknowledged.

H. R. Hayes Lumber Company of West Monroe has listed building supplies like nails, lumber, and other wares that can be used in the project.

Monroe Steel and Pipe Company has also listed materials to be donated for construction purposes.

Federal Spending Ike's Key

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower proposed Saturday a multi-billion-dollar increase in federal spending to pull the nation out of the recession.

The President urged a $2,811,000,000 speedup in housing, highway, and other works programs, but he rejected Democratic moves in Congress to set up a depression era "WPA" (Works Projects Administration).

"I am concerned over the sudden upsurge of pump - priming schemes, such as the setting up of huge federal bureaucracies of the PWA or WPA type," the President said. He called such schemes "wholesale distribution of the people's money in dubious activities" and said they would "do great damage."

He said his plans for stepped-up federal spending are for "genuinely needed" activities only.

Would Liberalize Payments

The increase in highway, housing and other works programs, unofficially calculated at $2,811,000,000, is in addition to about one billion dollars in anti-recession spending Eisenhower projected in a statement on Feb. 12 and a five-billion-dollar speed-up in defense construction and procurement.

An 80 per cent increase in defense spending in the current half year over the last half of 1957 was announced in the Feb. 12 statement and detailed in a letter to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) from the Defense Department Friday.

The President also said he will ask for a change in the law to permit payment of unemployment compensation for more weeks than is now permitted under state laws. He said payments should be extended for "a brief period" but not intrude on "state obligations and prerogatives."

President Sends Letters

Mr. Eisenhower outlined his anti-recession plans in letters to Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.).

It came as the Democrat-controlled Congress threatened to seize the initiative from the administration in action to deal with the business slump and boost employment.

The President made no mention of possible tax cut as he did at his Wednesday news conference. He said then that it was a possibility if other anti - recession measures fell short of their goal.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said this omission did not mean it is not being studied.

Here is a breakdown of the new spending announced or proposed Saturday:

What President Proposes

1. A 200-million-dollar increase in civil works projects by the Army engineers, improvement of national park roads and facilities, and road - building and maintenance work by the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

2. New appropriations of 186 million dollars for the Bureau of Reclamation (46 million), Army engineers (125 million), and Department of Agriculture (15 million) for dams, flood control, and other rivers and harbors work.

3. An additional 25 million dollars to be asked for the Interior Department to permit new starts on small, upstream reclamation projects.

4. Release of an additional 200 million dollars to the Federal National Mortgage Association to buy up home mortgages valued at up to $10,000. (Democrats in Congress have proposed an increase of $1,500,000,000 in FNMA's mortgage-buying funds.)

5. A request that Congress eliminate pay-as - you - go provisions from the federal highway program to permit a $2,200,000,000 increase in federal apportionments to the states during the three calendar years 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Sudden Postponement

Informed sources said Hatta's insistence on a truce before negotiating a settlement with the rebels brought the sudden postponement of a meeting with President Sukarno yesterday.

Hatta wants to link a truce with the formation of a presidential cabinet. Sukarno wants to take up these problems separately.

Hatta also is said to be demanding amnesty for the young colonels and rebel government leaders who have been branded as traitors by Jakarta and ordered arrested.

Hatta, a former political ally of Sukarno, would be a member of the new cabinet. Many quarters feel his inclusion in the government would bring the rebels around to making peace.

Quit Government

Hatta quit the government more than a year ago after Sukarno had set up his program for "guided democracy." The program instituted the National Council, an advisory group, which includes 12 Communists. Hatta claimed the Communists would have too much influence on the government.

About half of the 45 members of the council were reported urging Sukarno to break off all talks

'Resignation' Offer Is Made By Union Head

DETROIT (UP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther offered Saturday to resign from the labor movement if Sen. Barry Goldwater (R - Ariz.) can prove to a jury of clergymen that Reuther is a "more dangerous menace than the Sputniks or anything Russia might do."

Goldwater made the "more menace" remarks about Reuther in a speech here in January. Reuther challenged Goldwater to "test my good faith by accepting my proposal."

Reuther made the offer in a letter to Goldwater in which the union leader also made an appeal for "sanity and responsibility" in the Senate Rackets Committee study of the 4-year-old strike at the Kohler Co. of Sheboygan, Wis.

The Senate hearings in the Kohler-UAW dispute during the past 10 days have been a "sad spectacle of recrimination by both the company and the union," Reuther said.

He noted that Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.)

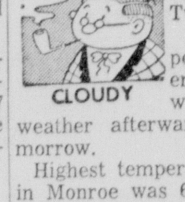
Cloudy And Cool Expected In Area



A cool day is in store as the Sunday "bill of fare"—in sharp contrast with last Sunday's warm, sunny weather, according to the federal forecaster.

It will be partly cloudy, with little change in temperature today and tomorrow in the Twin Cities area.

Arkansas can expect a few showers early today, with cloudy weather afterwards, through tomorrow.

Highest temperatures yesterday in Monroe was 65, a sharp drop from the 80 of Friday. Low was 55, compared with 57 Friday. A heavy electrical and rain storm yesterday morning dumped .35 of an inch of rain on the area.

Federal Spending Ike's Key

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower proposed Saturday a multi-billion-dollar increase in federal spending to pull the nation out of the recession.

The President urged a $2,811,000,000 speedup in housing, highway, and other works programs, but he rejected Democratic moves in Congress to set up a depression era "WPA" (Works Projects Administration).

"I am concerned over the sudden upsurge of pump - priming schemes, such as the setting up of huge federal bureaucracies of the PWA or WPA type," the President said. He called such schemes "wholesale distribution of the people's money in dubious activities" and said they would "do great damage."

He said his plans for stepped-up federal spending are for "genuinely needed" activities only.

Would Liberalize Payments

The increase in highway, housing and other works programs, unofficially calculated at $2,811,000,000, is in addition to about one billion dollars in anti-recession spending Eisenhower projected in a statement on Feb. 12 and a five-billion-dollar speed-up in defense construction and procurement.

An 80 per cent increase in defense spending in the current half year over the last half of 1957 was announced in the Feb. 12 statement and detailed in a letter to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) from the Defense Department Friday.

The President also said he will ask for a change in the law to permit payment of unemployment compensation for more weeks than is now permitted under state laws. He said payments should be extended for "a brief period" but "without impairing" the "state obligations and prerogatives."

President Sends Letters

Mr. Eisenhower outlined his anti-recession plans in letters to Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.).

It came as the Democrat-controlled Congress threatened to seize the initiative from the administration in a drive to deal with the business slump and boost employment.

The President made no mention of possible tax cut as he did at his Wednesday news conference. He said then that it was a possibility if other anti - recession measures fell short of their goal.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said this omission did not mean it is not being studied.

Here is a breakdown of the new spending announced or proposed Saturday:

What President Proposes

1. A 200-million-dollar increase in civil works projects by the Army engineers, improvement of national park roads and facilities, and road - building and maintenance work by the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

2. New appropriations of 186 million dollars for the Bureau of Reclamation (46 million), Army engineers (125 million), Department of Agriculture (15 million) for dams, flood control, and other rivers and harbors work.

3. An additional 25 million dollars to be asked for the Interior Department to permit new starts on small, upstream reclamation projects.

4. Release of an additional 200 million dollars to the Federal National Mortgage Association to buy up home mortgages valued at up to $10,000. (Democrats in Congress just passed a bill to grant an increase of $1,500,000,000 in FNMA's mortgage-buying funds.)

5. A request that Congress eliminate pay-as - you - go provisions from the federal highway program to permit a $2,200,000,000 increase in federal apportionments to the states during the three calendar years 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Manslaughter Suspect Held In Jail Here

The Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department last night was holding a 44-year-old carnival concessionaire wanted by Troy, Ala. authorities since 1952, on a manslaughter charge, and by the FBI for unlawful flight.

He was listed on the sheriff's records as Walter L. Swan whose address was given as 416 Duluth Street, Thief River Falls, Minn.

According to authorities Swan was picked up on a routine investigation here Friday night after he moved into town to join a carnival. Sheriff Bailey Grant made it clear that the investigation of Swan was independent of any operation concerning the carnival.

Routine checks of wanted lists in the sheriff's office disclosed that the man had been sought by Alabama authorities and the FBI on the six-year-old charge.

Troy officials verified the fact that a man by that name and description was wanted by them,

Yemen Is Taken Into Arab Fold

CAIRO, March 8 (AP) — Yemen's primitive monarchy today formally federated with President Nasser's revolutionary United Arab Republic.

The signing ceremony was held at Damascus in what is now the Province of Syria under UAR. Nasser signed for UAR and Crown Prince Saif al Islam al Badr for Yemen.

The federation will be called the United Arab States. The charter left the door open for other states to join.

The federation amounts to little more than a tight alliance between two countries—UAR and Yemen.

The charter stipulates that member states will retain their international status and regimes. That means a monarchy like Yemen retains its own system within the federation.

Yemen's crafty old king, Imam Ahmed, has not handed over his country to Nasser as the Syrians did last month.

The terms of the federation, as released by the Middle East News Agency, stipulate that Ahmed and Nasser will preside jointly over the United Arab States. This means Ahmed retains virtual veto power over any decisions affecting federation.

Nasser and Ahmed will form a two-man high council. They will be assisted by a Council of Union comprising equal numbers of members from Yemen and UAR.

FOR SEVEN YEARS

Retarded Youths Held Prisoners

MADISON WIS. (UP)—Three retarded children virtually were held prisoners for seven years in an unheated attic while their four normal brothers and sisters had the "run of the house," police said Saturday.

The three youngsters were forced, police said, to live on a diet of bread, milk, water and cereal once a day. They received their only "decent meal" at a school which they were allowed out of the house to attend, police said.

The mother of the youngsters, aged 12, 14 and 15, admitted their story of hardship and filth was true, police said. They said she was "unable to give any reason for her treatment of the children."

Police said the mother told them she was "relieved" that someone was going to take care of the two boys and a girl.

Charges were withheld pending an investigation.

Asked Policeman For

The plight of the retarded youngsters was discovered when two of them—a 12-year-old boy, and his 14-year-old sister—approached a policeman. They pleaded with the policeman to "adopt" them because they were afraid to return home.

Authorities investigated and found the 15-year-old boy sitting in a dark corner of the attic, where the three were forced to live except for occasional visits to the

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (AP)—State police made new gambling raids in Jefferson Parish today, arresting two persons and seizing five slot machines and racehorse handbook equipment.

Booked on gambling charges were Anthony Pillittere, 49, of Metairie, and Frederick Hartley, 36, of New Orleans.

Troopers said the two were arrested as they attempted to hide handbook equipment during a raid at Serio's Bar on Metairie Rd. Several customers fled when police broke open a door.

Officers said two slot machines were confiscated at Bertha's Bar and two at Martha's Bar in Avondale and one

Ad Campaign 'Only Beginning'-Rainach

By JAMES McLEAN

BATON ROUGE, March 8 (AP) — State Sen. W.M. Rainach, who placed a Louisiana ad in the New York Herald Tribune upholding segregation, said today that his bid for Northern public support was only the beginning.

His mail response ran better than 4½ to one favoring the South's position, the legislator said.

"Some means must be devised to launch a full scale campaign," Rainach said, "carried on jointly by the governments of Southern states with tax money and donations from private sources."

The Herald Tribune ad must be considered "the first reconnaissance" in taking the South's cause to the northern realm of public opinion, he said, adding:

'Found Achille's Heel'

"We've found the Achille's heel of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People in the North. The heel is the inward desire of the Northerner to achieve a segregated social system such as we have in the South."

His group is taking steps now to carry on an "experimental" campaign in the North, Rainach said, building up to a possible full scale effort in the South "in the next two or three years." He did not elaborate.

The chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation, which authorized the Feb. 17 ad, said it cost $4,468 "and the money did not come from Louisiana taxpayers."

Contributions Reach $2,832 For Memorial

Friends of the late Dr. William L. Bendel Sr., planning a Little League baseball park as a memorial to the prominent Monroe physician who died last month, have contributed $2,832 in the first count of collected donations, according to an announcement by the board of trustees for the fund.

It was pointed out that pledges exceed this amount, but only collected contributions are being listed. Thus, the $2,832 announced in the initial figure represents actual cash or personal checks already in the hands of the treasurer.

The drive got its biggest boost from a single West Monroe family when the mail yesterday brought $2,000 in checks from W. C. "Bill" Feazel, Mrs. Cynthia Feazel, and Miss Lallage Feazel. Feazel contributed $1,000 and his wife and daughter included their personal checks of $500 each.

Dr. Bendel was a follower of all athletics and a football official, and among the first such donors to his memory are an ex-Neville of Monroe football player, F. M. Johnson of Hot Springs, Ark.; and ex-football official and baseball umpire, Walter Veach; and a former football coach, Howard Barker.

While only cash donations are being tabulated, other valuable donations in materials necessary to building the planned park are also being acknowledged.

H. R. Hayes Lumber Company of West Monroe has listed building supplies like nails, lumber, and other wares that can be used in the project.

Monroe Steel and Pipe Company has pledged steel and pipe necessary for construction purposes.

Dr. Bendel, an organizer and president of Little League ball in Monroe, was the friend of all athletes and

Allied Mistakes Forty Years Ago

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign New Analyst

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—Could a democratic American government and a Bolshevik dictatorship have lived together with some show of harmony if United States policy had been different in 1918?

The possibility is extremely slight. Yet, says George F. Kennan, former ambassador to Moscow, there was such a slim possibility until the United States, at the height of the confusion in the dying days of World War I, decided to intervene with troops in the Bolshevik Revolution.

Kennan, a noted authority on Russia and Soviet affairs, discusses the mistakes of American and Allied policies 40 years ago in a new book, "The Decision to Intervene," published tomorrow (Princeton University Press. $7.50). This is a second volume of Kennan's history of Soviet-American relations, 1917-20. For the first, "Russia Leaves the War," he received a Pulitzer Prize in history. A third volume is yet to come.

After a detailed study of the vast sea of confusion attendant upon Allied reactions to the Bolshevik Revolution, Kennan finds that President Wilson's decision of mid-summer 1918 to intervene in Russia was a failure of American statesmanship.

"Had Wilson been able to survey the scene of 1918 as we are able to survey it today," Kennan writes, "he would have had to recognize that when great forces have come into motion in world affairs, whether in war or in developing crisis, no government, however great its prestige or its military power, can hope to keep them under control and then to direct their motion by months of silence . . . It takes a different order of statesmanship — one marked by the most anxious and careful following of events and by a determination to act upon the situation unintermittently by every conceivable means — to shape to one's own purpose the mighty and incessant process of change that forms the relationships between nations in troubled times."

The chance of amicable relations with the Bolshevik regime, with all its violent hatred of the captialist world and illusions of world revolution, was a slight one, but if there was any chance at all, the 1918 U.S. policy eliminated it, Kennan contends.

Kennan notes it would be pleasent to report that such deficiencies of statesmanship had been left behind in history. Thus he suggests that American policy may be repeating its old mistakes.

Laugther Is The Shield

By HARRY HERSHFIELD

Humanitarian and Humorist

To get a complete portrait of a people you must sooner or later examine their laughter.

Consider the history of the Jew these past 20 centuries and it is astonishing that he can laugh at all. The sorrows always wait on him, but through the centuries he has created a laughter of his own to dispel them.

In his laughter is the sure hope that he will survive the cruelties of this world and his fierce faith of resurrection in the next.

Now, what has faith to do with laughter?

Ask anyone who has felt the oppressor's lash, and it makes no difference whether he is Protestant, Catholic, or Jew, he must answer:

"Laughter is a weapon which leaves the oppressor helpless, and it is a shield of the spirit which defeats him."

Like the Lion

All the bullies of history are like the lion of the ancient fable; the lion waggered through the jungle, parading his strength, and roared at the rabbit:

"Who is the strongest and most ferocious animal in the world?"

"You of course," the rabbit trembled, and scurried away.

The lion approached in turn the zebra, the buffalo, and the tiger with the same question. And all three quickly agreed that the lion was, indeed, king of all the beasts.

But when the lion roared at the elephant: "Who is King of all the beasts?" he was picked up quickly by the elephant's trunk, battered against a tree, and dropped, contemptuously, to the ground. Whereupon the lion whined:

"Just because you don't know the answer, you don't have to lose your temper."

Unconquerable Spirit

At their doom, history's tyrants learn too late that the bodies of free men may be overcome, but their spirit is unconquerable.

The oppressed have always borne their burden with laughter whether the burden is Pharaoh, Caesar, Hitler, or Stalin. Laughter is his shield, but faith is his rock. Without the faith of Abraham, Jacob and Moses, he could not have survived his tribulations.

But faith, sometimes frail in the face of man's inhumanity to man, must often be tempered with humor, as iron with carbon, to produce a tougher, more resistant substance.

There was a rabbi known for his long daily prayers, and his abiding conviction that they would always be answered. After one arduous prayer, his wife asked: 'And what did you pray for today?"

Like Good Medicine

"That the rich should give greater alms to the poor," he said.

"Do you think God heard your prayer?" she asked.

And the rabbi replied: "I'm sure he heard at least half of it, because the poor have agreed to accept."

Perhaps the unique ingredient of an enduring faith is a man's capacity to laugh at himself for a "merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

This story was very likely told when chariots were the only railroads. But it is now being relayed to spice the bitter struggle of a people to create a nation in that troubled corner of the world called Israel. A Hebrew stretched himself across the railroad tracks with a loaf of bread under his arm. A policeman came running up quickly and demanded:

"What do you think you're doing?"

A Good Reason

"Waiting for the train to run over me," the man said. "I do not wish to live any longer."

"But why the loaf of bread?" the puzzled policeman asked.

"The way the trains run here," the man answered tartly, "you could starve to death waiting for one."

In its logic, and there is such a thing as comic logic, such self-deprecation is a sure sign of tolerance. It is a spur to creative power and can only enrich the heritage of others. His laughter, and his ability to laugh at himself, is in unwritten Hebrew folklore and is his sacred literature as well. And that is why it has a universal appeal to all faiths.

To All Men

In their travail, Jews have often asked: "Why has the good Lord selected such a little people for such large calamities?" But each time it is asked, they quickly reply with this story which belongs to all men:

A poor man had to carry an unbearable load on his back, and one day when he could carry it no farther, he cried out in despair:

"Oh death, come and free Me!"

In a flash the angel of death was at his side inquiring politely: "You called for me?"

"Yes," the poor man answered hastily. "Please help me put my load back on my shoulders."

In a flash the angel of death was at his side inquiring politely: "You called for me?"

"Yes," the poor man answered hastily. "Please help me put my load back on my shoulders."

How Many Farmers?

The great farm debate in this country now seems to center on the question of whether the nation needs more or fewer farmers.

There are some who seem to think the nation would be better off if we could return to family-type farming, with each farm just about large enough to make a good living for a family. There are others who believe farming should be converted into a purely business proposition, carried on by farmer industrialists.

From the standpoint of production alone, those who advocate big farming seem to have the best of the argument. As a way of life, there would seem to be good arguments in favor of the family-type farm.

Most of the support program carried on by the federal government has been in favor of the big-business farmer, since the man with the most acreage is allowed the biggest allotment and the man with the small acreage is cut down so low that his chances of making a living solely from farming are small.

In determining what system is better for any group of people it is usually a good practice to consider what those people think about it. Strangely enough, there seems to be about as much difference of opinion among farmers and farm leaders on this question as there is in government circles. Farmers as a rule might be expected to favor the family-type systems, yet an outstanding farm official takes the opposite view.

L. L. Lovell, president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, speaking in Baton Rouge, said:

"Anyone recommending more people on the farm is lacking in knowledge. Or they may have motives not to be the best interest of the nation."

"You would be surprised at the number of honest, sincere American senators and congressmen who are advocating parts of this program, with special emphasis on family-type farms. In essence, they are recommending a lower standard of living for the country as a whole."

There is no reason for assuming that the senators and congressmen who favor the family-type farm are influenced in any way by the Communists or that it is wrong simply because it may be one of the things of which the Communists approve. Family-type farming was regarded as an excellent way of life in the United States before communism became an issue. In the pressure brought on by increases in population and by mass production in other lines big-business farming may force out the small farmer, yet there remains some doubt that the new system will be more desirable.

Meanwhile, as a means of offsetting a nationwide recession, congress will be obliged to continue farm supports, whether there are many small farmers or fewer big ones.

The dual plan advocated by Senator Allen Ellender (D-La), under which farmers may take advantage of soil bank payments or may withdraw from the soil bank plan and increase their acreage by 30 per cent seems about as good as any. This plan has not yet been enacted into law and may not be but it seems to be meritorious.

Railroads Handicapped

An officer of the Association of American Railroads has appealed for changes in the federal tax code to spur investment in new railroad equipment and facilities. He has a powerful case—particularly when it is viewed in the light of the railroad's critical financial problems, and of the undeniable need of this country for the best possible railroad plant and service.

The trouble, as this spokesman points out, is that present depreciation allowances "are wholly insufficient to keep railroad property intact, much less to permit any improvement or expansion." As an example, the purchase price of a freight car has risen from $2,500 to $8,500 in just 20 years. Obviously, depreciation accruals geared to the original price of that car won't permit the purchase of a replacement. And what is true of freight cars is true of just about everything else.

Since the end of World War II, the rilroads have spent $13.5 billion for improvements and about $1 billion a year is needed just to provide new cars and motive power. These postwar investments actually averaged $435 million a year more than the railroads' net income. And new investment funds, under current conditions, must come chiefly from their meager earnings, from borrowings, and from the cash obtained from depreciation and amortization accruals.

No one denies that the vital railroads are in bad financial shape, and that ways must be found to remedy matters. Fair depreciation allowances would be one of those ways.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Gavin's Sharp Personality Displeasing To Eisenhower

Sometimes the mind of President Eisenhower displays itself best in the off-the-cuff remarks he makes at press conferences, because there he is himself without the intervention of James Hagerty, Arthur Larson, Robert Montgomery and others who seem to be bent on doctoring him into being what he is not and never can be.

The following quotation refers to General James M. Gavin who retired from the military service because he desired to tell the truth without being censored. President Eisenhower said of General Gavin:

"... I mean it was the act of a man of a particular personality—and I have no comment whatsoever. If the man wanted to retire, it was his right, period."

Of course, every human being has a particular personality, no two being alike. There are strong men and weak men, tired men and aggressive men and women, too. What Eisenhower meant probably was that General Gavin has a personality that is displeasing to Eisenhower because it is sharp; it is strong and aggressive; it is self-reliant. The President prefers a conforming personality, one that salutes his superiors and expects to be saluted by his inferiors. In a word, a personality that knows its place and keeps it.

While that is an orderly procedure in a military organization, in civil life it represents tired, unimaginative people who, having discovered what pays off, avoid what does not pay off. In the struggle for power in the world today, it is significant that all of Europe with the exception of West Germany appears to be fatigued intellectually, no statesmen, except the aged Konrad Adenauer, exhibiting both courage and imagination. The Russians, who are building a world state, are, as one might say, full of paprika and that is equally true of such people as the Arabs and the Israeli. But both Europe and the United States are tired and the evidence of fatigue here is the unwillingness of men to engage in controversy, to fight hard for what they believe to be right.

I am sure that Harold Stassen is all wrong about Soviet Russia, but at least he says his say and fights for a forum to say it. What he says seems to me to be immature, idealized nonsense, the product of a careless appraisal of historic forces, but believing as he apparently does that peace is worth any price, he rejects being silenced.

Were it not for an equally aggressive mind, John Foster Dulles, this country would probably have made more errors in foreign policy than it has, for Dulles has had to combat not only the White House crowd but also big business whose patriotism is to be measured by the state of the market and whose judgment is controlled by committees including public relations counsel and lawyers who fear losing retainers and therefore favor avoiding controversies which may lead to unpopularity.

The difference between Harold Stassen and John Foster Dulles is similiar to the difference between Walter Reuther and George Meany. Reuther, seeking power for himself, has the impudence to shout his opinions from the housetops, no matter how foolish and how other men may ridicule him; Meany, regarding himself as a labor statesman and seeking to preserve the AFL-CIO marriage at any cost, retreats steadily before Reuther's impudence. So John Foster Dulles compromises with the White House insipidities, whether they come from Sherman Adams, Harold Stassen, now retired, Arthur Larson or even the President because he will not resign and risk a further collapse of this Republican administration.

In a tired world, victories often go to the most impudent. It took Stalin a decade or more to reduce the Russian Communist Party to his will and the Russian people to his dictatorship. Khrushchev did it in a few months, with humor and laughter, merrily sending such an historic figure as Molotov to Mongolia to be an ambassador to nomads and Kaganovich to Alma Ata.

Khrushchev does not need to kill his opponents as Stalin did because he laughs at them, just as he laughs at all the world when he hands the world an agenda and tells such a country as the United States what may or may not be discussed at a summit conference which he needs for propaganda and the United States needs like a hole in Uncle Sam's head.

The first talking movie was "Don Juan," which Warner Brothers released in 1926. The sound was on synchronized phonograph records.

Eisenhower Resignation Is Seen As Possibility

Agreement between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon on disability has had the effect of reviving the belief that General Eisenhower might resign before the end of his term, especially if the Republicans lose heavily in this autumn's off-year election. Some of those adhering to this belief think Nixon would have a politically-profitable period of honeymoon, whereas Eisenhower would be in for rough sledding in his last two years. Also important Republicans think Nixon could show a vigor in office which the often-ailing Eisenhower no longer can for any considerable period. Nixon, if he became President on or after January 21, 1959, would be eligible under the Constitution for two more four-year terms.

Seriated Satellite Sag? — Both the State Department and the Pentagon think there is a strong possibility that Russia may be having some of the trouble in satellite launching which has bedeviled us at Cape Canaveral, Florida. There have been intelligence reports that the Soviet planned a series of launchings, of which two were successful and others would be aloft now had not something gone awry.

The Wisconsin Plan — G. O. P. has a political strategy which is being called "the Wisconsin Plan." Its purpose is to avoid special elections, especially those to fill Congressional vacancies, wherever it is possible to do so. Governor Vernon W. Thomson is going along with the plan in Wisconsin and there will be no special election to fill the seat of late Congressman Lawrence Smith in First District. Republicans reason they are likely under present conditions to lose any election in a marginal district with attendant injury to morale of party workers. Trouble with plan that only nineteen of the 48 states have Republican Governors.

That 6(a) Line — At the latest tabulation that much - discussed line 6(a) expense account provision which you will find in your 1958 income tax return has gone through its thirty-first draft and is now in shape where Commissioner of Internal Revenue Russell C. Harrington thinks it will catch the whales without inconveniencing the minnows. The whales the government wants to land are high-paid persons who receive additional compensation through tax-free expense accounts for which they need not account.

Harold May Ride Again — Anti-Stassenites in Pennsylvania are no longer confident that they can stop Harold Stassen's bid for the gubernatorial nomination. G.O.P. there is too faction-ridden to prevent an effective front against him as of now. Moreover, feeling is growing that Stassen could defeat Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, who will carry the colors of the embattled leaders of the Pennsylvania Democratic organization. Should the former Minnesota Governor make the grade he would be second man to be Governor of two States. Sam Houston did it (Tennessee — 1827-1829), Texas—1859-1861).

More About the Tax Cut — Both parties are now in the mood to wait not more than thirty days longer to see if there is a pick-up in business conditions. After that look for a race to see which can bring out its tax-plan first. Prediction is that tax slash, if it comes, will be deeper than either party would have thought of in January last.

Senatorial Hopefuls — although Warren G. Harding was the last Senator elected directly to the Presidency from that legislative office that fact does not discourage the present flock of Senatorial hopefuls Their reasoning: With present day issues national or international in scope Governors have little chance to claim the limelight and become well-known.

House Perks Up — The House of Representatives is basking in its unaccustomed limelight. All Senate investigations undertaken in this session have proceeded in desultory fashion and without attracting much attention. Only the House Investigation of the FCC, with the sensational Mack disclosures, caught fire with the public. But with Mack now out of office it is not yet clear how much further the FCC probe will go.

The News Is Bad — Republican leaders have taken word to the White House that foreign aid has lost further ground despite the rally of its supporters here ten days ago, and the reciprocal trade agreements extension is in even deeper trouble. Farm belt Senators and Representatives are making tough specific statements that their votes for either measure can be had only at the price of the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Benson. Prediction is that foreign aid will pass but below the $3 billion, 9 hundred million asked by the Administration. Votes are not yet in sight to extend the trade agreements.

The Vanishing Dollar — Dwight D. Eisenhower whose sound dollar averments were as strong as those of William McKinley now finds that the value of the dollar has eroded nearly 7 per cent in purchasing power in the five years he has been in office.

Recession Gives Boss More Power

NEW YORK (AP)—The boss is the boss again.

The downturn in jobs has made this forgotten figurehead of business a person of importance once more.

It always happens that way.

When there are more jobs than people, nobody pays much attention to the boss. He tiptoes around the place talking to himself—for fear that if he says something out loud he'll hurt somebody's feelings, and the guy'll quit and go to work for a competitor.

But when there are more people than jobs—such as right now—the boss again becomes industry's "father image." The problem of the wise worker then becomes one of how to please his paycheck pappy.

So it is time to revive again a forgotten American art—the art of apple polishing.

Your older hired hands, who've survived bad times before, know how to do this instinctively, just as an old boxer never quite forgets his footwork or how to protect himself in the clinches. It's the young employes, who've never known a recession, who are likely through pure ignorance to get gored by a rampant boss now.

So here are a few tips on how to butter up a boss:

1. First, find out who the boss is. If there is a fellow in your office who used to sneak out to play golf at 2 p. m. but now goes around picking paper clips off the floor to cut down expenses, look no farther.

2. Keep your feet off your desk while he is in view. If he speaks to you, rise to your feet and address him as "sir," a polite term used in ancient times to one's superiors. It is not necessary, however, to salute him—not unless times get really bad.

3. Maintain a serious mien at all times except if the boss tells a joke. In this case laugh first and longest—but don't overdo it. It isn't wise to let the boss know how scared you really are.

4. Never interrupt his old joke to tell a new one of your own. The boss no longer wants you to be amusing on company time. The only reason he is telling you a joke is to keep his owr spirits up.

5. When going to the water cooler, stride up quickly and self-confidently—as if you had really earned the right to a drink—gulp a fast one, and return to your desk. Do not linger around the water cooler to ambush the giggling stenographers. Those days are over—for the duration.

6. Around noon go into the boss's office, ask him if you can borrow some salt and pepper, then explain, "A little personal thrift doesn't hurt anyone, chief. I'm bringing my lunch to the office now."

7. Be more helpful in small ways. If you know your boss and his wife are going out for the evening, ask him if you and your wife can't baby-sit for them—for fun. This, of course, is downright toadyism, but it will please your wife to visit the boss's home—and see that his wife is an even lousier housekeeper than sh' is.

8. Finally, if you are really worried about losing your job, tell your boss, "I want you to be the first to congratulate me, chief. My uncle just died and left me $100,000." For some reason every bc hates to fire an employe who has more money than he does.

Anybody who follows these simple rules will weather practically any office economy drive and probably be the first to get a raise when the boom resumes.

Th' is, if the boss doesn't lose his own job. There's always that possibility—and it means a terrible waste of butter, too.

Reasearch ships from the United States, Canada and Japan are now seeking fishing grounds in the Pacific Ocean for salmon. Normally the salmon is caught in fresh water streams.

VIEWS OF OUR READERS

Colony Suffering

Delhi, La.

TO THE EDITOR:

I am asking the legislature to exert its best efforts to have the mental colony's budget requests for the coming year approved. Fathers and mothers of younger patients should put forth their efforts for this matter.

The Colony management has asked for an appropriation some $500,000 greater than it received last year, which funds will not be used for luxury items. Two-thirds will be used for personal services, which include the cost of personnel working directly with our children in the cottages.

For lack of funds corrective surgery is being postponed, the recreation program is suffering, and there is a shortage of attendants, all of which affects the daily living of the children themselves. I urge the senators and representatives to pay a visit to the Colony before this session of Legislature meets and you will understand why I am urging passage of this bill.

In conclusion, let me add that every dollar appropriated for the crippled children, God will bless many times over. There is much that can be done in behalf of the State Colony and Training School if the fathers and mothers will work with our senators and representatives on this matter.

BILL GILLEY.

Memphis, Tenn.

Editor, Monroe Morning World

This writer thought you might be interested in the current news not always presented by press releases exactly as they exist.

As in all other sections, the race question and the integration question are the paramount issues in this, one of the larger cities in the South. Two occurrences recently indicate that the NAACP and its backers are on the job and that they expect to win.

The first instance is the case of Negroes seeking entrance into Memphis State University, the test of which will soon be made clear. The other is the case of a Negro school in Shelby county, where NAACPS are demanding equal facilities with the Whitehaven school, this year. They also demand that the principal of their school, one of the best-informed teachers of a country school in the county, be dismissed and someone else appointed in his place. None of their demands can be met within the time they demand it nor do they want them met but they want to force integration of Negroes and whites in the Whitehaven school.

We may name another move, which if it succeeds, will open the way for a try at integrating Memphis city schools.

There is a suit now in federal court to force the Memphis Street Railway to integrate Negroes and whites on their coaches and buses. This suit will be tried on its merits within a short time.

If we concede that all of them are decided in favor of the Negroes, there are other factors to be considered before the efforts to integrate the city school are complete.

Many of the people of this city have been completely aroused by the integration of Clinton, Tenn., Nashville and Little Rock, Ark. The slogan, "Remember Little Rock," is just as much alive as it was six months ago. And there are many people who are determined that "They shall not pass." Our governor, Clement, spent $100,000 dollars to put 12 Negroes into Clinton High. Four withdrew and left the state, one was expelled and seven continued through last year's session. This year there are more Negroes in Clinton High, but fewer whites. Nor has it been all peace and brotherhood in the school. In Nashville, there is an undercurrent of dissatisfaction, confusion and resentment — nervous tension which portends no good to the peace and quiet to that educational center.

In the case of Memphis, it is understood that the city superintendent of schools and probably a majority of the school board favor integration of Negroes and whites in the public schools. But it is the guess of this writer that, if and when integration is attempted, Little Rock will be like a Sunday school picnic in comparison. Naturally, we do not want that to happen but if it is forced upon us as it is being done in other places, there will certainly be resistance in a degree not seen in the South before.

May we keep you posted on events as they arise?

EDITORIALS CONSISTENT

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World,

In your editorial February 9, 1958, entitled "Teachers Battle," you only showed your consistency, since you have always and in all ways opposed a raise in pay for any group of public servants, whether teachers, firemen, policemen, and etc.

The teachers are asking that a two - cent increase be added to the gas - gathering tax. The gas industry in Louisiana is owned controlled by the oil and gas millionaires in Texas and the east. These exploiters are taking one of our natural resources out of the state of Louisiana at a very rapid rate and leaving nothing for the future. The property owners get a mere pittance for the gas that is taken from under their property. Ask one of them how much he gets from this "discriminated" against industry. The average property owner with about 100 acres leased to a gas company doesn't get enough money in one month to buy cigarettes for a week.

You are ever ready to come to the aid of a giant industry. As further proof, I offer your continued support of Southern Bell, who wants an increase in telephone rates to the tune of 16 million dollars per year, or $2.00 per month or $24.00 per year from each household subscriber.

This money is to be used to put in more telephones at the higher rates and the people who put up this money, the household subscriber, doesn't get a thing for their money. The telephone company in Louisiana is making money, don't continue to try to fool the people.

You don't tell the people all the facts. Southern Bell is now on a "sit down strike" against the people of Louisiana and I don't hear a word from you in this regard. The only consideration is money but it is not going the right way this time. It is not going in the pockets of the largest corporation in the world, American Telephone and Telegraph the owner of Southern Bell. If this was some labor union asking for a raise you would be crying to high heaven about the small increase in the cost of living since they got their last raise but this is not working people this is the giant of industry who is running page ads in all the newspapers at a cost of millions of dollars. Using Hitler's and Goebbel's tactics of regardless of what you say if you say it long and loud enough with just enough truth in it to keep down questions it will be believed.

The telephone company is trying to take us and the gas industry is taking us as evidenced by the fact that the local distributor for United Gas Pipeline has arbitrarily raised the gas rates to the people of Monroe in violation of their contract with the citizens of Monroe. This is the industry the teachers ask that a 2 cents increase in the gas gathering tax be put on. This is the same oil and gas industry which as soon as Gov. Kennon's administration removed a two cents state tax on gasoline went up two cents on the price of gasoline. This is Louisiana one of the states rich in gas and oil, where gas, gasoline and oil should be the cheapest.

Why don't you get on the side of the teachers and help them find the money needed to give them the raise in pay that is still too little and too late. You tell them where not to get it, tell them where.

How Many Farmers?

The great farm debate in this country now seems to center on the question of whether the nation needs more or fewer farmers.

There are some who seem to think the nation would be better off if we could return to family-type farming, with each farm just about large enough to make a good living for a family. There are others who believe farming should be converted into a purely business proposition, carried on by farmer industrialists.

From the standpoint of production alone, those who advocate big farming seem to have the best of the argument. As a way of life, there would seem to be good arguments in favor of the family-type farm.

Most of the support program carried on by the federal government has been in favor of the big-business farmer, since the man with the most acreage is allowed the biggest allotment and the man with the small acreage is cut down so low that his chances of making a living solely from farming are small.

In determining what system is better for any group of people it is usually a good practice to consider what those people think about it. Strangely enough, there seems to be about as much difference of opinion among farmers and farm leaders on this question as there is in government circles. Farmers as a rule might be expected to favor the family-type systems, yet an outstanding farm official takes the opposite view.

L. L. Lovell, president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, speaking in Baton Rouge, said :

"Anyone recommending more people on the farm is lacking in knowledge. Or they may have motives not to be the best interest of the nation."

"You would be surprised at the number of honest, sincere American senators and congressmen who are advocating parts of this program, with special emphasis on family-type farms. In essence, they are recommending a lower standard of living for the country as a whole."

There is no reason for assuming that the senators and congressmen who favor the family-type farm are influenced in any way by the Communists or that it is wrong simply because it may be one of the things of which the Communists approve. Family-type farming was regarded as an excellent way of life in the United States before communism became an issue. In the pressure brought on by increases in population and by mass production in other lines big-business farming may force out the small farmer, yet there remains some doubt that the new system will be more desirable.

Meanwhile, as a means of offsetting a nationwide recession, congress will be obliged to continue farm supports, whether there are many small farmers or fewer big ones.

The dual plan advocated by Senator Allen Ellender (D-La), under which farmers may take advantage of soil bank payments or may withdraw from the soil bank plan and increase their acreage by 30 per cent seems about as good as any. This plan has not yet been enacted into law and may not be but it seems to be meritorious.

Railroads Handicapped

An officer of the Association of American Railroads has appealed for changes in the federal tax code to spur investment in new railroad equipment and facilities. He has a powerful case—particularly when it is viewed in the light of the railroad's critical financial problems, and of the undeniable need of this country for the best possible railroad plant and service.

The trouble, as this spokesman points out, is that present depreciation allowances "are wholly insufficient to keep railroad property intact, much less to permit any improvement or expansion." As an example, the purchase price of a freight car has risen from $2,500 to $8,500 in just 20 years. Obviously, depreciation accruals geared to the original price of that car won't permit the purchase of a replacement. And what is true of freight cars is true of just about everything else.

Since the end of World War II, the rilroads have spent $13.5 billion for improvements and about $1 billion a year is needed just to provide new cars and motive power. These postwar investments actually averaged $435 million a year more than the railroads' net income. And new investment funds, under current conditions, must come chiefly from their meager earnings, from borrowings, and from the cash obtained from depreciation and amortization accruals.

No one denies that the vital railroads are in bad financial shape, and that ways must be found to remedy matters. Fair depreciation allowances would be one of those ways.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Gavin's Sharp Personality Displeasing To Eisenhower

Sometimes the mind of President Eisenhower displays itself best in the off-the-cuff remarks he makes at press conferences, because there he is himslf without the intervention of James Hagerty, Arthur Larson, Robert Montgomery and others who seem to be bent on doctoring him into being what he is not and never can be.

The following quotation refers to General James M. Gavin who retired from the military service because he desired to tell the truth without being censored. President Eisenhower said of General Gavin:

"... I mean it was the act of a man of a particular personality—and I have no comment whatsoever. If the man wanted to retire, it was his right, period."

Of course, every human being has a particular personality, no two being alike. There are strong men and weak men, tired men and aggressive men and women, too. What Eisenhower meant probably was that General Gavin has a personality that is displeasing to Eisenhower because it is sharp; it is strong and aggressive; it is self-reliant. The President prefers a conforming personality, one that salutes his superiors and expects to be saluted by his inferiors. In a word, a personality that knows its place and keeps it.

While that is an orderly procedure in a military organization, in civil life it represents tired, unimaginative people who, having discovered what pays off, avoid what does not pay off. In the struggle for power in the world today, it is significant that all of Europe with the exception of West Germany appears to be fatigued intellectually, no statesmen, except the aged Konrad Adenauer, exhibiting both courage and imagination. The Russians, who are building a world state, are, as one might say, full of paprika and that is equally true of such people as the Arabs and the Israeli. But both Europe and the United States are tired and the evidence of fatigue here is the unwillingness of men to engage in controversy, to fight hard for what they believe to be right.

I am sure that Harold Stassen is all wrong about Soviet Russia, but at least he says his say and fights for a forum to say it. What he says seems to me to be immature, idealized nonsense, the product of a careless appraisal of historic forces, but believing as he apparently does that peace is worth any price, he rejects being silenced.

Were it not for an equally aggressive mind, John Foster Dulles, this country would probably have made more errors in foreign policy than it has, for Dulles has had to combat not only the White House crowd but also big business whose patriotism is to be measured by the state of the market and whose judgment is controlled by committees including public relations counsel and lawyers who fear losing retainers and therefore favor avoiding controversies which may lead to unpopularity.

The difference between Harold Stassen and John Foster Dulles is similiar to the difference between Walter Reuther and George Meany. Reuther, seeking power for himself, has the impudence to shout his opinions from the housetops, no matter how foolish and how other men may ridicule him; Meany, regarding himself as a labor statesman and seeking to preserve the AFL-CIO marriage at any cost, retreats steadily before Reuther's impudence. So John Foster Dulles compromises with the White House insipidities, whether they come from Sherman Adams, Harold Stassen, now retired, Arthur Larson or even the President because he will not resign and risk a further collapse of this Republican administration.

In a tired world, victories often go to the most impudent. It took Stalin a decade or more to reduce the Russian Communist Party to his will and the Russian people to his dictatorship. Khrushchev did it in a few months, with humor and laughter, merrily sending such an historic figure as Molotov to Mongolia to be an ambassador to nomads and Kaganovich to Alma Ata.

Khrushchev does not need to kill his opponents as Stalin did because he laughs at them, just as he laughs at all the world when he hands the world an agenda and tells such a country as the United States what may or may not be discussed at a summit conference which he needs for propaganda and the United States needs like a hole in Uncle Sam's head.

The first talking movie was "Don Juan," which Warner Brothers released in 1926. The sound was on synchronized phonograph records.

BASCOM TIMMONS

Eisenhower Resignation Is Seen As Possibility

Agreement between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon on disability has had the effect of reviving the belief that General Eisenhower might resign before the end of his term, especially if the Republicans lose heavily in this autumn's off-year election. Some of those adhering to this belief think Nixon would have a politically-profitable period of honeymoon, whereas Eisenhower would be in for rough sledding in his last two years. Also important Republicans think Nixon could show a vigor in office which the often-ailing Eisenhower no longer can for any considerable period. Nixon, if he became President on or after January 21, 1959, would be eligible under the Constitution for two more four-year terms.

Seriated Satellite Sag? — Both the State Department and the Pentagon think there is a strong possibility that Russia may be having some of the trouble in satellite launching which has bedeviled us at Cape Canaveral, Florida. There have been intelligence reports that the Soviet planned a series of launchings, of which two were successful and others would be aloft now had not something gone awry.

The Wisconsin Plan — G. O. P. has a political strategy which is being called "the Wisconsin Plan." Its purpose is to avoid special elections, especially those to fill Congressional vacancies, wherever it is possible to do so. Governor Vernon W. Thomson is going along with the plan in Wisconsin and there will be no special election to fill the seat of late Congressman Lawrence Smith in First District. Republicans reason they are likely under present conditions to lose any election in a marginal district with attendant injury to morale of party workers. Trouble with plan that only nineteen of the 48 states have Republican Governors.

That 6(a) Line — At the latest tabulation that much - discussed line 6(a) expense account provision which you will find in your 1958 income tax return has gone through its thirty-first draft and is now in shape where Commissioner of Internal Revenue Russell C. Harrington thinks it will catch the whales without inconveniencing the minnows. The whales the government wants to land are high-paid persons who receive additional compensation through tax-free expense accounts for which they need not account.

Harold May Ride Again — Anti-Stassenites in Pennsylvania are no longer confident that they can stop Harold Stassen's bid for the gubernatorial nomination. G.O.P. there is too faction-ridden to prevent an effective front against him as of now. Moreover, feeling is growing that Stassen could defeat Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, who will carry the colors of the embattled leaders of the Pennsylvania Democratic organization. Should the former Minnesota Governor make the grade he would be second man to be Governor of two States. Sam Houston did it (Tennessee — 1827-1829), Texas—1859-1861).

More About the Tax Cut — Both parties are now in the mood to wait not more than thirty days longer to see if there is a pick-up in business conditions. After that look for a race to see which can bring out its tax-plan first. Prediction is that tax slash, if it comes, will be deeper than either party would have thought of in January last.

Senatorial Hopefuls — although Warren G. Harding was the last Senator elected directly to the Presidency from that legislative office that fact does not discourage the present flock of Senatorial hopefuls. Their reasoning: With present day issues national or international in scope Governors have little chance to claim the limelight and become well-known.

House Perks Up — The House of Representatives is basking in its unaccustomed limelight. All Senate investigations undertaken in this session have proceeded in desultory fashion and without attracting much attention. Only the House Investigation of the FCC, with the sensational Mack disclosures, caught fire with the public. But with Mack now out of office it is not yet clear how much further the FCC probe will go.

The News Is Bad — Republican leaders have taken word to the White House that foreign aid has lost further ground despite the rally of its supporters here ten days ago, and the reciprocal trade agreements extension is in even deeper trouble. Farm belt Senators and Representatives are making tough specific statements that their votes for either measure can be had only at the price of the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Benson. Prediction is that foreign aid will pass but below the $3 billion, 9 hundred million asked by the Administration. Votes are not yet in sight to extend the trade agreements.

The Vanishing Dollar — Dwight D. Eisenhower whose sound dollar averments were as strong as those of William McKinley now finds that the value of the dollar has eroded nearly 7 per cent in purchasing power in the five years he has been in office.

Recession Gives Boss More Power

NEW YORK (AP)—The boss is the boss again.

The downturn in jobs has made this forgotten figurehead of business a person of importance once more.

It always happens that way.

When there are more jobs than people, nobody pays much attention to the boss. He tiptoes around the place talking to himself—for fear that if he says something out loud he'll hurt somebody's feelings, and the guy'll quit and go to work for a competitor.

But when there are more people than jobs—such as right now—the boss again becomes industry's "father image." The problem of the wise worker then becomes one of how to please his paycheck pappy.

So it is time to revive again a forgotten American art—the art of apple polishing.

Your older hired hands, who've survived bad times before, know how to do this instinctively, just as an old boxer never quite forgets his footwork or how to protect himself in the clinches. It's the young employes, who've never known a recession, who are likely through pure ignorance to get gored by a rampant boss now.

So here are a few tips on how to butter up a boss:

1. First, find out who the boss is. If there is a fellow in your office who used to sneak out to play golf at 2 p. m. but now goes around picking paper clips off the floor to cut down expenses, look no farther.

2. Keep your feet off your desk while he is in view. If he speaks to you, rise to your feet and address him as "sir," a polite term used in ancient times to one's superiors. It is not necessary, however, to salute him—not unless times get really bad.

3. Maintain a serious mien at all times except if the boss tells a joke. In this case laugh first and longest—but don't overdo it. It isn't wise to let the boss know how scared you really are.

4. Never interrupt his old joke to tell a new one of your own. The boss no longer wants you to be amusing on company time. The only reason he is telling you a joke is to keep his owr spirits up.

5. When going to the water cooler, stride up quickly and self-confidently—as if you had really earned the right to a drink—gulp a fast one, and return to your desk. Do not linger around the water cooler to ambush the giggling stenographers. Those days are over—for the duration.

6. Around noon go into the boss's office, ask him if you can borrow some salt and pepper, then explain, "A little personal thrift doesn't hurt anyone, chief. I'm bringing my lunch to the office now."

7. Be more helpful in small ways. If you know your boss and his wife are going out for the evening, ask him if you and your wife can't baby-sit for them—for fun. This, of course, is downright toadyism, but it will please your wife to visit the boss's home—and see that his wife is an even lousier housekeeper than she is.

8. Finally, if you are really worried about losing your job, tell your boss, "I want you to be the first to congratulate me, chief. My uncle just died and left me $100,000." For some reason every boss hates to fire an employe who has more money than he does.

Anybody who follows these simple rules will weather practically any office economy drive and probably be the first to get a raise when the boom resumes.

That is, if the boss doesn't lose his own job. There's always that possibility—and it means a terrible waste of butter, too.

Reasearch ships from the United States, Canada and Japan are now seeking fishing grounds in the Pacific Ocean for salmon. Normally the salmon is caught in fresh water streams.

Colony Suffering

Delhi, La.

TO THE EDITOR:

I am asking the legislature to exert its best efforts to have the mental colony's budget requests for the coming year approved. Fathers and mothers of younger patients should put forth their efforts for this matter.

The Colony management has asked for an appropriation some $500,000 greater than it received last year, which funds will not be used for luxury items. Two-thirds will be used for personal services, which include the cost of personnel working directly with our children in the cottages.

For lack of funds corrective surgery is being postponed, the recreation program is suffering, and there is a shortage of attendants, all of which affects the daily living of the children themselves. I urge the senators and representatives to pay a visit to the Colony before this session of Legislature meets and you will understand why I am urging passage of this bill.

In conclusion, let me add that every dollar appropriated for the crippled children, God will bless many times over. There is much that can be done in behalf of the State Colony and Training School if the fathers and mothers will work with our senators and representatives on this matter.

Memphis, Tenn.

Editor, Monroe Morning World

This writer thought you might be interested in the current news not always presented by press releases exactly as they exist.

As in all other sections, the race question and the integration question are the paramount issues in this, one of the larger cities in the South. Two occurrences recently indicate that the NAACP and its backers are on the job and that they expect to win.

The first instance is the case of Negroes seeking entrance into Memphis State University, the test of which will soon be made clear. The other is the case of a Negro school in Shelby county, where NAACPS are demanding equal facilities with the Whitehaven school, this year. They also demand that the principal of their school, one of the best-informed teachers of a country school in the county, be dismissed and someone else appointed in his place. None of their demands can be met within the time they demand it nor do they want them met but they want to force integration of Negroes and whites in the Whitehaven school.

We may name another move, which if it succeeds, will open the way for a try at integrating Memphis city schools.

There is a suit now in federal court to force the Memphis Street Railway to integrate Negroes and whites on their coaches and buses. This suit will be tried on its merits within a short time.

If we concede that all of them are decided in favor of the Negroes, there are other factors to be considered before the efforts to integrate the city school are complete.

Many of the people of this city have been completely aroused by the integration of Clinton, Tenn., Nashville and Little Rock, Ark. The slogan, "Remember Little Rock," is just as much alive as it was six months ago. And there are many people who are determined that "They shall not pass." Our governor, Clement, spent $100,000 dollars to put 12 Negroes into Clinton High. Four withdrew and left the state, one was expelled and seven continued through last year's session. This year there are more Negroes in Clinton High, but fewer whites. Nor has it been all peace and brotherhood in the school. In Nashville, there is an undercurrent of dissatisfaction, confusion and resentment — nervous tension which portends no good to the peace and quiet to that educational center.

In the case of Memphis, it is understood that the city superintendent of schools and probably a majority of the school board favor integration of Negroes and whites in the public schools. But it is the guess of this writer that, if and when integration is attempted, Little Rock will be like a Sunday school picnic in comparison. Naturally, we do not want that to happen but if it is forced upon us as it is being done in other places, there will certainly be resistance in a degree not seen in the South before.

May we keep you posted on events as they arise?

EDITORIALS CONSISTENT

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World,

In your editorial February 9, 1958, entitled "Teachers Battle," you only showed your consistency, since you have always and in all ways opposed a raise in pay for any group of public servants, whether teachers, firemen, policemen, and etc.

The teachers are asking that a two - cent increase be added to the gas - gathering tax. The gas industry in Louisiana is owned controlled by the oil and gas millionaires in Texas and the east. These exploiters are taking one of our natural resources out of the state of Louisiana at a very rapid rate and leaving nothing for the future. Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Andrews, 2308 Hawthorne Street, holds the rank of first lieutenant in the CAP. He was selected by the cadet special activities board of Louisiana to represent cadets of the state in a foreign country. He will be notified around May 1 as to which nation he will visit.

With a leaning towards electronics, Andrews built the equipment for his own amateur radio station and received his amateur license at the age of 13. He is also president of his Sunday School department of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, parlimentarian of the Neville High School student council where he is now a senior, a member of the Neville Key Club, Latin Club, and Junior Classical League, and technical co-ordinator of the Monroe Amateur Rocket Society.

Judge Denies He Favors Gunman Freed

MINDEN, La. (AP) — The judge who sentenced Charlie Frazier to life after he killed a bank teller in a 1933 bank robbery today denied he favored freeing the notorious gunman.

Frazier, whose appeal will be heard Tuesday by the Louisiana Pardon Board in New Orleans, said, in a letter to a newsman, Judge J.F. McInnis had recommended in March, 1952, that "I be granted clemency."

"Back several years ago, I recommended some kind of clemency," McInnis said, "but it was conditioned. He owed Texas a couple of life sentences. His plea at that time was that he wanted to go back to Texas. I have some information now that Texas has lifted their detainer on Charlie. That would make some difference in my attitude."

In his 1952 letter, Judge McInnis stressed "There is nothing in his record to entitle him to any consideration whatever."

But he said today, "I'm out of the case. Judge James E. Bolin is handling it. I'll stand on my letter."

Judge Bolin, who now serves the Bossier-Webster district, already has said he will vote against the pardon.

Frazier must receive favorable votes from the two permanent board members, Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion and Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar, to gain any clemency.

The 68-year-old Frazier yesterady agreed he should be "thankful for being spared death in the electric chair. But I am still being tried and condemned for my errors of 25 years ago. Is there no possible way for a man to redeem himself with society?"

Frazier said Judge McIinnis had recommended clemency on his 1952 application, adding:

"Six years later, with a commendable prison record — a spotless one during all this time — and after serving 25 years, I have lost a pardon vote from that district, which I had six years ago."

In 1952, Judge McIinnis recommended commutation of Frazier's sentence to time served. He wrote he understood Frazier was in ill health and it might be better for him "in some ways to be confined in Texas than here. If it were not for this report .... I would not even look at the petition because there is nothing in his record to entitle him to any consideration whatever."

He was sent to Angola after a 1933 gunpoint robbery of the Plain Dealing bank netting $1,369.

Capitol Face-Lifting Is Stirring New Ruckus

By ROGER GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over face - lifting the United States Capitol, at issue ever since the Civil War, is erupting with new bitterness.

The Daughters of the American Revolution call the project "vandalism."

Architect Frank Lloyd Wright terms it "absolutely profane."

"They should leave it alone," says Wright. "I'm sure they can't improve it."

And Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) in a speech on the Senate floor denounced the plan as "unnecessary and ill - conceived."

But a different version comes from Capitol Architect J. George Stewart.

The fact is, says Stewart, that the front wall of the historic structure is crumbling from old age and might collapse at any time, perhaps bringing the great white dome thundering down on the nation's lawmakers.

Few sightseers ever notice it, but the "skirt" of the 4,455 - ton cast iron dome just out 15 feet 9 inches beyond the front wall of the 165-year-old central portion of the Capitol, between the Senate and House wings. The colonnades of the East Portico disguise this fact.

It is this east entrance — which most Americans take for the "front" of the Capitol, though it is actually the "back" — which is the center of the current ruckus.

One faction, led by House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), wants to extend the central portion of the East Front a distance of 32½ feet to give more elbow room to the crowded lawmakers inside the Capitol.

Ranged on the opposite side is a group of architects, historians and others who are lifting cries of outrage at the suggestion of "tampering," as they call it, with the nation's most photographed shrine.

Mrs. Frederic Groves, DAR president-general, says "the proposal to destroy the ancient walls and portico of the East Front is incredible."

Another critic, Lorimer Rich, architect of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, said in a letter printed in the Congressional Record:

"This facade has looked down upon history. These steps have known the footprints of our early great — Webster, Clay, Calhoun. This portico has received the remains of our martyred presidents — Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley. These are the walls viewed by our grandfathers as they assembled in the great plaza for the stirring Grand Army review of 1865.

"Surely this setting should be preserved . . ."

Testifying before a Senate public works subcommittee, Capitol Architect Stewart said the soft Virginia sandstone of the East Front is cracking and deteriorating badly.

Several ominous cracks, he said, extend the full height of the wall, from balustrade to footing, and run completely through the masonry behind the sandstone facing.

Capitol custodians say visitors can see for themselves what is happening. Chunks of rotted sandstone, taken from a quarry owned by George Washington, are breaking off the wall with increasing frequency.

Stewart told the Senate subcommittee that when Congress authorized the East Front extension in 1955, its intent was (1) "to correct the architectural defect caused by the overhang of the dome over the East Portico" and (2) to provide a longer - lasting exterior by building the new walls of marble rather than sandstone.

In addition, he said, the extension would provide extra office space and room for a new restaurant for Senate and House members who now have to eat in virtually sardine formation in the old-out-moded dining rooms.

Stewart's testimony drew support from John F. Harbeson, Philadelphia architect, who is a member of a panel of noted architects engaged in the proposed renovation.

"It is only a question of time," he said, "until you will have to rope off the front. The only safe way to enter the building will be through covered walkways."

But Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), author of a bill to block the project, said he agrees with Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) and House Minority Leader Joe Martin (R-Mass) that any alterations to the East Front should be limited to repairing loose stone which might endanger the public.

In other words, no drastic remodelling.

Knowland, the Senate minority leader, and Rep. Martin are members of a special Senate - House commission set up by Congress to weigh the matter of revamping the Capitol. Chairman of the commission is Speaker Rayburn, who has carried the ball for advocates of giving "the Old Lady of Capitol Hill" a face-lifting.

Rayburn, who says he wants the remodelling job completed in time for the 1961 inauguration, disagrees with critics who contend it would destroy the appearance of the historic structure.

"The East Front extension," he told newsmen, "will give us a great deal more room and architecturally speaking it will look exactly as it is now, with the same facade."

Despite angry opposition, Rayburn said flatly the Senate-House commission will go ahead with plans to extend the East Front.

"The architect is preparing sketches," he said. "When they are ready we will let contracts."

Julian E. Berla, Washington, D. C., architect and chairman of the Committee to Preserve the National Capitol, says he still hasn't given up the fight.

If the proposed changes are made, he says, a plaque should be affixed to the Capitol declaring in bold letters:

"Vandalized by Congress 1958."

Indonesian Evacuation Plans Made

with Hatta.

Postponement of Sukarno's talks with Hatta brought gloom to Indonesian quarters urging a settlement of the crisis through negotiation rather than force.

The crisis threatens to bring civil war. The Rebels proclaimed their own government Feb. 15, charging that the central government was corrupt and influenced by Communists. They demanded that the rich outer islands be given a fairer return from Jakarta for their resources.

Government planes have bombed rebel communications on Sumatra. Premier Djuanda said recently the central government is through negotiating with the rebels.

The Indonesian Air Force yesterday peremptorily drafted all civilian pilots and ground crews. This could mean a greater military effort by Jakarta. But it also could be an effort to keep pilots from going over to the side of the rebels, badly in need of planes and pilots.

Inventor Samuel F. B. Morse established the first underwater telegraph line in the United States in 1842. It was on "the floor" of New York harbor.

Damascus, the capitol of Syria, is only 40 miles from the Israeli border.

Object of establishing the center is to provide better facilities for merchandising through presentation of goods and more convenience for customers. In charge of the center are Travis Brown and Tommy Clark.

Free plants are being given visitors this week end during the formal opening period.

The center features all garden and outdoor needs including shrubbery, lawn mowers, garden tools, outboard motors, boats and everything needed for outdoor living. Everything in this line that is found in the main store downtown can be purchased at the Wards Center, Brown and Clark declared. Open hours are 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.

A nursery specialist is on duty for advice to gardeners.

Ad Campaign 'Only Beginning'—Rainich

architect of repeated legislative efforts to bypass the Supreme Court integration rulings. New Orleans public schools are under federal court orders to integrate, but the court struggle continues.

The New York ad said in part the South was "the product of years of experiment and experience in adjustment to a bi-racial society."

"From the response to the ad," Rainach said, "I'm convinced the South has a product for which there is a demand in the north — a racially separate social system. All we need to do is conduct a reasonable sales campaign."

Rainach quoted a letter he received from the Staten Island branch of the NAACP, saying, "It really is heartening to note that the views of the Southerners have been stated so clearly... It gives us a long awaited opportunity to explode some of their misconceptions."

While the senator would not give identifications, he made public quotes from Northern letter response.

A New York attorney wrote, he said, "When I tried to buy a copy of the Herald Tribune, I was told there was none left and the reason given was the demand for your advertisement — this shows you hit pay dirt."

A Newark resident, Rainach said, wrote "Only one who lives in the New York metropolitan area can have the slightest conception of the deadly atmosphere which has been spawned by the socialist champions of integration."

On the other side, Rainach quoted a Hempstead, N.Y. letter writer as saying, "Having traveled through several of your Southern states, I have observed much of the process of this method of 'adjustment.'.... I saw the separate facilities for the whites and blacks, I never did see separate facilities for the Chinese, the Indians or the Italians...."

From a New Yorker, Rainach said, came this remark, "the first and largest mistake you made was in using the Herald Tribune as your medium because there isn't one Tribune reader with enough intelligence to swallow this.... You should have placed your ad in the News, the Mirror or the Journal American — they cater to morons."

Some letters had a split response, Rainach said, such as this statement from another New Yorker, "The whole tone of your ad was hypocritical, to my way of thinking, it was a good example of sophistry .... I would be the first to admit, however, there is considerable racial tension in the North."

Rainach was asked whether he thought such advertisements might stir racial tension.

"The north," the Louisiana senator replied, "has attempted unsuccessfully to hide its problems, its failure in the racial field. The first step toward a solution is to bring the problem into the open. The only workable solution is friendly separation of the races."

The Rainach committee meets next week briefly for the purpose of making public its second part of a committee-published report entitled, "Subversion in Racial Unrest."

Summit Motive Revealed

is that U. S. and allied leaders see such a deception as a dangerous weapon in the hands of the Russians. They fear it would weaken the resolve of the free nations to preserve their system of anti-Communist alliances and their resistance to Communist pressures.

But the significance of the spectacle, high officials said today, would go much farther. The dramatic meeting which the Soviets seek could be converted by them into a symbol Western acceptance of the vast empire which Soviet communism has formed during and since World War II.

It is because of such vital considerations as these, officials declared, that Eisenhower and Dulles have rejected Russia's terms for a summit conference. They have insisted on the kind of conference—and preliminary preparations—which they think would protect the interests of the Western powers. They do not see this as a Maypole dance to be held for the fun of it. They see it as a deadly serious contest which can affect the shape of the world for a long time.

Navy Calls Off Test Of Its Vanguard

called off at 4 p.m. (CST.) It was not known immediately when the Navy would try again to send the rocket into space with the satellite.

Hundreds Jam Beaches

Officials of the Navy and the Martin Co. which builds the Vanguard, emphasized before the scheduled launching, however, that chances were very slim of putting the satellite into orbit with the Army's first Explorer and the Russian Sputnik II.

Hundreds of persons jammed beaches near the test center, weekend sunbathers hoping to see a rocket fly, and some who "had the word" the Vanguard might be in the works.

Weather during the morning was cloudy, but for most of the day skies were blue and only thinly strung with clouds. But near dusk the heavy bank rolled down from the north to smother the cape.

The Vanguard had to be launched in the daytime either because of optical tracking equipment scientists wanted to use, or to give the solar-powered batteries in one of its transmitters a better chance to function properly from the start.

Minitrack radio tracking stations around the world were ready and waiting for the Vanguard to be launched in order to begin listening for the first sign of a "beep" to tell the world the United States had put up a second satellite.

Navy rocketmen doubted the satellite had much of a chance of going into orbit on this test because the Vanguard itself has never been flown successfully as a three-stage rocket.

Other developments in the FCC investigation:

—Harris said Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's brother-in-law, Col. George Gordon Moore, will appear before his subcommittee March 17. He will be questioned about charges that he "engineered" the controversial FCC award of television Channel 10 in Miami. Moore has denied the charges.

—Harris confirmed that John S. Cross, a Democrat and a State Department official, has been interviewed at the White House in regard to becoming Mack's successor. Cross, 53, has been assistant chief of the State Department's telecommunications division since 1946.

Harris said he regarded Cross, a legal resident of Eureka Springs, Ark., as "a pretty good man" who would be "independent in his thinking" if named to the FCC. He said he and other members of the Arkansas congressional delegation had endorsed Cross for an FCC vacancy about three years ago. But Harris added he was "keeping out of it now," apparently because he heads the congressional investigation of FCC.

Reuther proposed that he and Goldwater each select three nationally prominent clergymen from the three major faiths—Catholic, Protestant and Jewish—as a panel to weigh the charges.

Pineville High Captures Top Speech Honors

Pineville High School captured top honors in the sixth annual Speech Festival sponsored by Northeast State's Fine Arts Department and directed by James W. Parkerson.

The winning school scored sixty-seven points to edge out Winnfield High School which won sixty-six points to take second place in 'he festival. Third place went to St. Matthew's of Monroe, with a total of fifty-eight, and West Monroe took fourth with fifty-two.

The day's program included the following events: original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, poetry reading, after-dinner speaking, radio speaking, and the one-act drama.

Entrants were rat-d according to superior, excellent, very good, and good.

About two hundred students from fourteen high schools in the state competed for honors. Approximately 60 other students were on the campus as observers.

Certificates

Certificates of ratings were awarded to individual winners at a banquet at the Penn Hotel, where the group was entertained by students who competed in after-dinner speaking.

Entries in the current Speech Festival included some schools which competed for the first time in the event. This, along with other factors, indicates that the local festival has stimulated interest in speech activities in this area, Parkerson said.

The director also commented on improvement of drama entries over last year's initial competition in this field. "Quality of plays was better," agreed Parkerson and George C. Brian, of the speech faculty, who directed this phase of the festival. "The Valiant," presented by West Monroe High, was "particularly impressive."

Oratory reflected an appreciation of problems presented by the space age. Subjects and handling of material both showed an understanding of today's issues, Parkerson explained.

High schools represented at the festival included: Delhi, Epps, Joseph Davidson at St. Joseph, Ouachita Parish at Monroe, Pineville, Ruston, St. Mary's at Natchitoches, St. Matthew's at Monroe, St. Vincent's at Shreveport, Tallulah, Waterproof, West Monroe, Winnfield, and Winnsboro.

Poisoning Victim Is 'Resting Well'

Delores Moore, two - year - old Sterlington Negro was reported "resting" at Conway Hospital last night after she swallowed rat poisoning containing arsenic late Friday.

Laboratory tests run at the hospital showed that the "Cowley" brand poison, of which the girl swallowed about a half ounce contained mostly arsenic.

Hospital officials said the girl was placed under an oxygen tent about 5 p.m yesterday to aid in recovery.

but the present administration of enforcement authorities were not in a position early yesterday to give details of the incident for which Swan is charged.

They said they would send for the wanted man this weekend.

Members of the sheriff's force here said they went to the carnival to question Swan on a "tip" that he might be engaged in the selling of narcotics. They said he had been working the carnival circuit with his wife and two children, and that his wife is expecting another child soon.

Information in the hands of authorities shows that Swan has operated under the aliases of "Slim" Swan, W. L. Swan and Walter Lloyd Swan, officers said.

Kennan Says Frazier Needs New Hearing

BATON ROUGE, March 8 (AP)—Former Gov. Robert Kennon who as district attorney prosecuted Charlie Frazier in 1933 when he was tried for a death-dealing prison break, said today he believed Frazier was entitled to a clemency hearing.

Frazier, now 68, is serving a life term at the state penitentiary at Angola. His appeal will be heard Tuesday by the Louisiana Pardon Board in New Orleans.

In 1933 Frazier was sent to Angola after an armed robbery of the Plain Dealing bank that netted $1,369. In September of that year, Frazier joined a 12-man prison break. Two guards and a trusty were slain. Frazier was captured a few days later.

South Produces 60 Per Cent Of Pulpwood In U.S.

ATLANTA, Ga. (Special) — The South, which today produces 60 per cent of the nation's pulpwood, will supply most of the 20 million additional cords of pulpwood the nation will require annually by 1967, an official of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association today revealed in Atlanta.

Henry J. Malsberger, general manager of the SPCA — an association of Southern pulp and paper mills — made the prediction in announcing industry plans for southwide celebration on April 15 of "Pulp and Paper Day."

"Our association is planning Pulp and Paper Day to review progress in forestry and to focus public attention upon how pulp wood growing may help alleviate many of our agricultural problems," Malsberger said.

"Pulpwood consumption in the U. S. increased 79 per cent between 1947 and 1957," he said. "Our 1957 demand for 36 million cords of pulpwood will rise to 56 million cords annually by 1967."

"Most of the additional 20 million cords the nation will require annually in less than 10 years must come from the South," he explained.

A majority of the 67 primary pulp and paper mills located in 11 southern states will take part in a variety of Pulp and Paper Day activities, the association official said. The states are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

Pulp and Paper Day activities will include public tours of paper mills woodyards, and woods; banquets, civic club meetings, and other similar events, it was explained. Plans for these Pulp and Paper Day activities in southern states are now being made by paper industry leaders, Mr. Malsberger reported.

"Trees are number one cash crop in several states already, and the future is even brighter," Mr. Malsberger said. "We believe it is of the utmost importance to alert farmers and business leaders to the tremendous economic opportunities of more intensive tree growing."

Malsberger said that trees are grown on more farms than any other crop, but that many farmers and landowners are not producing pulpwood at the highest productivity level possible.

Quoting from a U. S. Forest Service survey, Mr. Malsberger said that only 40 per cent of woodlands belonging to small owners have been properly cut to guarantee future high level productivity.

"Our concern is to develop ways and means to step up wood growth on small forest properties," he said. "This may well be the difference between success and failure for untold thousands of marginal farmers."

"We hope the combined thinking of farm and business leaders and representatives of the pulp and paper industry on Pulp and Paper Day will produce some of the answers," he continued.

The Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, through its member pulp and paper mills, offers free technical forestry services to private landowners. These services include tree marking, free tree seedlings, and other forestry assistance given by industry conservation foresters.

Noyes Slated For Speech At Northeast

Science students at Northeast State will hear a member of the du Pont Company on march 19 at 12:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium on the campus. The special assembly also is open to the public, announced Emmett J. Foster, chairman of Northeast's Department of Pure and Applied Sciences.

John H. Noyes, manager of the southern district for the company's extension division, is a former navy lieutenant, newspaper reporter, editor, and radio newscaster.

His talk, entitled "Community of Progress," will be documented by display of a number of recent scientific developments, some so new they are still in the experimental stage.

Noyes is one of several speakers scheduled to appear before the science students at Northeast State to explain the relationship and the future of science and the nation.

kitchen, police said.

The oldest boy, dressed in an overly large pair of torn jeans and a "filthy" sweatshirt, told authorities he "would do anything to get away from his mother."

The two trash-littered attic rooms had only sub-flooring and no insulation, three broken down metal beds, old unpainted furniture and mattresses with a "dragged through the mud" look, police said.

Authorities said the youngsters were not permitted to remain in any other rooms of their home except the attic and the kitchen. They were permitted to use the downstairs bathroom twice a day —at 6 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., police said.

Tell Of Punishment

Police said the youngsters disclosed their clothes were changed only once a week, and that often they had to sleep in their clothes because of no heat in the attic.

The mother gave the youngsters haircuts or shaved their heads once a year. Police quoted one child as saying that the parents sometimes disciplined them by shoving their heads in a bucket of snow or water.

The children also told of standing for 5-15 hours in a corner or being struck with a ruler or their mother's fist, police said.

Authorities placed the youngsters in the Blessed Martin Home temporarily pending further investigation.

Bridges Warns Eisenhower On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Styles Bridges warned the Eisenhower administration Saturday that its entire foreign aid program may be jeopardized in Congress by grants of economic aid to neutral India on the heels of aid to Poland and Yugoslavia.

The New Hampshire Republican is chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee and top-ranking Republican on the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee. He said the 225-million-dollar economic aid grant to India "may well strain to the breaking point the American taxpayer's acceptance of the foreign aid program."

Bridges, who recently denounced aid to Poland and has always criticized assistance to Yugoslav Marshal Tito's government, said in a statement that "I have never opposed foreign aid as such."

However, he said, "I do believe that aid to Communist or neutralist regimes is completely contrary to the concept of the program.

"Let us direct our aid to friends who stand with us and stick with us."

Bridges' latest blast threw another storm cloud over the already-bumpy path of Eisenhower's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid request on which the House Foreign Affairs Committee is holding hearings. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will begin hearings March 17.

Another Appropriations Committee member, Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), chided the administration for advocating a "slow down of water conservation and flood control projects" while granting aid to India.

CWA To Request More Vacation, Increased Wages

Eugene Cottrell, of Rutson, president.

Eugene Cottrell, of Ruston, or president of local 3414 which represents telephone workers in northeast Louisiana, said the CWA request would hold a two-fold purpose "deliberately calculated to help end the economic recession."

"A wage increase now is the only real answer to the spreading recessing," Cottrell said. "Increased wages will put money in the pockets of the consumer and .....give the needed shot in the arm to the economy."

He termed broader vacations as "a direct attack on the threat of unemployment. Added vacation time will spread the work and provide many thousands of additional man hours."

Girl Scouts Reach Another Progress Marker

Observe Group's 46th Anniversary

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

"Come right over, Nina. I've got something for the girls of Savannah and all America and all the world, and we are going to start it tonight."

This sentence, spoken by Juliette Low in 1912, is known to Girl Scouts throughout the United States . . . within an hour after the words were spoken, the plan for the first Girl Scout troop in America was underway.

This week, 46 years after the first troop began, three million Girl Scouts in the nation will celebrate the Scouting birthday with formal gatherings, cakes decorated with brightly-lit candles and special programs to inform the public about the countless worthwhile activities offered by the Scout program.

In Ouachita parish, [illegible] girls are Scouts, as part of the 1,236 in the Silver Waters council which covers 11 Northeast Louisiana parishes . . . in 1942, when the first two troops were organized in Monroe, there were 40 members.

One of the leaders in organizing the first troops here was Miss Myrtle Rodgers, who was principal at Georgia Tucker school for many years. Helping were Mrs. O. N. Reynolds and Mrs. Robert Hart, who each undertook the work as "leader" for one original troop.

Girl Scouts range from Brownies, age 7 to 10 through Intermediate Scouts, age 10 to 13 and Senior Scouts, from 14 to 17 years of age. Members of the first two troops were Brownies, from the two sections of the third grade at Georgia Tucker.

'On Our Own'

"There were two troops with 20 girls in each. Since we had no 'Council' of several troops, such as there is here today, we were more or less on our own," Miss Rodgers recalls, explaining that the troops received handbooks from the national organization and were directed by and responsible to national headquarters.

The troops were organized mainly because mothers of many children were anxious for their little girls to be interested in the right kind of entertainment—something that would be an inspiration to them.

"Mrs. Hart wanted Scout troops to help keep her little girls busy doing worthwhile things, such as cooking and sewing, and among the many things stressed in the Girl Scout program," Miss Rodgers explained, adding with a chuckle that the Hart youngsters had grown up to be "wonderful homemakers."

"We didn't have Scouts when I was little," she continued, adding that the Silver Waters council of today is "Wonderful — I'm so proud of the council and all it has accomplished."

Meetings of the first troops were held at different homes of troop members, at the park, on the school grounds. Mothers from Georgia Tucker urged friends with children in other schools to organize troops, and other schools started Scouting that year.

Maintaining an interest in Scouting, Miss Rodgers, although retired as principal for four years, still holds a yearly associate membership in the Girl Scout Council.

Highest Honor

Several years ago the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council presented her with the "Thanks Badge" — the highest honor in recognition of extremely great service to Scouting. She was also named "Woman of the Year" by the League of Women Voters in which she is active. Her part as a founder of Scouting was one of the citing factors for the award.

The Parish Council was formed in 1944, when enough troops had been organized throughout the area to make a Council practical. Its first president was Mrs. Alberta Rowe, who served two terms. Mrs. George P. Forman, currently president of the Silver Waters Council, was second president of the parish organization.

In March 1956 the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council became a part of the Silver Waters Council.

The Council provides better services and offers more opportunity than one community can do alone. Training for leaders in their own neighborhoods, organization and program helps, camping opportunities are made possible by combining efforts and money. Always needed are adult volunteers as troop leaders, so more girls may have troops.

Included are Union, Ouachita, Jackson, Caldwell, Morehouse, Richland, Franklin, West Carroll, East Carroll, Madison and Tensas parishes as Council members.

"You can count on her," is the theme of Girl Scout week, 1958 — and a knowledge of Girl Scout practices and requirements quickly shows why a scout can be "counted on."

The Girl Scout laws state that a scout's honor is to be trusted; she is loyal, and her duty is to be useful and to help others. A Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout; she is courteous, a friend to animals, obeys orders, is cheerful and thrifty. Finally, a Girl Scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

To earn the tenderfoot, second class, and first class status in Scouting, girls fulfill requirements which take them into every field of interest, from music and art to homemaking or building a camp fire properly.

Meaning of Badge

When a Scout wears a "badge," it means that she has completed several requirements in one field. Some badges are mainly for girls of the junior high school age, others are for the youngest Scouts.

For example, the active citizen badge requires 10 out of 13 possible activities, and comes under the "community life" field. Some of the requirements include: Talk over with your family and then with your troop how the Bill of Rights affects your daily life; make a simple map of your town which would be useful to a newcomer; care for your school's flag, plan a ceremony and serve in the color guard for your school or for some special occasion or show your knowledge of the care and use of the flag to another group; look into the history of town meetings, the secret ballot, elected leaders.

Scouts dip into the fascinating knowledge of folk dancing, dramatics, weaving, pottery, leather craft, architecture, journalism and many other fields in the arts and crafts, literature, dramatics and music and dancing divisions. Some activities may be done alone. Most are done in the companionship of other Girl Scouts.

The proper way to care for an animal, make a bed, bake a cake or set a table are common knowledge to every scout —she is learning things which will help her mature into a fine, dependable person.

Physical handicaps do not prevent a youngster from being a top-notch scout. There are 9,341 handicapped children in Girl Scout troops, carrying out the scout requirements.

Vivid Memory

Mention of "handicapped" scouts brings a vivid memory to Miss Annis Kile, professional worker with the scouts in the Twin Cities. She recalls two blind girls who attended a scout camp in the hill country of Arkansas. They learned to walk unassisted along twisting rock - edged paths, find their way up stairs without hesitation . . . did everything that the other girls with sight were able to accomplish.

"At that time, I'd never had any experience with blind persons, so I treated them the same way as everyone else—and that proved to be the right way," Miss Kile remembers, adding "every person in that camp was inspired by the way those girls did everything easily and sometimes better than we did."

Today, Girl Scouts in the Twin Cities will hold two birthday celebrations starting at 2:30 p.m. One for the college area troops will be at Sherrouse school, and W. Monroe northside and southside troops will meet at Georgia Tucker School—where the first troops met.

Wearing their brown or green uniforms, each girl will donate one penny for each year of her age to the Juliette Low World Friendship fund, in memory of Mrs. Low who was so impressed by the scouting programs in England that when she returned to America, she brought the idea for Girl Scouting with her.

Whether a Scout is in uniform or not, you can recognize her by her actions, which carry out the Girl Scout promise:

"On my honor, I will try: To do my duty to God and my country. To help other people at all times. To obey the Girl Scout Laws."

Scientists Using New Chemical

DENVER (AP) — U. S. Bureau of Reclamation scientists believe they are well on the way to a solution of one of the West's most heartbreaking water problems.

The problem is the fantastically fast rate the region's lifeblood of stored water disappears in evaporation.

For instance Lake Mead, the great reservoir backed up by Hoover Dam, gives up an estimated 635 acre-feet of water daily. An acre-foot is an acre of water one foot deep — enough to support an entire family for a year.

Every body of water, large of small, is constantly losing a proportionate amount of precious moisture to a thieving atmosphere.

Without a remedy for this loss, or a sharp upturn in water supply, scientists fear many millions of future Americans will be unable to live in some water-short areas. Potential industry will go undeveloped, and perhaps even present industry will die.

Chemical Applied

The new and promising solution to the evaporation problem lies in the application of a chemical layer across a reservoir surface, creating a film that insulates the water from the dry air and prevents the atmosphere from sucking moisture from the lake.

The wax-like chemical compound which performs this trick is called hexadecanol and is used in many cosmetics. Its molecules are so tiny that the film can't be seen. But its molecules quickly line up so tightly that water molecules can't push through.

Poll Shows Students Got Late Starts

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Are scientists made or born?

With all the emphasis now being placed on science education, Oklahoma State University officials decided to run a quick check to see how early successful students began leaning toward science.

A poll of the 10 young men engaged in rocket research at OSU showed that none had ideas about science as a career as teen-agers. Most were average students in public schools but had no special interest in math or science.

Even after they entered college, not all of them definitely had made up their minds about careers. One of the 10 who are helping design and build electronic instruments for the Air Force's Aerobee rockets, only three are in courses begun as freshmen. The other seven changed over to science later.

Six of the 10 are enrolled in some phase of engineering and the other four in physics.

Dr. L. Wayne Johnson, mathematics department head, said few freshmen have their minds made up on a career when they come to college.

Police Blame Train Wreck On Engineer

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — The apparent failure of an engineer to heed a warning signal was responsible Friday night for a four-train wreck, one of the worst rail disasters in Brazilian history, police said Saturday.

The death toll rose to 58 Saturday. Fifty bodies were removed from the wreckage and eight persons died in hospitals from injuries. Some newspapers predicted the toll would rise as high as 80.

Rescue workers dug through the tangled wreckage in pouring rain searching for more bodies.

The crash occurred at the peak of the commuter rush hour.

Rain and hail stalled three electric trains on the tracks near the Paciencia station, about an hour from Rio De Janeiro.

STASSEN AIMS HIGH

Three Politicians Served As Governor In 2 States

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP) — If Harold Stassen makes it up the long, long road to the Pennsylvania governorship, he will join a singular group of political celebrities: men who have served as governor of more than one state or territory.

If nominated by the Republican party and elected in November, Stassen would become the first man in modern American politics to turn the trick.

As a three-time governor of Minnesota — first elected at age 31 — and a high government handyman, Stassen would bring an impressive record of variety to the group.

Distinguished Trio

But when it comes to colorful character, this trio has a supply hard to match anywhere in politics.

Sam Houston, governor of Tennesse and governor of Texas; John White Geary, Democratic governor of Kansas territory and Republican governor of Pennsylvania; Preston H. Leslie, governor of Kentucky and the Montana territory.

Houston is the only one of the three actually elected to the top job in two different states. The other two were elected in one state and appointed in the other.

And Houston was far more than simply governor of two states. He ran away as a teen-ager to live with the Indians. Back in civilization he was elected .U. S. representative from Tennessee at 30 and won the state's governorship at 34. He was one of the heirs apparent to President Andrew Jackson.

HAROLD STASSEN, who'd like to become fourth man in history to serve as governor of two states.

However, his personal life became tangled and he went back with the Indians. In time he moved to Texas and led the Texans to victory at San Jacinto.

When Texas joined the Union Houston was the state's first U.S. senator. In 1859 he was elected governor and tried to steer his government away from the Confederacy. He was deposed when Texas seceded from the Union. With a son in the Confederate army and his friends turned against him, Houston died in 1863, shortly after his predictions that the South could not win were underlined at Gettysburg and Vicksburg.

Tough, bearded John White Geary was a native Pennsylvanian and like Houston, a Democrat initially. An admirer described him as "attracted to conflict and action as is a moth to the flame."

Geary's professional career as a lawyer and engineer was cut short by the Mexican War. After an impressive tour as a soldier, Geary was appointed postmaster of San Francisco and later, was elected that rough - and - tumble town's first mayor.

Because of his success, President Buchanan appointed him governor of "bleeding Kansas" as the territory previewed the Civil War.

At the outbreak of the war Geary returned to military service, winning promotion to major general and finishing the war as one of Sherman's division commanders.

Switched Parties

Geary switched parties and returned to Pennsylvania, winning the governorship in 1866 as a Republican. He was re-elected in 1869 and died shortly after leaving office in 1873 at the age of 54.

The history books have less to say about Preston H. Leslie, who also was a Democrat. He had a reputation as a politician's politician and was particularly effective in bucking the growing Agrarian movement in Kentucky, his home state, winning the governorship in 1871.

In 1887 he was named governor of Montana territory, a post he held until 1889.

ROTARIES, SWINGING PIPE

March Of 'Black Gold' Boon To Ouachita Parish Areas

By AL YOUNG
Staff Writer

On May 26, 1955, people of the Twin Cities area came into an inheritance.

It was not a tangible gift, not a doling out of packages or a handy check backed by reserve in any local bank.

It was oil.

"Oil and maybe gas," the first reports read. The well was the Golson No. 1 in the Cadeville Field west of the river, opening up that prolific source and changing west Ouachita parish from peaceful fields and quiet woods into the hurry - up of rotaries and traveling blocks, air tongs and swinging pipe.

The Golson 1, drilled by Zack Brooks Drilling Co. and sponsored by Gulf Oil Co., Atlantic Refining Co., Frank and George Frankel, and British-American Oil Co. of Dallas was actually put on production two months after the May strike. Through the end of 1957 it had accounted for 176-535 barrels of oil. Gas from the well was destroyed by flaring until recently. It is being sold now, Duncan Cook, conservation chief here said.

The Golson 1-A was brought in nearby only six months later, in October, just 100 feet deeper than the original Golson sinking, which found the pool at 10,000 feet.

Cook said there were still just three wells in that field, Atlantic Refining Company's Golson number 1, 2, and 3. All produce 47-gravity oil.

Next In Spotlight

The West Monroe Field next came into the spotlight, getting initial production from the Tina Parker No. 1, completed Dec. 21, 1956 in Section 5, township 7 north of range 3 east. Pan American Oil brought in the Tina Parker at 9,931 feet in the Cotton Valley D sand. That well has to date produced 1,260,000 cubic feet of gas and 56 barrels of 52 gravity distillate, Cook said.

Then, in July of 1957 the shallowest first - producer in any local field cropped up in Calhoun. The Pipes No. 1 came in at 9152 feet, producing from the Cadeville Sand and has so far provided 4½ million cubic feet of gas and 1147.34 barrels of 53.8 gravity distillate.

The Fuller No. 1 was completed Feb. 9, this year, in the Calhoun field, only a mile from the old Pipes No. 1. This new hole is accounting for an open - flow capacity of 21 million cubic feet of gas.

The Fuller well is in the Cotton Valley "D" Sand, same producing sand as the Tina Parker No. 1 in the West Monroe field, and produces a very small percentage of condensate (distillate in the finished form), only about four barrels per million cubic feet of gas. Cook said the well was allowed a full 640 acres in the spacing arrangement for the section of land. (Standard spacing arrangement in west Ouachita allots each well only 230 acres.)

Cook said the California Co. actually opened the area up, in 1943, with two wells brought in in the Calhoun Field, both showing oil and gas. He said around 600 barrels of oil were taken from the drillings before abandonment shortly after completion.

Then a few weeks ago the Carlton field was re-opened, four miles north of the Calhoun area. This field, which had been pioneered with the Wininger well several years ago, sponsored by the Feasel Interests and Monroe Gas Co., was just put on a gas pipeline recently.

Cook said all maps and early charts of the Carlton area showed the spelling as definitely C-A-R-L-T-O-N, taken presumably from the Carlton church which identified the community.

Things would probably have stayed that way had not a prominent Carlton resident immediately gotten in touch with the conservation department and made a very noticeable change. The name, the lady said, was C-A-R-L-E-T-O-N, with an E. It happened to be the same as her family appellation for which the area was named.

'Shoot To Kill' Orders To Cops

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (UP) —The police department today ordered special details hidden at vulnerable establishments across the city in an effort to halt a current wave of armed robberies.

Police were ordered to shoot to kill if holdup men enter the establishments.

It was revealed today that officers have been hidden for the past few nights at various service stations, liquor stores, and other frequent targets for bandits.

The special details will now be on duty in the day as well.

A foot-operated parking brake, with a quick finger-tip release, is a standard feature of the 1958 Chevrolet cars.

MISS CAROLINE DORMAN

Librarians To Hear State Author-Artist

Miss Caroline Dorman, well-known author, artist, botanist, and horticulturist, will address the Louisiana Association of School Librarians at its meeting March 21.

The meeting will be held during the Louisiana Library Association Convention in Shreveport at the Captain Shreve Hotel. Miss Dorman will speak at 9 a.m.

Miss Dorman published "Wild Flowers of Louisiana" in 1934, and this month her latest work, "Flowers Native to the Deep South," will be published.

Former Teacher

A former school teacher, Miss Dorman also was engaged in forestry work for several years. Her numerous articles, color paintings and pen and ink drawings have appeared in Louisiana and Texas newspapers, and in national magazines such as American Home, American Boy, and Holland's.

Miss Dorman lives in a veritable bird and wild flower sanctuary in a log house near Readhimer. Here she has studied plant requirements, and painted the native flowers.

Active in the Royal Horticultural Society for many years, Miss Dorman has sent seeds of native plants to New Zealand, Australia, Japan, and other points. As a result some of the native southern flowers are now blooming at far-flung areas on the globe.

Miss Dorman was also largely instrumental in establishing the Kisatchie National Forest.

Alec Guinness Is Faceless Man

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, March 8 (AP)— You might say Alec Guinness, the movie's man of a thousand faces, has no face at all.

He has a nose, two eyes, a couple of ears, a mouth, checks and a chin like everyone else.

But there is no ready phrase to describe the features of the man who may be one of the world's greatest screen actors.

His pinkish unlined face is merely a subtle foundation for a bewildering succession of masks. He has an almost uncanny facelessness.

"Man of a thousand faces," he said. "How completely wrong. Do you know I hardly ever even use makeup?"

That's just it. Here is no trick artist whose success depends upon grotesque achievements of the makeup department.

Guinness' masterful characterizations are reached by intellectual routes and a deft sensitivity to just what nuance he can transmit to an unseen audience.

This doesn't mean Guinness is a mugger. To put over a point he will shift his pale eyes or lower slightly his puffy under lip. But he never mugs.

At the age of 44, he's aware he has a real chance of winning Hollywood's Oscar for the best performance of 1957. The picture in which he gave one of the movie's most compelling and intelligent characterizations was "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

His performance as a stiff - necked British Colonel in a Japanese prison camp put him on top of the list of actors' contenders when Oscar nominations were announced last month in Hollywood.

The United States Board of Review of Motion Pictures has already given him its award for the finest performance last year as have the New York movie critics.

Even with all this, he isn't bubbling over with conversation about himself—a rare characteristic in an actor.

Guinness talks more easily about the past than the present. He confirmed that he left school at 18—not at 14 as some of his biographers insist—and that his first year and a half after the classroom was in an advertising agency in London.

"I was totally inadequate," he said.

From copywriting he became a scholarship pupil at a dramatic school. The turning point in his life came one afternoon when he was sitting in Regent's Park with a girl.

"If you are as hard up as you say you are," said the girl, "you should be doing something, why not go and see if John Gielgud can help?"

Gielgud, the great Shakespearean actor, remembered Guinness from a d r a m a t i c competition which Alec had won. Gielgud had been one of the judges.

The actor tried to find the young man a job, but with no success. By this time Guinness' money was so low that his daily diet consisted of a green apple, a glass of milk and a bun.

Walking through London's theatrical district he suddenly asked for work at the boxoffice at the Piccadilly Theater. The stage manager, who happened to be at the boxoffice, asked: "You say you are an actor. Are you a good actor?"

"Very good," replied the inexperienced young man.

He was hired, playing a Chinese coolie in Act I, a French pirate in Act II and a British sailor in Act III.

Three months later, when he was producing, G i e l g u d gave Guinness a job and he was launched. His rise was spectacular, interrupted only by World War II.

He enlisted as a seaman in the Royal Navy and came out an officer.

His first starring role in films was in "Great Expectations." Soon he won international fame in the comedy "Kind Hearts and Coronets," in which he played eight roles, including an old woman.

Girl Scouts Reach Another Progress Marker

Police Blame Train Wreck On Engineer

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — The apparent failure of an engineer to heed a warning signal was responsible Friday night for a four-train wreck, one of the worst rail disasters in Brazilian history, police said Saturday.

The death toll rose to 58 Saturday. Fifty bodies were removed from the wreckage and eight persons died in hospitals from injuries. Some newspapers predicted the toll would rise as high as 80.

Rescue workers dug through the tangled wreckage in pouring rain searching for more bodies.

The crash occurred at the peak of the commuter rush hour.

Rain and hail stalled three electric trains on the tracks near the Paciencia station, about an hour from Rio De Janeiro.

Scientists Using New Chemical

DENVER (AP) — U. S. Bureau of Reclamation scientists believe they are well on the way to a solution of one of the West's most heartbreaking water problems.

The problem is the fantastically fast rate the region's lifeblood of stored water disappears in evaporation.

For instance Lake Mead, the great reservoir backed up by Hoover Dam, gives up an estimated 635 acre-feet of water daily. An acre-foot is an acre of water one foot deep — enough to support an entire family for a year.

Every body of water, large of small, is constantly losing a proportionate amount of precious moisture to a thieving atmosphere.

Without a remedy for this loss, or a sharp upturn in water supply, scientists fear many millions of future Americans will be unable to live in some water-short areas. Potential industry will go undeveloped, and perhaps even present industry will die.

Chemical Applied

The new and promising solution to the evaporation problem lies in the application of a chemical layer across a reservoir surface, creating a film that insulates the water from the dry air and prevents the atmosphere from sucking moisture from the lake.

The wax-like chemical compound which performs this trick is called hexadecanol and is used in many cosmetics. Its molecules are so tiny that the film can't be seen. But its molecules quickly line up so tightly that water molecules can't push through.

Poll Shows Students Got Late Starts

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Are scientists made or born?

With all the emphasis now being placed on science education, Oklahoma State University officials decided to run a quick check to see how early successful students began leaning toward science.

A poll of the 10 young men engaged in rocket research at OSU showed that none had ideas about science as a career as teen-agers. Most were average students in public schools but had no special interest in math or science.

Even after they entered college, not all of them definitely had made up their minds about careers. One of the 10 who are helping design and build electronic instruments for the Air Force's Aerobee rockets, only three are in courses begun as freshmen. The other seven changed over to science later.

Six of the 10 are enrolled in some phase of engineering and the other four in physics.

Dr. L. Wayne Johnson, mathematics department head, said few freshmen have their minds made up on a career when they come to college.

STASSEN AIMS HIGH

Three Politicians Served As Governor In 2 States

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP) — If Harold Stassen makes it up the long, long road to the Pennsylvania governorship, he will join a singular group of political celebrities: men who have served as governor of more than one state or territory.

If nominated by the Republican party and elected in November, Stassen would become the first man in modern American politics to turn the trick.

As a three-time governor of Minnesota — first elected at age 31 — and a high government handyman, Stassen would bring an impressive record of variety to the group.

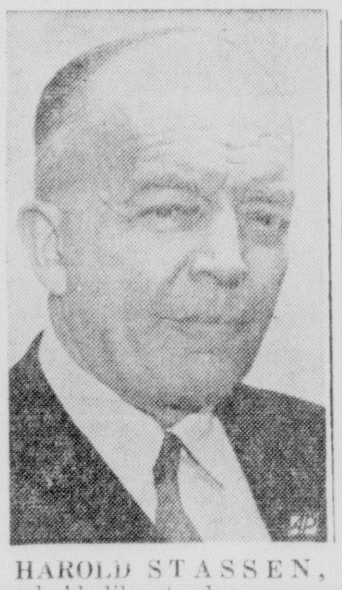
Distinguished Trio

But when it comes to colorful character, this trio has a supply hard to match anywhere in politics:

Sam Houston, governor of Tennessee and governor of Texas; John White Geary, Democratic governor of Kansas territory and Republican governor of Pennsylvania; Preston H. Leslie, governor of Kentucky and the Montana territory.

Houston is the only one of the three actually elected to the top job in two different states. The other two were elected in one state and appointed in the other.

And Houston was far more than simply governor of two states. He ran away as a teen-ager to live with the Indians. Back in civilization he was elected .U. S. representative from Tennessee at 30 and won the state's governorship at 34. He was one of the heirs apparent to President Andrew Jackson.



HAROLD STASSEN, who'd like to become fourth man in history to serve as governor of two states.

However, his personal life became tangled and he went back with the Indians. In time he moved to Texas and led the Texans to victory at San Jacinto.

When Texas joined the Union Houston was the state's first U.S. senator. In 1859 he was elected governor and tried to steer his government away from the Confederacy. He was deposed when Texas seceded from the Union. With a son in the Confederate army and his friends turned against him, Houston died in 1863, shortly after his predictions that the South could not win were underlined at Gettysburg and Vicksburg.

Tough, bearded John White Geary was a native Pennsylvanian and like Houston, a Democrat initially. An admirer described him as "attracted to conflict and action as is a moth to the flame."

Geary's professional career as a lawyer and engineer was cut short by the Mexican War. After an impressive tour as a soldier, Geary was appointed postmaster of San Francisco and later, was elected that rough - and - tumble town's first mayor.

Because of his success, President Buchanan appointed him governor of "bleeding Kansas" as the territory previewed the Civil War.

At the outbreak of the war Geary returned to military service, winning promotion to major general and finishing the war as one of Sherman's division commanders.

Switched Parties

Geary switched parties and returned to Pennsylvania, winning the governorship in 1866 as a Republican. He was re-elected in 1869 and died shortly after leaving office in 1873 at the age of 54.

The history books have less to say about Preston H. Leslie, who also was a Democrat. He had a reputation as a politician's politician and was particularly effective in bucking the growing Agrarian movement in Kentucky, his home state, winning the governorship in 1871.

In 1887 he was named governor of Montana territory, a post he held until 1889.

ROTARIES, SWINGING PIPE

March Of 'Black Gold' Boon To Ouachita Parish Areas

By AL YOUNG
Staff Writer

On May 26, 1955, people of the Twin Cities area came into an inheritance.

It was not a tangible gift, not a doling out of packages or a handy check backed by reserve in any local bank.

It was oil.

"Oil and maybe gas," the first reports read. The well was the Golson No. 1 in the Cadeville Field west of the river, opening up that prolific source and changing west Ouachita parish from peaceful fields and quiet woods into the hurry - up of rotaries and traveling blocks, air tongs and swinging pipe.

The Golson 1, drilled by Zack Brooks Drilling Co. and sponsored by Gulf Oil Co., Atlantic Refining Co., Frank and George Frankel, and British-American Oil Co. of Dallas was actually put on production two months after the May strike. Through the end of 1957 it had accounted for 176-535 barrels of oil. Gas from the well was destroyed by flaring until recently. It is being sold now, Duncan Cook, conservation chief here said.

The Golson 1-A was brought in nearby only six months later, in October, just 100 feet deeper than the original Golson sinking, which found the pool at 10,000 feet.

Cook said there were still just three wells in that field, Atlantic Refining Company's Golson number 1, 2, and 3, All produce 47-gravity oil.

Next In Spotlight

The West Monroe Field next came into the spotlight, getting initial production from the Tina Parker No. 1, completed Dec. 21, 1955 in Section 5, township 7 north of range 3 east. Pan American Oil brought in the Tina Parker at 9,931 feet in the Cotton Valley D sand. That well has to date produced 1,260,000 cubic feet of gas and 56 barrels of 52 gravity distillate, Cook said.

Then, in July of 1957 the shallowest first - producer in any local field cropped up in Calhoun. The Pipes No. 1 came in at 9152 feet, producing from the Cadeville Sand and has so far provided 4½ million cubic feet of gas and 1147.84 barrels of 53.8 gravity distillate.

The Fuller No. 1 was completed Feb. 9, this year, in the Calhoun field, only a mile from the old Pipes No. 1. This new hole is accounting for an open - flow capacity of 21 million cubic feet of gas.

The Fuller well is in the Cotton Valley "D" Sand, same producing sand as the Tina Parker No. 1 in the West Monroe field, and produces a very small percentage of condensate (distillate in the finished form), only about four barrels per million cubic feet of gas. Cook said the well was allowed a full 640 acres in the spacing arrangement for the section of land. (Standard spacing arrangement in west Ouachita allots each well only 240 acres.)

Cook said the California Co. actually opened the area up, in 1948, with two wells brought in in the Calhoun Field, both showing oil and gas. He said around 600 barrels of oil were taken from the drillings before abandonment shortly after completion.

Then a few weeks ago the Carlton field was re-opened, four miles north of the Calhoun area. This field, which had been pioneered with the Wininger well several years ago, sponsored by the Feasel Interests and Monroe Gas Co., was just put on a gas pipeline recently.

Cook said all maps and early charts of the Carlton area showed the spelling as definitely C-A-R-L-T-O-N, taken presumably from the Carlton church which identified the community.

Things would probably have stayed that way had not a prominent Carlton resident immediately gotten in touch with the conservation department and made a very noticeable change. The name, the lady said, was C-A-R-L-E-T-O-N, with an E. It happened to be the same as her family appellation for which the area was named.

'Shoot To Kill' Orders To Cops

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (UP) —The police department today ordered special details hidden at vulnerable establishments across the city in an effort to halt a current wave of armed robberies.

Police were ordered to shoot to kill if holdup men enter the establishments.

It was revealed today that officers have been hidden for the past few nights at various service stations, liquor stores, and other frequent targets for bandits.

The special details will now be on duty in the day as well.

A foot-operated parking brake, with a quick finger-tip release, is a standard feature of the 1958 Chevrolet cars.

MISS CAROLINE DORMAN

Librarians To Hear State Author-Artist

Miss Caroline Dorman, well-known author, artist, botanist, and horticulturist, will address the Louisiana Association of School Libarians at its meeting March 21.

The meeting will be held during the Louisiana Library Association Convention in Shreveport at the Captain Shreve Hotel. Miss Dorman will speak at 9 a.m.

Miss Dorman published "Wild Flowers of Louisiana" in 1934, and this month her latest work, "Flowers Native to the Deep South," will be published.

Former Teacher

A former school teacher, Miss Dorman also was engaged in forestry work for several years. Her numerous articles, color paintings and pen and ink drawings have appeared in Louisiana and Texas newspapers, and in national magazines such as American Home, American Boy, and Holland's.

Miss Dorman lives in a veritable bird and wild flower sanctuary in a log house near Readhimer. Here she has studied plant requirements, and painted the native flowers.

Active in the Royal Horticultural Society for many years, Miss Dorman has sent seeds of native plants to New Zealand, Australia, Japan, and other points. As a result some of the native southern flowers are now blooming at far-flung areas on the globe.

Miss Dorman was also largely instrumental in establishing the Kisatchie National Forest.

Alec Guinness Is Faceless Man

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, March 8 (AP)— You might say Alec Guinness, the movie's man of a thousand faces, has no face at all.

He has a nose, two eyes, a couple of ears, a mouth, cheeks and a chin like everyone else.

But there is no ready phrase to describe the features of the man who may be one of the world's greatest screen actors.

His pinkish unlined face is merely a subtle foundation for a bewildering succession of masks. He has an almost uncanny facelessness.

"Man of a thousand faces," he said. "How completely wrong. Do you know I hardly ever even use makeup?"

That's just it. Here is no trick artist whose success depends upon grotesque achievements of the makeup department.

Guinness' masterful characterizations are reached by intellectual routes and a deft sensitivity to just what nuance he can transmit to an unseen audience.

This doesn't mean Guinness is a mugger. To put over a point he will shift his pale eyes or lower slightly his puffy under lip. But he never mugs.

At the age 44, he's aware he has a real chance of winning Hollywood's Oscar for the best performance of 1957. The picture in which he gave one of the movie's most compelling and intelligent characterizations was "the Bridge on the River Kwai."

His performance as a stiff - necked British Colonel in a Japanese prison camp put him on top of the list of actors' contenders when Oscar nominations were announced last month in Hollywood.

The United States Board of Review of Motion Pictures has already given him its award for the finest performance last year as have the New York movie critics.

Even with all this, he isn't bubbling over with conversation about himself—a rare characteristic in an actor.

Guinness talks more easily about the past than the present. He confirmed that he left school at 18—not at 14 as some of his biographers insist—and that his first year and a half after the classroom was in an advertising agency in London.

"I was totally inadequate," he said.

From copywriting he became a scholarship pupil at a dramatic school. The turning point in his life came one afternoon when he was sitting in Regent's Park with a girl.

"If you are as hard up as you say you are," said the girl, "you should be doing something, why not go and see if John Gielgud can help?"

Gielgud, the great Shakespearean actor, remembered Guinness from a dramatic competition which Alec had won. Gielgud had been one of the judges.

The actor tried to find the young man a job, but with no success. By this time Guinness' money was so low that his daily diet consisted of a green apple, a glass of milk and a bun.

Walking through London's theatrical district he suddenly asked for work at the boxoffice at the Piccadilly Theater. The stage manager, who happened to be in the boxoffice, asked: "You say you are an actor. Are you a good actor?"

"Very good," replied the inexperienced young man.

He was hired, playing a Chinese collie in ActI, a French pirate in Act II and a British sailor in Act III.

Three months later, when he was producing, Gielgud gave Guinness a job and he was launched. His rise was spectacular, interrupted only by World War II.

He enlisted as a seaman in the Royal Navy and came out an officer.

His first starring role in films was in "Great Expectations." Soon he won international fame in the comedy "Kind Hearts and Coronets," in which he played eight roles, including an old woman.

Palace Department Store Observes 55th Anniversary

In accordance with the policy which has made it a northeast Louisiana institution, the Palace department store is now holding a giant anniversary sale to celebrate its 55th year of service.

The sale, which ends Tuesday, includes savings on quality items giving the many patrons of the Palace another opportunity to be served by the store which has become a byword in the retail business.

Founded in 1903 by Sig Masur, the Palace department store had its beginning in a humble one-story building. It was manned by a staff of three persons, including the management.

Mr. Masur, who died in 1948, could have had no way of knowing that his "brainchild" would grow to its present size and scope.

Later, Louis Masur Sr., brother of the founder, added a shoe department to his brother's ready-to-wear establishment.

In 1914, the business of the small store had boomed until it was necessary for Mr. Masur to build his own structure, a two-story brick building. Two years later, and another two-story structure was added.

Today, in its six-story building constructed in 1924, and in the annex and stock room on Harrison Street, the personnel of the Palace offer a varied and high-quality line of merchandise for men, women and children, as well as items for the home and office.

The Palace has built a reputation for top quality and reasonable prices on nationally advertised merchandise, according to Jack Masur, president of the firm.

"That's because brand names guarantee both of these advantages," he said. "We have featured nationally advertised products because they mean better values always for our customers."

A nationally known trademark, he pointed out, assures the shopper that whatever he is buying is backed by reputable manufacturers and tested sales experience. It also means a lower price because a nationally advertised product carries with it the substantial reductions made possible by large scale output and distribution.

"Brand names have been an integral part of the Palace for many years," Mr. Masur said. "They have remained prominent because they signify to Palace customers the unassailable quality of the merchandise upon which they appear."

Brand names in effect are signatures, signifying the fine merchandise we carry throughout the Palace, according to store officials.

Besides its many departments of clothing and home furnishings, the Palace has become the virtual center of gift buying in china, silver and crystal. Almost every bride in the area registers her patterns in the gift department, and rests assured that most people think first of the Palace when shopping for a wedding gift.

Another favorite of women is the modern beauty parlor, which has a staff of eight carefully trained and thoroughly competent operators and a hostess. Remodeled last year, this special section, features all of the customary services plus a new facial booth with reclining chairs.

Sig Masur established, early in the history of the store, a policy of prestige, with which the business of the Palace is characterized today. He believed in handling quality merchandise and he let the values speak for themselves. So-called "sales" have never been used to focus attention of the customer on how much he could get for his money at the Palace.

A value event which attended the twenty-fifth anniversary of the store in 1928, another in connection with the fiftieth anniversary and the current observance have marked the only activity of this type in the history of the business.

"Our buyers have shopped the markets extensively," the president said, "and we think we have found the best values to offer our customers. This is our way," he continued, "of showing our appreciation for 55 years of patronage by the citizens of northeast Louisiana."

Officers of the firm are Jack Masur, president, Sylvian Masur, and Milton Gorn, and Mrs. Beatrice S. Masur, widow of the store's founder.

Mrs. Masur moved to Monroe in 1907 and with her husband and later her sons has watched and experienced the growth of the department. She has been devoted to the business for over 50 years.

The Palace today is more than a fashion center that is considered throughout the United States as "unique for a city the size of Monroe." It is also a tribute to Sig Masur and his descendants whose hard work and dedication to the service of their customers have made their store a favorite in customer circles.

New Soviet Envoy Pushes Friendship

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP) — It's just a month since the new Soviet ambassador, Mikhail Aleksevich Menshikov, arrived at Friendship International Airport. He's been pushing friendship ever since.

The ambassador, with a ready smile and the advantage of speaking English, is getting acquainted in a hurry with social as well as political Washington.

He doesn't seem to leave a stone unturned in his effort to win friends and influence people.

He's a master of social chit-chat knows how to turn away an embarrassing question and is hep, even down to using American slang.

When he launched his first big party at the Russian Embassy—a musicale — Washington society showed up in larger numbers than they have in years.

Famous hostess Perle Mesta got her first invitation to the embassy and reported Madame Menshikov personally helped her to food from the lavish buffet.

Menshikov, 55, is an expert in the field of trade and commerce and in his last post, as ambassador to India, he was credited with signing major economic agreements.

For 13 years, he has been assigned to diplomatic posts where English was spoken, including six years as trade expert in London.

He also has served in Washington before — in 1951 — as one of three deputy directors of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

He was named first deputy minister of foreign trade in 1948 and within six months got the trade ministry post.

He is one of the 120 candidate members of the Central Committee in Moscow, a political rank held by many ambassadors.

Menshikov announced from the first that he is here as an "ambassador of peace, friendship and cooperation."

It wasn't long before people learned he likes to ski, ride horseback and talk about "my four kids." The oldest is married and the three others are in school. There also are two grandchildren.

Menshikov has a sense of humor too, which Washington finds somewhat unusual in a top Russian diplomat. He doesn't seem to mind talking to anyone—from newsmen to casual partygoers.

At a party during a recent heavy snowstorm in Washington, the ambassador suggested it was "a light winter" compared to Moscow and ventured "There we know how to take care of snow." When it came out the ambassador liked to ski someone asked if he was going to ski back home to the embassy, a block away.

Motorist In Lonely Spot Amid Crowd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Motorist Greg Morton, en route home in heavy freeway traffic yesterday, swerved to miss a wild driver. His car landed on a middle dividing strip.

With thousands of cars whizzing by in solid ranks on either side, Morton found himself as lonely and helpless as if he was on an uninhabited island in the Pacific Ocean.

He signalled for help for an hour and 15 minutes. He said he tried to flag down 14 motorcycle policemen. No. 8 stopped, he said but when he asked, "How do I get off of here," the officer said, "Just start your engine and drive away." Then the cop rode away.

Finally, a civilian motorcyclist paused long enough to size up the situation and promised to telephone for aid. At long last another motor cop appeared, made the traffic pause for a moment and Morton was able to get back onto the freeway.

"I'd have given 20 bucks for a telephone out there," said Morton, 34, a management consultant.

IF NUCLEAR SHIP CRASHED

Contamination In Harbor Possible

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP) — A harbor collision involving a nuclear-powered merchant vessel could contaminate the harbor with dangerous radioactivity.

This was reported today by a committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

It said that such a collision could so contaminate the surface water of an 8-mile-long, 3-mile-wide, 50-foot deep harbor that radiation exposure in the area would be as follows:

The daily dose could be equal to what is now deemed permissible only if received over an entire year's time as an average dose for persons in the general population.

That is, the daily dose in such an area would be about five-tenths of a roentgen—the same as now set as a yearly limit "whole body" average for the general populace from man-made radiations.

The NAS committee told about it in a report entitled "The Effects of Atomic Radiation on Oceanography and Fisheries," a copy of which has been submitted to the United Nations' Scientific Committee on the Effects of Radiation.

The report is a more detailed expansion of findings made by the same committee in 1956 as part of the over-all National Academy of Sciences report on radiation effects on man and his environment.

Declaring that in the future an expanding worldwide atomic industry will present difficult problems of disposal of huge quantities of atomic wastes, the report said it "may be convenient and perhaps necessary to dispose of some of these industrial wastes in the oceans."

And it said among other things that:

1. "It is ... urgent that the nations of the earth formulate agreements for the safe oceanic disposal of atomic wastes, based on existing scientific knowledge."

2. Because of "the vastness, complexity and immediacy of the underlying scientific problems, it is important that pertinent oceanographic research be intensified on a worldwide basis."

The report said that contamination of the sea by nuclear wastes "will certainly not present a hazard to shipping" provided the artificially introduced radioactivity is kept to a limit determined safe for fisheries—and therefore even more safe for humans.

But it added: "On the other hand, it is almost certain that nuclear power plants will be extensively used in merchant vessels; they are already in use in naval craft."

"Serious hazards," said the report, "may arise in confined waters from collisions in which the atomic reactor is damaged and the fuel elements with their contained fission products are lost in the water."

Davis Predicts Defeat Of 5-Cent Letter Proposal

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) predicted Saturday the House will reject the Senate's proposed 5-cent rate for mailing out-of-town letters.

Davis, high-ranking member of the House Post Office Committee, said he got "a general impression of strong opposition" among House members.

Rep. Edward H. Rees (Kan.), senior Republican on the committee, said he found increasing support for the 5-cent stamp.

The House last year approved a 4-cent charge for both local and out-of-town letters.

The Senate's package bill to increase postage rates and postal workers' pay is expected to be submitted to the House Tuesday or Wednesday. Leaders have been waiting to bring it up when Rep. Tom Murray (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Post Office Committee, returns. Murray has been hospitalized with a back injury.

Both Davis and Rees agreed in interviews that the House will send the bill to a joint conference committee. It would be charged with settling differences between the Senate's version and the postage-only bill passed by the House last year.

The Senate bill would increase postage rates 32 million dollars [illegible] Besides the 5-cent stamp, it would hike local letters from [illegible] 4 cents, boost airmail rates from 6 to 8 cents, and provide [illegible] increases on second and third class mail.

The Senate tacked on a 320-million-dollar-a-year pay raise for [illegible] postal workers. They would get a 7½ per cent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1. In addition, lower paid employes would get a three-year cost-of-living bonus, ranging from $80 to $240 annually.

The original House bill called for postage increases, amounting to [illegible] million dollars a year.

The House version did not include a pay raise for postal workers. However, the House Post Office Committee recently approved a bigger raise for them than the Senate bill provides.

Menshikov has a sense of humor too, which Washington finds somewhat unusual in a top Russian diplomat. He doesn't seem to mind talking to anyone—from newsmen to casual partygoers.

At a party during a recent heavy snowstorm in Washington, the ambassador suggested it was "a light winter" compared to Moscow and ventured "There we know how to take care of snow." When it came out the ambassador liked to ski someone asked if he was going to ski back home to the embassy, a block away.

Motorist In Lonely Spot Amid Crowd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Motorist Greg Morton, en route home in heavy freeway traffic yesterday, swerved to miss a wild driver. His car landed on a middle dividing strip.

With thousands of cars whizzing by in solid ranks on either side, Morton found himself as lonely and helpless as if he was on an uninhabited island in the Pacific Ocean.

He signalled for help for an hour and 15 minutes. He said he tried to flag down 14 motorcycle policemen. No. 8 stopped, he said but when he asked, "How do I get off of here," the officer said, "Just start your engine and drive away." Then the cop rode away.

Finally, a civilian motorcyclist paused long enough to size up the situation and promised to telephone for aid. At long last another motor cop appeared, made the traffic pause for a moment and Morton was able to get back onto the freeway.

"I'd have given 20 bucks for a telephone out there," said Morton, 34, a management consultant.

IF NUCLEAR SHIP CRASHED

Contamination In Harbor Possible

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP) — A harbor collision involving a nuclear-powered merchant vessel could contaminate the harbor with dangerous radioactivity.

This was reported today by a committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

It said that such a collision could so contaminate the surface water of an 8-mile-long, 3-mile-wide, 50-foot deep harbor that radiation exposure in the area would be as follows:

The daily dose could be equal to what is now deemed permissible only if received over an entire year's time as an average dose for persons in the general population.

That is, the daily dose in such an area would be about five-tenths of a roentgen—the same as now set as a yearly limit "whole body" average for the general populace from man-made radiations.

The NAS committee told about it in a report entitled "The Effects of Atomic Radiation on Oceanography and Fisheries," a copy of which has been submitted to the United Nations' Scientific Committee on the Effects of Radiation.

The report is a more detailed expansion of findings made by the same committee in 1956 as part of the over-all National Academy of Sciences report on radiation effects on man and his environment.

Declaring that in the future an expanding worldwide atomic industry will present difficult problems of disposal of huge quantities of atomic wastes, the report said it "may be convenient and perhaps necessary to dispose of some of these industrial wastes in the oceans."

And it said among other things that:

1. "It is ... urgent that the nations of the earth formulate agreements for the safe oceanic disposal of atomic wastes, based on existing scientific knowledge."

2. Because of "the vastness, complexity and immediacy of the underlying scientific problems, it is important that pertinent oceanographic research be intensified on a worldwide basis."

The report said that contamination of the sea by nuclear wastes "will certainly not present a hazard to shipping" provided the artificially introduced radioactivity is kept to a limit determined safe for fisheries—and therefore even more safe for humans.

But it added: "On the other hand, it is almost certain that nuclear power plants will be extensively used in merchant vessels; they are already in use in naval craft."

"Serious hazards," said the report, "may arise in confined waters from collisions in which the atomic reactor is damaged and the fuel elements with their contained fission products are lost in the water."

Davis Predicts Defeat Of 5-Cent Letter Proposal

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) predicted Saturday the House will reject the Senate's proposed 5-cent rate for mailing out-of-town letters.

Davis, high-ranking member of the House Post Office Committee, said he got "a general impression of strong opposition" among House members.

Rep. Edward H. Rees (Kan.), senior Republican on the committee, said he found increasing support for the 5-cent stamp.

The House last year approved a 4-cent charge for both local and out-of-town letters.

The Senate's package bill to increase postage rates and postal workers' pay is expected to be submitted to the House Tuesday or Wednesday. Leaders have been waiting to bring it up when Rep. Tom Murray (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Post Office Committee, returns. Murray has been hospitalized with a back injury.

Both Davis and Rees agreed in interviews that the House will send the bill to a joint conference committee. It would be charged with settling differences between the Senate's version and the postage-only bill passed by the House last year.

The Senate bill would increase postage rates 32 million dollars ... Besides the 5-cent stamp, it would hike local letters from ... 4 cents, boost airmail rates from 6 to 8 cents, and provide similar increases on second and third class mail.

The Senate tacked on a 320-million-dollar-a-year pay raise for ...,000 postal workers. They would get a 7½ per cent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1. In addition, lower paid employes would get a three - year cost-of-living bonus, ranging from $80 to $240 annually.

The original House bill called for postage increases, amounting to 527 million dollars a year.

The House version did not include a pay raise for postal workers. However, the House Post Office Committee recently approved a bigger raise for them than the Senate bill provides.

If Tourist Resorts Come To Antarctica Most Likely Location Is Cape Bernacchi

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

CAPE BERNACCHI, Antarctica (AP) — If you want to get away from it all, and you can't arrange a trip to the moon, your next best bet for remoteness is Antarctica.

And in Antarctica, the most likely vacation spot is this beautiful, glacier - laced Cape Bernacchi area.

Bernacchi has just about everything Antarctica can offer in the way of variety. Mountains, open water, glaciers, a superb view of the continent's only active volcano, and one or two valleys which always remain black and clear of snow, no matter how deeply the adjoining land may become covered with a white mantle during winter.

It is conveniently located for access to the South Pole, 900 miles away. It has a relatively warm climate. And it is close to all the wild life in Antarctica — the penguins, whales, seals and skua gulls. Even salt water fishing may be possible.

May Support Airport

Most important, the Bernacchi area is land which offers the possibility of a year - round airport for heavy planes. But just how solid this land is remains to be seen. A navy - financed survey now is in progress to determine the feasibility of a great airport with a runway three miles long.

The project passed out of the talking stage and into its first phase of activity in mid - December, when small planes and helicopters landed materials for a Seabee camp.

Shortly thereafter the Rev. Daniel Linehan, Boston College seismologist and a few navy engineers and technicians moved in with equipment to determine the nature of the subsurface.

The Bernacchi area is on the west shore of McMurdo Sound. It consists of three points of land which jut out into the sound. The surface is rolling and studded with rocks, some of which are beautiful red marble. The land slopes upward to the foothills of the Royal Society range, which has peaks up to 12,000 feet or more. The land area is only about half a mile wide, and on the continental side it meets the mouth of the great Wilson - Piedmont glacier.

Outwardly, this glacier seems to flow down to the land and then turn northward for an outlet into McMurdo Sound. But whether this is its only outlet is not known.

The big question is whether the glacier also undermines the Bernacchi land area, flowing below it to the sound. If it does, the land would be unsuitable for construction of a big, extremely expensive runway and an accompanying facilities.

Soundings Taken

Here Father Linehan comes in. He was employed to make seismic soundings to determine the underground characteristics. After he moved in, the navy imposed restrictions on information and photographs from the area. No periodic reports are being made of the survey results. However, Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Deepfreeze III commander, said the final findings will be made known after the work is completed.

At the outset Father Linehan said if the survey produced unfavorable findings in the early stages he would discontinue it. His continued activity and a report the navy transport Greenville Victory was on its way with two 40-ton tractors, the heaviest made in the United States, has been interpreted as an indication that the work has gone so far without discouraging results.

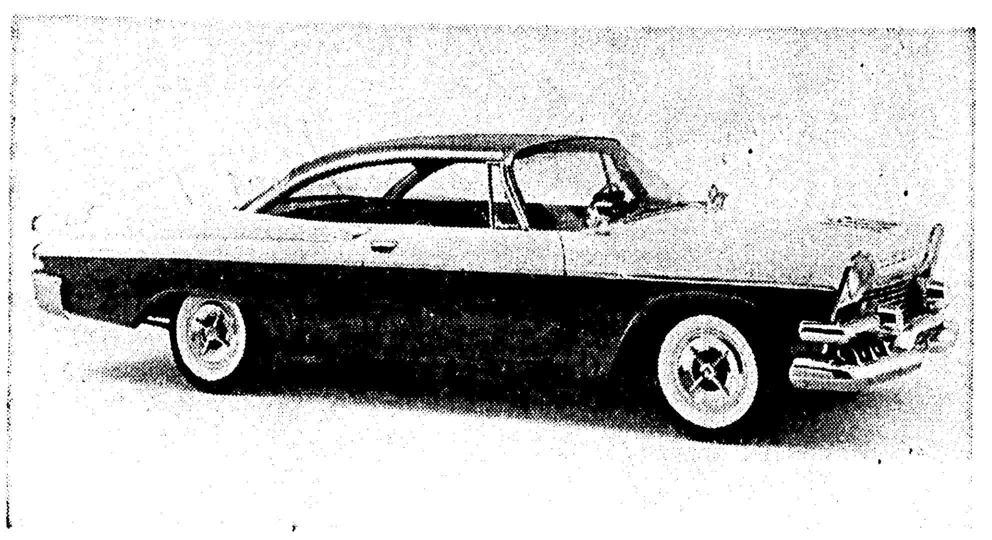
Franchise Association Here Opens Two-Day New Car And Truck Show This Afternoon



UNIQUE PAINT TREATMENT — A unique new two-tone paint treatment has been added to the 1958 line of Dodge passenger cars. Available on all models except the Coronet convertible, the "saddle" combination features a continuous chrome strip running from headlight to taillight, just below the belt line. The roof and lower body are painted one color, the hood, trunk deck and fins in a harmonizing or contrasting shade.

The motoring public of Northeast Louisiana will have the opportunity this weekend of seeing the latest in passenger, sports and foreign automobiles, as well as trucks when the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Association stages its show of 1958 models.

Planned to tie in with the national trend of automobile shows at this time of the year, the local display will be held today and tomorrow in the huge parking lot fronting Sears Town at 1501 Louisville Avenue. Today, the show will be open from 1 until 6 p.m., and tomorrow from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

To be on display are the latest models and lines of automobiles and trucks being offered to the public by 10 Twin Cities franchise dealers. Between 75 and 100 of the 1958 model automobiles and trucks will be on display, including futuristic models. Each agency will have representatives present to assist visitors in their inspection.

In addition to automobiles manufactured in the United States, there will be a number of foreign models parked for personal inspection.

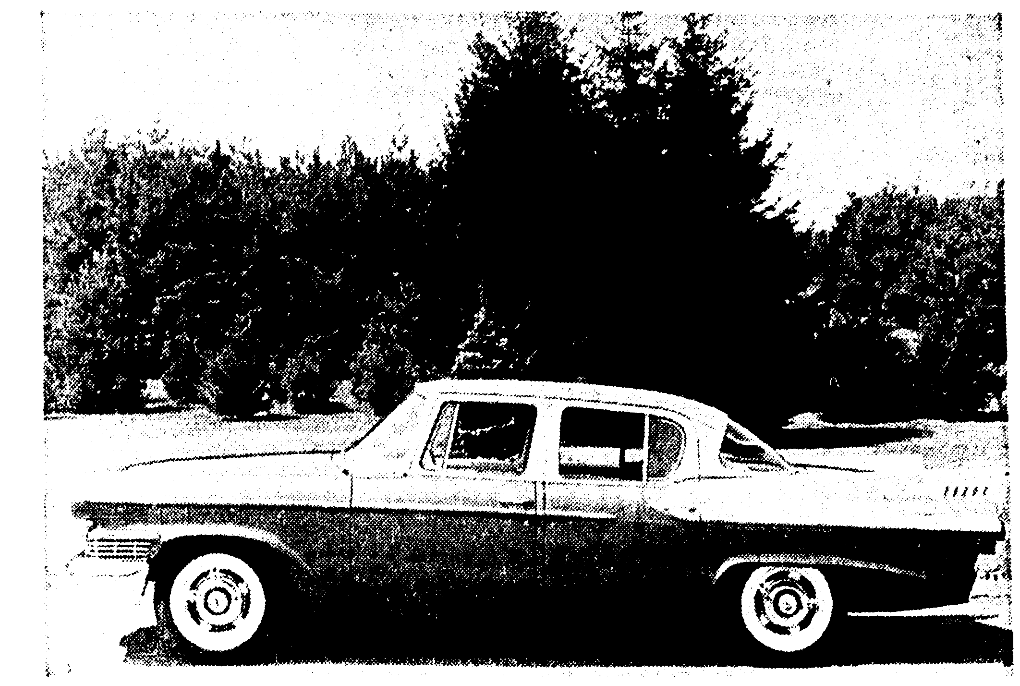
The show is a cooperative effort between local dealers and manufacturers and is being presented at a cost of several thousands of dollars.

It was explained that the purpose of the show this week end is to give everyone in northeast Louisiana an opportunity to see all makes and models of 1958 cars at one time and at one place.

As an added attraction, three bands — Neville, Ouachita Parish High School and West Monroe High School — will appear for special concerts at intervals during the two-day show, and each dealer will have special attractions. Among these will be souvenirs.

Officials of the organization said that this is the first time since about 1950 that such an event has been held in the Twin Cities, and they hoped to make it an annual occurrence from now on.

Participating are Adair GMC Truck Co., Ryan-Polk Chevrolet cars and trucks, Brown-Rivers - Scogin Ford cars and trucks, Lennon Motor Co., Buick automobiles; Steele Edsel Motors, Inc., Edsel cars and Mack trucks; Coleman Pontiac, Van-Trow Olds Cadillac, Monroe Auto Mart, Dodge, Plymouth and Renault automobiles; Jackson Motors, Mercury, Lincoln and Continental automobiles, and Studebaker - Packard of Monroe.



STUDEBAKER'S PRIDE—This is the 1958 Studebaker President four - door sedan, V-8, 289-cubic inch engine generating 225 horsepower with a four-barrel carburetor. This is another of the features of the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Dealers Association show to be held here today and tomorrow.

PERFORMANCE, ECONOMY

New Engine For Dodge Developed

An all-new engine, designed for top performance and improved fuel economy, has been teamed with swept-wing styling to keynote the 1958 line of Dodge passenger cars.

The engine is the powerful 205 h.p. Ram Fire V-8.

Combining light weight, compactness, quiet operation and economy, the Ram Fire V-8 is standard on all Custom Royal and station wagon models. It also is available in a slightly larger version with the D-500 engine package offered on all Dodge Eights.

Dodge, Plymouth and Renault dealer here is Monroe Auto Mart.

Setting the styling pace on all 1958 Dodge cars is the bold new front end and grille design.

Dual Headlights

Dual headlights, standard on all models, are mounted in side-by-side fashion under overhanging front fender hoods, while the parking lights are housed in circular "bombs" at either side of the stainless steel grille.

Engineered to provide a better lighting pattern for safer night driving, each beam of the dual headlights has a specific purpose.

The inner lamps are designed exclusively for high beam operation, while the outer lamps provide the low beam and fill-in light for the "brights."

The resulting light covers more of the right-hand side of the road, and extends farther ahead on the highway.

Completing the new front end design are upper grille bars which wrap around the edges of the front fenders. Additional protection for the distinctive, cross-hatched grille and the license plate is provided

MEDIUM PRICE FIELD

Mercury Offering Widest Coverage

One of the widest coverages in the automotive market is offered by Mercury for 1958 — ranging from two new lower priced models engineered for the ultimate in economy all the way through to t' big, new Park Lane series in the upper medium price class.

"Mercury now offers a big, superior car with matching performance and economy throughout the entire medium price field," said James J. Nance, Ford Motor Company vice president in charge of Mercury, Edsel, Lincoln, Continental and the marketing of English Ford products.

Mercury dealer here is Jackson Motors.

"Mercury has two new models which offer the maximum in econom, for the buyer who wants big-car size, comfort and performance at a lower price," Mr. Nance said. "And at the upper end of the medium price range is the new Park L... series — ..e bi..est and most luxurious Mercury ever built."

22 Models

The 1958 line of Mercurys total 22 models, including the only full line of hardtop styled station wagons in both two - door and four-door models in the medium price field. All are on a 122 inch wheelbase except the ...rk Lane, which is 125 inches. The Park Lane has three models, phaeton sedan, phaeton coupe and convertible and is seven inches longer than the other Mercury cars.

An entirely new series of four Mercury Marauder V-8 engines offers m a t c h l e s s performance throughout the driving range. Horsepower ranges from 312 to 400. These new engines feature such unique engineering developments as three - stage cooling system, in - block combustion chambers and water - jacketed intake manifold. The two new lower-priced models have their own 235 horsepower V-8 engine especially designed for them to give extra gasoline economy.

THREE-WAY ECONOMY

Studebaker With Packard Make Bid

Studebaker - Packard has come out in 1958 with a series of cars designed for three-way economy.

In the showrooms of Studebaker-Packard of Monroe a demonstration of these facts can be obtained by the man or woman in the market for a new car.

They show economy when you buy, because Studebaker - Packard's quality styling and quality craftsmanship keeps flashy extras to a minimum; economy when you drive — up to 29 miles per gallon in the Studebaker Scotsman—and economy when you trade. This latter factor is a result of Studebaker-Packard's traditionally higher resale value.

Still emphasizing "beauty of performance and operating economy," is the Studebaker Sweepstakes Six engine — "the most economical power plant in any car.

Twin Traction

Another Studebaker - Packard innovation is twin traction which puts power into the wheel with the best traction automatically in snow, ice, mud and sand.

From impressive front grille to graceful rear fins, every Studebaker and Packard car for 1958 has a new look of luxury—a look of sleek beauty without the flashiness. Incorporated in this look of refinement is the element of operating economy.

Studebaker - Packard is presenting what it calls "The Sweet Sixteen" for 1958, because the 16 different models from the "Home of the Golden Hawk" for 1958 are what the producers say are "everything we hoped they'd be—and more."

They do the name of Studebaker-Packard "proud," and every dealer in the country is proud to be able to show them to the public.

Models

In addition to the new Studebaker Scotsman sedans and wagons, America's lowest priced full size cars, the glamorous Studebaker Hawks, are the versatile Studebaker Champion, Commander and President series, and last but not least, the magnificent Packard series, featuring the most original car on the American road — the ultra new Packard Hawk.

Most of these fine automobiles can be seen Sunday afternoon and all day Monday at the Sears Town Parking lot on Louisville Avenue when the Monroe - West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Dealers Association stages its showing of 1958 passenger cars and trucks.

This will be the first showing of new cars on this scale since 1950 and plans are for it to become an annual event.

MEDIUM PRICE FIELD

Mercury Offering Widest Coverage

One of the widest coverages in the automotive market is offered by Mercury for 1958 — ranging from two new lower priced models engineered for the ultimate in economy all the way through to t' big, new Park Lane series in the upper medium price class.

"Mercury now offers a big, superior car with matching performance and economy throughout the entire medium price field," said James J. Nance, Ford Motor Company vice president in charge of Mercury, Edsel, Lincoln, Continental and the marketing of English Ford products.

Mercury dealer here is Jackson Motors.

"Mercury has two new models which offer the maximum in econom, for the buyer who wants big-car size, comfort and performance at a lower price," Mr. Nance said. "And at the upper end of the medium price range is the new Park Lane series — the biggest and most luxurious Mercury ever built."

22 Models

The 1958 line of Mercurys total 22 models, including the only full line of hardtop styled station wagons in both two - door and four-door models in the medium price field. All are on a 122 inch wheelbase except the Park Lane, which is 125 inches. The Park Lane has three models, phaeton sedan, phaeton coupe and convertible and is seven inches longer than the other Mercury cars.

An entirely new series of four Mercury Marauder V-8 engines offers matchless performance throughout the driving range. Horsepower ranges from 312 to 400. These new engines feature such unique engineering developments as three - stage cooling system, in - block combustion chambers and water - jacketed intake manifold. The two new lower-priced models have their own 235 horsepower V-8 engine especially designed for them to give extra gasoline economy.

THREE-WAY ECONOMY

Studebaker With Packard Make Bid

Studebaker - Packard has come out in 1958 with a series of cars designed for three-way economy.

In the showrooms of Studebaker-Packard of Monroe a demonstration of these facts can be obtained by the man or woman in the market for a new car.

They show economy when you buy, because Studebaker - Packard's quality styling and quality craftsmanship keeps flashy extras to a minimum; economy when you drive — up to 29 miles per gallon in the Studebaker Scotsman—and economy when you trade. This latter factor is a result of Studebaker-Packard's traditionally higher resale value.

Still emphasizing "beauty of performance and operating economy," is the Studebaker Sweepstakes Six engine — "the most economical power plant in any car.

Twin Traction

Another Studebaker - Packard innovation is twin traction which puts power into the wheel with the best traction automatically in snow, ice, mud and sand.

From impressive front grille to graceful rear fins, every Studebaker and Packard car for 1958 has a new look of luxury—a look of sleek beauty without the flashiness. Incorporated in this look of refinement is the element of operating economy.

Studebaker - Packard is presenting what it calls "The Sweet Sixteen" for 1958, because the 16 different models from the "Home of the Golden Hawk" for 1958 are what the producers say are "everything we hoped they'd be—and more."

They do the name of Studebaker-Packard "proud," and every dealer in the country is proud to be able to show them to the public.

Models

In addition to the new Studebaker Scotsman sedans and wagons, America's lowest priced full size cars, the glamorous Studebaker Hawks, are the versatile Studebaker Champion, Commander and President series, and last but not least, the magnificent Packard series, featuring the most original car on the American road — the ultra new Packard Hawk.

Most of these fine automobiles can be seen Sunday afternoon and all day Monday at the Sears Town Parking lot on Louisville Avenue when the Monroe - West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Dealers Association stages its showing of 1958 passenger cars and trucks.

This will be the first showing of new cars on this scale since 1950 and plans are for it to become an annual event.

1958 FORD CUSTOM 300 FORDOR SEDAN typifies the luxury styling of the new line of Ford cars. The wraparound bumper protects the anodized aluminum grille, while the Power Flow hood adds new lowness to the car. Twin safety headlights are standard on all 19 Ford models this year. In addition to the styling features, the 1958 Ford offers a new family of engines, new Cruise-O-Matic drive, and Ford-Aire suspension.

MAJOR STYLE CHANGES

New Ford Brings Latest Concepts

The 1958 Ford car, tested in a rugged round - the - world trip, incorporates major styling changes with a new family of engines, new Cruise-O-Matic transmission, and Ford-Aire suspension. In Monroe the dealer is Brown-Rivers-Scogins.

In appearance, the 1958 Ford is new from dual safety headlights to twin safety taillights. Almost all body sheet metal has been recontoured. Styling features include an anodized aluminum honeycomb grille protected by a massive wraparound bumper designed to eliminate the need for bumper guards, low hood lines, and redesigned roof with slipstream grooves. The new rear end treatment features a V contoured trunk lid housing the inboard sections of the twin pod oval taillights.

19 Models

Ford's 19 models are built on two wheelbases: the Fairlane and Fairlane 500 series have a 118-inch wheelbase, and Custom 300 and Station Wagon series are produced on a 116-inch wheelbase.

New highs of efficiency and economy are possible with Ford's new Interceptor engines. The product of Ford's quarter century of V-8 leadership, the Interceptors are new from oil pan to carburetor. When teamed with Cruise-O-Matic drive and low ratio rear axle — made possible by higher torque engines — the Interceptors provide up to 15 per cent more gas economy and 19 per cent more performance.

The new engines feature completely machined, wedge - type combustion chambers, larger, cooler running valves, new carburetion and exhaust porting and direct flow intake for peak performance at all engine speeds.

Optional Engines

A 332 - cubic - inch displacement Interceptor engine is the standard V-8 on the Fairlane 500 and Station Wagon series, and it is available as an extra cost option in the Fairlane and Custom 300 series. The 352-cubic inch Interceptor is an extra high performance otpion on all Fords except the Fairlane and Custom 300. In addition, Ford's overhead valve six is available for most models, and the 292 cubic inch V-8 is the standard V-8 for the Fairlane and Custom 300 series.

Also new for 1958 is Cruise-O-Matic transmission which gives the owner tailor made drive selections. Cruise-O-Matic gives the option of smooth upshifting through all three gear speeds, a low gear selection for unusual conditions, and a two - speed combination for travel over slippery roads. Two improved Fordomatic transmissions, as well as conventional and overdrive, are available.

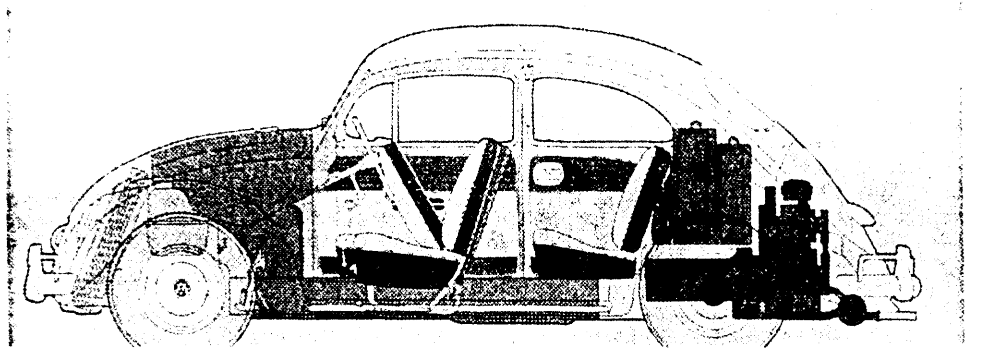
Ford Aire suspension, optional for Fairlanes, Fairlane 500's and Station Wagons equipped with V-8 Interceptor engines and automatic transmissions, keeps the car level at a constant height regardless of load conditions for optimum springing and a "boulevard ride."

New Type Ride

Compressed air from an air pump and tank is valved into four air domes which replace conventional steel springs. Switches on the car's doors operate the valves to quickly readjust height and balance when passengers enter or alight. Other valves make slower adjustments for articles placed in the trunk.

Ford also continues its policy of improving safety packaging for driver and passengers, which it pioneered in its 1956 models. The deep center steering wheel, shatter - proof rear view mirror and safety door locks, standard on all models, and the optional seat belts and padded instrument panel and sun visors all have been improved for 1958.

Exterior trim and interior fabrics and color treatments are new for 1958. Optional equipment includes a full line of power assists, two models of transistorized radios, two models of air conditioning units, and two types of heaters.



INSIDE STORY - - - This sectional picture of the Volkswagen shows convincingly that there could be no more logical or effective way of allotting space and weight. The engine and transmission assembly is directly over the rear axle; accordingly, the power of the engine can be transmitted directly, without a propellor shaft, to drive wheels. So, too, the ample rear luggage space between back seat and engine is exactly in the right location.

FOR AUTO SHOW

Volkswagen Has Wide Selection

One of the major participants in the Monroe - West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Association's show of 1958 vehicles at Sears Town on Sunday afternoon and Monday will be Coleman - Edwards Motors, Inc., agents for the Volkswagen line of cars and trucks.

Specializing exclusively in the sales and service of "The Vehicle Worth Waiting For," Coleman - Edwards is available for delivering 11 different types of Volkswagen passenger cars and trucks, along with an ambulance.

There is a factory guarantee of six months or 6,000 miles on each vehicle.

Offerings

Being offered are the Deluxe Sedan, Deluxe Sun-Roof Sedan the convertible, Karmann Ghia Coupe, panel delivery, pick-up with tarp and bows, the Kombi, the standard Micro station wagon, Deluxe Micro station wagon, Deluxe Camper and the ambulance.

The agency claims to be the only one in the Twin Cities which deals exclusively with foreign - make vehicles, both in sales and service.

Included as standard equipment on the 1958 Volkswagen are: heater and defroster, directional turn signals, electric windshield wipers, interior sun visor on the driver's side, reserve gas tank, three-position dome light on the cars, VW Jack, spare tire, twin exhaust on cars, hand crank for the Transporters and station wagons, tool kit, extra fan belt, owners manual, coupon service booklet as guide for 30,000 miles driving, and a book listing all dealers in the U.S. and Canada.

Air - Cooled

The Volkswagen employs an air - cooled engine which requires no water, no anti-freeze, no radiator, no water pump, no hose connections and no new-car break-in. The VW engine can be operated at full throttle for hours on end without damage, and that is the custom rather than the exception.

Each wheel is independently suspended by smooth acting torsion bars insuring a smooth ride under all road and lead conditions and requires no maintenance. Tires are subjected to rolling wear only - no scuffing or lateral wear, greatly increasing tire mileage.

Twist - Proof

In construction, the body is built under what is called in the trade the "twist-proof unit" of exceptionally heavy metal.

Coleman - Edwards agency here explains that Volkswagen agencies are located throughout the United States and Canada thus providing availability and service. The organization's staff of mechanics are specially trained by the factory which produces Volkswagens and are skilled in handling all types of special tools and equipment.

To back up these resources, the Coleman - Edwards organization maintains a complete stock of genuine VW spare parts and accessories to meet all service needs, and it invites the public to come by their establishment on Hall Street to see personally the 1958 Volkswagen sedans, convertibles, other types passenger cars, and the wide range of trucks.

Buick Claims New Engineering High

Buick's 1958 line represents "a new high in automotive engineering," according to Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

Topping the new line is the luxurious Limited series, which gives Buick greater representation in the prestige car class. The other series are the Roadmaster, Super, Century and Spécial.

"This is the start of a new era for Buick," Ragsdale said. "Advanced ideas on transmission, ride and brakes have been put into this line of cars which has been restyled from front to rear.

Lennon Buick is the Buick agency here.

"Our engineering innovations include flight pitch Dynaflow which is the closest approach to the ideal automatic transmission in automotive history, an entirely new suspension design principle in which four columns of air replace the traditional steel springs, and air - cooled aluminum brakes which cool faster and consequently provide safer braking.

Style Changes

"Styling changes are capped by the new grille, which is a complete departure from the industry's traditional front end design, and include chrome - trimmed ribbed aluminum rear fender panels and redesigned taillight housings.

"This is the second major model change we have made in the past two years and with it we have achieved a new high in automotive engineering."

The new Buick grille is distinguished by 160 chrome squares set in four rows extending across the e[illegible]e front of the car. The fender line has been lowered and the hood line raised slightly to complement the new design and all models are equipped with dual headlights on each front fender, increasing illumination by 50 per cent.

New Rear Fender

All models except the Limited carry the ribbed aluminum rear fender panels. On the Limited, which is eight inches longer than the rest of the line, the fenders are trimmed with three banks of chrome - capped louvres.

Heading the list of exclusive Buick engineering achievements for 1958 is the triple turbine flight pitch Dynaflow transmission in which the stator vanes operate on the same principle as an airplane propellor. The vanes, controlled by the accelerator, switch automatically to an infinite number of positions from low to high angle depending upon how far the throttle is depressed.

Air Ride

The new air - poise suspension, which literally carries the car on four columns of air, controls the car's ride and maintains it at the same height from the road regardless of load. Air suspension also reduces the possibility of "crash - through" or "bottoming" when the car hits a big bump. A "lift" feature operated by an instrument panel lever permits raising the car 5½ inches to make it easier to change a tire or to get out of mud or snow.

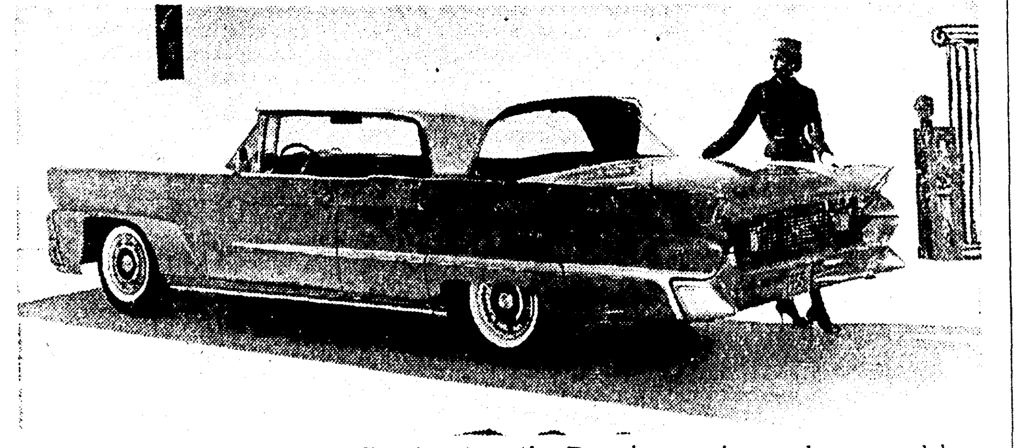
All 1958 Buicks are equipped with 12 - inch brakes and total contact area has been increased to 218 square inches. F[illegible]t brake drums on most models are of aluminum with a cast iron liner which provides faster cooling and resultant safer operation.

A 364 - cubic inch high compression V-8 engine powers all 1958 Buicks. The Special engines are equipped with two - barrel carburetors and the four other series with four - barrel carburetors.

Twenty body styles are available in the five series. Included are three estate wagons four convertibles, five two - door and five four - door hardtops, two four-door sedans and one two - door sedan.

Tailpipe outlets on the 1958 Buick have been styled to exhaust below the bottom level of the rear bumper face plate to reduce bumper discoloration.

BUICK'S MOST POPULAR—Most popular model in the Buick line is this two-door hard-top in the Special series with its dynamic new styling. The Special combines big car luxury and roominess with high performance and maneuverability. Mounted on a 122-inch wheelbase, the Special is powered by a 364-cubic inch high compression V-8 engine and is available with all the power accessories offered on other models in the Buick line.



ENTIRELY NEW in every Continental-inspired detail of design, engineering and luxury, the 1958 Lincoln Premiere introduces classic, sculptured lines, a long, low hood topped by a horizontal grille and canted dual-headlamps. A four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe comprise the Premiere series, each powered by a new, high compression engine rated at 375 horsepower at 4800 r.p.m. Five inches longer than last year's models, the new Lincolns introduce all-new integrated body and frame construction which Lincoln will pioneer in the higher price field.

Lincoln Premiere, Capri In 6 Models

The Lincoln Premiere and Lincoln Capri for 1958, inspired by the styling of the Continental, offer a total of six models. In each line there is a four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe.

Stylists enhanced the low, and long graceful lines of each Lincoln by complementing each model with the Continental roof line, canted dual headlamps, an extended long, low hood and a wide, sweeping rear deck lid.

Between the canted dual headlamps is a horizontally-louvered grille with a massive flared bumper across the front. A Lincoln script on the left side of the grille gives the car distinctive identification.

Jackson Motors is Lincoln-Continental franchise agents here.

The Lincoln suggests the classic simplicity of the Continental profile. Along the side is a single strip of chrome which extends from the rear bumper to the middle of the front door. On Premiere models, the end of this molding is highlighted by an eight pointed star.

Styling Theme

The styling theme at the rear matches the front with an oval-shaped horizontally-louvered grille treatment. On either side are integrated tail lights and backup lights set into the grille. The bumper matches the chrome treatment on the lower portion of the rear deck lid which outlines and protects the oval-shaped grille.

The long, lithe silhouette of the Lincoln extends 229 inches in overall length while the overall height is 56.5 inches. Wheelbase has been increased to 131 inches, an increase of five inches over the 1957 models.

The 1958 Lincolns will be built in a plant specifically designed for integrated body and frame construction.

This new method has allowed the designers to lower the height of the car, strengthen its torsional rigidity which resists body twisting effects on rough roads and provide built-in quality.

The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panels are all welded into one single unit.

Performance

Besides the styling inspiration of the Continental, the Lincoln power train will provide the same kind of performance as the Continental.

A new engine is rated at 375 horsepower at 4800 rpm. Torque is rated at 490 pounds at 3100 rpm. Displacement is 430 cubic inches. Improved performance results in part from a compression ratio of 10.5 to 1. Cylindrical, wedge-shaped combustion chambers with larger valve heads and opening areas provide a more efficient power stroke and air-fuel mixture which increases performance and fuel economy.

A new trailing arm rear suspension provides better handling, a better ride and minimizes rear end dip on acceleration and rise on braking.

All Lincolns have 14-inch wheels.

A luxurious interior with ample driving comforts has been designed and styled to satisfy the tastes of the most discriminating fine car buyer. Such standard items as power steering, automatic transmission, power brakes, five ash trays with lighters, foam rubber seat cushions, warning lights for braking, oil pressure and low fuel supply increase the ease of driving of the 1958 Lincoln.

Standard safety features include: safety door latches, deep-dish steering wheel, padded instrument panel, padded sun visors, dual windshield washers and directional signals.

Prison Paper Wants Facts Told Public

COLUMBUS, Ohio—(UP)—The editors of the Ohio Penitentiary News believe the public needs to be better informed about prison life and the men who live behind prison walls.

"Why not bring the good to the attention of society as well as the bad," the newspaper asked in an editorial.

The newspaper said there are many headlines about teenage gang wars and about parolees involved in crimes, but "we've never seen a headline such as, 'Lifer Paroled from Pen Makes Good,' or 'Rehabilitated Robber Lives Normal Life.' "

On air-conditioned 1958 Dodge cars, a new outlet and a more powerful blower motor improve the distribution of air throughout the car. The new outlet is located at lap level just below the center of the instrument panel. It directs air up over the front seat into the rear compartment. Moveable vanes aim the air stream.

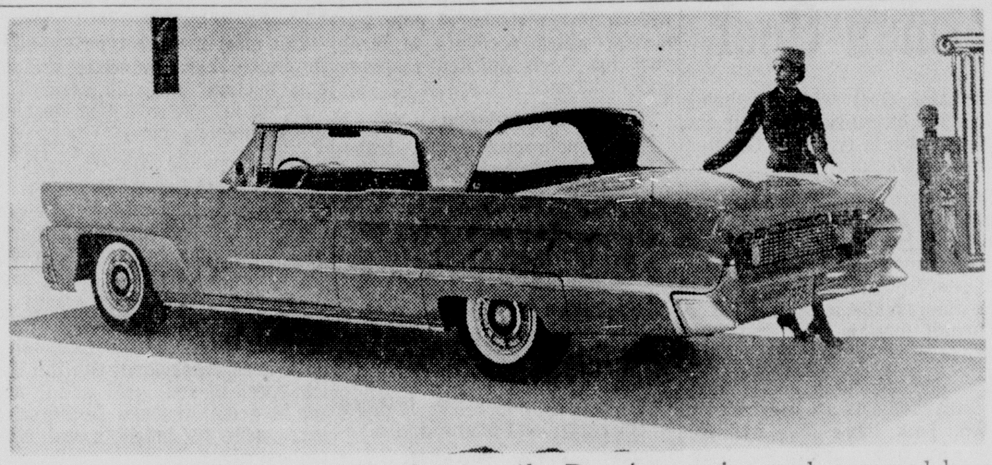
BUICK'S MOST POPULAR—Most popular model in the Buick line is this two-door hard-top in the Special series with its dynamic new styling. The Special combines big car luxury and roominess with high performance and maneuverability. Mounted on a 122-inch wheelbase, the Special is powered by a 364-cubic inch high compression V-8 engine and is available with all the power accessories offered on other models in the Buick line.



ENTIRELY NEW in every Continental-inspired detail of design, engineering and luxury, the 1958 Lincoln Premiere introduces classic, sculptured lines, a long, low hood topped by a horizontal grille and canted dual-headlamps. A four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe comprise the Premiere series, each powered by a new, high compression engine rated at 375 horsepower at 4800 r.p.m. Five inches longer than last year's models, the new Lincolns introduce all-new integrated body and frame construction which Lincoln will pioneer in the higher price field.

ALL LINES EFFECTED

Buick Claims New Engineering High

Buick's 1958 line represents "a new high in automotive engineering," according to Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

Topping the new line is the luxurious Limited series, which gives Buick greater representation in the prestige car class. The other series are the Roadmaster, Super, Century and Special.

"This is the start of a new era for Buick," Ragsdale said. "Advanced ideas on transmission, ride and brakes have been put into this line of cars which has been restyled from front to rear.

Lennon Buick is the Buick agency here.

"Our engineering innovations include flight pitch Dynaflow which is the closest approach to the ideal automatic transmission in automotive history, an entirely new suspension design principle in which four columns of air replace the traditional steel springs, and air - cooled aluminum brakes which cool faster and consequently provide safer braking.

Style Changes

"Styling changes are capped by the new grille, which is a complete departure from the industry's traditional front end design, and include chrome - trimmed ribbed aluminum rear fender panels and redesigned taillight housings.

"This is the second major model change we have made in the past two years and with it we have achieved a new high in automotive engineering."

The new Buick grille is distinguished by 160 chrome squares set in four rows extending across the e[illegible]e front of the car. The fender line has been lowered and the hood line raised slightly to complement the new design and all models are equipped with dual headlights on each front fender, increasing illumination by 50 per cent.

New Rear Fender

All models except the Limited carry the ribbed aluminum rear fender panels. On the Limited, which is eight inches longer than the rest of the line, the fenders are trimmed with three banks of chrome - capped louvres.

Heading the list of exclusive Buick engineering achievements for 1958 is the triple turbine flight pitch Dynaflow transmission in which the stator vanes operate on the same principle as an airplane propellor. The vanes, controlled by the accelerator, switch automatically to an infinite number of positions from low to high angle depending upon how far the throttle is depressed.

Air Ride

The new air - poise suspension, which literally carries the car on four columns of air, controls the car's ride and maintains it at the same height from the road regardless of load. Air suspension also reduces the possibility of "crash - through" or "bottoming" when the car hits a big bump. A "lift" feature operated by an instrument panel lever permits raising the car 5½ inches to make it easier to change a tire or to get out of mud or snow.

All 1958 Buicks are equipped with 12 - inch brakes and total contact area has been increased to 218 square inches. F[illegible]t brake drums on most models are of aluminum with a cast iron liner which provides faster cooling and resultant safer operation.

A 364 - cubic inch high compression V-8 engine powers all 1958 Buicks. The Special engines are equipped with two - barrel carburetors and the four other series with four - barrel carburetors.

Twenty body styles are available in the five series. Included are three estate wagons four convertibles, five two - door and five four - door hardtops, two four-door sedans and one two - door sedan.

Tailpipe outlets on the 1958 Buick have been styled to exhaust below the bottom level of the rear bumper face plate to reduce bumper discoloration.

Lincoln Premiere, Capri In 6 Models

The Lincoln Premiere and Lincoln Capri for 1958, inspired by the styling of the Continental, offer a total of six models. In each line there is a four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe.

Stylists enhanced the low, and long graceful lines of each Lincoln by complementing each model with the Continental roof line, canted dual headlamps, an extended long, low hood and a wide, sweeping rear deck lid.

Between the canted dual headlamps is a horizontally-louvered grille with a massive flared bumper across the front. A Lincoln script on the left side of the grille gives the car distinctive identification.

Jackson Motors is Lincoln-Continental franchise agents here.

The Lincoln suggests the classic simplicity of the Continental profile. Along the side is a single strip of chrome which extends from the rear bumper to the middle of the front door. On Premiere models, the end of this molding is highlighted by an eight pointed star.

Styling Theme

The styling theme at the rear matches the front with an oval-shaped horizontally-louvered grille treatment. On either side are integrated tail lights and backup lights set into the grille. The bumper matches the chrome treatment on the lower portion of the rear deck lid which outlines and protects the oval-shaped grille.

The long, lithe silhouette of the Lincoln extends 229 inches in overall length while the overall height is 56.5 inches. Wheelbase has been increased to 131 inches, an increase of five inches over the 1957 models.

The 1958 Lincolns will be built in a plant specifically designed for integrated body and frame construction.

This new method has allowed the designers to lower the height of the car, strengthen its torsional rigidity which resists body twisting effects on rough roads and provide built-in quality.

The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panels are all welded into one single unit.

Performance

Besides the styling inspiration of the Continental, the Lincoln power train will provide the same kind of performance as the Continental.

A new engine is rated at 375 horsepower at 4800 rpm. Torque is rated at 490 pounds at 3100 rpm. Displacement is 430 cubic inches. Improved performance results in part from a compression ratio of 10.5 to 1. Cylindrical, wedge-shaped combustion chambers with larger valve heads and opening areas provide a more efficient power stroke and air-fuel mixture which increases performance and fuel economy.

A new trailing arm rear suspension provides better handling, a better ride and minimizes rear end dip on acceleration and rise on braking.

All Lincolns have 14-inch wheels.

A luxurious interior with ample driving comforts has been designed and styled to satisfy the tastes of the most discriminating fine car buyer. Such standard items as power steering, automatic transmission, power brakes, five ash trays with lighters, foam rubber seat cushions, warning lights for braking, oil pressure and low fuel supply increase the ease of driving of the 1958 Lincoln.

Standard safety features include: safety door latches, deep-dish steering wheel, padded instrument panel, padded sun visors, dual windshield washers and directional signals.

GMC'S NEW WIDE-SIDE — GMC's new version in truck convenience is the Wide-Side which has 50 per cent greater cubic load capacity than conventional models with either 6.5 or 8-foot long boxes having 59.5 and 75.6 cubic feet, respectively. This means that with the larger body, owners can put in five more bushel boxes or six more egg crates. A wider, deeper tailgate fits snuggly for a grain and sand-tight body.

'WIDE-SIDE'

GMC Comes Out With New Truck

A new GMC "Wide-Side" pickup truck with 50 per cent greater cubic load space than conventional models was announced today by P. J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division.

The new GMC pickup body encloses the wheel wells and comes in either six and one-half or eight foot lengths, giving cubic capacities second to none in the industry. The six and one-half foot box has 59.5 cubic feet, while the eight foot body measures 75.6 cubic feet.

Adair GMC Truck Co., is the Twin Cities agent.

The extra capacity has been achieved with only a four pound increase of weight in the smaller box and only 22 pounds in the eight-foot version, Monaghan said.

More Haul

"Comparing the new wide-side with conventional models means that the six and one-half foot body will haul three more bushel baskets, six more bushel boxes or four more egg crates," Monaghan said. The eight-foot body will let truck owners put in five more bushel baskets, seven more bushel boxes or six more egg crates.

"The new model with its clean-line styling is another example of the emphasis we have placed on giving owners the smart-looking vehicle that so often is one of their most important business assets from an advertising sense."

Tailgate

The wider, deeper tailgate snugly fits against metal finished rabbet surfaces to provide a grain and sand-tight body. Possibility of spillage is further reduced by the solid end gate wedges and a double-wall construction in the lower side panels.

Heavy floor boards are anchored to cross sills by formed steel skid strips with recessed bolts. Skid strips are recessed into floor boards and overlap the board edges, while formed edges of the skids project slightly above floor level for greater protection and easier loading.

Lock Design

A completely new compression bar type tailgate locking mechanism is introduced on the new Wide-Side. Major components of this unique, simple design are a latch, chain and an adjustable anchor bolt. The latch, with a chain attached to one end, is anchored down on the other end to the rear face of the body side panel by means of an adjustable bolt. With the tailgate closed, the latch is locked in place by fitting it over an eyebolt through which the chain "S" hook is inserted. A rubber bumper, fitted over the latch, compresses against the tailgate to virtually eliminate rattle. Tailgate tension can be increased or decreased by adjusting the anchor bolt.

Completely new concave rear taillights, and stop and directional signal lamps are used on all models of the 1958 Buick line, with four horizontal bars dividing the single lens on the Limited series and a vertical bar bisecting the lens on the Roadmaster, Super, Century and Special series.

PANORAMIC WINDSHIELDS—Marking, among other things featured in the 1958 Opel Rekord which is being distributed by Buick Dealers under General Motors foreign car marketing program is the all-view windshield. The two-door Rekord has an entirely redesigned all-steel body with a sloping alligator-type hood and new front and rear suspension including telescopic shock absorbers.

Buick Agency Handling The German Opel

The 1958 Opel which is being distributed by Buick dealers in the United States is typically German in its manufacture.

Known throughout Europe as the "king of dependability," Opel's reputation is based on high operating economy and low maintenance cost plus much better performance than usually is anticipated in the small foreign cars.

The Opel Rekord, a two - door sedan, and its companion model, the Caravan, a two - door station wagon, both have four cylinder valve - in - head engines which develop 56 horsepower.

Lennon Buick is the Twin Cities Buick agency.

Watercooled, the engines have a compression ratio of 7.5 to 1 and a displacement of 90.8 cubic inches. They are of "over-square" design with a 3.15 - inch bore but with a piston stroke of only 2.91 inches, which accounts in large part for Opels spirited response and endurance.

Transmission

The synchronized Opel transmission features sliding helical gears with three forward speeds and reverse. In third gear the transmission delivers a 1 to 1 ratio, or direct drive, for economical operation.

Independently sprung front wheels have coil springs with telescope shock absorbers. The front suspension has a wider tread, new rubber insulation between wheel carier and frame and a reinforced cross member. The mounting of the torsional stabilizer also has been improved.

The braking system is fully hydraulic, with brake drums of high quality pearlitic cast iron and a cast-in steel web. The brake linkage is adjustable from inside the car.

The most modern type circulating ball - bearing steering system cuts friction to a minimum. The steering linkage and gear housing are completely new.

The electrical system uses a freeze - proof six-volt battery with a 77 ampere-hour rating and a self regulating 160-watt output generator. The ignition key operates the solenoid control starting motor.

Wheel covers on the 1958 Buick have been redesigned with the Buick crest in red, gold and black set in a dull finished background surrounded by bright metal with embossments.

Mercury Offering

front end sheet metal in the 1958 Mercury is new and features a longer, lower hood which carries a graceful step up [illegible] the cowl. New sculptured fender lines blend with a heavier bumper-grille and incorporate quadri - beam headlights as standard equipment.

Long, deep - channeled side projectiles [illegible] unique tubular chrome [illegible] tail lights and a restyled thin roof line with narrower quarter posts and greater rear roof overhang accentuate Mercury's crisp appearance and give it a low, fast silhouette.

Living room luxury is provided in the magnificent interiors, all color co - ordinated to complement the attractive array of exterior body colors.

Four transmissions are offered, including a new Merc-O-Matic Multi - Drive automatic transmission which [illegible] unmatched flexibility in meeting individual driving requirements or habits. Multi-Drive has three forward ranges, cruising range which meets normal driving needs, a "high performance" range for fast acceleration and hill control or low range for maximum engine braking on extremely steep grades or for extra pulling power. A hill - holder operates in cruising range, preventing the car from slipping back when stopping on steep grades. Multi - Drive is standard on the Park Lane models and optional on all others.

Merc-O-Matic

An improved Merc-O-Matic automatic has been designed for adaptation to the increased torque capacity of the Mercury Marauder engines. It includes a stronger, welded steel converter which replaces the bolted converter used previously. Merc-O-Matic is standard on Montclair models and on Voyager and Colony Park station wagons. [illegible] control for automatic transmissions is simplified [illegible].

Conventional synchromesh transmissions is standard on Monterey models and on Commuter station wagons and overdrive is optional.

Mercury's top engine, the Super Marauder, has 430 cubic inch displacement and three two barrel carburetors. The other Marauder engines have four barrel carburetors. The Marauder 360 has 360 horsepower and 430 cubic inch displacement. Two other Marauder engines with 383 cubic inch displacement have 312 and 330 horsepower. Compression ration on all engines is [illegible] to 1.

Axle Ratio

Performance and economy promised by these new engines and transmissions are supported by a rear axle ratio of 2.69 to 1 with the 383 cubic inch engines, and 2.91 to 1 with the two 430 cubic inch engines.

Engineering improvements in the chassis give a luxurious limousine ride which softens jolts and smothers bumps over all kinds of roads. Mercury's balanced weight distribution, its lower center of gravity, its full - cushioned shock absorbers and its swept - back ball - joint front suspension all contribute to riding comfort and ease of handling.

An important chassis improvement is a new threaded bushing in the front suspension upper arm which is lubricated for life with a lithium - base lubricant. It replaces a rubber bushing.

Mercury Brakes

Mercury developed self - adjusting brakes, with lining area increased to 233.38 square inches, for its 1958 cars. These self-adjusting brakes give even braking with straight - line stopping and maintain the foot pedal at a constant distance from the floor, thereby assuring maximum pedal reserve for emergency stops. They eliminate the need for manual adjustment and permit lowering the brake pedal ¾ of an inch.

An optional speed limit safety monitor rings a reminder bell when the driver exceeds the speed he has selected on its dash-mounted dial.

A vacuum operated fingertip control for all heating, defrosting, ventilating and air conditioning requirements is provided by Mercury's Climate - Dial — a single dial mounted on the instrument panel. On the Park Lane it comes with the heater, and it is standard with air conditioning.

An extensive list of options to improve motoring pleasure is available, including power seat that remembers, power steering, power windows and air conditioning. Transistor radios are available.

The new Park Lane series has three models: the Montclair series has six, including two Turnpike Cruisers; the Monterey series has five models and there are two lower - priced models. Mercury's outstanding station wagon series has six models, all with hardtop styling and back window that retracts into the tailgate.

The popular six-way power seat is available on all 1958 Dodge cars. It provides horizonal adjustment of five inches and vertical adjustment of two inches. The seat also can be tilted through an angle of 18 degrees, providing each driver with the most comfortable seating position.

Cheaper Stock Feed Figures In Economy

CHICAGO — (UP) — The magazine Live Stock Producer reports that plentiful supplies of cheap feeds will dominate the 1958 live stock outlook.

LSP said that the "huge feed supplies" were responsible for the increase in hog production in 1957. It forecast an "early and sharp decline" in the hog market in the summer and fall of 1958.

The magazine said the feed situation will make it profitable for farmers to get hogs to market as soon as possible this year because an expected 10 per cent boost in hog production will lower prices next fall from $12 to $14.

Regarding the cattle market, LSP said "the 1958 low spot" would arrive in March or April rather than in Febuary as has been the case since 1945.

Sheriff Fast On Solution

ROLLA, N. D.—(UP) — Sheriff Clarence Johnson set some kind of record for solving a crime when he arrested three burglars before he reached the scene of the crime.

Johnson stopped to investigate a parked car on his way to a tavern which had reported a break-in. Inside the car, he found three men making merry with a large quantity of liquor. The men were hustled off to jail when the sheriff found the liquor bottles in the car matched those missing from the tavern.

RECEPTION, NO WEDDING

AUGUSTA, Me. — (UP)—Some 200 persons attended the wedding reception of Arlene M. Rouleau and Fred G. Libby — but the bridegroom was missing. Libby was hospitalized with appendicitis the day before the wedding. So the ceremony was postponed, but the reception was held because it was too late to notify people not to come.

Twenty body styles are available on the 1958 Buick, including two and four - door hardtops in each of the five series and convertibles in the Limited, Roadmaster, Century and Speical series. Two-and-four-door sedans are offered in the Special series.

HERE ARE SOME THINGS TO LOOK FOR when you size up the 1958 cars at the Auto Show. We suggest you start with a styling comparison because that's very important to you. Notice that while some of the cars are nearly as low as the Swept-Wing 58, it has been achieved by sacrificing windshield area. Check that. Then get into the driver's seat. See if the new driving position and the added visibility of Swept-Wing 58 don't give you a greater sense of comfort and confidence than other cars in Dodge's field. Most important, arrange to get a new Dodge on the road and test its great advances: No-sway Torsion-Aire, push-button driving, Constant-Control power steering that works full-time. Your Dodge dealer invites you to "check out" a Swept-Wing 58 after seeing it at the show. To own it is a new adventure.

Mercury Brakes

Mercury developed self - adjusting brakes, with lining area increased to 233.38 square inches, for its 1958 cars. These self-adjusting brakes give even braking with straight - line stopping and maintain the foot pedal at a constant distance from the floor, thereby assuring maximum pedal reserve for emergency stops. They eliminate the need for manual adjustment and permit lowering the brake pedal ¾ of an inch.

An optional speed limit safety monitor rings a reminder bell when the driver exceeds the speed he has selected on its dash-mounted dial.

A vacuum operated fingertip control for all heating, defrosting, ventilating and air conditioning requirements is provided by Mercury's Climate - Dial — a single dial mounted on the instrument panel. On the Park Lane it comes with the heater, and it is standard with air conditioning.

An extensive list of options to improve motoring pleasure is available, including power seat that remembers, power steering, power windows and air conditioning. Transistor radios are available.

The new Park Lane series has three models: the Montclair series has six, including two Turnpike Cruisers; the Monterey series has five models and there are two lower - priced models. Mercury's outstanding station wagon series has six models, all with hardtop styling and back window that retracts into the tailgate.

The popular six-way power seat is available on all 1958 Dodge cars. It provides horizonal adjustment of five inches and vertical adjustment of two inches. The seat also can be tilted through an angle of 18 degrees, providing each driver with the most comfortable seating position.

Cheaper Stock Feed Figures In Economy

CHICAGO — (UP) — The magazine Live Stock Producer reports that plentiful supplies of cheap feeds will dominate the 1958 live stock outlook.

LSP said that the "huge feed supplies"were responsible for the increase in hog production in 1957. It forecast an "early and sharp decline" in the hog market in the summer and fall of 1958.

The magazine said the feed situation will make it profitable for farmers to get hogs to market as soon as possible this year because an expected 10 per cent boost in hog production will lower prices next fall from $12 to $14.

Regarding the cattle market, LSP said "the 1958 low spot" would arrive in March or April rather than in Febuary as has been the case since 1945.

Sheriff Fast On Solution

ROLLA, N. D.—(UP) — Sheriff Clarence Johnson set some kind of record for solving a crime when he arrested three burglars before he reached the scene of the crime.

Johnson stopped to investigate a parked car on his way to a tavern which had reported a break-in. Inside the car, he found three men making merry with a large quantity of liquor. The men were hustled off to jail when the sheriff found the liquor bottles in the car matched those missing from the tavern.

RECEPTION, NO WEDDING

AUGUSTA, Me. — (UP)—Some 200 persons attended the wedding reception of Arlene M. Rouleau and Fred G. Libby — but the bridegroom was missing. Libby was hospitalized with appendicitis the day before the wedding. So the ceremony was postponed, but the reception was held because it was too late to notify people not to come.

Twenty body styles are available on the 1958 Buick, including two and four - door hardtops in each of the five series and convertibles in the Limited, Roadmaster, Century and Speical series. Two-and-four-door sedans are offered in the Special series.

HERE ARE SOME THINGS TO LOOK FOR when you size up the 1958 cars at the Auto Show. We suggest you start with a styling comparison because that's very important to you. Notice that while some of the cars are nearly as low as the Swept-Wing 58, it has been achieved by sacrificing windshield area. Check that. Then get into the driver's seat. See if the new driving position and the added visibility of Swept-Wing 58 don't give you a greater sense of comfort and confidence than other cars in Dodge's field. Most important, arrange to get a new Dodge on the road and test its great advances: No-sway Torsion-Aire, push-button driving, Constant-Control power steering that works full-time. Your Dodge dealer invites you to "check out" a Swept-Wing 58 after seeing it at the show. To own it is a new adventure.

MONROE AUTOMOBILE DEALERS ASSOCIATION AUTO SHOW — SEARSTOWN, SUNDAY AND MONDAY

PONTIAC'S PERENNIAL FAVORITE is the big, luxurious and exquisitely styled Star Chief series shown here in the four-door Catalina model. Solidly built on a 124-inch wheelbase, the all-new Star Chief is synonymous with big car styling and comfort, and is available in four models; two and four-door Catalinas, a four-door slim pillar sedan and a four-door Custom Safari station wagon. Among the fine features of this series is the big "Tempest 395" V-8 engine and "prestige" interiors of glamorous leather and fabric.

DREAM CARS

Pontiac Makes Bold '58 Move

A completely new body in 16 different models, including the two Bonneville "dream cars," a new chassis, new "Tempest 395" V-8 engine and new developments in optional equipment, mark what Pontiac Motor Division calls "the boldest advance in 50 years."

The 1958 Pontiacs are lower, longer, wider and combine high performance and comfort with high style and luxurious interiors to provide a quality approaching universal sales appeal and can be seen regularly at Coleman Pontiac on Louisville Avenue.

In addition to the top-of-the-line Bonneville convertible and sport coupe, Pontiac's fabulous contribution in family sports-type cars, other new innovations are offered for 1958. Among them are a convertible in the lowest priced Chieftain line, air ride suspension as an option on all models, along with improved fuel injection introduced by Pontiac last year.

X-Frame Chassis

The new tubular center X-frame chassis has helped make possible lowering overall height of these cars to a new low, while providing more than adequate head and leg room.

The lower center of gravity and new front and rear suspension, combine to provide the desired roadhugging and cornering characteristics.

The new "Temptest 395" V-8 engine is bigger than ever, with displacement increased from 347 to 370 cubic inches, and designed to deliver power where most needed—in the traffic range.

Pontiac engineers list 88 new features in the 1958 models and 135 separate safety features.

New Styling

Striking "new direction" styling accentuates the car's longer, lower, wider look. The low, horizontal grille is topped by dual twin head lamps and rises above the heavy bumper, which incorporates massive parking and signal lamps. A new gold, rectangular crest featuring a "V" on a grooved background above the name, Pontiac, in block-style lettering, is positioned in the left side of the grille. Delta wing ornaments ride atop each front fender with twin windsplits continuing along the fender.

The missile-type side mouldings sweep back to concave flairs in the rear fender and frame distinctive series markings. The Bonneville has, in addition, four simulated front fender louvers.

From the rear the 1958 Pontiacs are immediately recognizable by dual twin tail lamps above oval, chromed, backup lamp ports, and the simply styled trunk lid bears chrome handles on each side of the superbly fashioned nameplate.

In addition to the five-passenger Bonneville convertible and the sport coupe. Pontiac has for 1958 the Star Chief series consisting of two and four-door Catalinas, a four-door sedan with slim center pillar, and a custom Safari station wagon. 'The Super Chief line includes two and four-door Catalinas and a slim pillar, four-door sedan. The Chieftain series is led by the convertible, new in this line; two and four-door Catalinas, two anu four-door slim pillar sedans, and a two-seat and a three-seat, four-door station wagon.

Many Colors

A total of 21 solid colors and 56 recommended two-tone paint combinations are offered, some in the new acrylic lacquers, while interiors are color-matched in fabric and leather.

On 122" and 124" wheelbases, the new Pontiacs are as much as 4.5 inches lower in height, are 2.2 inches wider and as much as 8.7 inches longer overall. Passenger leg room has been increased by 4.5 inches, ample head room is retained and luggage space is enlarged.

A new sculptured instrument panel has key instruments grouped before the driver for quick, safe reading through the deeply recessed, two - spoke steering wheel. A non-glare instrument panel paint protects against glare.

Air Ride

Leading an exceptional parade of optional equipment for the new cars is air ride suspension, new for passenger cars in the middle price range, which gives an ever level ride regardless of load or road conditions. Pontiac's fuel injection, introduced last year, has been improved and tailored for the new, bigger engine. Super Hydra-Matic transmission, power brakes, power steering, power-operated windows, four-way power seat with a new "memo-matic" control device, which returns it to a pre-selected setting, are other extras, as is a new "safeguard" speedometer, which buzzes when a set speed is exceeded; a new "safe-t-track" differential, which eliminates rear wheel slip; a new split front seat back lock to prevent seat tilt on sudden stops; a new door lock warning lamp, and a new combination car and portable transistorized radio.

Notable too, is the availability of radio rear seat speakers on convertibles as well as station wagons, a special decor option on Chieftain models and a new adjustable inside sun visor. Clearly identified accessory controls are conveniently arranged on the instrument panel within easy reach.

Vauxhall Victor 'Super' Winning Much Popularity

Destined to win immediate popularity with American motorists is GM's British-made Vauxhall Victor "Super," a four-cylinder, four-door sedan now being offered by Pontiac dealers in this country.

Outwardly the new Vauxhall presents definite European styling trends, while its construction and operating features have many of the desirable characteristics for which GM cars are famous. The "Super" offers a wide choice of bright colors enhanced by a modernistic grille and bumpers of chrome, with just the right amount of chrome trim both inside and out. The seats are comfortable and smart looking, while the neat interior panels and roof are finished in attractive materials to complete the handcrafted appearance.

Weighing 2,150 pounds, with a wheelbase of 98 inches and an overall length of 166.2 inches, the Victor is powered by a 92 cubic inch overhead-valve engine with a compression ratio of 7.8:1 that develops 54.8 horsepower.

While retaining its foreign car look the new Victor "super" features a modern panoramic windshield with slim pillars that slant backwards at the bottom for the ultimate in visibility and driving safety. The rear window is also of wrap around design with increased glass area for added safety.

Most impressive among the many favorable features of GM's new car are its surprisingly fine riding and handling qualities, its family car roominess and its small car fuel economy, which averages 30 miles per gallon at 50 miles per hour. These tried and proven features, which have long been standard in GM's American cars, make the Victor an ideal choice for those in the market for a second car, or for the individual who demands economy of operation along with performance and durability.

Big Windshield

Joining the Ram Fire V-8 engine and new front end design as newsworthy features of the 1958 Dodge is the huge "picture" windshield, standard equipment on all convertible and hardtop models.

The compound curvature windshield wraps around, not only at the side posts, but at the top as well, providing true Control Tower vision, and blending smoothly into the thin, fast roof line.

"Safety Firsts" on the 1958 Dodge include a safety package offered this year for the first time.

Constant Control, power brakes, padded dashboard the single safety package, while other safety features include safety door latches and handles and an independent emergency brake system — an exclusive in the medium price field.

Pushbuttons

Mechanical pushbutton controls, located to the left of the steering wheel and away from accidental contact by passengers, provide a further safety advance.

Two important engineering features, available for the first time on 1958 cars, are the Sure Grip differential and Constant Control power steering.

The new differential is designed to provide pulling power to the wheel with the most traction, thereby eliminating wheel-spinning on ice, or in mud, snow or sand. Constant Control power steering will be available on all 1958 Dodge cars equipped with automatic transmission. Located entirely below the floor board, the new unit reduces even further the effort required for parking, and affords even greater control for highway driving.

Torsion-Aire ride, consisting of torsion bar front suspension and rear springs mounted outside the frame rather than inside, is standard equipment on all 1958 Dodge models.

Also available are Power-Flite and Torque-Flite automatic transmissions, and a full range of safety and convenience accessories.

The 1958 Dodge line consists of four separate series: Coronet, Royal, Custom Royal and station wagon. Three four-door sedans are offered, three four-door hardtops, three two-door hardtops, one club sedan, two convertibles and five station wagons.

Available on all 1958 Dodge models is the all-new constant control power steering system. Simpler in operation than its predecessors, it combines the all-important feature of full-time operation with less parking effort and better highway control.

Sixty interior trim combinations in a variety of colors are available on the 1958 Buick, along with 20 exterior colors either in single or two - tone combinations. The exterior colors include five shades in the new lucite paint.

The radiator width on the 1958 Buick has been increased from 21.9 to 25.2 inches to improve the cooling system, and a full shroud has been installed to provide more efficient air movement through the radiator at low car speeds.

SUMPTUOUS NEWCOMERS — Chevrolet for 1958 is offering some of the most outstanding innovations the automobile industry has seen in many years. Among these are the Impala convertible and sport coupe in the Bel Aire series, described as the ultimate in luxurious motoring. The sport coupe shown here, is less than 56 inches high while measuring nine inches longer than Chevrolets of former years. The new sculpturamic styling of Chevrolet for 1958 is dramatically evident in this view of the Impala coupe.

COMPLETE TRANSFORMATION

Chevrolet Makes Dramatic Change

Chevrolet for 1958 is dramatically emphasized by representative models on display at the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Association Show.

They are longer, lower and wider than any previous Chevrolet. The set a fresh new mode in sculpturamic styling, capped by a gull wing rear fender effect. And because of a new frame, new suspension and other significant mechanical gains, they make possible a whole new experience in riding and operating ease. Chevrolet dealer in Monroe is Ryan-Polk at Second and Washington.

Beyond the pace-setting change in exterior design, the 1958 Chevrolet introduces:

An unusual X-shaped, wasp-waist frame that is 30 per cent more rigid and permits improved ride engineering.

A revolutionary suspension with standard coil springs at the rear wheels or a choice of air suspension, pioneered by Chevrolet this year in its field.

A 348-cubic inch V8 engine new from "fan to flywheel" with a completely new combustion chambe design that allows positioning of large valves for high volumetric efficiency.

Bel Aire Expanded

The Bel Air series is expanded by the addition of the Impala, a new "luxury line" which includes convertible and 2-door hardtop models. The Biscayne takes in the middle of the low-price bracket while the Delray covers the bottom end of the price spread. In line with the continually mounting popularity of station wagons, an exclusive five-unit series has been established.

Rounding out Chevrolet's array of 1958 cars is the re-styled Corvette, offering the ultimate in sports car performance and design.

Here is Chevy's 16-model passenger car lineup for 1958:

Station wagons — Nomad (4-door, six-passenger), Brookwood (4-door, six and nine-passenger), Yeoman (2 and 4-door, six-passenger).

Bel Air — Impala (Convertible and sport coupe), 2-door sport coupe, 4-door hardtop sport sedan, 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan.

Biscayne — 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan.

Delray — 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan, 2-door utility sedan.

Bumper to bumper, the Chevrolet is nine inches longer in 1958 for a new overall length of 209 inches. Wheelbase is up two and a half inches to 117½. Roof lines are lowered up to 2½ inches while overall width is nearly four inches more than 1957.

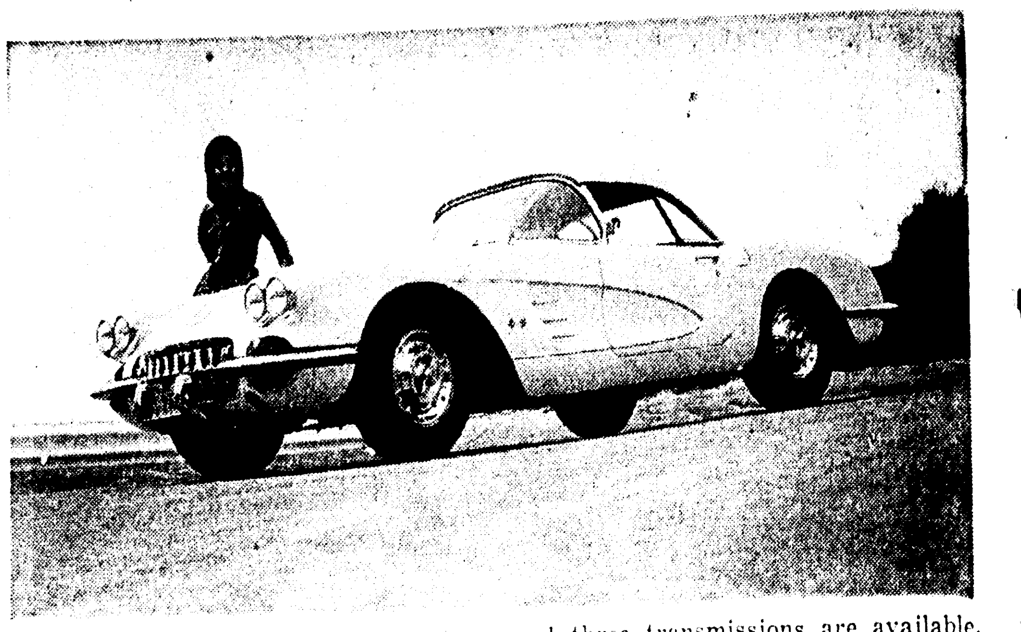
Inside Redesign

Inside, the 1958 Chevrolet is completely redesigned, too. Each series has its own steering wheel, exclusive fabrics and paneling, with special luxury reserved for the Impala.

Major instruments are grouped in separate housings on the panel. Windshield's wrap-around farther. Sedan center pillars are slimmer. Station wagon liftgates are hinged high in the roof for easier loading. All V8s are provided with electric windshield wipers. Safer night driving results from twin headlamps which give up to 100 fee more illumination on low beam.

Other features are faster steering, foot-operated parking brakes, higher generator capacity, improved clutches and radiator.

The 1958 Chevrolet line is offering 15 solid exterior colors and 14 two-tone combinations.



MORE OPTIONS — With a greater array of mechanical options, the introduction of dual headlamps and new exterior and interior styling, the Chevrolet Corvette gains added prestige in the sports car field for 1958. Four engines and three transmissions are available. Bumpers and cockpit have been revamped and the pioneering plastic body has even greater strength through a process of modeling aluminum reinforcements into the shell.

Electric windshield wipers, with two-speed controls, are standard equipment on all V8-engined 1958 Chevrolets. A vacuum system, with power booster, is standard on all six-cylinder models.

Standard equipment on all 1958 Dodge cars, total contact brakes are known as the safest in the industry. Equipped with dual front brake cylinders, they are of floating shoe design, and assure longer brake life and surer, faster stops.

Available on all 1958 Dodge models except convertibles and station wagons is the rear seat speaker, controlled from the instrument panel. Antennas include the electric power operated antenna, dual antennas located near the rear fin, and the single manually operated antenna.

The strain of prolonged driving is considerably reduced by foam rubber cushions, standard on 1958 Dodge Custom Royal, Royal and Custom Coronet models.

STEADIER SHOOTING: The Belt-Pod, demonstrated here by a model, made its debut at the recent New York National Photo Show. This new gadget hooks on the belt and rises to bring the camera to eye level, permitting steadier shooting standing or sitting.

ADJUSTABLE

Camera Belt-Pod Is Handy Device

By IRVING DESFOR

One of the new gadgets that aroused more than passing interest at the recent New York National Photographic Show was a device called the Camera Belt-Pod.

It's an adjustable, lightweight, one-legged tripod which clips to a photographer's belt to provide support for his movie or still camera. An attached neck strap holds the camera close to the body and frees the hands for handling a meter or to adjust the lens opening or shutter speed.

The black plastic and aluminum Belt-Pod weighs about seven ounces, is about seven inches long and adds another ten inches when extended. This is enough to bring a camera to normal eye-level view.

When not in use, it is carried conveniently in an accessory holster which slips over the regular belt.

Though designed primarily for men photographers, the female of the species can use it too, provided she wears a belt.

It can be used where normal tripods would be inconvenient. For instance, in crowds like those at the Photo Show the Belt-Pod provides camera support yet allows freedom at all times for a quick change of angle or movement without interfering with other people.

It can also be used handily when seated in a theater or at a dinner when a speaker or entertainment is to be photographed. Slow shutter speeds of one-fifth or one-tenth of a second can then be used with reasonable assurance of sharpness.

Movies taken on such occasions will show less wobble than when hand held. Furthermore, it would be possible to shoot at a slow speed of eight frames per second if the light is inadequate for normal shooting or to gain depth of field. Shooting at eight frames allows twice as much light to enter as when shooting at 16 frames per second, so the lens can be closed one stop further to compensate.

Of course, a sturdy tripod is a photographer's best friend when he has the time, place and inclination to use it and this new gadget isn't going to replace its normal use.

But any device which steadies a camera while shooting is a helpful accessory so camera fans who are tripod-shy or gadget-crazy should welcome the Belt-Pod.

Chevrolet In Advance Truck Program In '58

Industry pacesetter in truck sales the last two decades, Chevrolet displays at the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Association this week end representatives of the largest, most powerful and versatile fleet of transport vehicles ever assembled by the company.

For the growing specialization of the trucking industry, the Chevrolet line for 1958 has been expanded and diversified to include 134 models on 22 different wheelbases. This array lists 12 new models, a 10 per cent increase over the number available in 1957.

New Features

Among new features are:

A rugged but compact 348-cubic inch V8 engine of 230 horsepower, designed specifically for heavy truck use.

Fresh styling inside and out for a more massive appearance and greater comfort, refinement and operating efficiency. The new design includes modern dual headlamps.

Entry of the company into the parcel delivery field with three forward control "Step Van" models.

Introduction of nine additional medium-duty cab-chassis models for greater flexibility in certain operations.

Chassis improvements with heavier-duty components and broader options. These include standard cast wheels on heavy-duty models, optional air brakes for all heavy-duty models except school busses, air-over-hydraulic brakes in medium-duties for the first time, and more extensive axle, spring and power steering offerings.

New Names

The 1958 Chevrolet trucks take the field this year with new names for each of the three weight classifications. They are:

The Apache — Light-duty conventional trucks with gross vehicle weight ratings up to 9,600 pounds, available on six different wheelbases.

The Viking — Medium-duties with GVW ratings up to 21,000 on 12 wheelbases.

The Spartan — Heavy-duties with GVW ratings up to 25,000 on nine wheelbases.

Topping the five basic engines is the new "Workmaster" 348-cubic inch V8 offered on the two largest series as standard equipment. Even with a sizable increase in displacement over the largest 1957 engine — 322-cubic inches — the new power plant is extremely compact.

Attention to detail gives the new truck line many advantages. Seven new exterior colors are offered along with new two-tone treatment. Hood lift effort is cut from 35 to 10 pounds. A larger 20-inch steering wheel is standard equipment on heavy-duty models. A second drive range is added to the popular Powermatic automatic transmission, offering even greater safety in the unit's built-in hydraulic retarder.

Tinted plastic sun visors are available on all 1958 Dodge cars except convertibles. Padded sun visors also are available.

SUMPTUOUS NEWCOMERS — Chevrolet for 1958 is offering some of the most outstanding innovations the automobile industry has seen in many years. Among these are the Impala convertible and sport coupe in the Bel Aire series, described as the ultimate in luxurious motoring. The sport coupe shown here, is less than 56 inches high while measuring nine inches longer than Chevrolets of former years. The new sculpturamic styling of Chevrolet for 1958 is dramatically evident in this view of the Impala coupe.

COMPLETE TRANSFORMATION

Chevrolet Makes Dramatic Change

Chevrolet for 1958 is dramatically emphasized by representative models on display at the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Association Show.

They are longer, lower and wider than any previous Chevrolet. They set a fresh new mode in sculpturamic styling, capped by a gull wing rear fender effect. And because of a new frame, new suspension and other significant mechanical gains, they make possible a whole new experience in riding and operating ease. Chevrolet dealer in Monroe is Ryan-Polk at Second and Washington.

Beyond the pace-setting change in exterior design, the 1958 Chevrolet introduces:

An unusual X-shaped, wasp-waist frame that is 30 per cent more rigid and permits improved ride engineering.

A revolutionary suspension with standard coil springs at the rear wheels or a choice of air suspension, pioneered by Chevrolet this year in its field.

A 348-cubic inch V8 engine new from "fan to flywheel" with a completely new combustion chamber design that allows positioning of large valves for high volumetric efficiency.

Bel Aire Expanded

The Bel Air series is expanded by the addition of the Impala, a new "luxury line" which includes convertible and 2-door hardtop models. The Biscayne takes in the middle of the low-price bracket while the Delray covers the bottom end of the price spread. In line with the continually mounting popularity of station wagons, an exclusive five-unit series has been established.

Rounding out Chevrolet's array of 1958 cars is the re-styled Corvette, offering the ultimate in sports car performance and design.

Here is Chevy's 16-model passenger car lineup for 1958:

Station wagons — Nomas (4-door, six-passenger), Brookwood (4-door, six and nine-passenger), Yeoman (2 and 4-door, six-passenger).

Bel Air — Impala (Convertible and sport coupe), 2-door sport coupe, 4-door hardtop sport sedan, 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan.

Biscayne — 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan.

Delray — 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan, 2-door utility sedan.

Bumper to bumper, the Chevrolet is nine inches longer in 1958 for a new overall length of 209 inches. Wheelbase is up two and a half inches to 117½. Roof lines are lowered up to 2½ inches while overall width is nearly four inches more than 1957.

Inside Redesign

Inside, the 1958 Chevrolet is completely redesigned, too. Each series has its own steering wheel, exclusive fabrics and paneling, with special luxury reserved for the Impala.

Major instruments are grouped in separate housings on the panel. Windshields wrap-around farther. Sedan center pillars are slimmer. Station wagon liftgates are hinged high in the roof for easier loading. All V8s are provided with electric windshield wipers. Safer night driving results from twin headlamps which give up to 100 feet more illumination on low beam.

Other features are faster steering, foot-operated parking brakes, higher generator capacity, improved clutches and radiator.

The 1958 Chevrolet line is offering 15 solid exterior colors and 14 two-tone combinations.

South, Pass.

Opening lead: Seven of diamonds.

Declarer in today's hand missed the opportunity for a tidy entry-destroying play and by so doing created a swing of 1,000 points against himself.

Free wheeling characterized the bidding sequence. It started out naturally enough with the opening spade bid and the overcall of two hearts, but North's overcall of two no trump with a below average hand calls for a big demerit, as does East's bid of three diamonds.

South was well within himself on his leap for four spades. East's flag - flying to five clubs is beyond comment, and South's refusal to take a handsome profit by doubling indicates to us a trace of stubbornness.

West opened the seven of diamonds, and when East played the ten, South was tempted to let him hold it but considered such action too "risky." If East held a six card diamond suit, a return of that suit would permit West to ruff away declarer's ace.

Consequently, declarer took the trick and started the business of extracting trumps. West was quick to take the ace in order to continue with a diamond. East won, and a third round of that suit placed declarer in an untenable position.

If he ruffed with the nine, West would overruff with the ten, an if he put up the jack, West's ten would be promoted to winning rank.

It is true that had South chosen to duck the first diamond the contract would be secure, because West would then have been unable to communicate with partner in order to obtain a diamond ruff. But South could hardly be called to task for his action at that juncture.

However, there was an entry destroying play available to him which he had completely overlooked. After winning the ace of diamonds, instead of rushing to draw trumps, declarer should have cashed the ace of hearts, entered dummy with a club and played the queen of hearts and discarded his losing diamond. This would make it impossible for West to reach East's hand when he got in with the ace of trumps, and the overruffing situation would be avoided.

TELETOUCH, TOO

America's Newest Car Is The Edsel

A brilliant new vertical front styling theme and several outstanding engineering innovations that include "Teletouch" push button transmission controls located in the steering wheel hub are features of America's newest automobile — the Edsel.

Under actual development since July of 1954, mechanical and engineering prototypes of the Edsel were driven more than 1,500,000 miles in one of the most thorough and comprehensive test programs ever undertaken by a manufacturer.

Steele Edsel on Louisville Avenue is the Twin Cities agency.

18 Models

Available in 18 models and four series — Ranger, Pacer, Corsair and Citation — the Edsel medium price car line offers two convertibles, sedans, two - door and four-door hardtops and five station wagons. One convertible is available in the Pacer series and the other in the Citation, at the top of the line.

Dual headlights, self - adjusting brakes which automatically compensate for brake lining wear, safety rim wheels and four barrel carburetion are standard equipment with all Edsels. Also standard, with purchase of a heater, is a unique single - dial heater-defroster - ventilator control which eliminates the standard, but complex, system of levers, knobs and air vent doors.

The Edsel vertical grille combined with an inner chrome impact ring and crisp horizontal sections on either side give an easily identifiable look of quiet elegance from blocks away. The concave sculptured sides have an ever - widening teardrop effect and carry completely through to the taillights, giving a look of fluid motion and power.

The horizontal taillights blend smoothly into the flight deck luggage compartment lid to provide a solid bar of illumination on each side. Each bar is in two segments, divided at the luggage compartment lid. Outer segments contain turn indicators and brake warning lights in addition to normal red night lights.

Adding to the long, low look of the new Edsels is a slightly raised center section of the hood which recalls the elegance of motoring three decades ago.

New fabrics and patterns are featured in Edsel harmonizing interiors, color - keyed to the 19 solid and 31 two - tone exterior combinations. Exceptional comfort is provided by new contour seats which reduce long trip fatigue. Front seats have been divided in a unique one - third, two - thirds arrangement with the one-third segment for the driver.

The entire instrument cluster has been designed to locate all controls and dials within easy, natural view and reach of the driver. Mounted high in the cluster, beneath the raised padded safety cowling which eliminates any panel glare, is the new floating drum type speedometer which rotates smoothly and evenly as the car accelerates or slows.

The new E-400 Edsel engine is available in Ranger and Pacer series and the five station wagons. It develops 400 pounds of torque and 303 horsepower and with it comes a choice of standard, overdrive or automatic transmissions.

The E-475 engine, for the Corsair and Citation series, is rated at 475 foot pounds of torque and 345 horsepower. Only automatic transmission is available on these series.

"Teletouch" push button automatic transmission controls are located in the steering wheel hub. An electric servo motor does the work as the driver selects the required gear with a finger touch about equal to the pressure required to operate a typewriter key.

Built - in safety factors include a dual inhibitor which prevents engagement of Reverse or Park gears at a speed of over three miles an hour. The engine may be started with Teletouch in either Park or Neutral gears, but once in Park with the ignition turned off, the transmission cannot be moved to another gear.

Also operated by a servo motor is the new single - dial control for heater, defroster and ventilator. Each dial segment runs the full range from minimum to maximum and for summer driving the control permits air to enter from the right or left side, or both. When equipped with optional air conditioner, the single dial operates both heater and air conditioner.

Safety rim wheels are standad equipment on all Edsels. The new 14-inch tires hold 20 per cent more air by volume at lower pressure for improved ride and the wider tread and new tread pattern provide 24 per cent greater tire traction to shorten stopping distances.

Self - adjusting brakes also are standard equipment on all Edsels and eliminate the need for brake adjustments during the entire life of brake linings.

Ford Trucks Incorporate Advancements

Ford trucks for 1958 incorporate further advancements in design and engineering which made them so successful in 1957.

The more than 300 Ford models range from the unique Ranchero, highest styled truck in the industry, to the husky, big Tilt Cabs which are setting new design trends for maneuverability and engine accessibility for maintenance and servicing.

Safety dual headlights are standard on all Ford truck models except parcel deliveries. Other styling features bring forward the design advances that set a "new look" for trucks in 1957. Most models can be obtained in two tone color treatment. Cab interiors have been improved for even more driver comfort.

Ranchero

The Ranchero, which works like a truck and rides like a car, carries Ford's 1958 car styling with dual headlights, wraparound front bumper and anodized aluminum grille and side trim inserts. These styling features are carried through on the Ford Courier, which has a full - wrap rear window and fully lined interior.

Pickup

Ford Tilt Cabs, America's lowest - priced Tilt Cab trucks, are available in GVW's from 18,000 to 30,000 pounds and GCW's from 25,000 to 60,000 pounds in six series with four durable V-8 engines giving power and wheelbase tailor-made for the job. They can turn in a 10 to 12-foot smaller circle. With center of load closer to front axle, payload capacity can be as much as 2,000 pounds greater.

The Styleside pickup, whose cab - wide body has up to 45 per cent more loadspace, provides a ride that is more car than truck. Newly designed grille which houses dual headlights and inboard steps are features of all Ford standard trucks for 1958.

These styling features have been carried through on the medium, heavies and extra heavy duty models.

Engineering advances include new triple drive range Transmatic transmission, Roadranger transmission giving eight closely spaced forward speeds with preselect range shifting, and proved fuel saving short stroke six and V-8 engines.

South, 1 spade; West, 2 hearts; North, 2 no trump; East, 3 diamonds.

South, 4 spades; West, Pass; North, Pass; East, 5 clubs.

South, 5 spades; West, Double; North, Pass; East, Pass.

South, Pass.

Opening lead: Seven of diamonds.

Declarer in today's hand missed the opportunity for a tidy entry-destroying play and by so doing created a swing of 1,000 points against himself.

Free wheeling characterized the bidding sequence. It started out naturally enough with the opening spade bid and the overcall of two hearts, but North's overcall of two no trump with a below average hand calls for a big demerit, as does East's bid of three diamonds.

South was well within himself in his leap for four spades. East's flag - flying to five clubs is beyond comment, and South's refusal to take a handsome profit by doubling indicates to us a trace of stubbornness.

West opened the seven of diamonds, and when East played the ten, South was tempted to let him hold it but considered such action too "risky." If East held a six card diamond suit, a return of that suit would permit West to ruff away declarer's ace.

Consequently, declarer took the trick and started the business of extracting trumps. West was quick to take the ace in order to continue with a diamond. East won, and a third round of that suit placed declarer in an untenable position.

If he ruffed with the nine, West would overruff with the ten, an if he put up the jack, West's ten would be promoted to winning rank.

It is true that had South chosen to duck the first diamond the contract would be secure, because West would then have been unable to communicate with partner in order to obtain a diamond ruff. But South could hardly be called to task for his action at that juncture.

However, there was an entry destroying play available to him which he had completely overlooked. After winning the ace of diamonds, instead of rushing to draw trumps, declarer should have cashed the ace of hearts, entered dummy with a club and played the queen of hearts and discarded his losing diamond. This would make it impossible for West to reach East's hand when he got in with the ace of trumps, and the overruffing situation would be avoided.

TELETOUCH, TOO

America's Newest Car Is The Edsel

A brilliant new vertical front styling theme and several outstanding engineering innovations that include "Teletouch" push button transmission controls located in the steering wheel hub are features of America's newest automobile — the Edsel.

Under actual development since July of 1954, mechanical and engineering prototypes of the Edsel were driven more than 1,500,000 miles in one of the most thorough and comprehensive test programs ever undertaken by a manufacturer.

Steele Edsel on Louisville Avenue is the Twin Cities agency.

18 Models

Available in 18 models and four series — Ranger, Pacer, Corsair and Citation — the Edsel medium price car line offers two convertibles, sedans, two - door and four-door hardtops and five station wagons. One convertible is available in the Pacer series and the other in the Citation, at the top of the line.

Dual headlights, self - adjusting brakes which automatically compensate for brake lining wear, safety rim wheels and four barrel carburetion are standard equipment with all Edsels. Also standard, with purchase of a heater, is a unique single - dial heater-defroster - ventilator control which eliminates the standard, but complex, system of levers, knobs and air vent doors.

The Edsel vertical grille combined with an inner chrome impact ring and crisp horizontal sections on either side give an easily identifiable look of quiet elegance from blocks away. The concave sculptured sides have an ever - widening teardrop effect and carry completely through to the taillights, giving a look of fluid motion and power.

The horizontal taillights blend smoothly into the flight deck luggage compartment lid to provide a solid bar of illumination on each side. Each bar is in two segments, divided at the luggage compartment lid. Outer segments contain turn indicators and brake warning lights in addition to normal red night lights.

Adding to the long, low look of the new Edsels is a slightly raised center section of the hood which recalls the elegance of motoring three decades ago.

New fabrics and patterns are featured in Edsel harmonizing interiors, color - keyed to the 19 solid and 31 two - tone exterior combinations. Exceptional comfort is provided by new contour seats which reduce long trip fatigue. Front seats have been divided in a unique one - third, two - thirds arrangement with the one-third segment for the driver.

The entire instrument cluster has been designed to locate all controls and dials within easy, natural view and reach of the driver. Mounted high in the cluster, beneath the raised padded safety cowling which eliminates any panel glare, is the new floating drum type speedometer which rotates smoothly and evenly as the car accelerates or slows.

The new E-400 Edsel engine is available in Ranger and Pacer series and the five station wagons. It develops 400 pounds of torque and 303 horsepower and with it comes a choice of standard, overdrive or automatic transmissions.

The E-475 engine, for the Corsair and Citation series, is rated at 475 foot pounds of torque and 345 horsepower. Only automatic transmission is available on these series.

"Teletouch" push button automatic transmission controls are located in the steering wheel hub. An electric servo motor does the work as the driver selects the required gear with a finger touch about equal to the pressure required to operate a typewriter key.

Built - in safety factors include a dual inhibitor which prevents engagement of Reverse or Park gears at a speed of over three miles an hour. The engine may be started with Teletouch in either Park or Neutral gears, but once in Park with the ignition turned off, the transmission cannot be moved to another gear.

Also operated by a servo motor is the new single - dial control for heater, defroster and ventilator. Each dial segment runs the full range from minimum to maximum and for summer driving the control permits air to enter from the right or left side, or both. When equipped with optional air conditioner, the single dial operates both heater and air conditioner.

Safety rim wheels are standad equipment on all Edsels. The new 14-inch tires hold 20 per cent more air by volume at lower pressure for improved ride and the wider tread and new tread pattern provide 24 per cent greater tire traction to shorten stopping distances.

Self - adjusting brakes also are standard equipment on all Edsels and eliminate the need for brake adjustments during the entire life of brake linings.

Ford Trucks Incorporate Advancements

Ford trucks for 1958 incorporate further advancements in design and engineering which made them so successful in 1957.

The more than 300 Ford models range from the unique Ranchero, highest styled truck in the industry, to the husky, big Tilt Cabs which are setting new design trends for maneuverability and engine accessibility for maintenance and servicing.

Safety dual headlights are standard on all Ford truck models except parcel deliveries. Other styling features bring forward the design advances that set a "new look" for trucks in 1957. Most models can be obtained in two tone color treatment. Cab interiors have been improved for even more driver comfort.

Ranchero

The Ranchero, which works like a truck and rides like a car, carries Ford's 1958 car styling with dual headlights, wraparound front bumper and anodized aluminum grille and side trim inserts. These styling features are carried through on the Ford Courier, which has a full - wrap rear window and fully lined interior.

Pickup

Ford Tilt Cabs, America's lowest - priced Tilt Cab trucks, are available in GVW's from 18,000 to 30,000 pounds and GCW's from 25,000 to 60,000 pounds in six series with four durable V-8 engines giving power and wheelbase tailor-made for the job. They can turn in a 10 to 12-foot smaller circle. With center of load closer to front axle, payload capacity can be as much as 2,000 pounds greater.

The Styleside pickup, whose cab - wide body has up to 45 per cent more loadspace, provides a ride that is more car than truck. Newly designed grille which houses dual headlights and inboard steps are features of all Ford standard trucks for 1958.

These styling features have been carried through on the medium, heavies and extra heavy duty models.

Engineering advances include new triple drive range Transmatic transmission, Roadranger transmission giving eight closely spaced forward speeds with preselect range shifting, and proved fuel saving short stroke six and V-8 engines.

INDUSTRY'S MOST UNIQUE SOFT TOP CONVERTIBLE, the Continental Mark III, is one of a full line of four Continental models for 1958. This long, low convertible has an all-glass reverse slanting rear window, power operated by the driver, and a top which automatically retracts under the rear deck lid. Other Continental models include a four-door sedan, four-door hardtop and two-door hardtop. All advance the classic design features of previous Continentals with a minimum of chrome ornamentation.

SETS TRENDS

Plymouth Style Proud Feature

Substantial styling advances in keeping with the trend - setting characteristics of the immensely popular current model Plymouth cars, plus a broad new lineup of six engine options and other important new engineering features were seen when the Plymouth for 1958 was introduced.

"The new Plymouth is improved in appearance, performance, comfort and safety, yet retains many of the outstanding styling, handling and riding features that were so enthusiastically accepted by American car - buyers this year," John P. Mansfield, Plymouth president, said today.

Monroe Auto Mart handles Plymouth here.

"While the 1957 model year has been one of the finest in our history, we intend to move even farther ahead with the introduction of finer, more advanced line of nev Plymouth cars in November."

Silver Dart Styling

Styling features of the new Plymouth include a bright new "Silver Dart" side moulding treatment, sweeping upward at the rear on Belvedere and Sport Suburban models to the tip of Plymouth's familiar high - flung directional stabilizer fins, with optional darts inserts of silvery anodized aluminum or compatible colors. Another distinctive new side trim is available also with Savoy and Plaza models.

Double header dual headlights are standard equipment on all new Plymouths, with the inner beams producing maximum long-range forwarc visibility and the outer pair providing supplemental fill - in light when used in combination, or efficient low - beam lighting when used alone. With filaments centered in all lamps, the new dual headlights produce the safest, most scientifically effective night lighting ever attained for automobiles.

New turn signals and parking lights are nestled in a triangular area above and between the headlights. Tail lights also are new, with circular reflectors lower in the fender and a silver - colored reflective wedge extending upward to the tip of the fin. The back-up light is centered beneath the rear bumper.

Lower Grille Redesigned

The lower front grille of the Plymouth for 1958 has been redesigned with a h rizontal bar effect identical to the upper grille section.

New Plymouth colors for 1958 are generally softer and more elegant, with 15 solid color options and 44 two - tone combinations. Luxurious new textured fabrics are offered in all lines.

Six Engine Options

Plymouth's new engine lineup offers six power options, including the new 350-cubic - inch Golden Commando V-8 at extra cost, with a 10 to 1 compression ratio and a horsepower rating of 305. New fuel injection is available with this engine as a limited option.

Standard V-8 Plymouth engine for 1958 is the 318 - cubic - inch Fury V-800 with dual carburetion, a compression ratio of 9 to 1 and rated at 225 horsepower. Super Pak, with four - barrel carburetion is available as extra equipment, and a Dual Fury V-800 engine with eight - barrel carburetion is the standard power plant for the high performance Plym th Fury car in 1958.

Standard on all six-cylinder models is the smooth and economical Power - Flow "5," at 230 cubic inches, 8 to 1 ratio and 132 horsepower.

New Power Steering

A compact new Constant Control power steering design, permitting location of the unit fully within the engine compartent, provides Plymouth's famous full - time effort - free power steering control for maximum safety.

Also new, and available on all Plymouth cars, is a Sure - Grip differential which transfers concentrated pulling power to the rear wheel with the best traction in rain, snow, ice, mud or sand for safer, surer momentum.

Standard equipment with V-8 Plymouths in 1958 is a new automatic economy choke, designed to save fuel in all driving situations wher gasoline waste normally occurs, and particularly effective as a fuel - saver in short - trip city driving.

Air conditioned 1958 Plymouth cars have a new outlet for better distribution of cool, dehumidified air and a more powerful blower. Air conditioning is combined with the heating system of the Plymouth, with a single set of controls.

Top Features Retained

Torsion - Aire ride, Plymouth's top engineering advance of 1957 for non - sway riding comfort and dip - free starts and stops, is also an outstanding feature for Plymouth in 1958, as are the trouble-free push button automatic transmissions, TorqueFlite and Power-Flite, and Plymouth's sure, safe Total Contact brakes.

For added convenience and safety, the inside rear view mirror has been relocated, higher above the instrument panel and nearer to the eyes of the driver. In the new location it is less sensitive to changes in he driver's position and affords much improved rear-ward visibility.

Plymouth offers a choice of 19 V-8 and 17 six - cylinder models for 1958, including six Suburban station wagons with either V-8 or six - cylinder power plants. Optional with 4-door station wagons is the popular rear-facing third seat which folds into the floor when not in use.

Baltimore, Md. Irish Adopt Baltimore, Ire.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Irish of Baltimore, U. S. A., are going to say "Happy St. Patrick's Day" in a big way to the people of Baltimore, Ireland.

The United Irish Societies of Baltimore are collecting clothes here to send to the folks in their namesake across the water, as a gesture of good will.

Some of the clothing will be sent by air for delivery on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. The rest will be shipped by boat.

The idea stemmed from a trip last year to Ireland by a local businessman, Leo McCormick. Several months ago he received a letter from one of the good folks he met in the Irish Baltimore, a fishing and farming village in lower County Cork. Mrs. Rita Downey, the postmistress, asked for a few items of clothing "for the poor people about," espeically rainwear for the children.

Once they got thinking about it, McCormick and his friends in this area of more than a million people decided to see that all the 1,000 souls of Baltimore, Ireland, and its environs get a gift of clothing.

If there is an excess, McCormick said the rest will be transferred to charitable organizations in Ireland. But that will be up to the Irish Baltimoreans to decide.

McCormick emphasized this is primarily a good will gesture, not charity.

Throughout the years, he explained, people in the old Gaelic homeland have been sending souvenir items to friends and relatives in the United States for St. Patrick's Day celebrations. Everything from shamrocks to shillelagh.

"It has strictly been a one-way street," McCormick said.

Co - chairman with McCoormick is Frank Hennessy. Representatives of four Irish societies are serving on the committee. They include the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Freindly Sons of St. Patrick, Hibernian Society and the Emerald Isle Club.

They hope to make the folks of little Balitmorc feel 'tis a grand da, to be alive — especially on St. Patrick's Day.

Continental Offers Four 1958 Models

An American automobile symbol of classic design, the Continental, opens a new era in the luxury car field in 1958 with an expanded line of four models.

For the first time in history, Continental offers a four - door sedan, a four - door hardtop, a unique soft top convertible as well as the well-known two-door hardtop. All models advance the traditional and elegant design of the Continental Mark II. They can be seen at Jackson Motors in Monroe.

In the same class c mold as its predecessors, the Continental Mark III has clean sweeping lines, the same unmistakable roof line, the latticed - type grille, the long, low hood, the distinctive wheel covers and identification namep ates in classic script which reveal the pre - eminence of the Continental.

The soft top convertible is the first in the industry with a reverse slanting all - glass rear window, which opens and closes by a power operated switch located on the driver's armrest. The soft top is completely automatic and folds down behind the rear seat.

Quality, Quietness

More quality and quietness is built into the Continental by means of a single unit type of construction which is accomplished by welding the body and frame into one unit.

Continental Mark III styling emphasizes length and lowness with discreet chrome treatment. Overall length is 229 inches, while overall height is 56.5 inches. Interior dimensions are increased due to the new type of construction which allows the individual to step down into the car.

Canted dual headlamps provide distinctive front end styling. This flared concept is extended along the silhouette of the car where it matches the slightly flared effect of the rear quarter panels. A sculptured front quarter panel accentuates the distinction of the vehicle's silhouette, while a smaller sculptured panel covers the rear wheel.

Set between the canted headlamps is a latticed - type grille fronted by highly protective bumpers that wrap around slightly at either side. A gold anodized Continental nameplate in script is placed on the left side of the grille.

Slanting Window

A reverse slanting rear window is power operated by the driver who has control of all windows in the car by virtue of a master control switch. Power windows are standard equipment in the Continental. In addition, the driver can lock out the power windows, precluding tampering by small children. The latter is an optional accessory.

The long, down - swept rear deck lid flows into a wide oval-shaped grille with a latticed - type design matching the front grille. Set into the center of the rear bumper area are six lights including tail lights, stoplights, turn signals and back - up lights.

Also, neatly concealed in the rear grille is the center gas filler opening. Setting off the oval design is a chrome molding across the lower edge of the rear deck lid matching the bumper. This provides a circular effect to the entire oval - shaped rear end which is flared outwards to complement the front styling themes of the Continental.

Huge Windshield

For better vision, the driver looks out through a huge compound windshield with the upper part of the glass curvature extending to the roof.

Clustered in front of the driver are simply defined controls, masterfully set in an aircraft type instrumnt panel for easy visibility and accessibility. To the right of a sweeping semi - circular speedometer are warning lights for fuel, oil, door locks and lubrication control light. On the left side of the instrument panel is a single dial control air system, which provides ventilation, heating or defrosting merely by turning the dial to its proper setting.

Luxury appointments include five ash trays with lighters, a lined drawer - size glove compartment with light and a four - way power seat for maximum comfort. All Continentals have an automatic transmission, power steering, power windows, power brakes, and a remote controlled outside rear view mirror as standard equipment.

Roominess

The interior has been designed for roominess and is custom tailored. A total of 22 trim options are available including Bridge of Weir leathers from Scotland, all wool broadcloths and a variety of nylon - rayon materials in multiple weaves.

The Continental Mark III has a new engine with a compression ratio of 10.5 to 1 and a horsepower rating of 375 at 4800 rpm. Torque is rated at 490 foot pounds at 3100 rpm.

Standard safety features include: safety door latches, deep-dish steering wheel, padded instrument panel, padded sun visors, dual windshield washers and directional signals.

Swift Engine Change On Plane Is Developed

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Engine changes on a new turbojet airliner will require only 30 minutes — about the same time required for lubrication job and oil change for the family automobile.

Planes, offical publication of the Aircraft Industries Association, said a simple procedure of opening latches and disconnecting a minimum number of bolts and plugs frees the engine. A specially designed handling cart wheels the new engine into place and the connections are made again.

Four rows of ¾-inch concave squares, 160 in all, make up the revolutionary new grille of the 1958 Buick line.

Styling features of the new Plymouth include a bright new "Silver Dart" side moulding treatment, sweeping upward at the rear on Belvedere and Sport Suburban models to the tip of Plymouth's familiar high - flung directional stabilizer fins, with optional darts inserts of silvery anodized aluminum or compatible colors. Another distinctive new side trim is available also with Savoy and Plaza models.

Double header dual headlights are standard equipment on all new Plymouths, with the inner beams producing maximum long-range forward visibility and the outer pair providing supplemental fill - in light when used in combination, or efficient low - beam lighting when used alone. With filaments centered in all lamps, the new dual headlights produce the safest, most scientifically effective night lighting ever attained for automobiles.

New turn signals and parking lights are nestled in a triangular area above and between the headlights. Tail lights also are new, with circular reflectors lower in the fender and a silver - colored reflective wedge extending upward to the tip of the fin. The back-up light is centered beneath the rear bumper.

Lower Grille Redesigned

The lower front grille of the Plymouth for 1958 has been redesigned with a horizontal bar effect identical to the upper grille section.

New Plymouth colors for 1958 are generally softer and more elegant, with 15 solid color options and 44 two - tone combinations. Luxurious new textured fabrics are offered in all lines.

Six Engine Options

Plymouth's new engine lineup offers six power options, including the new 350-cubic - inch Golden Commando V-8 at extra cost, with a 10 to 1 compression ratio and a horsepower rating of 305. New fuel injection is available with this engine as a limited option.

Standard V-8 Plymouth engine for 1958 is the 318 - cubic - inch Fury V-800 with dual carburetion, a compression ratio of 9 to 1 and rated at 225 horsepower. Super Pak, with four - barrel carburetion is available as extra equipment, and a Dual Fury V-800 engine with eight - barrel carburetion is the standard power plant for the high performance Plymouth Fury car in 1958.

Standard on all six-cylinder models is the smooth and economical Power - Flow "5," at 230 cubic inches, 8 to 1 ratio and 132 horsepower.

New Power Steering

A compact new Constant Control power steering design, permitting location of the unit fully within the engine compartent, provides Plymouth's famous full - time effort - free power steering control for maximum safety.

Also new, and available on all Plymouth cars, is a Sure - Grip differential which transfers concentrated pulling power to the rear wheel with the best traction in rain, snow, ice, mud or sand for safer, surer momentum.

Standard equipment with V-8 Plymouths in 1958 is a new automatic economy choke, designed to save fuel in all driving situations where gasoline waste normally occurs, and particularly effective as a fuel - saver in short - trip city driving.

Air conditioned 1958 Plymouth cars have a new outlet for better distribution of cool, dehumidified air and a more powerful blower. Air conditioning is combined with the heating system of the Plymouth, with a single set of controls.

Top Features Retained

Torsion - Aire ride, Plymouth's top engineering advance of 1957 for non - sway riding comfort and dip - free starts and stops, is also an outstanding feature for Plymouth in 1958, as are the trouble-free push button automatic transmissions, TorqueFlite and PowerFlite, and Plymouth's sure, safe Total Contact brakes.

For added convenience and safety, the inside rear view mirror has been relocated, higher above the instrument panel and nearer to the eyes of the driver. In the new location it is less sensitive to changes in the driver's position and affords much improved rear-ward visibility.

Plymouth offers a choice of 19 V-8 and 17 six - cylinder models for 1958, including six Suburban station wagons with either V-8 or six - cylinder power plants. Optional with 4-door station wagons is the popular rear-facing third seat which folds into the floor when not in use.

Baltimore, Md. Irish Adopt Baltimore, Ire.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Irish of Baltimore, U. S. A., are going to say "Happy St. Patrick's Day" in a big way to the people of Baltimore, Ireland.

The United Irish Societies of Baltimore are collecting clothes here to send to the folks in their namesake across the water, as a gesture of good will.

Some of the clothing will be sent by air for delivery on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. The rest will be shipped by boat.

The idea stemmed from a trip last year to Ireland by a local businessman, Leo McCormick. Several months ago he received a letter from one of the good folks he met in the Irish Baltimore, a fishing and farming village in lower County Cork. Mrs. Rita Downey, the postmistress, asked for a few items of clothing "for the poor people about," espeically rainwear for the children.

Once they got thinking about it, McCormick and his friends in this area of more than a million people decided to see that all the 1,000 souls of Baltimore, Ireland, and its environs get a gift of clothing.

If there is an excess, McCormick said the rest will be transferred to charitable organizations in Ireland. But that will be up to the Irish Baltimoreans to decide.

McCormick emphasized this is primarily a good will gesture, not charity.

Throughout the years, he explained, people in the old Gaelic homeland have been sending souvenir items to friends and relatives in the United States for St. Patrick's Day celebrations. Everything from shamrocks to shillelagh.

"It has strictly been a one-way street," McCormick said.

Co - chairman with McCoormick is Frank Hennessy. Representatives of four Irish societies are serving on the committee. They include the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Freindly Sons of St. Patrick, Hibernian Society and the Emerald Isle Club.

They hope to make the folks of little Balitmore feel 'tis a grand day to be alive — especially on St. Patrick's Day.

TRIM FLOWING LINES—One of the 1958 Oldsmobile's most appealing features are its trim flowing lines as exemplified in this "98" convertible coupe with its tastefully designed decorative moulding on the side panels. From the new four-beam headlamps in the front to the sweeping twin blades on the rear fenders, the 1958 Oldsmobile is an entirely new automobile, and its various models will be seen Sunday and Monday at the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Dealers Association Show at Sears Town.

OVERALL APPEARANCE

Oldsmobile Has All Re-Styling

Oldsmobile has completely re-styled its 1958 model with an over-all appearance change that is embodied in the dramatic new "mobile look." The General Motors division also has introduced a true air suspension system, newly efficient and economical Rocket engines and an improved Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive.

Oldsmobile's styling changes include an entirely re-designed body, new rear quarter panels, a new front end with recess-type grille and four-beam headlamps, one-piece rear window with greater glass area and new rear deck and roof. The decorative trim on the side panels accentuates the length, flowing lines and low silhouette of the new Oldsmobile.

The Oldsmobile is handled here by Van-Trow-Olds Cadillac.

"Practically everything that you can see in the 1958 Oldsmobile is new," says Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors. "We believe this car is a worthy culmination of 60 years of progressive product leadership and a fitting car to help General Motors mark its Golden Anniversary in 1958."

3 Rocket Engines

Oldsmobile for 1958 offers three different Rocket engines in its three series of cars. The economy-priced Dynamic "88" series is powered by an engine with the new "econ-o-way" dual carburetor and is rated at 265 horsepower. The Super "88" and "98" series both have the Rocket engine with quadri-jet carburetor and developing 305 h.p.

Available as an optional extra on all series is the J-2 Rocket engine with three dual carburetors and generating 312 h.p. Compression ratio is 10 to 1 and displacement is 371 cu. in. in all three engines.

16 Body Styles

Oldsmobile has 16 body styles for 1958. The "98" series has four body types — two hardtops, Holiday sedan and Holiday coupe, a four-door sedan and a convertible. There are five body styles in the Super "88" Series — Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, four-door sedan, convertible coupe and Fiesta station wagon. The budget-priced Dynamic "88" Series offers a wide range of seven body selections—Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, two-door sedan, four-door sedan, Fiesta, Fiesta sedan and convertible.

Two Oldsmobile accessory innovations for 1958 are available to customers — a Trans-Portable all-transistor radio that can be completely removed from the car's instrument panel for use elsewhere and a Safety Sentinel speedometer warning that utilizes both a light and buzzer to warn when any pre-set speed is being exceeded. Both are optional at extra cost.

Overall Beauty

Oldsmobile's new 1958 styling styling starts at the four-beam headlamps in the front and extends to the new and larger taillights. Two headlamps are recessed and placed side-by-side in each front fender. The recess-type grille is composed of anodized aluminum louvers with an Oldsmobile emblem at the center. Rectangular parking lights are integrated in the outer ends of the front bumper.

Horizontal mouldings sweep the length of the front fenders and through the rear quarter panels and fenders. A thin roof line accents the low silhouette. The rear window is a single pane of glass with up to 28 per cent more area. Distinguishing the long rear fenders are flowing twin blades of chrome atop each fender crown.

Oldsmobile's New-Matic Ride is optional at extra cost on all series. This true air suspension system cushions the car on four chambers of compressed air, one at each wheel, to create an ultra-smooth ride, with less driver and passenger fatigue, according to Wolfram. It eliminates Completely any conventional leaf, coil or torsion-bar spring units with metal-to-metal contacts.

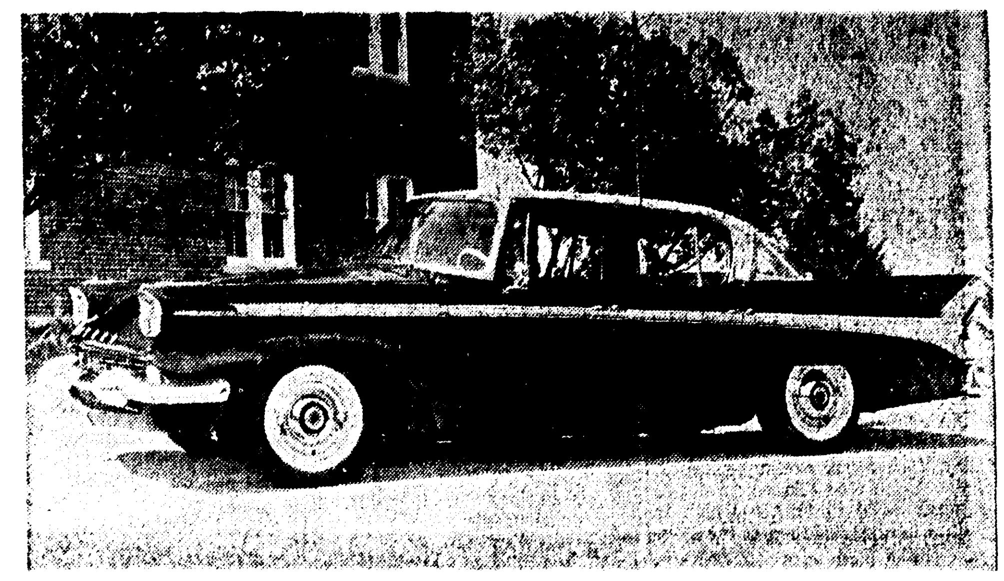
New Ride

An outstanding feature about the Oldsmobile-designed New-Matic Ride is the variable rate air spring system which cushions the shock of bumpy road conditions without excessive movement.

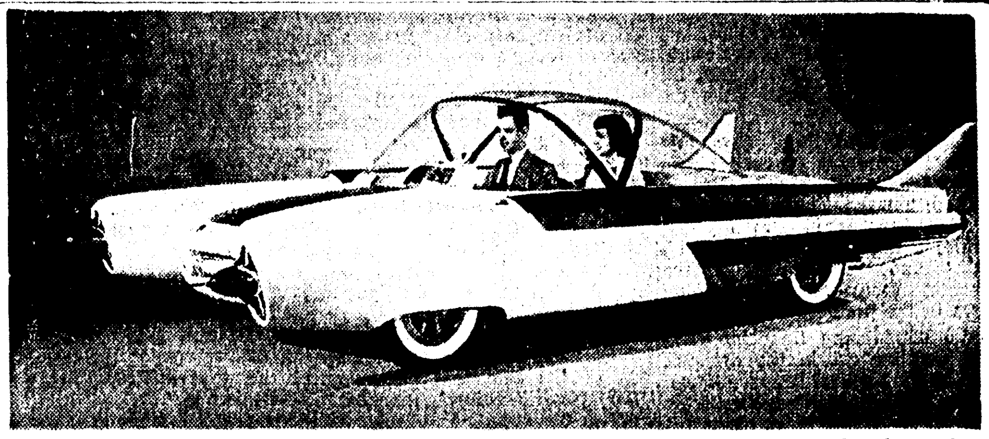
This unique air-ride design is a "closed" system. When new air is required, moisture, oil-vapor and dust are eliminated by a special air filter and oil filter which enable the valves to function properly under all operating conditions.

Cold weather operation of Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive has been improved through addition of two new automatic thermostats so that the transmission operates just as smoothly at low temperature as at operating temperature.

A new "safety-vee" steering wheel is recessed to the steering column and has new rectangular horn buttons located in the spokes, replacing the horn ring. The new instrument cluster is readily visible through this wheel.

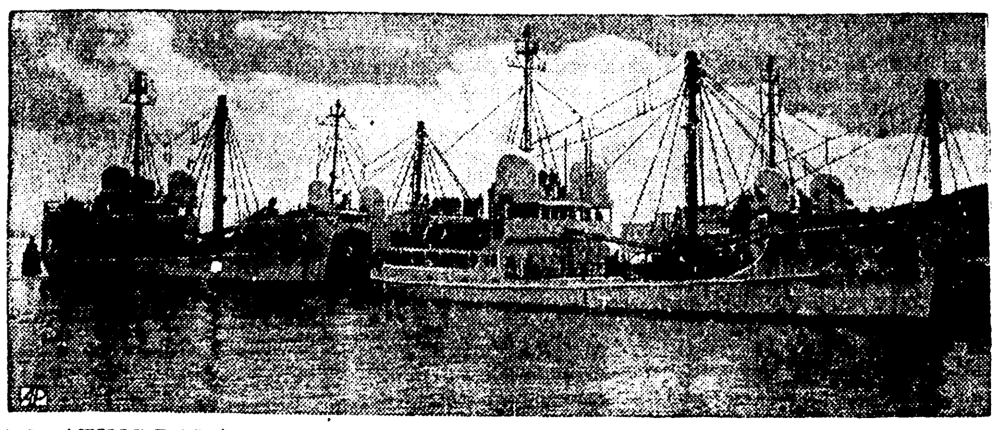


NEW 1958 PACKARD FOUR - DOOR SEDAN — This new automobile combines a long, low silhouette, emphasized by the long forward sloping hood, with tasteful interior fabrics which may be chosen almost to custom design. A long, graceful sweep of gold anodized aluminum accentuates the flowing lines of this new car. Power brakes and automatic transmission are standard equipment on all Packards. Luxury leather interior is standard on the Packard Hawk.



CAR OF FUTURE AT SHOW—This is a picture of the Ford FX-Atmos, an experimental dream car which will be exhibited at the Monroe-West Monroe New Car and Truck Franchise Dealers Association show here on Sunday and Monday.

New dual headlamps, standard equipment on all 1958 Chevrolets, provide up to 50 feet more illumination on the low beam.



FLOATING RADAR STATIONS: These telemetry ships help close the gap in the Air Force's ICBM missile test range in the South Atlantic and permit testing of the missiles over their full 5,000-mile range.

Floating Radar Stations Allow 5,000-Mile Tests

By BERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force has bridged the final gap in its 5,000-mile missile test range stretching from Florida across the Equator into the South Atlantic.

With the commissioning of five more ships as floating telemetry stations, the Air Force now stands ready to begin flight testing of intercontinental ballistic missiles over their full 5,000-mile range.

The first ICBM, the Atlas, has been flown successfully twice, but only for distances of about 600 miles.

Testing over ranges of increasing length will begin soon and will be followed late this year by the flight tests of a second greatly improved ICBM, the Titan.

For the first 2,000 miles of its missile range, the Air Force maintains a series of island-based radio and radar tracking stations—from Grand Bahama to St. Lucia.

Now installed on the second 3,000-mile leg between St. Lucia and Ascension are 11 ships, packed with radio receiving and recording equipment to gather and relay data transmitted by missiles under test. The six smaller ships of the force (32-foot beam, 178-foot length) have been operating since last fall in support of the Snark testing program. Five 340-foot 3,000-ton vessels have just arrived for duty on the ICBM impact end of the range.

Because of their most conspicuous feature — two rounded white radomes in either wing of the flying bridge — the ships have been dubbed "Marilyn Monroes."

The telemetry stations, afloat and island-based, are all operated under Air Force contract by Pan American World Airways. Directly in charge of the Air Force tracking fleet is F. Erich Bruhn, manager of Pan American's marine department. A retired Army colonel, he is an engineering graduate of the Colorado School of Mines.

Valued in Millions

Radio Corp. of America handles all the telemetry and other electronic technical work of the missile test range and has six technicians aboard each of the ships.

Replacement value of the 11 ships is extimated at 32 million dollars. Modifying them for their special function alone cost about seven million. The six smaller vessels are air conditioned throughout to protect the delicate instruments. The five larger ones are partially air conditioned.

The ships are based at Trinidad and Recife, Brazil, and move anywhere from 500 to 1,200 miles out from their home ports to take up stations for a missile shoot.

Exact Cause Of Headaches Is Unknown

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Although Americans consume some 7,000 tons of aspirin products a year to ease headaches, science lacks precise understanding of just what headaches are, a Rutgers University pharmocology professor says.

Dr. Morten J. Rodman of the university's college of pharmacy here says that physicians believe most headaches are caused by large arteries and veins on the surface of the brain. These "pull" on nerves which carry pain impulses.

Anything which enlarges, displaces or presses the blood vessels tends to stimulate pain -sensitive nerve endings, Rodman adds.

Contracted scalp and neck muscles, and irritated nasal and sinus membrances can also cause headaches according to current medical theory.

"Aspirin," notes Rodman, "acts to reduce the number of pain impulses transmitted.

"Opiates like codeine and morphine tend to reduce pain in the same way," he continues. "But... they may induce a 'so what' attitude."

Rodman says the 'so what' attitude fosters a sort of nonchalance toward pain.

As for migraine headaches, Rodman says there is a school of thought which holds that perfectionists and the insecure seem more likely to be effected.

"Drugs like caffeine and ergot are used in migraine cases," he continues. "These drugs constrict blood vessels, reduce the height of pulsations and reduce the strength of the vessels' pull on pain -sensitive nerves."

The Power - Flite automatic transmission is available on 1958 Dodge Coronet models. It is a two-speed transmission with torque converter.

A new disposable dry type filter is featured in the new air cleaner on all 1958 Buick models. The new element has a 98 per cent dust-filtering efficiency which results in a reduction in the amount of dirt entering the engine.

Plastic foam is used on the floor of the 1958 Buick Limited and Roadmaster to reduce road noise.

OVERALL APPEARANCE

Oldsmobile Has All Re-Styling

Oldsmobile has completely re-styled its 1958 model with an over-all appearance change that is embodied in the dramatic new "mobile look." The General Motors division also has introduced a true air suspension system, newly efficient and economical Rocket engines and an improved Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive.

Oldsmobile's styling changes include an entirely re-designed body, new rear quarter panels, a new front end with recess-type grille and four-beam headlamps, one-piece rear window with greater glass area and new rear deck and roof. The decorative trim on the side panels accentuates the length, flowing lines and low silhouette of the new Oldsmobile.

The Oldsmobile is handled here by Van-Trow-Olds Cadillac.

"Practically everything that you can see in the 1958 Oldsmobile is new," says Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors. "We believe this car is a worthy culmination of 60 years of progressive product leadership and a fitting car to help General Motors mark its Golden Anniversary in 1958."

3 Rocket Engines

Oldsmobile for 1958 offers three different Rocket engines in its three series of cars. The economy-priced Dynamic "88" series is powered by an engine with the new "econ-o-way" dual carburetor and is rated at 265 horsepower. The Super "88" and "98" series both have the Rocket engine with quadri-jet carburetor and developing 305 h.p.

Available as an optional extra on all series is the J-2 Rocket engine with three dual carburetors and generating 312 h.p. Compression ratio is 10 to 1 and displacement is 371 cu. in. in all three engines.

16 Body Styles

Oldsmobile has 16 body styles for 1958. The "98" series has four body types — two hardtops, Holiday sedan and Holiday coupe, a four-door sedan and a convertible. There are five body styles in the Super "88" Series — Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, four-door sedan, convertible coupe and Fiesta station wagon. The budget-priced Dynamic "88" Series offers a wide range of seven body selections—Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, two-door sedan, four-door sedan, Fiesta, Fiesta sedan and convertible.

Two Oldsmobile accessory innovations for 1958 are available to customers — a Trans-Portable all-transistor radio that can be completely removed from the car's instrument panel for use elsewhere and a Safety Sentinel speedometer warning that utilizes both a light and buzzer to warn when any pre-set speed is being exceeded. Both are optional at extra cost.

Overall Beauty

Oldsmobile's new 1958 styling styling starts at the four-beam headlamps in the front and extends to the new and larger taillights. Two headlamps are recessed and placed side-by-side in each front fender. The recess-type grille is composed of anodized aluminum louvers with an Oldsmobile emblem at the center. Rectangular parking lights are integrated in the outer ends of the front bumper.

Horizontal mouldings sweep the length of the front fenders and through the rear quarter panels and fenders. A thin roof line accents the low silhouette. The rear window is a single pane of glass with up to 28 per cent more area. Distinguishing the long rear fenders are flowing twin blades of chrome atop each fender crown.

Oldsmobile's New-Matic Ride is optional at extra cost on all series. This true air suspension system cushions the car on four chambers of compressed air, one at each wheel, to create an ultra-smooth ride, with less driver and passenger fatigue, according to Wolfram. It eliminates Completely any conventional leaf, coil or torsion-bar spring units with metal-to-metal contacts.

New Ride

An outstanding feature about the Oldsmobile-designed New-Matic Ride is the variable rate air spring system which cushions the shock of bumpy road conditions without excessive movement.

This unique air-ride design is a "closed" system. When new air is required, moisture, oil-vapor and dust are eliminated by a special air filter and oil filter which enable the valves to function properly under all operating conditions.

Cold weather operation of Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive has been improved through addition of two new automatic thermostats so that the transmission operates just as smoothly at low temperature as at operating temperature.

A new "safety-vee" steering wheel is recessed to the steering column and has new rectangular horn buttons located in the spokes, replacing the horn ring. The new instrument cluster is readily visible through this wheel.

New dual headlamps, standard equipment on all 1958 Chevrolets, provide up to 50 feet more illumination on the low beam.

Market Makes Its 3rd Best Rise In Year

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—The stock market made its third best advance of the year this week as talk about the recession and how to beat it reached a crescendo.

An estimated 4¼ billion dollars was added to the quoted value of New York Stock exchange issues. The Associated Press average jumped $3.40 to $162.60 which is within hailing distance of the Feb. 4 recovery high.

The rise broke a string of three straight weekly declines and lent hope to some Wall Street sentimentalists that a traditional spring rally is possible. A rise in stock prices has accompanied the rising sap in many a springtime but the outlook so far is glum for business and the economy this spring.

It should be noted that last spring's rally kept going until July when the market almost hit the bull market peak. Then the bottom fell out.

For the first three days this week the market plugged ahead moderately but stubbornly. It surged upward Thursday for its best daily rise in two months. Friday's mixed market held the gains made in a string of five straight daily advances dating back to the previous Friday.

The outstanding financial news was another cut in the discount rate by the Federal Reserve Board — the third since November. This new credit-easting move came after the market close Thursday.

Oils were helped by improved sentiment toward their industry situation and were market leaders. Steels came to the fore in mid-week on reports consumer inventories were reaching bottom.

Wide gains among active issues included Polaroid up 4⅝, Aluminum Ltd. up 3⅛, Standard Oil (New Jersey) up 3 and Chrysler, up 2.

The five most active issues this week were Royal Dutch up 2⅝ at 41, Shell Transport up 1⅛ at 18⅝, U. S. Steel up 2¼ at 61⅛, Bethelehem Steel up ⅞ at 40 and General Motors up 1¼ at 35¼.

U.S. government and corporate bonds lost ground this week.

TO RETAILERS HERE

Gas Price War Seen As Threat

A fast developing gas war here was described yesterday as disastrous for retail gasoline dealers in Ouachita Parish.

Fred Parrish, president of the Ouachita Retail Gasoline Dealers Association, said the present price war is causing local retail dealers to lose money to the point that "many are considering going out of business if the current trend continues."

Two local officials of the Louisiana Oil Marketers Association expressed a similar view. James W. Moore, immediate past president and now a OMA director, and John Sherrouse, Jr., vice - president, agreed that retail dealers suffer the results of a gasoline war more than any other segment of the industry.

"Instead of a reduction, the retail dealers need more margin in face of today's operating costs," the two LOMA executives said. In the past month the retail price of regular gasoline has dipped from 34.5 cents per gallon to 27.9 only one cent of this reduction came as a result of normal decrease at the wholesale level.

Mistaken Idea

Parrish pointed out that many persons have the mistaken idea that the fast fury of reductions at various gasoline stations are a result only of reduced wholesale prices. "Actually the major portion of the reduction has come from retail dealers' margins," Parrish declared.

"Many people wonder who started the present gas war," according to Parrish. "The answer is," he said, "the major oil companies started it by their subsidy program whereby dealers were required to reduce their margin 2½ cents per gallon while being subsidized originally 2-10 of a cent per gallon from suppliers. The subsidy has now been increased to 2.2 cents per gallon and the dealer's 2½ cent loss has become a permanent thing."

Subsidy Unwanted

He said local retailers "did not want the subsidy nor did they want a reduction in already meager margins. Many held off reducing their prices and refused the subsidy trying to prevent the present price war," he declared. "However, competitors soon forced these dealers to reduce their prices and lose 2½ cents per gallon of their normal profit."

"All dealers welcome any reductions that originate on the wholesale level by the major suppliers but do not want a subsidy program.

"Local dealers are certainly in favor of a price drop to the motoring public," Parrish declared.

"However, we feel it should be at the expense of the major oil companies whose profits have continued to climb rather than at the expense of dealers whose profits have continued to dwindle," according to Parrish.

Parrish said the normal retail dealer's profit of 7 to 7½ cents per gallon is too small to offset station rental charges, increased cost of labor, utilities, insurance and other overhead.

Profit Margin

Under present price war conditions, Parrish said, retailers are trying to operate on a 4 to 5 cent per gallon profit before overhead. "It has become necessary to reduce personnel and cut down on the general overhead." Therefore, Parrish said, "many dealers cannot render the usual free service that the motoring public is entitled to."

"It is the opinion of the majority of the retail dealers that the major oil companies should withdraw their subsidy program and let free enterprise prevail," Parrish declared.

Moore and Sherrouse, the LOMA officials who issued statements on the perils of a gas war, pointed out that a LOMA board meeting in New Orleans last week "thoroughly discussed the current critical situation."

Monroe, Ruston

They said the Monroe and Ruston areas, at present, are the "worst hit areas."

In Shreveport, they said, dealers suffered a bad gasoline price war last year and New Orleans dealers now are attempting to recover from a city-wide price war.

LOMA officials and directors blamed the present critical situation in marketing of petroleum products on the following conditions:

1. Oversupply of refined gasolint.
2. Overbuilding of service stations.
3. Underhanded marketing practices by some major oil companies in their efforts to combat independent competition.
4. Belief by some in the industry that price alone, rather than good dealers, service and quality products will get thtm their share of the market.
5. Selling of gasoline to commercial accounts by major oil companies cheaper than they will sell to their branded retail dealers.

A national consumer magazine has honored Golden Guernsey Milk, national breed milk distributed in Monroe by Clover Leaf Dairy Products.

The Peterborough, N.H., headquarters of the firm has announced that its nationally-trademarked product has been awarded Good Housekeeping Magazine's Guarantee Seal.

Before awarding the Guarantee Seal, Good Housekeeping gave Golden Guernsey and many of its distributors like those in Monroe an extensive series of inspections.

MONROE STEAM LAUNDRY

Monroe Steam Laundry at 424 South Grand Avenue, received special recognition at the professional laundry industry's national convention in Chicago recently.

The convention is sponsored by the national trade association, American Institute of Laundering, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year. The local business has been a member of the national association for more than 50 years, and its active membership entitles it to become a member of the coveted Golden Circle Club.

Forces Of Recession Attacked

NEW YORK (AP)—The forces of recession were under attack on three broad fronts this week.

Federal Reserve authorities spearheaded the assault. They gave the nation's federal reserve banks the go-ahead to trim discount rates another notch. This is the interest charged on loans to commercial banks.

The aim: to help business by making it cheaper for you to borrow money, whether you need it for your own business or for buying consumer goods.

Other battle strategy taking shape in Washington was aimed at unemployment, which rose to a 16-year high of 5,100,000 last month.

The Senate cleared the decks for fast action on an emergency aid - to - housing program. The measure would reduce down payments on homes financed with government-insured mortgages. It would make GI mortgages more attractive to banks. It would provide a $1,850,000,000 kitty which the government could use for buying mortgages that banks and other lending institutions might not want.

Congressional leaders said the bill would enable contractors to build 200,000 to 400,000 more houses this year than they would have started otherwise. Jobs would be created for hundreds of thousands of workers.

Another job - creating measure calls for appropriation of extra funds for the federal highway program.

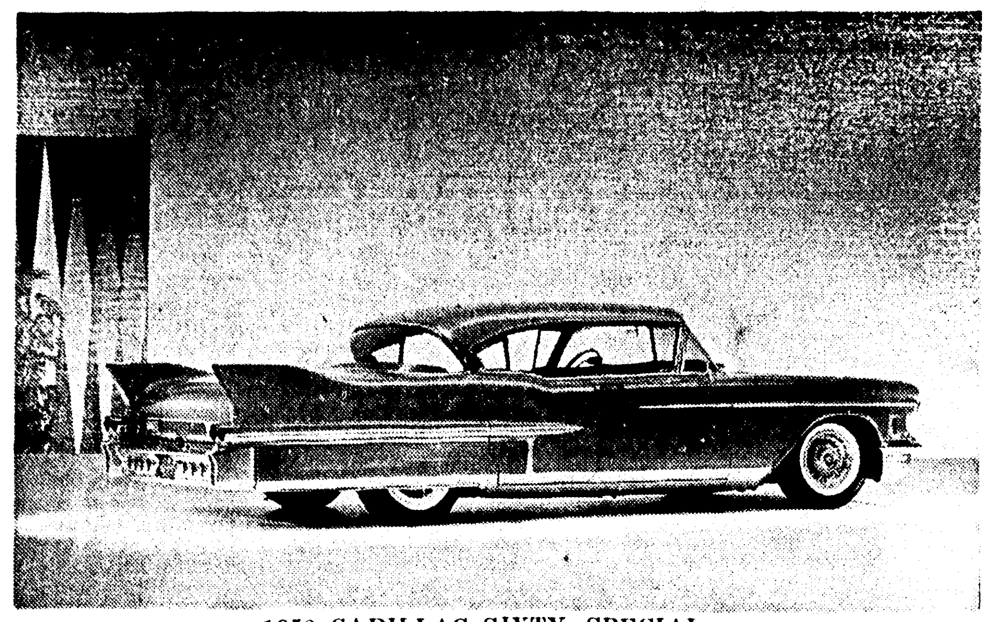
These and other pump-priming efforts cheered Wall Street this week.

Other encouraging signs: machine tool builders reported a pickup in new business. Reports on retail trade showed considerable improvement — notably a marked pickup in new car sales.

Not so encouraging were more layoffs by some auto manufacturers, railroads, and companies making washing machines, oil field equipment, and aircraft parts.

General Electric Co.'s home laundry department at Louisville, Ky., will shut down for one week starting March 1. Nearly 2,000 workers will be out.

With consumer demand still lagging far behind industry's capacity to produce, businessmen sharpened their sales weapons. Everywhere you looked the accent was on the "hard sell."



1958 CADILLAC SIXTY SPECIAL

NEW LOOK

Cadillac Has All Late Refinements

The 1958 Cadillac has a new look of luxury, both inside and out.

Accounting for this 1958 look are a new "going away" tail fin, the four headlamp system, sweeping low lines, a dramatically different over - all profile and the finest interiors ever offered by Cadillac.

Included in the 12 models is a new extended deck sedan in the popular 62 Series, according to James M. Roche, Cadillac general manager and vice president of General Motors, whose agent in the Twin Cities area is Van-Trow Olds Cadillac Co.

The big engineering news for Cadillac in 1958 involves suspension advances. These advances result in better and softer ride and improved control and handling.

Suspension

The basic factor in the improved suspension is the use of four - link rear suspension on all models. By using this new linkage, the Cadillac is adaptable to either coil spring suspension, which is standard, or optional air suspension.

Styling - wise, Cadillac presents a long, low sleek appearance. Responsible for this broad - shouldered, longer look are the unique new grille which is inset with jewel - like protrusions, a longer hood, wider and longer fenders, the addition of rear ventipane windows in four - door models and the new "going away" tail fin.

The extended deck sedan is a companion car to the 62 sedan, with more trunk room and an additional 8.5 inches in over - all length. Like all other closed models, with the exception of the eight-passenger limousines, this new model is a hardtop.

Basic Styling

Again this year the Eldorado Biarritz convertible and Eldorado Seville Coupe retain their own distinctive styling, inside and out. The exterior differences result from the inboard fin treatment of the rear quarter panel and the wrap - around three - section bumper. A new bumper bar is added to the 1958 Eldorados and vertical molding strips are included between the outer bumper sections and the middle portion which houses the license plate.

"Interiors on these two distinctive automobiles are the finest we've ever offered," Roche points out. The Biarritz features eight Cape Buffalo grain and metallic finish leathers. The Seville interiors are available in both Cape Buffalo grain leather and in combinations of leather and crest cloth which is made from nylon faced material with lurex metallic thread.

Fleetwood

Several distinctive refinements are made to the Fleetwood 60 Special Sedan for 1958.

The 60 Special attains new heights of interior luxuriousness. There are 13 interior combinations with this model, including three wool broadcloth options in a strikingly handsome biscuit and button combination.

Twenty - four exterior colors are available on all models other than the Eldorado Brougham. Five of these are long - life, high-lustre acrylic paints which are standard with the Eldorado Biarritz and Eldorado Seville and available as options on other models. The Brougham has 15 distinctive acrylic colors of its own.

Engineering - wise, 1958 is another big year for Cadillac in the advancement of suspension, ride and handling. These are factors which reflect directly in comfort, safety and ease of operation to the owners.

Mechanically

The big item is the development of four - link rear suspension as standard equipment. This linkage was introduced on the Eldorado Brougham. It provides better control on rough roads and features a high roll center which results in better cornering and increased stability.

To go with the new linkage, coil springs are featured at each rear wheel. These coil springs eliminate the friction variable of leaf springs.

This combination permitted Cadillac engineers to make modifications to the tubular center X-frame, introduced to the industry last year. These modifications permitted the moving of frame members to the outside of the body.

In addition to the elimination of the friction variable of leaf springs and permitting frame modification, the coil springs are easily interchangeable with the optional air suspension system offered this year by Cadillac. It remains standard on the Brougham.

Air Suspension

This air suspension system features air springs at each wheel and a levelizing system which maintains the car at a constant height regardless of road or load conditions.

Additionally, the 1958 Cadillac system includes a lift valve feature whereby the driver can pull the lift control handle and the car raises an additional five inches for ease of traversing steep ramps or driveways.

Air suspension, it will be remembered, was pioneered for the passenger car industry on the Brougham.

Another engineering achievement this year is the huge-flat-floor trunk.

Although a definite styling feature, the standard four headlamp system is a major engineering development. It provides vastly improved night illumination, both in city and country driving.

Several refinements and changes are included in Cadillac's 1958 high compression V-8 engine. Two engines are available, a 335 horsepower version, standard in the Eldorados, and a 310 horsepower engine in the remainder of the line. The 335 horsepower "Q" engine is available as a customer option in the remainder of the line. It utilizes three two-barrel carburetors.

PHILADELPHIA TO SIGN

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Philadelphia soon will sign a new 20-year contract for the Tennessee Valley Authority to supply electricity to Philadelphia's municipally - owned system. Mayor Clayton Lewis said actual signing awaits arrival of TVA officials.

DAIRY HONORED

A national consumer magazine has honored Golden Guernsey Milk, national breed milk distributed in Monroe by Clover Leaf Dairy Products.

The Peterborough, N.H., headquarters of the firm has announced that its nationally-trademarked product has been awarded Good Housekeeping Magazine's Guarantee Seal.

Before awarding the Guarantee Seal, Good Housekeeping gave Golden Guernsey and many of its distributors like those in Monroe an extensive series of inspections.

MONROE STEAM LAUNDRY

Monroe Steam Laundry at 424 South Grand Avenue, received special recognition at the professional laundry industry's national convention in Chicago recently.

The convention is sponsored by the national trade association, American Institute of Laundering, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year. The local business has been a member of the national association for more than 50 years, and its active membership entitles it to become a member of the coveted Golden Circle Club.

Forces Of Recession Attacked

NEW YORK (AP)—The forces of recession were under attack on three broad fronts this week.

Federal Reserve authorities spearheaded the assault. They gave the nation's federal reserve banks the go-ahead to trim discount rates another notch. This is the interest charged on loans to commercial banks.

The aim: to help business by making it cheaper for you to borrow money, whether you need it for your own business or for buying consumer goods.

Other battle strategy taking shape in Washington was aimed at unemployment, which rose to a 16-year high of 5,100,000 last month.

The Senate cleared the decks for fast action on an emergency aid - to - housing program. The measure would reduce down payments on homes financed with government-insured mortgages. It would make GI mortgages more attractive to banks. It would provide a $1,850,000,000 kitty which the government could use for buying mortgages that banks and other lending institutions might not want.

Congressional leaders said the bill would enable contractors to build 200,000 to 400,000 more houses this year than they would have started otherwise. Jobs would be created for hundreds of thousands of workers.

Another job - creating measure calls for appropriation of extra funds for the federal highway program.

These and other pump-priming efforts cheered Wall Street this week.

Other encouraging signs: machine tool builders reported a pickup in new business. Reports on retail trade showed considerable improvement — notably a marked pickup in new car sales.

Not so encouraging were more layoffs by some auto manufacturers, railroads, and companies making washing machines, oil field equipment, and aircraft parts.

General Electric Co.'s home laundry department at Louisville, Ky., will shut down for one week starting March 1. Nearly 2,000 workers will be out.

With consumer demand still lagging far behind industry's capacity to produce, businessmen sharpened their sales weapons. Everywhere you looked the accent was on the "hard sell."

1958 CADILLAC SIXTY SPECIAL

NEW LOOK

Cadillac Has All Late Refinements

The 1958 Cadillac has a new look of luxury, both inside and out.

Accounting for this 1958 look are a new "going away" tail fin, the four headlamp system, sweeping low lines, a dramatically different over - all profile and the finest interiors ever offered by Cadillac.

Included in the 12 models is a new extended deck sedan in the popular 62 Series, according to James M. Roche, Cadillac general manager and vice president of General Motors, whose agent in the Twin Cities area is Van-Trow Olds Cadillac Co.

The big engineering news for Cadillac in 1958 involves suspension advances. These advances result in better and softer ride and improved control and handling.

Suspension

The basic factor in the improved suspension is the use of four - link rear suspension on all models. By using this new linkage, the Cadillac is adaptable to either coil spring suspension, which is standard, or optional air suspension.

Styling - wise, Cadillac presents a long, low sleek appearance. Responsible for this broad - shouldered, longer look are the unique new grille which is inset with jewel - like protrusions, a longer hood, wider and longer fenders, the addition of rear ventipane windows in four - door models and the new "going away" tail fin.

The extended deck sedan is a companion car to the 62 sedan, with more trunk room and an additional 8.5 inches in over - all length. Like all other closed models, with the exception of the eight-passenger limousines, this new model is a hardtop.

Basic Styling

Again this year the Eldorado Biarritz convertible and Eldorado Seville Coupe retain their own distinctive styling, inside and out. The exterior differences result from the inboard fin treatment of the rear quarter panel and the wrap - around three - section bumper. A new bumper bar is added to the 1958 Eldorados and vertical molding strips are included between the outer bumper sections and the middle portion which houses the license plate.

"Interiors on these two distinctive automobiles are the finest we've ever offered," Roche points out. The Biarritz features eight Cape Buffalo grain and metallic finish leathers. The Seville interiors are available in both Cape Buffalo grain leather and in combinations of leather and crest cloth which is made from nylon faced material with lurex metallic thread.

Fleetwood

Several distinctive refinements are made to the Fleetwood 60 Special Sedan for 1958.

The 60 Special attains new heights of interior luxuriousness. There are 13 interior combinations with this model, including three wool broadcloth options in a strikingly handsome biscuit and button combination.

Twenty - four exterior colors are available on all models other than the Eldorado Brougham. Five of these are long - life, high-lustre acrylic paints which are standard with the Eldorado Biarritz and Eldorado Seville and available as options on other models. The Brougham has 15 distinctive acrylic colors of its own.

Engineering - wise, 1958 is another big year for Cadillac in the advancement of suspension, ride and handling. These are factors which reflect directly in comfort, safety and ease of operation to the owners.

Mechanically

The big item is the development of four - link rear suspension as standard equipment. This linkage was introduced on the Eldorado Brougham. It provides better control on rough roads and features a high roll center which results in better cornering and increased stability.

To go with the new linkage, coil springs are featured at each rear wheel. These coil springs eliminate the friction variable of leaf springs.

This combination permitted Cadillac engineers to make modifications to the tubular center X-frame, introduced to the industry last year. These modifications permitted the moving of frame members to the outside of the body.

In addition to the elimination of the friction variable of leaf springs and permitting frame modification, the coil springs are easily interchangeable with the optional air suspension system offered this year by Cadillac. It remains standard on the Brougham.

Air Suspension

This air suspension system features air springs at each wheel and a levelizing system which maintains the car at a constant height regardless of road or load conditions.

Additionally, the 1958 Cadillac system includes a lift valve feature whereby the driver can pull the lift control handle and the car raises an additional five inches for ease of traversing steep ramps or driveways.

Air suspension, it will be remembered, was pioneered for the passenger car industry on the Brougham.

Another engineering achievement this year is the huge-flat-floor trunk.

Although a definite styling feature, the standard four headlamp system is a major engineering development. It provides vastly improved night illumination, both in city and country driving.

Several refinements and changes are included in Cadillac's 1958 high compression V-8 engine. Two engines are available, a 335 horsepower version, standard in the El dorados, and a 310 horsepower engine in the remainder of the line. The 335 horsepower "Q" engine is available as a customer option in the remainder of the line. It utilizes three two-barrel carburetors.

PHILADELPHIA TO SIGN

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Philadelphia soon will sign a new 20-year contract for the Tennessee Valley Authority to supply electricity to Philadelphia's municipally - owned system. Mayor Clayton Lewis said actual signing awaits arrival of TVA officials.

All This, And Reducing Too

NEW YORK — Now women can reduce under the hair dryer.

A beauty shop here (Antoine's at Saks Fifth Avenue) has installed pink plastic massage cushions in chairs under hair dryers. The shop claims the cushions increase blood circulation, take off inches and soothe tired muscles.

For the client who does not have a manicure, there's an extra gadget for reducing double chins. Getting a manicure and massage at the same time would be a little difficult.

Linda Claire Malone Becomes The Bride Of Albert Lamar Haddox

The chapel of the First Baptst Church in Farmerville was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Friday evening, February 21st, at seven o'clock, when Miss Linda Clarie Malone, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Malone of Farmerville, became the bride of Mr. Albert Lamar Haddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bryon Haddox of Oak Grove.

Rev. Luther B. Hall, pastor, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Leon Walls, of Schlater, Mississippi, uncle of the bridegroom, in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The couple pledged their vows before an altar decorated with floor standards of white stock, overflowing with greenery, and palm trees. White cathedral tapers in branched candelabra cast a soft glow over the artistic setting. White satin ribbon bows marked family pews. Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, Miss Billie Jean Roan, played selections of appropriate nuptial music and accompanied Miss Nancy May Lee, who sang "Because" and at the end of the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the radiant bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white nylon tulle and Venetian lace, which was fashioned with bodice of solid lace and high stand-up flattering collar. Tiny white satin buttons were used down the back of the fitted bodice and the long sleeves which tapered to points over her hands. Alternating ruffles of lace and tulle formed the bouffant skirt which swept into a slight chapel train. Her veil of finger tip length was of imported illusion attached to a double crown, and edged with matching lace of the dress. She carried a bouquet of purple orchids surrounded with feathered white carnations, cascaded with nylon net pouffs and velvet leaves studded with tiny pearls. The traditional something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue was carried out by the bride.

Miss Claudette Jones, maid of honor, wore waltz length dress of blue melattic brocade, fashioned with bouffant skirt and matching cummerbund, studded with rhinestones. Miss Faye Taylor, bridesmaid, wore pink, identical as the maid of honor. They both wore long matching lace mitts, and caps of blue and pink velvet with tiny velvet leaves studded in rhinestones. Each carried nosegays of pink and rose carnations, outlined with green velvet leaves and net pouffs.

Mr. George Albritton of Farmerville served as best man. Ushers and candlelighters were Mr. Jackie Haye of Farmerville and Mr. James Allen Blackstock of Freeport, Texas, cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Malone chose a becoming two piece dress of beige linen, with cowl neckline. Her hat was of matching straw cloth, and she wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Haddox, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a blue linen sheath model, with pink flowered hat and pink carnation corsage.

Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Malone entertained with a reception in the Blue Room of the church, which was beautifully decorated with floor baskets of white flowers and burning white tapers. Receiving with the bride and groom were the mothers and wedding attendants.

The refreshment table, covered with a handsome imported embroidered cut work linen cloth, was centered with a gorgeous arrangement of pink rose buds and pink snapdragons in an antique brass and crystal epergne. At one end of the table stood a crystal punch bowl, presided over by Miss Eddie Jo Meeks and at the opposite end was the beautiful embossed tiered wedding cake, served by Miss Bertie Jean Ludwig, to the guests after the bride and groom cut the first slice. Miss Lydia Hall invited the guests to register in the bride's book at a small table, featuring a bridal decoration and illuminated by an anniversary candle. Miss Elaine Stone of West Monroe and Miss Billie Jean Roan furnished soft music.

Assisting in courtesies were: Mrs. Edward Everett, Jr., Mrs. Ben M. Lee, Mrs. Jerd Tucker and Mrs. Roy Phillips.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was wearing an early spring tailored suit of black and white tweed, white hat and gloves and patent accessories. A purple orchid was pinned at her shoulder.

On their return, they will be at home in Oak Grove, where he is employed.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Haddox of Oak Grove entertained the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner on Thursday evening in the Blue Room at the First Baptist Church, following the rehearsal in the chapel.

The tables were overlaid in white damask and centrally adorned with beautiful arrangements of white chrysanthemums, flanked by burning white candles in crystal holders. A bridal theme was carried out in all appointments.

The young couple chose this time to present their attendants with beautiful gold charm bracelets and handsome jeweled cuff links.

Mrs. Edward Everett, Jr. and Mrs. Roy Phillips assisted the hosts in extending courtesies.

"Rocket" Look Promised For 1958 Fashions

By MARY PRIME
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Fashions points the way to the "rocket" look for 1958. We'll be as sleek and shiny as a guided missile from the tips of our hats to the pointed toes of our shoes.

"The sack will be the main silhouette in '58, but it will look like a rocket instead of a rag," said Eleanor Lambert, spokesman for the New York Couture Group.

"Chemises still will have a smooth, built-up shape. You may think it's a revival of the 1920's, but it's only super related. Fashion history doesn't repeat itself," Miss Lambert said.

Besides the chemise, semi-fitted and full-skirted styles will be seen. "But the petticoat is dead. Skirts will be tightly sashed at the waist but not flared as much," she predicted.

Coats are expected to be straight and narrow or full and swinging, but not fitted.

Hemlines will go up to at least 16 inches from the floor. (Last year they got as high as 15 inches.)

Taller Hats

Hats will get taller.

"With skirts shorter, hats must go up," reported the Millinery Institute of America. "When you wear a chemise, you need good legs, a good face, and a good hat to frame the face."

There's a 1920's look to new bonnets — high crowns, deep brims. Turbans will measure as high as 10 inches at the crown. Top styles will be turbans, rollers, and Watteau types with brims rising sharply at the back.

More color will show in hats, from mossy green to citrus shades. But black, navy and the neutrals also will find favor.

Fabric hats will still be good, but straws will predominate, either in rough or fine, smooth textures. Veils add a new patterned look to straws or are worn as scarves wrapped around the hat and tied at the throat.

Colored hosiery gets the nod again this year. Spring shades include crushed mint, blue chip, navy, pink and turuoise.

No Spikes

The pointed-toed shoe is another hold-over from 1957. This year, heels will be even lower for evening as well as day time.

"And no spiked heels," said the National Shoe Institute.

We'll see the T-strap in new forms: multi-colored on a basic color shoe, looped, or with vamp strips across the T.

The open-toed shoe also will be back "because the nail polish people have put sex on toenails. The shoe industry can't fight it," said Helene O'Hara, fashion director of a leather company (Allied Kid).

Look for lots of color in shoes, the two-color shoe, painted vamps, white soles, colored linings and "red in everything."

Oyster Casserole For Lenten Meal

NEW YORK — A deviled oyster casserole makes a good company dish during Lent.

Arrange layers of toasted bread cubes, oysters and celery alternately in a casserole. Make a medium-thick white sauce and season with paprika, dry mustard, horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and a dash of lemon juice to sharpen the flavor. Pour the sauce over the oyster combination and top with bread crumbs. Bake until bubbly and brown on top.

New Ways With A Vegetable

NEW YORK — Peas can be a versatile vegetable and lend themselves to party fare. Try serving them in these new ways:

Saute a shredded onion in butter and pour the onion-butter on peas.

Saute sliced almonds, Brazil nuts, or bread crumbs in butter and toss with hot frozen or canned peas.

Season them with finely chopped chives or green onions.

Serve them with rice or mushrooms.

To keep heel straps from slipping, wrap a piece of cellophane tape, sticky side out, around the strap. It clings to the hose and isn't visible.

Linda Claire Malone Becomes The Bride Of Albert Lamar Haddox

The chapel of the First Baptst Church in Farmerville was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Friday evening, February 21st, at seven o'clock, when Miss Linda Clarie Malone, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Malone of Farmerville, became the bride of Mr. Albert Lamar Haddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bryon Haddox of Oak Grove.

Rev. Luther B. Hall, pastor, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Leon Walls, of Schlater, Mississippi, uncle of the bridegroom, in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The couple pledged their vows before an altar decorated with floor standards of white stock, overflowing with greenery, and palm trees. White cathedral tapers in branched candelabra cast a soft glow over the artistic setting. White satin ribbon bows marked family pews. Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, Miss Billie Jean Roan, played selections of appropriate nuptial music and accompanied Miss Nancy May Lee, who sang "Because" and at the end of the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the radiant bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white nylon tulle and Venetian lace, which was fashioned with bodice of solid lace and high stand-up flattering collar. Tiny white satin buttons were used down the back of the fitted bodice and the long sleeves which tapered to points over her hands. Alternating ruffles of lace and tulle formed the bouffant skirt which swept into a slight chapel train. Her veil of finger tip length was of imported illusion attached to a double crown, and edged with matching lace of the dress. She carried a bouquet of purple orchids surrounded with feathered white carnations, cascaded with nylon net pouffs and velvet leaves studded with tiny pearls. The traditional something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue was carried out by the bride.

Miss Claudette Jones, maid of honor, wore waltz length dress of blue melattic brocade, fashioned with bouffant skirt and matching cummerbund, studded with rhinestones. Miss Faye Taylor, bridesmaid, wore pink, identical as the maid of honor. They both wore long matching lace mitts, and caps of blue and pink velvet with tiny velvet leaves studded in rhinestones. Each carried nosegays of pink and rose carnations, outlined with green velvet leaves and net pouffs.

Mr. George Albritton of Farmerville served as best man. Ushers and candlelighters were Mr. Jackie Haye of Farmerville and Mr. James Allen Blackstock of Freeport, Texas, cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Malone chose a becoming two piece dress of beige linen, with cowl neckline. Her hat was of matching straw cloth, and she wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Haddox, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a blue linen sheath model, with pink flowered hat and pink carnation corsage.

Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Malone entertained with a reception in the Blue Room of the church, which was beautifully decorated with floor baskets of white flowers and burning white tapers. Receiving with the bride and groom were the mothers and wedding attendants.

The refreshment table, covered with a handsome imported embroidered cut work linen cloth, was centered with a gorgeous arrangement of pink rose buds and pink snapdragons in an antique brass and crystal epergne. At one end of the table stood a crystal punch bowl, presided over by Miss Eddie Jo Meeks and at the opposite end was the beautiful embossed tiered wedding cake, served by Miss Bertie Jean Ludwig, to the guests after the bride and groom cut the first slice. Miss Lydia Hall invited the guests to register in the bride's book at a small table, featuring a bridal decoration and illuminated by an aniversary candle. Miss Elaine Stone of West Monroe and Miss Billie Jean Roan furnished soft music.

Assisting in courtesies were: Mrs. Edward Everett, Jr., Mrs. Ben M. Lee, Mrs. Jerd Tucker and Mrs. Roy Phillips.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride was wearing an early spring tailored suit of black and white tweed, white hat and gloves and patent accessories. A purple orchid was pinned at her shoulder.

On their return, they will be at home in Oak Grove, where he is employed.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Haddox of Oak Grove entertained the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner on Thursday evening in the Blue Room at the First Baptist Church, following the rehearsal in the chapel.

The tables were overlaid in white damask and centrally adorned with beautiful arrangements of white chrysanthemums, flanked by burning white candles in crystal holders. A bridal theme was carried out in all appointments.

The young couple chose this time to present their attendants with beautiful gold charm bracelets and handsome jeweled cuff links.

Mrs. Edward Everett, Jr. and Mrs. Roy Phillips assisted the hosts in extending courtesies.

"Rocket" Look Promised For 1958 Fashions

By MARY PRIME
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Fashions points the way to the "rocket" look for 1958. We'll be as sleek and shiny as a guided missile from the tips of our hats to the pointed toes of our shoes.

"The sack will be the main silhouette in '58, but it will look like a rocket instead of a rag," said Eleanor Lambert, spokesman for the New York Couture Group.

"Chemises still will have a smooth, built-up shape. You may think it's a revival of the 1920's, but it's only super related. Fashion history doesn't repeat itself," Miss Lambert said.

Besides the chemise, semi-fitted and full-skirted styles will be seen. "But the petticoat is dead. Skirts will be tightly sashed at the waist but not flared as much," she predicted.

Coats are expected to be straight and narrow or full and swinging, but not fitted.

Hemlines will go up to at least 16 inches from the floor. (Last year they got as high as 15 inches.)

Taller Hats

Hats will get taller.

"With skirts shorter, hats must go up," reported the Millinery Institute of America. "When you wear a chemise, you need good legs, a good face, and a good hat to frame the face."

There's a 1920's look to new bonnets — high crowns, deep brims. Turbans will measure as high as 10 inches at the crown. Top styles will be turbans, rollers, and Watteau types with brims rising sharply at the back.

More color will show in hats, from mossy green to citrus shades. But black, navy and the neutrals also will find favor.

Fabric hats will still be good, but straws will predominate, either in rough or fine, smooth textures. Veils add a new patterned look to straws or are worn as scarves wrapped around the hat and tied at the throat.

Colored hosiery gets the nod again this year. Spring shades include crushed mint, blue chip, navy, pink and turuoise.

No Spikes

The pointed-toed shoe is another hold-over from 1957. This year, heels will be even lower for evening as well as day time.

"And no spiked heels," said the National Shoe Institute.

We'll see the T-strap in new forms: multi-colored on a basic color shoe, looped, or with vamp strips across the T.

The open-toed shoe also will be back "because the nail polish people have put sex on toenails. The shoe industry can't fight it," said Helene O'Hara, fashion director of a leather company (Allied Kid).

Look for lots of color in shoes, the two-color shoe, painted vamps, white soles, colored linings and "red in everything."

Oyster Casserole For Lenten Meal

NEW YORK — A deviled oyster casserole makes a good company dish during Lent.

Arrange layers of toasted bread cubes, oysters and celery alternately in a casserole. Make a medium-thick white sauce and season with paprika, dry mustard, horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and a dash of lemon juice to sharpen the flavor. Pour the sauce over the oyster combination and top with bread crumbs. Bake until bubbly and brown on top.

New Ways With A Vegetable

NEW YORK — Peas can be a versatile vegetable and lend themselves to party fare. Try serving them in these new ways:

Saute a shredded onion in butter and pour the onion-butter on peas.

Saute sliced almonds, Brazil nuts, or bread crumbs in butter and toss with hot frozen or canned peas.

Season them with finely chopped chives or green onions.

Serve them with rice or mushrooms.

To keep heel straps from slipping, wrap a piece of cellophane tape, sticky side out, around the strap. It clings to the hose and isn't visible.

Theta Upsilon Alumnae Honor Field Secretary With March Luncheon

Theta Upsilon Alumnae honored their Field Secretary, Miss Carol Michaelson of Toledo, Ohio, with a luncheon on March 1 at the East Ridge Country Club in Shreveport.

The long luncheon table was beautifully decorated with yellow and white, the display colors of the sorority. An oval spring arrangement of white shasta daisies, yellow jonquil queen Anne's lace and fern was at one end of the table. From this focal point came two wide satin ribbons on which Theta Upsilon was written in gold. Miss Michaelson's corsage was of iris, the sorority flower.

After luncheon Mrs. Herschel Downs, of Shreveport, president, Province III, recognized Mrs. Howard Lance, immediate past president of Monroe Alumnae Association; Mrs. D. F. Burkhalter, president of the Monroe chapter; Mrs. John Bowman, president of the Shreveport Alumnae Association. She then introduced Miss Michaelson, a graduate of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, who spoke to the group on the subject, "Your Alumnae -- A Vital Force."

One may see by the front page that we had big doings last weekend when Lambda Tau chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi was installed on the Northeast State campus. Initiation was held on Saturday, with a banquet Saturday night and a reception - tea on Sunday afternoon. LYDIA VARINO brought 23 girls from Alpha Omicron chapter at LSU up for the festivities. The group arrived on Saturday morning and were guests at the Varino camp on Cheniere Lake until Sunday evening, when they returned to Baton Rouge.

SARA SHAFTO and EMY LOU BIEDENHARN did themselves proud on the banquet table, which was the handsomest thing of its kind seen hereabouts in years. Red roses, the sorority flower, were used in three exquisite silver epergnes on the speakers' table. Camellias of the exact same shade were used to wrap the five - branch silver candlesticks, to ring the epergnes, and to run the length of all four tables. Place cards were hand painted with the red rose.

ARMANDE McHENRY, president of the college chapter, complemented the color scheme in a pink satin dress brocaded in a deeper pink . . . NANCY McCAIN of Cincinnati, Ohio, national president, was in black chiffon with red camellias at her waist . . . Alumna YVONNE ANDERSON, general chairman for the weekend, was stunning in white lace with a red taffeta cummerbund. Yvonne, incidentally, was collapsed in bed early this week recovering from the whole thing . . . Toastmistress HARRIET CALE was wearing an all - over floral print fashioned with a wide neckline and full skirt . . . Alumna SNOW ARMSTRONG was in green beaded satin.

Sunday afternoon the tea afforded an opportunity for well-wishers to congratulate the new initiates. Arrangements of red roses used with white Dutch iris were placed throughout the reception suite of the LEWIS SLATER'S spacious home. Mr. and Mrs. Slater along with Dean WILLIAM SMITH greeted guests in the entrance hall.

Among the guests of honor were FRANCES GUTHRIE, honorary, and daughter, FRAN, who looked lovely in a green and blue printed paper taffeta with dyed - to - match blue shoes . . . Another mother and daughter combination was MIRIAM RUBEY, alumna from Indiana University, and ANN, new collegiate member . . . Sisters are WYNKIE ASHCRAFT, honorary, and alumna VIOLET MARTIN . . Also receiving were RAMONA CORMIER in a navy and white spring print, and GLADYS MURPHY in bright red wool . . . New m e m b e r s JANE EARNEST and ADRIENNE GASTON were in black afternoon dresses. In black with a white chiffon cowl collar was LOIS BERNSTEIN.

FRANCES ADCOCK was the picture of fashion — as isn't she always? — when she was installed as president of the Junior Charity League on Saturday last. With her chemise - line check suit, she was wearing a black and white straw cloche with stiff veiling . . . The luncheon tables themselves were elegantly dressed up with camellias varying in shade from light pink to deepest rose, arranged in four large milk glass compotes . . . MILDRED VANDERPOOL e x e m p l i f i e d the "streak of color" look with her costume suit, hat, and shoes in the same shade of champagne beige . . . A visitor from New Orleans was JEAN BROWN DAVIS, who wore a salt and pepper wool with a black straw hat . . . ANN HOLMES welcomed spring in a navy sheer with a yellow straw hat . . . HELEN NORRIS wore a grey suit with a straw Breton in this year's favorite color, orange.

League members are looking forward to a busy week. The annual silver tea to which various women's clubs in the area are invited will be held Wednesday in the lovely Loop Road home of the CHARLES BROWNS . . . Thursday night Leaguers will be guests of honor, and the board members will serve as hostesses, for the final concert of the Twin City Symphony's current season. The Symphony plans to make this an annual affair, honoring a different civic group each year. Soloist with the group this week will be ELIZABETH WARD.

Brightening the early part of the week were several intimate luncheons at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. LAVENIA WOODBURN'S party honored MRS. GEORGE STODDARD of Larchmont, N. Y. Other guests were JOY SHURR, LAMEY STODDARD, and NELL CHURCH. VERA TROY was also Mrs. Stoddard's hostess at lunch. . . . POLLY SHLOSMAN entertained for her mother-in-law, MRS. J. SHLOSMAN, who was visiting here. Mrs. Shlosman leaves today for her home in Elizabeth, N. J.

GEORGIA SUMMER has had as houseguests JEWEL TAYLOR and FRANKIE GRAY of Minden. KATHRYN INABNET and OPAL WHITE joined these three for lunch on Tuesday. All talk was of the Summers' proposed trip. They plan to leave very soon, and to be gone a month. They will drive, stopping off at Carroll's home in South Carolina, in Washington, D. C., and in New York City.

Clothes were the thing to notice at the Mon Ami Newcomer's Club luncheon held Wednesday at the Saddle and Spur. COLLEEN MOSELY was wearing a two-piece cotton in beautiful blue and brown plaid with a blue feather hat. . . ROSALYN COOPER sported a new hair-do with her tan knit dress and brown jacket. . . . ESTELLE KIRSTE's bright red hat made a big hit. 'Twas a wide-brimmed sailor with ribbons down her back. Shoes and bag matchtd exactly.

With a completely dismal day outdoors, spring flowers presented a beautiful change of scene inside CAMILLE WOODS' home when she entertained at a coffee honoring her mother, MRS. WILTON HANCOCK of Natchitoches. Narcissus, jonquils, and Dutch iris were used all through the house. Our hostess was wearing an over-blouse chemise of navy silk with a wide white collar and a red camellia. Mrs. Hancock chose a tailored navy sheer with an Empress camellia.

Centering the dining table was a silver bowl containing a solid pyramid of yellow spring flowers, with blue Dutch iris forming the focal point. NANCY DAVIS, looking lovely in a navy blue spring suit with white accents and a shiny red straw hat, was sampling the tiny bite-size ham sandwiches. . . CHARLOTTE ETHRIDGE, wearing a cameo brown silk printed in white and black was pouring coffee for CAROLYN SHELTON and VIRGINIA WARNER. Carolyn wore light grey and white check suit with a grey and white hat; while Virginia's choice was navy wool with matching cape and a navy and white hat. . . . BESS COURTMAN was in navy crepe with a wide collar dropping to a V in the back, where gold buttons marched in a double row to the dropped waistline.

One of the loveliest affairs of the week was the neighborhood coffee hosted by EVELYN PORT and SARAH MAYO in the Port home on Country Club Road. Guests were exclaiming over the spectacular flowers done by MAUD MAYO. Particularly outstanding were the white camellias and spirea on the mantel. Assisting the hostesses were LULA GUY, BETTY EDWARDS, and BLANCHE RAY.

Poem for the week, by A. E. Housman:

Oh, when I was in love with you,
Then I was clean and brave
And miles around the wonder grew
How well I did behave.
And now the fancy passes by,
And nothing will remain,
And miles around they'll say that I Am quite myself again.

Theta Upsilon Alumnae Honor Field Secretary With March Luncheon

Theta Upsilon Alumnae honored their Field Secretary, Miss Carol Michaelson of Toledo, Ohio, with a luncheon on March 1 at the East Ridge Country Club in Shreveport.

The long luncheon table was beautifully decorated with yellow and white, the display colors of the sorority. An oval spring arrangement of white shasta daisies, yellow jonquil queen Anne's lace and fern was at one end of the table. From this focal point came two wide satin ribbons on which Theta Upsilon was written in gold. Miss Michaelson's corsage was of iris, the sorority flower.

After luncheon Mrs. Herschel Downs, of Shreveport, president, Province III, recognized Mrs. Howard Lance, immediate past president of Monroe Alumnae Association; Mrs. D. F. Burkhalter, president of the Monroe chapter; Mrs. John Bowman, president of the Shreveport Alumnae Association. She then introduced Miss Michaelson, a graduate of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, who spoke to the group on the subject, "Your Alumnae — A Vital Force."

Miss Hartley Becomes The Bride Of Victor Ralph Hilderbrand

MR. AND MRS. VICTOR HILDERBRAND

The First United Pentecostal Church was the setting for the afternoon double ring ceremony, which united in marriage Miss Mary E. Hartley and Victor Ralph Hilderbrand. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hartley of Stuttgart, Arkansas, and he is the son of Victor Hilderbrand of Vicksburg, Mississippi. The Reverend G. E. Chance heard the wedding vows.

The altar was banked in white stock and greenery, flanked by burning white tapers in candleabra. A program of traditional nuptial music was presented by Tommy Davis. Among the selections were "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length princess styled gown of crystalette, fashioned with an over jacket of lace, which featured long sleeves tapering to petal points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell softly from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of lilies of the valley sprinkled with vivid red roses and caught with maline.

Mrs. B. R. Nordan attended her sister as matron of honor. She was lovely in a bright red taffeta gown fashioned like the bride's. Her headpiece was of white lace over red tulle and she carried a bouquet of white stock interspersed with red roses mounted on a red heart.

Little Debbie Toney of Lake Providence was flower girl. She wore a dainty dress of white embroidered taffeta with a wide red velvet sash. Her headpiece was red tulle interlaced with matching velvet ribbon and she carried a white basket filled with soft petals.

Kent May of Vicksburg served the groom as best man. Ushers were Bob Nardan and Tommy Davis.

Mrs. Hartley chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue crepe with matching accessories and she wore a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Hilderbrand wore a pink silk with matching corsage and black accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. The bride's table was covered in lace and centered with a grouping of white stock with gay red roses and accented by white tapers. The bridal confection, white with red candy roses, was placed at one end of the table with the punch service at the opposite end.

The bride chose for travel a soft baby blue wool suit with navy accessories and she wore a corsage taken from the bridal bouquet. The couple left on a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast following the reception.

Doesn't Believe In Weak Idea-Less People Either

A man writes me: "In a recent article you said that 'to smile, to look interested, to say what is agreeable, and to avoid controversial topics that might give offense, are the ordinary exactions of courtesy expected of each one who is either a guest, hostess or host.'

"Well, excuse me, please, for differing with you. The results of these precepts are that people are so bored with life that a great number of them commit suicide every year, not to mention the countless half - way dissatisfied who try for a new shuffle in Reno. If these could have had the monotonous pattern of their thoughts shaken up a bit by listening to new ideas and discovering through defense of their opinions and arguing against contrary views, they might have satisfaction in finding they have good reasons for thinking what they do, or else finding them poor, they might find interest in changing them for the better. Instead of this, following your advice everybody smiles and talks about nothing. No wonder Society smokes and drinks — the boredom can hardly be withstood without these aids.

"Why in the name of sandhills should a hostess invite you, or why should you want to be invited, if there is to be no interchange of of ideas that you care enough about to get mad over?

"Why isn't it intelligent to shake an unconcerned person out of his placid sleep? You wouldn't indulge in shallow conversation with someone whose house was on fire and about to fall on him! Whether he preferred to be pleasant or not you would yell 'fire' at him until you got him sufficiently alarmed to do something about it. Politics and religion being controversial, people who are supposed to have had social advantages as well as education and should therefore be rated as intelligent, have played cards and talked pleasantly about nothing. Each retained his own prejudices, but did nothing and mostly said nothing in favor of them.

"It is of vital importance that those who can think shall not only do so, but shall try to put their thoughts across Free discussion—ardent exposition, should not be dicouraged.

"It seems to me that it is much more important that we think, than that we be pleasant, but do tell us how we can think and be pleasant, too."

In answering this, let me tell you at once that I agree with practically everything you say, if you merely put in a few qualifying "how's and where's and to whom's!"

I must advise that at a party among strangers a tactful person should think lest he unknowingly say something which to him is not important but which to one who may be of another religion, race, creed or whose political views are quite different, might be annoying, upsetting or even wounding. But when we are with those whom we know well, the only limits upon what we say, are those made in consideration for the individual feelings of our friends. This does not usually hamper us because we know exactly where the danger spots, if there be any, are apt to be. Even so, to discuss a subject seriously — above all, inquiringly — is good for us all. But it is not good to shout someone down. Skillful debate is a most interesting form of conversation. This does not, however, give license to any individual in any society that can be called polite, to heckle and harangue.

Not talk about politics? Of course we can! Don't we all? And energetically, too! But our energy should be a motive power that carries our arguments forcibly forward, and not a headlong violence that jams the gears.

No, I don't believe in weak idea-less people any more than you do. But I must insist that the rules of courtesy which tabu certain topics in order that conversation may be kept out of unpleasant channels, are necessary for those who lack perception of the effect that their speech and behavior at times produce. If only one might be assured of sensitiveness of perception without having it turn inward upon itself, this would be the solution of a great problem with which I have to deal.

Western Cowboy Party Honors Herman McGuire

A Western cowboy party in which a large group of intimate friends participated, marked the eighth birthday of Herman McGuire, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. McGuire, the celebration taking place at "Traveler's Rest" Farm.

Outstanding in the morning's pleasures was a real hay ride, horses and ponies and a pony cart which the children were privileged to ride.

The plantation bell was rung for refreshment time. The table in the yard presenting a colorful picture was centered with the high-tiered cowboy birthday cake, topped with tapers for each year of the celebrant's life and representing a farm scene — fence posts with cattle inside. Each tier was trimmed with rows of cacti and the brand "T. R." — all guarded by cowboys and a sheriff. The children were served refreshments cowboy style — the favors being cowboy candy cups and horse with cowboy rider.

The following children answered invitations to attend and presented their gifts in their attractive wrappings to Herman: Becky Bennett, Jonnie Hart, Jeanie Hart, Jackie Hart, Diane Barton, Pam Kull, Mary Alice Einhorn, Betsy Einhorn, Glen Golson, Terri Golson, Susan Golson, Linda Golson, Mike Wilb[illegible]s, Bib Ragland, William Bridges, Debbie Hibbard, Sue Frantom, Toby Stewart, Sharon Lanier, Kathy Lanier, Don Logan, Jennifer Frazer, Jeannie Frazer, Patsy Lolley, Nancy Garrett, Paula Hayden, Lela Godwin, Margie Godwin, Douglas Johnson, Andy Mintz, Steven Mintz, Vandy Vanderpool, Bill McSherry, Skipper Bell, Marylin Bedgood, Steve Wilson, John Owens, Sharon Coats, Myra Duffy, Steve Magown, Linda Silmon, John Stubbs, Hughes Abell, Sally Howell, Jeff Burnett, Don Frantom, Frankie Frantom, True Guerriero, Lellewyn Roy, David Roy, Carolyn Fisher, Nelson Jones, Brenda White, Randall Smith, Jackie Freeman, Linda Hasenplough, Billy Downey, Carey Davis, Madeline Calhoun, Karl Pearson, Alicia Pearson, Tommy Smith, Linda Owens, Mary Katherine McGuire, Jim McGuire.

Mrs. McGuire was assisted by Mrs. Kate McGuire, grandmother of the celebrant, and Mrs. Don Lanier in extending courtesies to the guests. Mrs. George Guerriero presided at the coffee service for the tea guests — Mrs. C.T. Coats, Mrs. Enette Spragio, Mrs. Breard Frantom, Mrs. Donald Logan, Mrs. Bill Bennett, Mrs. Harry Frazer, Jr., Mrs. Glen Golson, Mrs. Wade Pearson, Mrs. George Hibbard, Jr., Mrs. E. R. ITHACA, N. Y. — Home economists at Cornell University offer this recipe for "tomato cheese bake."

Put a 10½ ounce can of condensed tomato soup in saucepan, add 1 soup can of water and mix. Add 3 tablespoons of quick-cooking tapioca Cook, stirring constantly over low heat about 10 minutes until thickened. Add ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon dry mustard and ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Arrange 6 slices of bread in the bottom of a baking pan (13 by 9½ by 2). Put a slice of processed cheese on each slice of bread. Pour tomato sauce over cheese. Cut 3 slices of bacon into thirds and dot top of the sauce with bacon pieces. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes. If bacon is not as crisp as desired, place under broiler for a few minutes.

Girl Scout News

Happy Birthday to all Girl Scouts today! Girl Scout Week begins today with an activity-packed Sunday. The green and the brown uniforms will be much in evidence today as girls worship in the churches of their choice, either by troops or as individuals. It is a fitting way to open the week, putting duty to God first in the Girl Scout program.

At 1:00 o'clock, be sure to look at the television program. A flag ceremony will be featured, with girls from Troop 4, Jean Carter, Kathryn Bird, Camille Carso, Carol Overton, Teena Kimball, Diane Crawford, Linda Adams, in charge. Telling about the seven service days will be seven girls, one explaining the significance of each day. We can't give the names, but we know a few: Sandy Ballard of Troop 41 for health and safety, Margaret Barlow, troop 18, for international friendship, and Eileen Presse, troop 41, arts and crafts.

Girls from Senior, Intermediate and Brownie troops, some 30 in all, are to be on the program, in a group, and will be interviewed by Harry Arthur. It should prove a very interesting and informative program.

At 2:30 there will be two birthday programs, one at Georgia Tucker School, and one at Sherrouse School. The same girls from Troop 4 will present the flag ceremony on one of the programs, girls from Troop 25 on the other. At Sherrouse Martha Guyton, of Troop 18, will tell the story of Juliette Low and the founding of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. Troop 44 will sing the Girl Scout Chant as part of the birthday candlelighting conducted by Troop 1. Group singing will be led by Marie Nelson.

At Georgia Tucker the main part of the program will be the showing of a brand - new film on "Our Cabana," Girl Scout Center in Mexico. The birthday candlelighting will be in charge of Troop 24. On both programs the girls will present their contributions to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

A full day for Scout families! We say every week should be Girl Scout Week when it comes to living the promise and laws and spreading Scout spirit in our community and all the world.

Girls Are Smarter Today

By DOROTHY ROE

College girls are smarter today than they were in my campus days. They have learned how to handle fathers.

I have just been a secret and uninvited observer at a modern phenomenon known as Happy Pappy Weekend at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. This is an annual event to which all fathers of students are invited, and at which mothers are strictly out of place.

Last weekend 700 Happy Pappies showed up at Skidmore, straining the capacities of local hotels, motels and boarding houses. With a student body of 1,100 girls, this meant that every father within a day's traveling distance managed by hook or crook to get there.

They were all slightly dazed by the idea that their daughters would concel all dates for the weekend just to entertain dear old Dad.

Dormitories around the campus bore streamers lettered variously: "Welcome, Happy Pappies!" . . . "Yes sir, he's my Pappy" . . . and "Daddy, can you spare a dime?"

By instruction, the converging fathers brought along any relics of their own college days still wearable. Some sported moth-eaten raccoon coats, some wore freshman caps of vintage 1925, some even had retrieved from the attic bell-bottom trousers and fraternity blazers.

From the moment of arrival, the dazzled dads were given the full treatment usually accorded only to be favored boy friends. They were allowed to take their daughters out to dinner, were taken on conducted tours of the campus, were introduced to the faculty and house mothers and urged to dance the Charleston.

If, sometime during the festivities, the girls point out delicately that they need new furniture for the dormitory or insulation for the horse barn, fathers are in such a mellow glow that check-writing is relatively painless.

Restaurant and hotel owners report that Happy Pappy Weekend nets the biggest business of the year.

Daughters say that it's more fun even than their winter carnival.

And fathers say, "Don't forget to invite us back next year!"

Hen-Pecking In Store For Men

NEW YORK — Pity the future husbands of today's teen-aged girls. Dad's pipe-and-slipper comfort will be only a memory.

Teen-agers want their husbands to do more house work, says Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute, which surveys opinions of young Americans.

Most girls don't think men should sit around leisurely while wives put in a 10 to 14-hour day, Rand said.

"The girls also believe their mothers made a mistake by not putting men in harness the minute they were married. The younger generation vows it won't repeat this mistake," he added.

Teen-aged boys still are unsuspecting, said Rand. "Male teens snicker at married friends doing housework. They believe it can't happen to them." Wanta bet?

Hen-Pecking In Store For Men

NEW YORK — Pity the future husbands of today's teen-aged girls. Dad's pipe-and-slipper comfort will be only a memory.

Teen-agers want their husbands to do more house work, says Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute, which surveys opinions of young Americans.

Most girls don't think men should sit around leisurely while wives put in a 10 to 14-hour day, Rand said.

"The girls also believe their mothers made a mistake by not putting men in harness the minute they were married. The younger generation vows it won't repeat this mistake," he added.

Teen-aged boys still are unsuspecting, said Rand. "Male teens snicker at married friends doing housework. They believe it can't happen to them." Wanta bet?

All-American Camellias Are Arranger's Delight

The Bard of Avon surely would agree that the midsummer night's dream had come true if only he could see the beauty of camellias in midwinter.

From the moment when autumn first touches the landscape with her magic paintbrush until well into spring, camellias brighten the corner where they are, adding beauty to the landscape and home and bringing joy to the human spirit despite winter's icy blasts and overcast skies.

Those fortunate gardeners in mild climate may revel particularly this season in the extra large and very beautiful blooms of Buddha, the distinctively differtent hybrid reticulata honored as its 1958 award winner by All-America Selections, Inc.

Flowers of Buddha, a warm pink in color, perhaps best described as phlox pink with contrasting veins of Tyrian rose, are of exotic form and extraordinary size and complement a healthy and vigorous plant, so strong and upright that it can be developed into a small tree.

In a season when freeze and cold spells may be both prolonged and abnormal, Buddha must be given protection throughout the south. The best device, of course, is a greenhouse, in which magnificent specimen blooms may be produced, flowers 'such as the breath - taking seven - inch one grown in Atlanta, Ga., and exhibited in the annual show of the Men's Camellia Club of New Orleans, where it won top honors as "Outstanding Specimen in Show—grown under glass." It also is practical to grow Buddha in a container, such as a redwood tub, which may be moved to shelter when the need arises. Although another bloom of Buddha, grown without protection out of doors, received a blue ribbon in that show and reticulatas frequently bloom successfully when so treated, for consistently good performance, protection must be provided.

Another beauty, Cinderella, the first All - America camellia continues to gain in popularity, with public demand for plants far exceeding the supply. A mid - season bloomer, Cinderella has been found to perform well during cold seasons.

Blossoms of Cinderella have a unique form and coloring which cause many to liken it to an old-fashioned valentine with many layers of lacy ruffles. Not quite as large a flower as Buddha, this fine camellia is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging. Its shadings and texture, frilly edges and richly veined variegations make it, like Buddha, an arranger's delight.

FROM THE MAGIC WAND—Like Cinderella, for whom it is named, this camellia, last year's still-popular All-America selection, changes from an ordinary green bush to a lavishly bedecked beauty as soon as the blooms appear. Cinderella is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging.

Still Time To Plant Glads

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you want a few gladiolas for cut flowers and still have not had the time to get them planted, you can still plant this month. Blooms from plantings made after March have not been very satisfactory. The early planted corms will produce more flowers than those planted late. Best results will probably be obtained if plants are not placed closer than four feet apart. Corms should be planted so that they will be covered with four inches of soil. Snow Princess is the leading white variety. Other whites are Maid of Orleans, Florence Nightingale. Fair Angel is a good creamy white.

Pink Picardy is still highly recommended, also, Spic and Span is a good pink. Ethel Cave Cole and Ros aVan Lima are good early light pinks.

Red Valeria is still the best all round red. Burma is an excellent dark red but is apt to burn fairly easily. Mid-America is a very large red one.

Margaret Wood is the most satisfactory purple tried.

Garden Of Daffodils

If you have a few minutes for a drive with your family this afternoon, I suggest you drive by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Henderson's on the Avant Road about one-half mile from Claiborne School on Highway 80. This is a beautiful garden of daffodils and they should be in full bloom today. I do not know of any garoen that is more beautiful than the Henderson's at this time of the yea' with the mass planting of yellow daffodils in the gorgeous grove of pines.

They outnumber the men by two million in the U. S. They own 51 per cent of the stock of all corporations. They own 74 per cent of the new homes, 40 per cent of all homes. They own two - thirds of all U. S. Savings (Series E) Bonds. They make 85 per cent of all consumer buying in the U. S. They own one - half of the shares in American Telephone & Telegraph, General Motors, U. S. Steel, and 40 per cent of the railroads. They own 65 per cent of the assets in mutual savings banks. They file 45 per cent of income tax return. They influence the decision of 90 per cent of automobile sales. They influence the decision of 62 per cent of hardware sales. They influence the decision of 77 per cent of sporting goods sales. They receive 70 per cent of estates left by men. They are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all private life insurance. Men may earn it but women decide what to do with it.

Aids Help Ease Pain Of Spring Cleanup Time

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The poets say lovely things about spring, but just ask any housewife what's on her mind, come those first few balmy days. She's thinking, no doubt, that it's dust-ridding time — time to air the house, ferret out cobwebs, make refurbishing plans.

One clue to a good housecleaning program is to assemble a collection of work aids. These should make cleaning a breeze, if you use cleaning accessories properly.

Tune up those old standbys, the vacuum cleaner and mop. Make sure your vacuum accessories are in good shape, that you have bag refills for the cleaner. If your mop needs a new sponge, replace it. If you are partial to string mops, there are new string type mops of sponge.

Stores should be combed for new cleaning aids that help lighten work. Be wary of some cleaning aids that advertise miracles in cleaning upholstery and rugs. Most housewives have had their fill of these cleaners which clean, but then manage to attract more dirt by the very chemicals that helped the cleaning action.

There are special cleaners available designed for specific action—cleaners for hard-surface flooring, linoleum, vinyl tile, asphalt tile, that require just a quick once-over mopping and no rinsing to clean the floors perfectly.

There are cleaners designed especially for painted surfaces and for bathroom and kitchen fixtures. New window cleaners may be sprayed out of a can and wiped off with a clean cloth or a paper towel.

A chamois buffer wrapped around a shoe or scrubbing brush is a wonderful duster to produce a mirror-like gloss on furniture. The little sueded fibers in the oil-tanned chamois help keep a lovely sheen on furniture.

Verbena Is Candy Striped

By MILDRED SWIFT

Here's an invitation to groups to visit and tour the gardens in the Twin Cities. Just write Monroe Chamber of Commerce giving them the date you'll be here, the time of arrival and the number in your party. The Chamber of Commerce will arrange for two hostesses to guide you on the tour.

This invitation is to garden clubs, home demonstration clubs, church, school, and civic groups, or just a group who'd like to make the tour. Make your arrangements, now. We're expecting a full calendar.

Garden Highlights

Since so many of you had St. Augustine troubles last year, I'm going to repeat the new treatment from LSU Extension, Baton Rouge. Use Terrachlor for brown patch. This trouble starts at the roots, so the specialists advise using a good strong spray gun for applying the Terrachlor, so the poison will reach the fungus down there doing its dirty work. This fungus is almost the same as the petal blight on azaleas. This Terrachlor is also effective for web-worms.

In March, spray magnolias for terrapin scale using malathion. That is, if you see the scale on the woody part of the plant. The scale is large and easily visible. This is not too prevalent in north Louisiana, but can be mighty bad when it hits the tree.

New Verbena

There's a new verbena listed that goes by the name of Calypso. It is candy striped. There are times when old plants get out of favor for a number of years and are later resurrected. Bells of Ireland illustrates that very well. Now is the time to sow seed for this lovely foliage plant. It also dries beautifully for flower arrangements.

Another old fashioned plant that flower arrangers love is "Everlasting" or "Immortale." If you will notice the flower catalogues list 40 different varieties. These also dry well, take the drouth and require little care. They reseed and come up year after year. This is also called "Strawflower."

Chrysanthemums

For those interested in growing prize mums, there are some new All-America selections. However, these are not listed in catalogues yet, so you may have to wait a year or two until they are available. First is "Showpiece," a royal rose colored, very large plant that loads its stems with massive lovely four-inch flowers. "Emperor," gold colored, quite decorative, blooms in late September. "Burning Bronze" grows to a two and a half foot bush with an exciting blossom of mahogany bronze over a scarlet base. "Ruby King," is a cushion type bloom of ruby red and is double flowered.

More Gardening

It is amazing, the number of camellia blossoms we're having after the freezes. Of course, the blooms now come from buds that were tight at freeze time, so were not effected. It was such a wet freeze, too. For that reason we're not having the usual bud drop from camellias and Japanese magnolias.

Don't forget to plant a eucalyptus tree. These can be purchased at local nurseries. There are two varieties and you can select the one you like best. The difference is in the way the stem grows through the leaf. In the Twin Cities, I notice many of these trees that the freeze just didn't touch. We've believed in the past that eucalyptus would not survive north Louisiana winters. Stake the tree the first year. If it grows very tall the first season, top it in June. This will make a better shaped plant. The florists use this material in arrangements quite often.

From now on, bulbs that have finished blooming are storing up food for next year's blooms. Give them some bone meal, cut off the dead blooms so they'll not go to seed. And be real kind to the husband and plead with him not to mow them down. Let the tops die naturally.

When bulbs are in this state, you make a promise to yourself that you'll move them in late summer. That is, you'll move them to a less conspicuous spot in the yard. They're so pretty while they're pretty and so ugly when they're not pretty.

Just Talking

If you're traveling with a baby, hang a cotton shoe bag on back of the car's front seat. The bag will make an excellent storage place for food, clothing and toys on a long trip.

Here's news from the gadget counter — a double-duty measuring cup. No need to dry the cup when changing from liquid to dry measures. Instead, just flip it over. Accurate measurements are clearly marked on top and bottom for each cup. It will be on the market soon.

Even a mud pie looks pretty with frothy icing. Treat the youngsters to a big bowl of thick, stiffly beaten soap or detergent suds tinted with vegetable coloring. This frosting will add great zest to juvenile pie making, indoors and out.

When laundering pure linen table cloths and napkins, never starch them. Press while damp, first on the wrong side, then on the right. This brings out the natural luster.

Announcements

Your Open House Programs for next week are: Monday and Tuesday — Glenda Willet and Jean Cloy, from Jackson Parish, will show hints on seams and hems; Wednesday — Mary Margaret Jardine will bring you the flower arrangement and we'll have some guests from the Louisiana Home Economics Association; Thursday —marketing with Mildred; Friday, "Eggs," with E. Hathaway, from LSU Extension.

Mrs. Nora Phillips, 504½ Jonesboro Road, will give dusty miller plants and iris to any of you who will go by and dig them. If you have nandina or violet plants you would like to share, call me. There are those who need form for special projects.

See you next Sunday.

Doddering Trees Get New Vigor From Treatments

You can't turn old trees out to pasture although they are afflicted with many of the problems of advancing age. Modern tree care practices, however, can greatly extend their life spans.

The arboreal approach to geriatrics, the science of the study and treatment of disabilities and diseases brought on by old age, usually calls for a basic three-point program. Davey tree experts, who have successfully cared for many ancient tree monarchs, including the famous George Washington horsechestnut at Fredericksburg, Va., say regular pruning, feeding and soil aeration keep them relatively healthy and beautiful for many added years. The same technique applies to venerable tree friends on home properties.

Where the infirmities of age are causing die - back, the initial treatment may be rather severe pruning to reduce the physical load. This encourages new growth and better foliage beauty. The treatment should be augmented with adequate feeding, a parctice that must be repeated every year or two. Feeding, by boring of holes over the entire root surface and applying fertilizers high in nitrogen content insures adequate nutrients. The feeding holes when filled with peat moss do much to combat the compacting of the soil. Feeding roots must have plenty of air as well as nourishment and moisture.

FOR 4 ROOMS, 3 HOURS

How long does it take a mover to load and unload the furnishings of a 4-room apartment? Approximately three hours, estimate moving experts, providing there are no extraordinary circumstances. It will require more time if there is a particularly long "carry" from house to van.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Split Bark Is Great Danger

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The browned leaves on boxwood and other broadleaf evergreens do not necessarily indicate that the plants are dead. When spring comes, it will be found that some plants are damaged only in the foliage. Some will have dead twigs, and others may actually be killed back badly. Some of the plants in a hedge or in the same planting will have suffered badly, while others are hardly injured at all.

Split Stem

One kind of severe damage with which we southern gardeners have become familiar is the bursting or splitting of the bark on tender plants. This injury is really drastic if you do not discover it and do something about it right away. Look over you azaleas from the point where the stems come out of the ground up to the branches. If the bark looks as if it had been split, it will soon begin to peel back and show the damage. To keep the shrubs alive while they make new growth from the ground and restore themselves, it is necessary to tape the split branches back together. First, tape them together tightly in several places around the stem. Then you can tape the split edges together up and down the stem. If the wood and buds are not otherwise injured, normal growth will take place when warm weather stimulates the sap flow.

We can expect most of the buds on many kinds of azaleas to have been killed this year. We already know that a great percentage of camellia buds will never open. Especially where you are trying to grow the "tender indica azaleas" that are really hardy in only the warm climate along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, you will have lots of azalea damage. Your columnist arrived one cold winter just as spring was showing up the cold damage on indica azaleas in Monroe. The lady who introduced him to his audience said, "Mr. Hunt told us several years ago to grow Kurume azaleas and leave out the indicas. He has arrived in time to see the wisdom of his words."

New Varieties

Since that time, our nurseries have been offering us many fine kinds of beautiful azaleas with blossoms as big as those of the indica type but with buds and bushes as hardy to cold as the Kurumes. One of these groups is called the Glenn Dale Azaleas, and we have referred to these beautiful flowers before in this space. The colors run through every imaginable shade and hue. The names run through the alphabet from Abbott to Youth! In the Glenn Dales, you may have flowers as large or larger than those of the indicas on shrubs hardy to the cold weather.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Bernice Gives First Show

By MARY M. JARDINE

Visitors to the Garden Center were delighted with the beautiful flower show staged by members of the Bernice Garden Club. The club was organized less than a year ago and this is their first exhibit.

The horticulture was outstanding and all in the blue ribbon class. Awards were as follows: Mrs. Clyde C. Colvin, camellias var. Chandleri Elegans, Mrs. J. E. Reeves, daffodils, varieties Wodan, and Unsurpassable and a collection of Lady VanSittart camellias; Mrs. W. C. Reeves, daffodil Brookville.

In the arrangement section first place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. W. C. Reeves. For her container Mrs. Reeves selected a shell shaped bowl of light beige with an iridescent lining. The design had a windswept effect and was composed of curved branches of clipped pine and Unsurpassable daffodils. The needle holder was concealed with small shells and large ivy leaves placed low tied the plant material to the container.

Mrs. G. E. Lindsey, Sr. created an airy arrangement, Oriental in feeling. A small Japanese Usabata held line placements of pussy-willow and large yellow daffodils. A lovely combination of materials and container. This design would look well on top of a small book case or chest.

Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr. created a lovely line arrangement in a yellow pitcher. Line placements of ivy followed the outline of the pitcher. The design was emphasized with yellow daffodils following the established line. Most arrangers find it difficult to design good arrangements in pitchers. They are always more pleasing if the lines of the container are followed as in this instance. Mechanics used were ivy wired to the handle of the pitcher, the leaves concealing the wire. This will keep fresh for some time if conditioned overnight by submerging in a pan of water. The second mechanic was a woody stick, wedged into the mouth of the container. The stick was split about three quarters of the length to provide a space for the plant material. This mechanic has been used for many years by the Japanese. Flower placements may be further re-inforced by floral clay.

Mrs. W. R. Lynn designed a delightful arrangement using a palm spathe in natural color for her container. Background placements were three iris leaves, graduated in size. The gray green of dusty miller was used as intermediate material and the foliage and flowers of Angel Wing Begonia were used as a center of interest. Some of the leaves were reversed showing the deep red color which blended beautifully with the flowers.

Mrs. W. C. Reeves designed our extra of the week. Pear blossoms and lovely white camellias were arranged in a line mass design. The Japanese container set on its own stand was black. The selection of materials and container was most appropriate. This was staged against a pale pink background which emphasized the Oriental feeling.

The Garden Clubs of the Fifth District have been invited to participate in the Home Show and Spring Festival sponsored by the Northeast Louisiana Association of Home Builders in Monroe May 5 to 11. A letter of acceptance has been received from our director, Mrs. J. W. Huckabay. Be sure to mark the dates. Each garden club in the district will be invited to exhibit and you will receive shortly a letter of invitation.

Flowers of Buddha, a warm pink in color, perhaps best described as phlox pink with contrasting veins of Tyrian rose, are of exotic form and extraordinary size and complement a healthy and vigorous plant, so strong and upright that it can be developed into a small tree.

In a season when freeze and cold spells may be both prolonged and abnormal, Buddha must be given protection throughout the south. The best device, of course, is a greenhouse, in which magnificent specimen blooms may be produced, flowers such as the breath - taking seven - inch one grown in Atlanta, Ga., and exhibited in the annual show of the Men's Camellia Club of New Orleans, where it won top honors as "Outstanding Specimen in Show—grown under glass." It also is practical to grow Buddha in a container, such as a redwood tub, which may be moved to shelter when the need arises. Although another bloom of Buddha, grown without protection out of doors, received a blue ribbon in that show and reticulatas frequently bloom successfully when so treated, for consistently good performance, protection must be provided.

Another beauty, Cinderella, the first All - America camellia continues to gain in popularity, with public demand for plants far exceeding the supply. A mid - season bloomer, Cinderella has been found to perform well during cold seasons.

Blossoms of Cinderella have a unique form and coloring which cause many to liken it to an old-fashioned valentine with many layers of lacy ruffles. Not quite as large a flower as Buddha, this fine camellia is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging. Its shadings and texture, frilly edges and richly veined variegations make it, like Buddha, an arranger's delight.

FROM THE MAGIC WAND—Like Cinderella, for whom it is named, this camellia, last year's still-popular All-America selection, changes from an ordinary green bush to a lavishly bedecked beauty as soon as the blooms appear. Cinderella is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging.

Still Time To Plant Glads

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you want a few gladiolas for cut flowers and still have not had the time to get them planted, you can still plant this month. Blooms from plantings made after March have not been very satisfactory. The early planted corms will produce more flowers than those planted late. Best results will probably be obtained if plants are not placed closer than four feet apart. Corms should be planted so that they will be covered with four inches of soil. Snow Princess is the leading white variety. Other whites are Maid of Orleans, Florence Nightingale. Fair Angel is a good creamy white.

Pink Picardy is still highly recommended, also, Spic and Span is a good pink. Ethel Cave Cole and Ros aVan Lima are good early light pinks.

Red Valeria is still the best all round red. Burma is an excellent dark red but is apt to burn fairly easily. Mid-America is a very large red one.

Margaret Wood is the most satisfactory purple tried.

Garden Of Daffodils

If you have a few minutes for a drive with your family this afternoon, I suggest you drive by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Henderson's on the Avant Road about one-half mile from Claiborne School on Highway 80. This is a beautiful garden of daffodils and they should be in full bloom today. I do not know of any garden that is more beautiful than the Henderson's at this time of the year with the mass planting of yellow daffodils in the gorgeous grove of pines.

Tour to Natchez

The 10 and 25 Year Club, organization of Home Demonstration women who have been members for ten or twenty - five years, is sponsoring a garden tour to Natchez March 19. If you are interested in making this trip, call Mrs. T. T. Jones, FA 3-9005 Mrs. Pearl Bower, FA 3-5909 or Mrs. Gertie Landrum, FA 2-0353.

Miss Rupert Perry, our home management specialist from LSU Agriculture Extension, gave the following interesting information at our workshop last week. Are Women important: More women vote than men. They outnumber the men by two million in the U. S. They own 51 per cent of the stock of all corporations. They own 74 per cent of the new homes, 40 per cent of all homes. They own two - thirds of all U. S. Savings (Series E) Bonds. They make 85 per cent of all consumer buying in the U. S. They own one - half of the shares in American Telephone & Telegraph, General Motors, U. S. Steel, and 40 per cent of the railroads. They own 65 per cent of the assets in mutual savings banks. They file 45 per cent of income tax return. They influence the decision of 90 per cent of automobile sales. They influence the decision of 62 per cent of hardware sales. They influence the decision of 77 per cent of sporting goods sales. They receive 70 per cent of estates left by men. They are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all private life insurance. Men may earn it but women decide what to do with it.

Monroe Host

This week from March 12 through March 15, Monroe will be host to Home Economists from all over the state beginning Wednesday afternoon. The Home Demonstration Agents Association and Assistants from the 64 parishes of the state will arrive to begin the association meeting, Thursday at 8:30 a.m. On Friday, the Home Economics teachers and Home Economists in business firms will join the Home Economics Convention which will continue through Saturday. These two will be in charge of the two conventions.

Out of state speakers for LHEA will be Miss Beth Peterson, Home Economist for DuPont from Wilmington, Delaware; and Dr. Miriam E. Lowenberg, head of Foods and Nutrition Department of College of Home Economics, Pennsylvania State University.

Aids Help Ease Pain Of Spring Cleanup Time

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The poets say lovely things about spring, but just ask any housewife what's on her mind, come those first few balmy days. She's thinking, no doubt, that it's dust-ridding time — time to air the house, ferret out cobwebs, make refurbishing plans.

One clue to a good housecleaning program is to assemble a collection of work aids. These should make cleaning a breeze, if you use cleaning accessories properly.

Tune up those old standbys, the vacuum cleaner and mop. Make sure your vacuum accessories are in good shape, that you have bag refills for the cleaner. If your mop needs a new sponge, replace it. If you are partial to string mops, there are new string type mops of sponge.

Stores should be combed for new cleaning aids that help lighten work. Be wary of some cleaning aids that advertise miracles in cleaning upholstery and rugs. Most housewives have had their fill of these cleaners which clean, but then manage to attract more dirt by the very chemicals that helped the cleaning action.

There are special cleaners available designed for specific action—cleaners for hard-surface flooring, linoleum, vinyl tile, asphalt tile, that require just a quick once-over mopping and no rinsing to clean the floors perfectly.

There are cleaners designed especially for painted surfaces and for bathroom and kitchen fixtures. New window cleaners may be sprayed out of a can and wiped off with a clean cloth or a paper towel.

A chamois buffer wrapped around a shoe or scrubbing brush is a wonderful duster to produce a mirror-like gloss on furniture. The little sueded fibers in the oil-tanned chamois help keep a lovely sheen on furniture.

THE HOME SHIFT

Verbena Is Candy Striped

By MILDRED SWIFT

Here's an invitation to groups to visit and tour the gardens in the Twin Cities. Just write Monroe Chamber of Commerce giving them the date you'll be here, the time of arrival and the number in your party. The Chamber of Commerce will arrange for two hostesses to guide you on the tour.

This invitation is to garden clubs, home demonstration clubs, church, school, and civic groups, or just a group who'd like to make the tour. Make your arrangements, now. We're expecting a full calendar.

Garden Highlights

Since so many of you had St. Augustine troubles last year, I'm going to repeat the new treatment from LSU Extension, Baton Rouge. Use Terrachlor for brown patch. This trouble starts at the roots, so the specialists advise using a good strong spray gun for applying the Terrachlor, so the poison will reach the fungus down there doing its dirty work. This fungus is almost the same as the petal blight on azaleas. This Terrachlor is also effective for webworms.

In March, spray magnolias for terrapin scale using malathion. That is, if you see the scale on the woody part of the plant. The scale is large and easily visible. This is not too prevalent in north Louisiana, but can be mighty bad when it hits the tree.

New Verbena

There's a new verbena listed that goes by the name of Calypso. It is candy striped. There are times when old plants get out of favor for a number of years and are later resurrected. Bells of Ireland illustrates that very well. Now is the time to sow seed for this lovely foliage plant. It also dries beautifully for flower arrangements.

Another old fashioned plant that flower arrangers love is "Everlasting" or "Immortale." If you will notice the flower catalogues list 40 different varieties. These also dry well, take the drouth and require little care. They reseed and come up year after year. This is also called "Strawflower."

Chrysanthemums

For those interested in growing prize mums, there are some new All-America selections. However, these are not listed in catalogues yet, so you may have to wait a year or two until they are available. First is "Showpiece," a royal rose colored, very large plant that loads its stems with massive lovely four-inch flowers. "Emperor," gold colored, quite decorative, blooms in late September. "Burning Bronze" grows to a two and a half foot bush with an exciting blossom of mahogany bronze over a scarlet base. "Ruby King," is a cushion type bloom of ruby red and is double flowered.

More Gardening

It is amazing, the number of camellia blossoms we're having after the freezes. Of course, the blooms now come from buds that were tight at freeze time, so were not effected. It was such a wet freeze, too. For that reason we're not having the usual bud drop from camellias and Japanese magnolias.

Don't forget to plant a eucalyptus tree. These can be purchased at local nurseries. There are two varieties and you can select the one you like best. The difference is in the way the stem grows through the leaf. In the Twin Cities, I notice many of these trees that the freeze just didn't touch. We've believed in the past that eucalyptus would not survive north Louisiana winters. Stake the tree the first year. If it grows very tall the first season, top it in June. This will make a better shaped plant. The florists use this material in arrangements quite often.

From now on, bulbs that have finished blooming are storing up food for next year's blooms. Give them some bone meal, cut off the dead blooms so they'll not go to seed. And be real kind to the husband and plead with him not to mow them down. Let the tops die naturally.

When bulbs are in this state, you make a promise to yourself that you'll move them in late summer. That is, you'll move them to a less conspicuous spot in the yard. They're so pretty while they're pretty and so ugly when they're not pretty.

Just Talking

If you're traveling with a baby, hang a cotton shoe bag on back of the car's front seat. The bag will make an excellent storage place for food, clothing and toys on a long trip.

Here's news from the gadget counter — a double-duty measuring cup. No need to dry the cup when changing from liquid to dry measures. Instead, just flip it over. Accurate measurements are clearly marked on top and bottom for each cup. It will be on the market soon.

Even a mud pie looks pretty with frothy icing. Treat the youngsters to a big bowl of thick, stiffly beaten soap or detergent suds tinted with vegetable coloring. This frosting will add great zest to juvenile pie making, indoors and out.

When laundering pure linen table cloths and napkins, never starch them. Press while damp, first on the wrong side, then on the right. This brings out the natural luster.

Announcements

Your Open House Programs for next week are: Monday and Tuesday — Glenda Willet and Jean Cloy, from Jackson Parish, will show hints on seams and hems; Wednesday — Mary Margaret Jardine will bring you the flower arrangement and we'll have some guests from the Louisiana Home Economics Association; Thursday —marketing with Mildred; Friday, "Eggs," with E. Hathaway, from LSU Extension.

Mrs. Nora Phillips, 504½ Jonesboro Road, will give dusty miller plants and iris to any of you who will go by and dig them. If you have nandina or violet plants you would like to share, call me. There are those who need form for special projects.

See you next Sunday.

Doddering Trees Get New Vigor From Treatments

You can't turn old trees out to pasture although they are afflicted with many of the problems of advancing age. Modern tree care practices, however, can greatly extend their life spans.

The arboreal approach to geriatrics, the science of the study and treatment of disabilities and diseases brought on by old age, usually calls for a basic three-point program. Davey tree experts, who have successfully cared for many ancient tree monarchs, including the famous George Washington horsechestnut at Fredericksburg, Va., say regular pruning, feeding and soil aeration keep them relatively healthy and beautiful for many added years. The same technique applies to venerable tree friends on home properties.

Where the infirmities of age are causing die - back, the initial treatment may be rather severe pruning to reduce the physical load. This encourages new growth and better foliage beauty. The treatment should be augmented with adequate feeding, a parctice that must be repeated every year or two. Feeding, by boring of holes over the entire root surface and applying fertilizers high in nitrogen content insures adequate nutrients. The feeding holes when filled with peat moss do much to combat the compacting of the soil. Feeding roots must have plenty of air as well as nourishment and moisture.

FOR 4 ROOMS, 3 HOURS

How long does it take a mover to load and unload the furnishings of a 4-room apartment? Approximately three hours, estimate moving experts, providing there are no extraordinary circumstances. It will require more time if there is a particularly long "carry" from house to van.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Split Bark Is Great Danger

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The browned leaves on boxwood and other broadleaf evergreens do not necessarily indicate that the plants are dead. When spring comes, it will be found that some plants are damaged only in the foliage. Some will have dead twigs, and others may actually be killed back badly. Some of the plants in a hedge or in the same planting will have suffered badly, while others are hardly injured at all.

Split Stem

One kind of severe damage with which we southern gardeners have become familiar is the bursting or splitting of the bark on tender plants. This injury is really drastic if you do not discover it and do something about it right away. Look over your azaleas from the point where the stems come out of the ground up to the branches. If the bark looks as if it had been split, it will soon begin to peel back and show the damage. To keep the shrubs alive while they make new growth from the ground and restore themselves, it is necessary to tape the split branches back together. First, tape them together tightly in several places around the stem. Then you can tape the split edges together up and down the stem. If the wood and buds are not otherwise injured, normal growth will take place when warm weather stimulates the sap flow.

We can expect most of the buds on many kinds of azaleas to have been killed this year. We already know that a great percentage of camellia buds will never open. Especially where you are trying to grow the "tender indica azaleas" that are really hardy in only the warm climate along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, you will have lots of azalea damage. Your columnist arrived one cold winter just as spring was showing up the cold damage on indica azaleas in Monroe. The lady who introduced him to his audience said, "Mr. Hunt told us several years ago to grow Kurume azaleas and leave out the indicas. He has arrived in time to see the wisdom of his words."

New Varieties

Since that time, our nurseries have been offering us many fine kinds of beautiful azaleas with blossoms as big as those of the indica type but with buds and bushes as hardy to cold as the Kurumes. One of these groups is called the Glenn Dale Azaleas, and we have referred to these beautiful flowers before in this space. The colors run through every imaginable shade and hue. The names run through the alphabet from Abbott to Youth! In the Glenn Dales, you may have flowers as large or larger than those of the indicas on shrubs hardy to the cold weather.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Bernice Gives First Show

By MARY M. JARDINE

Visitors to the Garden Center were delighted with the beautiful flower show staged by members of the Bernice Garden Club. The club was organized less than a year ago and this is their first exhibit.

The horticulture was outstanding and all in the blue ribbon class. Awards were as follows: Mrs. Clyde C. Colvin, camellias var. Chandleri Elegans, Mrs. J. E. Reeves, daffodils, varieties Wodan, and Unsurpassable and a collection of Lady VanSittart camellias; Mrs. W. C. Reeves, daffodil Brookville.

In the arrangement section first place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. W. C. Reeves. For her container Mrs. Reeves selected a shell shaped bowl of light beige with an iridescent lining. The design had a windswept effect and was composed of curved branches of clipped pine and Unsurpassable daffodils. The needle holder was concealed with small shells and large ivy leaves placed low tied the plant material to the container.

Mrs. G. E. Lindsey, Sr. created an airy arrangement, Oriental in feeling. A small Japanese Usabata held line placements of pussy-willow and large yellow daffodils. A lovely combination of materials and container. This design would look well on top of a small book case or chest.

Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr. created a lovely line arrangement in a yellow pitcher. Line placements of ivy followed the outline of the pitcher. The design was emphasized with yellow daffodils following the established line. Most arrangers find it difficult to design good arrangements in pitchers. They are always more pleasing if the lines of the container are followed as in this instance. Mechanics used were ivy wired to the handle of the pitcher, the leaves concealing the wire. This will keep fresh for some time if conditioned overnight by submerging in a pan of water. The second mechanic was a woody stick, wedged into the mouth of the container. The stick was split about three quarters of the length to provide a space for the plant material. This mechanic has been used for many years by the Japanese. Flower placements may be further re-inforced by floral clay.

Mrs. W. R. Lynn designed a delightful arrangement using a palm spathe in natural color for her container. Background placements were three iris leaves, graduated in size. The gray green of dusty miller was used as intermediate material and the foliage and flowers of Angel Wing Begonia were used as a center of interest. Some of the leaves were reversed showing the deep red color which blended beautifully with the flowers.

Mrs. W. C. Reeves designed our extra of the week. Pear blossoms and lovely white camellias were arranged in a line mass design. The Japanese container set on its own stand was black. The selection of materials and container was most appropriate. This we staged against a pale pink background which emphasized the Oriental feeling.

The Garden Clubs of the Fifth District have been invited to participate in the Home Show and Spring Festival sponsored by the Northeast Louisiana Association of Home Builders in Monroe May 5 to 11. A letter of acceptance has been received from our director, Mrs. J. W. Huckabay. Be sure to mark the dates. Each garden club in the district will be invited to exhibit and you will receive shortly a letter of invitation.

Hen-Pecking In Store For Men

NEW YORK — Pity the future husbands of today's teen-aged girls. Dad's pipe-and-slipper comfort will be only a memory.

Teen-agers want their husbands to do more house work, says Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute, which surveys opinion of young Americans.

Most girls don't think men should sit around and leisurely while wives put in a 10 to 14-hour day, Rand said.

"The girls also believe their mothers made a mistake by not putting men in harness the minute they were married. The younger generation vows it won't repeat this mistake," he added.

Teen-aged boys still are unsuspecting, said Rand. "Male teens snicker at married friends doing housework. They believe it can't happen to them." Wanta bet?

Girls Are Smarter Today

By DOROTHY ROE

College girls are smarter today than they were in my campus days. They have learned how to handle fathers.

I have just been a secret and uninvited observer at a modern phenomenon known as Happy Pappy Weekend at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. This is an annual event to which all fathers of students are invited, and at which mothers are strictly out of place.

Last weekend 700 Happy Pappies showed up at Skidmore, straining the capacities of local hotels, motels and boarding houses. With a student body of 1,100 girls, this meant that every father within a day's traveling distance managed by hook or crook to get there.

They were all slightly dazed by the idea that their daughters would concel all dates for the weekend just to entertain dear old Dad.

Dormitories around the campus bore streamers lettered variously: "Welcome, Happy Pappies!" . . . "Yes sir, he's my Pappy" . . . and "Daddy, can you spare a dime?"

By instruction, the converging fathers brought along any relics of their own college days still wearable. Some sported moth-eaten raccoon coats, some wore freshman caps of vintage 1925, some even had retrieved from the attic bell-bottom trousers and fraternity blazers.

From the moment of arrival, the dazzled dads were given the full treatment usually accorded only to be favored boy friends. They were allowed to take their daughters out to dinner, were taken on conducted tours of the campus, were introduced to the faculty and house mothers and urged to dance the Charleston.

If, sometime during the festivities, the girls point out delicately that they need new furniture for the dormitory or insulation for the horse barn, fathers are in such a mellow glow that check-writing is relatively painless.

Restaurant and hotel owners report that Happy Pappy Weekend nets the biggest business of the year.

Daughters say that it's more fun even than their winter carnival.

Hen-Pecking In Store For Men

NEW YORK — Pity the future husbands of today's teen-aged girls. Dad's pipe-and-slipper comfort will be only a memory.

Teen-agers want their husbands to do more house work, says Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute, which surveys opinions of young Americans.

Most girls don't think men should sit around leisurely while wives put in a 10 to 14-hour day, Rand said.

"The girls also believe their mothers made a mistake by not putting men in harness the minute they were married. The younger generation vows it won't repeat this mistake," he added.

Teen-aged boys still are unsuspecting, said Rand. "Male teens snicker at married friends doing housework. They believe it can't happen to them." Wanta bet?

Girls Are Smarter Today

By DOROTHY ROE

College girls are smarter today than they were in my campus days. They have learned how to handle fathers.

I have just been a secret and uninvited observer at a modern phenomenon known as Happy Pappy Weekend at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. This is an annual event to which all fathers of students are invited, and at which mothers are strictly out of place.

Last weekend 700 Happy Pappies showed up at Skidmore, straining the capacities of local hotels, motels and boarding houses. With a student body of 1,100 girls, this meant that every father within a day's traveling distance managed by hook or crook to get there.

They were all slightly dazed by the idea that their daughters would concel all dates for the weekend just to entertain dear old Dad.

Dormitories around the campus bore streamers lettered variously: "Welcome, Happy Pappies!" . . . "Yes sir, he's my Pappy" . . . and "Daddy, can you spare a dime?"

By instruction, the converging fathers brought along any relics of their own college days still wearable. Some sported moth-eaten raccoon coats, some wore freshman caps of vintage 1925, some even had retrieved from the attic bell-bottom trousers and fraternity blazers.

From the moment of arrival, the dazzled dads were given the full treatment usually accorded only to be favored boy friends. They were allowed to take their daughters out to dinner, were taken on conducted tours of the campus, were introduced to the faculty and house mothers and urged to dance the Charleston.

If, sometime during the festivities, the girls point out delicately that they need new furniture for the dormitory or insulation for the horse barn, fathers are in such a mellow glow that check-writing is relatively painless.

Restaurant and hotel owners report that Happy Pappy Weekend nets the biggest business of the year.

Daughters say that it's more fun even than their winter carnival.

And fathers say, "Don't forget to invite us back next year!"

All-American Camellias Are Arranger's Delight

The Bard of Avon surely would agree that the midsummer night's dream had come true if only he could see the beauty of camellias in midwinter.

From the moment when autumn first touches the landscape with her magic paintbrush until well into spring, camellias brighten the corner where they are, adding beauty to the landscape and home and bringing joy to the human spirit despite winter's icy blasts and overcast skies.

Those fortunate gardeners in mild climate may revel particularly this season in the extra large and very beautiful blooms of Buddha, the distinctively different hybrid reticulata honored as its 1958 award winner by All-America Selections, Inc.

Flowers of Buddha, a warm pink in color, perhaps best described as phlox pink with contrasting veins of Tyrian rose, are of exotic form and extraordinary size and complement a healthy and vigorous plant, so strong and upright that it can be developed into a small tree.

In a season when freeze and cold spells may be both prolonged and abnormal, Buddha must be given protection throughout the south. The best device, of course, is a greenhouse, in which magnificent specimen blooms may be produced, flowers 'such as the breath - taking seven - inch one grown in Atlanta, Ga., and exhibited in the annual show of the Men's Camellia Club of New Orleans, where it won top honors as "Outstanding Specimen in Show—grown under glass." It also is practical to grow Buddha in a container, such as a redwood tub, which may be moved to shelter when the need arises. Although another bloom of Buddha, grown without protection out of doors, received a blue ribbon in that show and reticulatas frequently bloom successfully when so treated, for consistently good performance, protection must be provided.

Another beauty, Cinderella, the first All - America camellia continues to gain in popularity, with public demand for plants far exceeding the supply. A mid - season bloomer, Cinderella has been found to perform well during cold seasons.

Blossoms of Cinderella have a unique form and coloring which cause many to liken it to an old-fashioned valentine with many layers of lacy ruffles. Not quite as large a flower as Buddha, this fine camellia is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging. Its shadings and texture, frilly edges and richly veined variegations make it, like Buddha, an arranger's delight.

FROM THE MAGIC WAND—Like Cinderella, for whom it is named, this camellia, last year's still-popular All-America selection, changes from an ordinary green bush to a lavishly bedecked beauty as soon as the blooms appear. Cinderella is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging.

Still Time To Plant Glads

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you want a few gladiolas for cut flowers and still have not had the time to get them planted, you can still plant this month. Blooms from plantings made after March have not been very satisfactory. The early planted corms will produce more flowers than those planted late. Best results will probably be obtained if plants are not placed closer than four feet apart. Corms should be planted so that they will be covered with four inches of soil. Snow Princess is the leading white variety. Other whites are Maid of Orleans, Florence Nightingale. Fair Angel is a good creamy white.

Pink Picardy is still highly recommended, also, Spic and Span is a good pink. Ethel Cave Cole and Ros aVan Lima are good early light pinks.

Red Valeria is still the best all round red. Burma is an excellent dark red but is apt to burn fairly easily. Mid-America is a very large red one.

Margaret Wood is the most satisfactory purple tried.

Garden Of Daffodils

If you have a few minutes for a drive with your family this afternoon, I suggest you drive by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Henderson's on the Avant Road about one-half mile from Claiborne School on Highway 80. This is a beautiful garden of daffodils and they should be in full bloom today. I do not know of any garden that is more beautiful than the Henderson's at this time of the year with the mass planting of yellow daffodils in the gorgeous grove of pines.

Tour to Natchez

The 10 and 25 Year Club, organization of Home Demonstration women who have beer members for ten or twenty - five years, is sponsoring a garden tour to Natchez March 19. If you are interested in making this trip, call Mrs. T. T. Jones, FA 3-9005 Mrs. Earl Bower, FA 3-5909 or Mrs. Gertie Landrum, FA 2-0353.

Miss Rupert Perry, our home management specialist from LSU Agriculture Extension, gave the following interesting information at our workshop last week. Are Women important: More women vote than men. They outnumber the men by two million in the U. S. They own 51 per cent of the stock of all corporations. They own 74 per cent of the new homes, 40 per cent of all homes. They own two - thirds of all U. S. Savings (Series E) Bonds. They make 85 per cent of all consumer buying in the U. S. They own one - half of the shares in American Telephone & Telegraph, General Motors, U. S. Steel, and 40 per cent of the railroads. They own 65 per cent of the assets in mutual savings banks. They file 45 per cent of income tax return. They influence the decision of 90 per cent of automobile sales. They influence the decision of 62 per cent of hardware sales. They influence the decision of 77 per cent of sporting goods sales. They receive 70 per cent of estates left by men. They are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all private life insurance. Men may earn it but women decide what to do with it.

Monroe Host

This week from March 12 through March 15, Monroe will be host to Home Economists from all over the state beginning Wednesday afternoon. The Home Demonstration Agents Association and Assistants from the 64 parishes of the state will arrive to begin the association meeting, Thursday at 8:30 a.m. On Friday, the Home Economics teachers and Home Economists in business firms will join the Home Economics Convention which will continue through Saturday. Beginning at 2 p.m. at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, the meeting is open to none-members for a nominal fee.

Mrs. Wilson, who lives in North Ferrisburg, Vt., is the author of "Flower Arrangement for Churches" and "Color in Flower Arrangement."

Expecting to move soon? If so, a word of advice from a leading moving firm. Try to arrange to have your house clear of pets and small children when the mover arrives for your household furnishings. Presence of either tends to slow down the loading operation.

Aids Help Ease Pain Of Spring Cleanup Time

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The poets say lovely things about spring, but just ask any housewife what's on her mind, come these first few balmy days. She's thinking, no doubt, that it's dust-ridding time — time to air the house, ferret out cobwebs, make refurbishing plans.

One clue to a good housecleaning program is to assemble a collection of work aids. These should make cleaning a breeze, if you use cleaning accessories properly.

Tune up those old standbys, the vacuum cleaner and mop. Make sure your vacuum accessories are in good shape, that you have bag refills for the cleaner. If your mop needs a new sponge, replace it. If you are partial to string mops, there are new string type mops of sponge.

Stores should be combed for new cleaning aids that help lighten work. Be wary of some cleaning aids that advertise miracles in cleaning upholstery and rugs. Most housewives have had their fill of these cleaners which clean, but then manage to attract more dirt by the very chemicals that helped the cleaning action.

There are special cleaners available designed for specific action—cleaners for hard-surface flooring, linoleum, vinyl tile, asphalt tile, that require just a quick once-over mopping and no rinsing to clean the floors perfectly.

There are cleaners designed especially for painted surfaces and for bathroom and kitchen fixtures. New window cleaners may be sprayed out of a can and wiped off with a clean cloth or a paper towel.

A chamois buffer wrapped around a shoe or scrubbing brush is a wonderful duster to produce a mirror-like gloss on furniture. The little sueded fibers in the oil-tanned chamois help keep a lovely sheen on furniture.

THE HOME SHIFT

Verbena Is Candy Striped

By MILDRED SWIFT

Here's an invitation to groups to visit and tour the gardens in the Twin Cities. Just write Monroe Chamber of Commerce giving them the date you'll be here, the time of arrival and the number in your party. The Chamber of Commerce will arrange for two hostesses to guide you on the tour.

This invitation is to garden clubs, home demonstration clubs, church, school, and civic groups, or just a group who'd like to make the tour. Make your arrangements, now. We're expecting a full calendar.

Garden Highlights

Since so many of you had St. Augustine troubles last year, I'm going to repeat the new treatment from LSU Extension, Baton Rouge. Use Terrachlor for brown patch. This trouble starts at the roots, so the specialists advise using a good strong spray gun for applying the Terrachlor, so the poison will reach the fungus down there doing its dirty work. This fungus is almost the same as the petal blight on azaleas. This Terrachlor is also effective for web-worms.

In March, spray magnolias for terrapin scale using malathion. That is, if you see the scale on the woody part of the plant. The scale is large and easily visible. This is not too prevalent in north Louisiana, but can be mighty bad when it hits the tree.

New Verbena

There's a new verbena listed that goes by the name of Calypso. It is candy striped. There are times when old plants get out of favor for a number of years and are later resurrected. Bells of Ireland illustrates that very well. Now is the time to sow seed for this lovely foliage plant. It also dries beautifully for flower arrangements.

Another old fashioned plant that flower arrangers love is "Everlasting" or "Immortale." If you will notice the flower catalogues list 40 different varieties. These also dry well, take the drouth and require little care. They reseed and come up year after year. This is also called "Strawflower."

Chrysanthemums

For those interested in growing prize mums, there are some new All-America selections. However, these are not listed in catalogues yet, so you may have to wait a year or two until they are available. First is "Showpiece," a royal rose colored, very large plant that loads its stems with massive lovely four-inch flowers. "Emperor," gold colored, quite decorative, blooms in late September. "Burning Bronze" grows to a two and a half foot bush with an exciting blossom of mahogany bronze over a scarlet base. "Ruby King," is a cushion type bloom of ruby red and is double flowered.

More Gardening

It is amazing, the number of camellia blossoms we're having after the freezes. Of course, the blooms now come from buds that were tight at freeze time, so were not effected. It was such a wet freeze, too. For that reason we're not having the usual bud drop from camellias and Japanese magnolias.

Don't forget to plant a eucalyptus tree. These can be purchased at local nurseries. There are two varieties and you can select the one you like best. The difference is in the way the stem grows through the leaf. In the Twin Cities, I notice many of these trees that the freeze just didn't touch. We've believed in the past that eucalyptus would not survive north Louisiana winters. Stake the tree the first year. If it grows very tall the first season, top it in June. This will make a better shaped plant. The florists use this material in arrangements quite often.

From now on, bulbs that have finished blooming are storing up food for next year's blooms. Give them some bone meal, cut off the dead blooms so they'll not go to seed. And be real kind to the husband and plead with him not to mow them down. Let the tops die naturally.

When bulbs are in this state, you make a promise to yourself that you'll move them in late summer. That is, you'll move them to a less conspicuous spot in the yard. They're so pretty while they're pretty and so ugly when they're not pretty.

Just Talking

If you're traveling with a baby, hang a cotton shoe bag on back of the car's front seat. The bag will make an excellent storage place for food, clothing and toys on a long trip.

Here's news from the gadget counter — a double-duty measuring cup. No need to dry the cup when changing from liquid to dry measures. Instead, just flip it over. Accurate measurements are clearly marked on top and bottom for each cup. It will be on the market soon.

Even a mud pie looks pretty with frothy icing. Treat the youngsters to a big bowl of thick, stiffly beaten soap or detergent suds tinted with vegetable coloring. This frosting will add great zest to juvenile pie making, indoors and out.

When laundering pure linen table cloths and napkins, never starch them. Press while damp, first on the wrong side, then on the right. This brings out the natural luster.

Announcements

Your Open House Programs for next week are: Monday and Tuesday — Glenda Willet and Jean Cloy, from Jackson Parish, will show hints on seams and hems; Wednesday — Mary Margaret Jardine will bring you the flower arrangement and we'll have some guests from the Louisiana Home Economics Association; Thursday —marketing with Mildred; Friday, "Eggs," with E. Hathaway, from LSU Extension.

Mrs. Nora Phillips, 504½ Jonesboro Road, will give dusty miller plants and iris to any of you who will go by and dig them. If you have nandina or violet plants you would like to share, call me. There are those who need form for special projects.

See you next Sunday.

Doddering Trees Get New Vigor From Treatments

You can't turn old trees out to pasture although they are afflicted with many of the problems of advancing age. Modern tree care practices, however, can greatly extend their life spans.

The arboreal approach to geriatrics, the science of the study and treatment of disabilities and diseases brought on by old age, usually calls for a basic three-point program. Davey tree experts, who have successfully cared for many ancient tree monarchs, including the famous George Washington horsechestnut at Fredericksburg, Va., say regular pruning, feeding and soil aeration keep them relatively healthy and beautiful for many added years. The same technique applies to venerable tree friends on home properties.

Where the infirmities of age are causing die - back, the initial treatment may be rather severe pruning to reduce the physical load. This encourages new growth and better foliage beauty. The treatment should be augmented with adequate feeding, a paretice that must be repeated every year or two. Feeding, by boring of holes over the entire root surface and applying fertilizers high in nitrogen content insures adequate nutrients. The feeding holes when filled with peat moss do much to combat the compacting of the soil. Feeding roots must have plenty of air as well as nourishment and moisture.

FOR 4 ROOMS, 3 HOURS

How long does it take a mover to load and unload the furnishings of a 4-room apartment? Approximately three hours, estimate moving experts, providing there are no extraordinary circumstances. It will require more time if there is a particularly long "carry" from house to van.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Split Bark Is Great Danger

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The browned leaves on boxwood and other broadleaf evergreens do not necessarily indicate that the plants are dead. When spring comes, it will be found that some plants are damaged only in the foliage. Some will have dead twigs, and others may actually be killed back badly. Some of the plants in a hedge or in the same planting will have suffered badly, while others are hardly injured at all.

Split Stem

One kind of severe damage with which we southern gardeners have become familiar is the bursting or splitting of the bark on tender plants. This injury is really drastic if you do not discover it and do something about it right away. Look over you azaleas from the point where the stems come out of the ground up to the branches. If the bark looks as if it had been split, it will soon begin to peel back and show the damage. To keep the shrubs alive while they make new growth from the ground and restore themselves, it is necessary to tape the split branches back together. First, tape them together tightly in several places around the stem. Then you can tape the split edges together up and down the stem. If the wood and buds are not otherwise injured, normal growth will take place when warm weather stimulates the sap flow.

We can expect most of the buds on many kinds of azaleas to have been killed this year. We already know that a great percentage of camellia buds will never open. Especially where you are trying to grow the "tender indica azaleas" that are really hardy in only the warm climate along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, you will have lots of azalea damage. Your columnist arrived one cold winter just as spring was showing up the cold damage on indica azaleas in Monroe. The lady who introduced him to his audience said, "Mr. Hunt told us several years ago to grow Kurume azaleas and leave out the indicas. He has arrived in time to see the wisdom of his words."

New Varieties

Since that time, our nurseries have been offering us many fine kinds of beautiful azaleas with blossoms as big as those of the indica type but with buds and bushes as hardy to cold as the Kurumes. One of these groups is called the Glenn Dale Azaleas, and we have referred to these beautiful flowers before in this space. The colors run through every imaginable shade and hue. The names run through the alphabet from Abbott to Youth! In the Glenn Dales, you may have flowers as large or larger than those of the indicas on shrubs hardy to the cold weather.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Bernice Gives First Show

By MARY M. JARDINE

Visitors to the Garden Center were delighted with the beautiful flower show staged by members of the Bernice Garden Club. The club was organized less than a year ago and this is their first exhibit.

The horticulture was outstanding and all in the blue ribbon class. Awards were as follows: Mrs. Clyde C. Colvin, camellias var. Chandleri Elegans, Mrs. J. E. Reeves, daffodils, varieties Wodan, and Unsurpassable and a collection of Lady VanSittart camellias; Mrs. W. C. Reeves, daffodil Brookville.

In the arrangement section first place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. W. C. Reeves. For her container Mrs. Reeves selected a shell shaped bowl of light beige with an iridescent lining. The design had a windswept effect and was composed of curved branches of clipped pine and Unsurpassable daffodils. The needle holder was concealed with small shells and large ivy leaves placed low tied the plant material to the container.

Mrs. G. E. Lindsey, Sr. created an airy arrangement, Oriental in feeling. A small Japanese Usabata held line placements of pussy-willow and large yellow daffodils. A lovely combination of materials and container. This design would look well on top of a small book case or chest.

Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Jr. created a lovely line arrangement in a yellow pitcher. Line placements of ivy followed the outline of the pitcher. The design was emphasized with yellow daffodils following the established line. Most arrangers find it difficult to design good arrangements in pitchers. They are always more pleasing if the lines of the container are followed as in this instance. Mechanics used were ivy wired to the handle of the pitcher, the leaves concealing the wire. This will keep fresh for some time if conditioned overnight by submerging in a pan of water. The second mechanic was a woody stick, wedged into the mouth of the container. The stick was split about three quarters of the length to provide a space for the plant material. This mechanic has been used for many years by the Japanese. Flower placements may be further re-inforced by floral clay.

Mrs. W. R. Lynn designed a delightful arrangement using a palm spathe in natural color for her container. Background placements were three iris leaves, graduated in size. The gray green of dusty miller was used as intermediate material and the foliage and flowers of Angel Wing Begonia were used as a center of interest. Some of the leaves were reversed showing the deep red color which blended beautifully with the flowers.

Mrs. W. C. Reeves designed our extra of the week. Pear blossoms and lovely white camellias were arranged in a line mass design. The Japanese container set on its own stand was black. The selection of materials and container was most appropriate. This was staged against a pale pink background which emphasized the Oriental feeling.

The Garden Clubs of the Fifth District have been invited to participate in the Home Show and Spring Festival sponsored by the Northeast Louisiana Association of Home Builders in Monroe May 5 to 11. A letter of acceptance has been received from our director, Mrs. J. W. Huckabay. Be sure to mark the dates. Each garden club in the district will be invited to exhibit and you will receive shortly a letter of invitation.

All-American Camellias Are Arranger's Delight

The Bard of Avon surely would agree that the midsummer night's dream had come true if only he could see the beauty of camellias in midwinter.

From the moment when autumn first touches the landscape with her magic paintbrush until well into spring, camellias brighten the corner where they are, adding beauty to the landscape and home and bringing joy to the human spirit despite winter's icy blasts and overcast skies.

Those fortunate gardeners in mild climate may revel particularly this season in the extra large and very beautiful blooms of Buddha, the distinctively different hybrid reticulata honored as its 1958 award winner by All-America Selections, Inc.

Flowers of Buddha, a warm pink in color, perhaps best described as phlox pink with contrasting veins of Tyrian rose, are of exotic form and extraordinary size and complement a healthy and vigorous plant, so strong and upright that it can be developed into a small tree.

In a season when freeze and cold spells may be both prolonged and abnormal, Buddha must be given protection throughout the south. The best device, of course, is a greenhouse, in which magnificent specimen blooms may be produced, flowers 'such as the breath - taking seven - inch one grown in Atlanta, Ga., and exhibited in the annual show of the Men's Camellia Club of New Orleans, where it won top honors as "Outstanding Specimen in Show—grown under glass." It also is practical to grow Buddha in a container, such as a redwood tub, which may be moved to shelter when the need arises. Although another bloom of Buddha, grown without protection out of doors, received a blue ribbon in that show and reticulatas frequently bloom successfully when so treated, for consistently good performance, protection must be provided.

Another beauty, Cinderella, the first All - America camellia continues to gain in popularity, with public demand for plants far exceeding the supply. A mid - season bloomer, Cinderella has been found to perform well during cold seasons.

Blossoms of Cinderella have a unique form and coloring which cause many to liken it to an old-fashioned valentine with many layers of lacy ruffles. Not quite as large a flower as Buddha, this fine camellia is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging. Its shadings and texture, frilly edges and richly veined variegations make it, like Buddha, an arranger's delight.

FROM THE MAGIC WAND—Like Cinderella, for whom it is named, this camellia, last year's still-popular All-America selection, changes from an ordinary green bush to a lavishly bedecked beauty as soon as the blooms appear. Cinderella is rose pink, veined crimson and bordered with a white, fimbriated edging.

EXTENSION NEWS AND VIEWS

Still Time To Plant Glads

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you want a few gladiolas for cut flowers and still have not had the time to get them planted, you can still plant this month. Blooms from plantings made after March have not been very satisfactory. The early planted corms will produce more flowers than those planted late. Best results will probably be obtained if plants are not placed closer than four feet apart. Corms should be planted so that they will be covered with four inches of soil. Snow Princess is the leading white variety. Other whites are Maid of Orleans, Florence Nightingale. Fair Angel is a good creamy white.

Pink Picardy is still highly recommended, also, Spic and Span is a good pink, Ethel Cave Cole and Ros aVan Lima are good early light pinks.

Red Valeria is still the best all round red. Burma is an excellent dark red but is apt to burn fairly easily. Mid-America is a very large red one.

Margaret Wood is the most satisfactory purple tried.

Garden Of Daffodils

If you have a few minutes for a drive with your family this afternoon, I suggest you drive by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Henderson's on the Avant Road about one-half mile from Claiborne School on Highway 80. This is a beautiful garden of daffodils and they should be in full bloom today. I do not know of any garden that is more beautiful than the Henderson's at this time of the year with the mass planting of yellow daffodils in the gorgeous grove of pines.

Tour to Natchez

The 10 and 25 Year Club, organization of Home Demonstration women who have been members for ten or twenty - five years, is sponsoring a garden tour to Natchez March 19. If you are interested in making this trip, call Mrs. T. T. Jones, FA 3-9005 Mrs. Pearl Bower, FA 3-5909 or Mrs. Gertie Landrum, FA 2-0353.

Miss Rupert Perry, our home management specialist from LSU Agriculture Extension, gave the following interesting information at our workshop last week. Are Women important? More women vote than men. They own about two - thirds of the two million in the U. S. They own 51 per cent of the stock of all corporations. They own 74 per cent of the new homes, 40 per cent of all homes. They own two - thirds of all U. S. Savings (Series E) Bonds. They make 85 per cent of all consumer buying in the U. S. They own one - half of the shares in American Telephone & Telegraph, General Motors, U. S. Steel, and 40 per cent of the railroads. They own 65 per cent of the assets in mutual savings banks. They file 45 per cent of income tax return. They influence the decision of 90 per cent of automobile sales. They influence the decision of 62 per cent of hardware sales. They influence the decision of 77 per cent of sporting goods sales. They receive 70 per cent of estates left by men. They are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all private life insurance. Men may earn it but women decide what to do with it.

Monroe Host

This week from March 12 through March 15, Monroe will be host to Home Economists from all over the state beginning Wednesday afternoon. The Home Demonstration Agents Association and Assistants from the 64 parishes of the state will arrive to begin the association meeting, Thursday at 8:30 a.m. On Friday, the Home Economics teachers and Home Economists in business firms will join the Home Economics Convention which will continue through Saturday. The president of the Home Demonstration Agents Association is Miss Winnie Magee from St. Tammany Parish and the president of LHEA is Mrs. Urada Taylor from Alexandria. These two will be in charge of the two conventions.

Out of state speakers for LHEA will be Miss Beth Peterson, Home Economist for DuPont from Wilmington, Delaware; and Dr. Miriam E. Lowenberg, head of Foods and Nutrition Department of College of Home Economics, Pennsylvania State University.

Thought For The Week

If you are dog tired at night, maybe it's because you have been growling all day.

Flower Expert To Speak Tomorrow To Garden Club

Mrs. Adelaide B. Wilson, noted authority on flower growing and arranging, will be the guest speaker tomorrow at the meeting of the Monroe Garden Club.

Beginning at 2 p.m. at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, the meeting is open to none-members for a nominal fee.

Mrs. Wilson, who lives in North Ferrisburg, Vt., is the author of "Flower Arrangement for Churches" and "Color in Flower Arrangement."

A former president of the Garden Club of New Jersey and chairman for the state at the International Flower Show, Mrs. Wilson will present a demonstration lecture to the club here.

KEEP THE PETS AWAY

Expecting to move soon? If so, a word of advice from a leading moving firm. Try to arrange to have your house clear of pets and small children when the mover arrives for your household furnishings. Presence of either tends to slow down the loading operation.

Aids Help Ease Pain Of Spring Cleanup Time

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The poets say lovely things about spring, but just ask any housewife what's on her mind, come those first few balmy days. She's thinking, no doubt, that it's dust-ridding time — time to air the house, ferret out cobwebs, make refurbishing plans.

One clue to a good housecleaning program is to assemble a collection of work aids. These should make cleaning a breeze, if you use cleaning accessories properly.

Tune up those old standbys, the vacuum cleaner and mop. Make sure your vacuum accessories are in good shape, that you have bag refills for the cleaner. If your mop needs a new sponge, replace it. If you are partial to string mops, there are new string type mops of sponge.

Stores should be combed for new cleaning aids that help lighten work. Be wary of some cleaning aids that advertise miracles in cleaning upholstery and rugs. Most housewives have had their fill of these cleaners which clean, but then manage to attract more dirt by the very chemicals that helped the cleaning action.

There are special cleaners available designed for specific action—cleaners for hard-surface flooring, linoleum, vinyl tile, asphalt tile, that require just a quick once-over mopping and no rinsing to clean the floors perfectly.

There are cleaners designed especially for painted surfaces and for bathroom and kitchen fixtures. New window cleaners may be sprayed out of a can and wiped off with a clean cloth or a paper towel.

A chamois buffer wrapped around a shoe or scrubbing brush is a wonderful duster to produce a mirror-like gloss on furniture. The little sueded fibers in the oil-tanned chamois help keep a lovely sheen on furniture.

THE HOME SHIFT

Verbena Is Candy Striped

By MILDRED SWIFT

Here's an invitation to groups to visit and tour the gardens in the Twin Cities. Just write Monroe Chamber of Commerce giving them the date you'll be here, the time of arrival and the number in your party. The Chamber of Commerce will arrange for two hostesses to guide you on the tour. "This invitation is to garden clubs, home demonstration clubs, church, school, and civic groups, or just a group who'd like to make the tour. Make your arrangements, now. We're expecting a full calendar.

Garden Highlights

Since so many of you had St. Augustine troubles last year, I'm going to repeat the new treatment from LSU Extension, Baton Rouge. Use Terrachlor for brown patch. This trouble starts at the roots, so the specialists advise using a good strong spray gun for applying the Terrachlor, so the poison will reach the fungus down there doing its dirty work. This fungus is almost the same as the petal blight on azaleas. This Terrachlor is also effective for web-worms.

In March, spray magnolias for terrapin scale using malathion. That is, if you see the scale on the woody part of the plant. The scale is large and easily visible. This is not too prevalent in north Louisiana, but can be mighty bad when it hits the tree.

New Verbena

There's a new verbena listed that goes by the name of Calypso. It is candy striped. There are times when old plants get out of favor for a number of years and are later resurrected. Bells of Ireland illustrates that very well. Now is the time to sow seed for this lovely foliage plant. It also dries beautifully for flower arrangements.

Another old fashioned plant that flower arrangers love is "Everlasting" or "Immortale." If you will notice the flower catalogues list 40 different varieties. These also make a good dried material. It's easy to grow, take the drouth and require little care. They reseed and come up year after year. This is also called "Strawflower."

Chrysanthemums

For those interested in growing prize mums, there are some new All-America selections. However, these are not listed in catalogues yet, so you may have to wait a year or two until they are available. First is "Showpiece," a royal rose colored, very large plant that loads its stems with massive lovely four-inch flowers. "Emperor," gold colored, quite decorative, blooms in late September. "Burning Bronze" grows to a two and a half foot bush with an exciting blossom of mahogany bronze over a scarlet base. "Ruby King," is a cushion type bloom of ruby red and is double flowered.

More Gardening

It is amazing, the number of camellia blossoms we're having after the freezes. Of course, the blooms now come from buds that were tight at freeze time, so were not effected. It was such a wet freeze, too. For that reason we're not having the usual bud drop from camellias and Japanese magnolias.

Don't forget to plant a eucalyptus tree. These can be purchased at local nurseries. There are two varieties and you can select the one you like best. The difference is in the way the stem grows through the leaf. In the Twin Cities, I notice many of these trees that the freeze just didn't touch. We've believed in the past that eucalyptus would not survive north Louisiana winters. Stake the tree the first year. If it grows very tall the first season, top it in June. This will make a bush shaped plant. The florists use this material in arrangements quite often.

From now on, bulbs that have finished blooming are storing up food for next year's blooms. Give them some bone meal, cut off the dead blooms so they'll not go to seed. And be real kind to the husband and plead with him not to mow them down. Let the tops die naturally.

When bulbs are in this state, you make a promise to yourself that you'll move them in late summer. That is, you'll move them to a less conspicuous spot in the yard. They're so pretty while they're pretty and so ugly when they're not pretty.

Just Talking

If you're traveling with a baby, hang a cotton shoe bag on back of the car's front seat. The bag will make an excellent storage place for food, clothing and toys on a long trip.

Here's news from the gadget counter — a double-duty measuring cup. No need to dry the cup when changing from liquid to dry measures. Instead, just flip it over. Accurate measurements are clearly marked on top and bottom for each cup. It will be on the market soon.

Even a mud pie looks pretty with frothy icing. Treat the youngsters to a big bowl of thick, stiffly beaten soap or detergent suds tinted with vegetable coloring. This frosting will add great zest to juvenile pie making, indoors and out.

When laundering pure linen table cloths and napkins, never starch them. Press while damp, first on the wrong side, then on the right. This brings out the natural luster.

Announcements

Your Open House Programs for next week are: Monday and Tuesday — Glenda Willet and Jean Cloy, from Jackson Parish, will show hints on seams and hems; Wednesday — Mary Margaret Jardine will bring you the flower arrangement and we'll have some guests from the Louisiana Home Economics Association; Thursday —marketing with Mildred; Friday, "Eggs," with E. Hathaway, from LSU Extension.

Mrs. Nora Phillips, 504½ Jonesboro Road, will give you dusty miller plants and iris to any of you who would like to have them. If you have nandina or any plants you would like to share, call me. There are those who need form for special projects.

See you next Sunday.

Doddering Trees Get New Vigor From Treatments

You can't turn old trees out to pasture although they are afflicted with many of the problems of advancing age. Modern tree care practices, however, can greatly extend their life spans.

The arboreal approach to geriatrics, the science of the study and treatment of disabilities and diseases brought on by old age, usually calls for a basic three-point program. Davey tree experts, who have successfully cared for many ancient tree monarchs, including the famous George Washington horsechestnut at Fredericksburg, Va., say regular pruning, feeding and soil aeration keep them relatively healthy and beautiful for many added years. The same technique applies to venerable tree friends on home properties.

Where the infirmities of age are causing die - back, the initial treatment may be rather severe pruning to reduce the physical load. This encourages new growth and better foliage beauty. The treatment should be augmented with adequate feeding, a parctice that must be repeated every year or two. Feeding, by boring of holes over the entire root surface and applying fertilizers high in nitrogen content insures adequate nutrients. The feeding holes when filled with peat moss do much to combat the compacting of the soil. Feeding roots must have plenty of air as well as nourishment and moisture.

FOR 4 ROOMS, 3 HOURS

How long does it take a mover to load and unload the furnishings of a 4-room apartment? Approximately three hours, estimate moving experts, providing there are no extraordinary circumstances. It will require more time if there is a particularly long "carry" from house to van.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Split Bark Is Great Danger

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The browned leaves on boxwood and other broadleaf evergreens do not necessarily indicate that the plants are dead. When spring comes, it will be found that some plants are damaged only in the foliage. Some will have dead twigs, and others may actually be killed back badly. Some of the plants in a hedge or in the same planting will have suffered badly, while others are hardly injured at all.

Split Stem

One kind of severe damage with which we southern gardeners have become familiar is the bursting or splitting of the bark on tender plants. This injury is really drastic if you do not discover it and do something about it right away. Look over you azaleas from the point where the stems come out of the ground up to the branches. If the bark looks as if it had been split, it will soon begin to peel back and show the damage. To keep the shrubs alive while they make new growth from the ground and restore themselves, it is necessary to tape the split branches back together. First, tape them together tight, in several places around the stem. Then you can tape the split edges together up and down the stem. If the wood and buds are not otherwise injured, normal growth will take place when warm weather stimulates the sap flow.

Texas Town Building Exact Replica Of Famed Alamo

[illegible] ... the small Texas ... by Mexican ... troops in 1836 was on the outlying walls. The final stand was in the church.

To make the necessary 500,000 adobe bricks, water was the first consideration. A well was drilled to provide it. An area 100 miles around Brackettville was scoured for the best adobe makers.

Brackettville Enterprises hopes to make use of the replica when the filming is finished. They have plans to build an airconditioned sound stage to attract other movie makers and TV film companies.

The Alamo itself was a church, but it was surrounded by a network of walls. The replica will have approximately one mile of stone and adobe walls, 10 feet ...

Teen-Age Czech Idol Prodigy

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (P) — Communist Czechoslovakia has a teen-age idol.

Her name is Jindra Kramperova. A strikingly pretty 17-year-old, Jindra seems to succeed at everything she tries.

She is Czechoslovakia's national figure skating champion — so good that she represented her country at the Cortina d' Ampezo Winter Olympic Games when she was just 15.

And Jindra is a musical prodigy who gave her first piano concert at the tender age of 11.

She's a whiz at school. Although she attends only five hours a day because of her heavy schedule of skating and piano practice, Jindra rates second in her class.

She began skating at 6 because she was physically weak and her family thought exercise was necessary. She took her first piano lesson at 9. At 11 she was skating publicly to music she composed herself.

A year ago in the West Berlin Sporthalle she delighted the crowd by an exhibition of skating —then had a piano dragged on the ice and played a Mozart concert.

Now her picture appears in the magazines and admirers ask for autographs.

And almost every teen-age girl in Czechoslovakia wishes she were Jindra.

United Nations Official Seal On Stamp Issue

The United Nations official seal, which originally was prepared by the Presentation Branch of the U. S. Office of Strategic Services in April, 1945, will be the third United Nations stamp of 1958.

The 8 cent blue adhesive will be placed on sale June 2.

The seal was devised in response to a request for a button design for the San Francisco Conference at which the U. N. Charter was drafted and approved. A number of modifications have been made in the official seal since its first acceptance and the new stamp will bear the seal as it appears today.

The design for this new stamp was prepared by Herbert Sanborn of the United States. He is a member of the U. N. Graphic Presentation Section.

Further details about the stamp will be given in this column soon.

Liechtenstein has issued a new set of four sports stamps. The 15 rappen depicts swimming, 30 r fencing, 40 r tennis, 90 r cycling. Also issued on the same day were two new stamps for the International Exhibition at Brussels. The 25 r and 40 r show a relief map of Liechtenstein.

West Germany has issued a new stamp publicizing its anti-forest fire campaign. The 20 pfennigs green stamp shows the burned tops of trees. Over the trees in white lettering is "Verhueter Wald Braende." This means "Avoid Forest Fires."

Almost 3,200 stamps picturing various topical subjects were issued by the governments of the world during 1957. This list was compiled by the American Topical Assn. in its latest bulletin.

Filming Often Presents Many Hidden Dangers

By RON BURTON

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)— Actors take chances — and not just in Los Angeles tarffic. There are lots of scenes in which stars themselves are exposed to various types of danger, some of which could do considerable injury.

"The Buccaneer" now being filmed at Paramount has just such scenes. One series of them is laid in a replica of a Louisiana swamp, and one actor familiar with such swamps said the Paramount swamp is an accurate reproduction of the real thing.

The stars in this case are Charlton Heston and Yul Brynner, who portray Gen. Andrew Jackson and the pirate patriot, Jean Lafitte, respectively.

"It's called 'exterior swampy terrain' on the call sheet," said director Anthony Quinn. "Sure looks like it, too. In fact, it should look like it, because it is. We've got cypress with moss all over, clump of cattails, rotting logs, muddy grass, palmettos — just what should be in a swamp.

"We're using 19th century rockets in this story about the Battle of New Orleans in the War of 1812. The scene this time has pirates advancing through the swamp toward the battle line, dodging the rockets as they go."

Quinn said things got a bit tricky in the scene.

"If anything goes wrong during the advance, just keep going" his assistant, Chico Day, advised over a loudspeaker. "We've got plenty of men on the sidelines to take care of anyone who gets hurt."

"That sure is a comforting thought," said Brynner as the scene was about to start.

Texas Town Building Exact Replica Of Famed Alamo

BRACKETVILLE, Tex. (AP)—This Texas town is learning from backbreaking experience how much sweat went into building the Alamo more than 200 years ago.

They're finding out while building another here in Southwest Texas, 100 miles from the original "cradle of Texas liberty" in San Antonio.

The movie is not a pure love of history. The construction is in preparation for filming a movie to be named "The Alamo."

J. T. (Happy) Shahan, Kinney County rancher, negotiated a deal with John Wayne's Batjac Productions whereby the company agreed to shoot the picture in Kinney County if residents would guarantee half a million homemade bricks like those in the original Alamo.

It took most of Bracketville's 2,000 population to get the project rolling. An organization called Bracketville Enterprise was formed.

The Alamo itself was a church, but it was surrounded by a network of walls. The replica will have approximately one mile of stone and adobe walls, 10 feet high and 3 feet thick. Much of the fighting by the small Texas force wiped out by Mexican troops in 1836 was on the outlying walls. The final stand was in the church.

To make the necessary 500,000 adobe bricks, water was the first consideration. A well was drilled to provide it. An area 100 miles around Bracketville was scoured for the best adobe makers.

Bracketville Enterprises hopes to make use of the replica when the filming is finished. They have plans to build an airconditioned sound stage to attract other movie makers and TV film companies.

Teen-Age Czech Idol Prodigy

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia has a teen-age idol.

Her name is Jindra Kramperova. A strikingly pretty 17-year-old, Jindra seems to succeed at everything she tries.

She is Czechoslovakia's national figure skating champion — so good that she represented her country at the Cartina d' Ampezo Winter Olympic Games when she was just 15.

And Jindra is a musical prodigy who gave her first piano concert at the tender age of 11.

She's a whiz at school. Although she attends only five hours a day because of her heavy schedule of skating and piano practice, Jindra rates second in her class.

She began skating at 6 because she was physically weak and her family thought exercise was necessary. She tool her first piano lesson at 9. At 11 she was skating publicly to music she composed herself.

A year ago in the West Berlin Sporthalle she delighted the crowd by an exhibition of skating —then had a piano dragged on the ice and played a Mozart concert.

Now her picture appears in the magazines and admirers ask for autographs.

And almost every teen-age girl in Czechoslovakia wishes she were Jindra.

Second Work Turns Out As Excellent

THEY CAME TO CORDURA by Glendon Swarthout (Random House, $3.50.)

In one sense, this is a novel based on our abortive Punitive Expedition in 1916 against Mexico's famous revolutionist and bandit, Francisco (Pancho) Villa. In another, and truer, sense it is an exploration of the human heart and of one of its most mysterious attributes: courage.

It concerns itself with Major Thorn, awards officer of the campaign, ordered by General Pershing to escort five cavalrymen slated for the Medal of Honor (men of Socrates' so - called "golden race") across the barren state of Chihuahua to Cordura and safety. With the group is the hot - blooded "Geary woman," a prisoner suspected of treachery.

Major Thorn is tortured by what he mistakenly believes to be a secret. In an earlier action he has been unable to summon up the courage appropriate to an officer and a gentleman; he has, in fact, been guilty of cowardice. That is why the heroes in his charge fascinate him, why he worships them. However brutally and even bestially they may react on the almost impossible trek —beset by hunger, thirst, lust, fever and fear he feels dedicated to accomplish his mission of shepherding them to Cordura, so death cannot cheat them of personally receiving the supreme award for their one - time magnificent conduct. He has a fixation to understand and to save them.

How Thorn, because of this compulsion, forces his way against fearful odds through desert country and moral jungle, and how chance solves the seemingly insoluble, makes a unique reading experience.

Alamo Glory Re-Explored In New Book

13 DAYS TO GLORY: THE SIEGE OF THE ALAMO. By Lon Tinkle. McGraw - Hill. $3.95.

Santa Anna closed in on the Alamo on Feb. 23, 1836, and by March 6 he was ready with his thousands of soldiers to unleash the final assault on the less than 200 men under Travis. Bowie, co - commander, was injured and bed-ridden; the famous Davy Crockett did his immortal best; and the entire garrison sold its lives dearly on one of the great days of our history.

In a stirring account dug with scholarly thoroughness out of a great mass of source material, Tinkle tells how and why "Remember the Alamo" became an unforgettable battle cry.

Written by a Texas teacher and editor, it won the local, authoritative praise which counts from numerous reviewers, among them Frank H. King who called it "a swift story of the siege" and "a penetrating study'. from which "the men of the Alamo emerge with new stature." He continued:

"New material from the little known 'Travis diary' shows him in a new light as a passionate man who yearned for life and a new family as he wrote his messages of doom.

"This story of the days to glory explores every facet of the Alamo epic. It includes a scholarly analysis of the legend of the line Travis drew with his sword on the dirt floor of the Alamo and then asked those who would fight and die with him to cross over. One man refused and fled.

"Historians may doubt. But most of us line up with J. Frank Dobie. As a boy when Dobie visited the old fortress he first looked—as many still do — for the place where Travis drew the line. 'Nobody forgets the line,' says Dobie. 'It is drawn too deep and straight.' "

Face The Future Is Good Reading

FACE THE FUTURE By John M. Work (Vantage Press. $3)

For a long while John M. Work has been saying things people ought to hear and seldom do. In this book, Face the Future, as in all his writings, he pinpoints with charm, wit, and a total lack of pretentiousness, the foibles and the follies of our way of life, and discusses how to eliminate them in order to create a future no one will be ashamed — or afraid — to face. His answer? Democratic socialism.

"We want our country to stand for liberty and justice for everyone, do we not? Any thinking person must be painfully aware that it is not doing so at this writing. Why isn't it . . . and how can it?

"Please don't get me wrong. America is a thousand times better — yes, a ... times better —than any ...tarian country. But . . . it nevertheless falls tragically short of the goal of liberty and justice for all."

"Three villains" — ignorance, prejudice, and inertia — must be exterminated before we can build a world fit to live in, the author affirms. It can be done, he believes, if each of us puts his social conscience into action and goes forward as a reasoning, courageous adult. With Browning, Mr. Work cries, "Make no more giants, God, but elevate the race at once!"

Calling for a new awareness of the need for improving the genus Homo, he challenges us to re-evaluate our own beliefs . . . and prejudices; for, says Mr. Work: "In an atomic age, fundamental thought and action are more than ever essential. I urge that we rise to the occasion . . . that we face the future."

MADE UP OF PEOPLE

Charity Hospital Is More Than Bldg.

By STANLEY MEISLER

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (AP)— A hospital is more than bricks and stones and broken bones.

It is a nun swishing heavily past the schizophrenic patient who says he stepped down from the cross.

It is a young intern sweating his eyeglasses for the woman who hears a dragon in her ear.

It is a cool nurse minding the charts while a tiny thing squirms for life, and a blood-stained surgeon cutting swift and sure at a senseless giant.

A hospital is people.

In New Orleans, more than 600,000, a total almost equal to the city's population, seek medical help at Charity Hospital each year. About 75,000 remain for treatment in the 3,062 hospital beds. Almost 3,000 die, while almost 13,000 are born, about 35 each day.

Medical treatment is in the hands of 230 resident doctors and 130 interns. About 40 nuns, 100 head nurses, 150 nurses, 240 practical nurses and 800 nurse aids, helped and watched by 200 students, take care of the ill. The total hospital payroll comprises 3,200 employes. There are almost as many off the payroll, for Charity Hospital uses 2,400 volunteers and another group of 600 people, including the nuns and doctors paid by other organizations.

But these awesome figures do not tell the full story of one of America's great and gigantic institutions.

Real Story

The real story of Charity or any other hospital may be caught only by watching and hearing and understanding the people who make up these numbers. . .

On the third floor, Sister Juliana stepped quickly through the psychiatric wards. She stepped in a long tradition, for the Sisters of Charity, the Roman Catholic order to which she belongs, took over the nursing duties of the hospital in 1834.

The 36-year-old Sister Juliana, born in Chicago, came to Charity Hospital in 1939, the year the new building was completed at a cost of almost 13 million dollars. Three years later, the young nun was appointed head of psychiatric nursing, a job she stillholds. —

She explains that being a nun, a symbol of protection, has advantages in psychiatry. Patients, seeking security, understand the rustling skirts, the starched head dress, the scrubbed pink face mean kindness and help. Some patients may approach her more easily than other nurses. Her religious habit brings rapport.

One patient, John, a schizophenic, sulked in a corridor by the elevators. His bathrobe was loosely closed around his pajamas. He puffed a cigarette quickly and nervously.

"Sister Juliana," he said in a hurried, indignant tone. "They just took me off the cross after I was up there two years. They thought I was crazy during my first 33 years. And now they also think I'm crazy."

No Shock

No shock, no embarrassment, no fear came from Sister Juliana, just a smile. There is a difference been sacrilege and illness. She patted him on the arm, spoke a few words, kind words, and stepped on. . .

On the ground floor, Joe Holden, a 28-year-old intern, returned to the emergency room from an ambulance call. He had caught a couple who lost their auto race to the hospital. By the roadside, Joe delivered a baby.

Joe, a thin man who squints behind eyeglasses and often talks softly and unsurely, did not find the adventure more dramatic than his other deliveries. Tonight was his 61st.

If Joe, who wants to be a general practitioner, were an intern at a private hospital, he probably would have fewer deliveries to his credit. But at Charity, the medical school graduates, who spend at least a month in each hospital department, do much of the actual work.

A Negro woman, her face twisted by unceasing pain, slipped into one of the cubicles in the emergency room, which was Joe's assignment this month. She cupped her ear with a hand and moaned. After hunting new batteries for his instrument, Joe peeked inside her ear. He spied a roach.

Roach In Ear

"A roach in the ear—that's a common New Orleans ailment," Joe explained and picked up a bottle of oil. He described what she felt and heard—a constant buzzing that amplified into terrible thunder and a wild motion that grew into horrible crushing steps. He drowned the roach with oil.

Then he inserted a long clipper-like tool into her ear canal and pulled out the insect. Her twited face snapped back to shape, and she grinned.

"Did you ever have a roach in your ear before?" Joe asked.

"No, sir, that was the first time," she answered.

"Well that was the first time I ever took one out of an ear," he said...

On the ninth floor, Anne Hansen, the assistant supervisor of nurses, checked the nation's largest unit for premature babies. She peered through the glass wall, watching the tiny pink and chocolate infants, squirming and wrinkled, grasp the air with their minute hands. Each lay in the warmth of a separate incubator.

Ninety Babies

The ward usually cares for ninety infants. Miss Hansen actually has little contact with them. Her job is to supervise, keep records, and teach student nurses. It is the nurse aides who do the diapering and feeding, using a diet, incidentally, that includes a New Orleans favorite—red beans and rice, which is rich in iron and protein.

Miss Hansen pointed to charts and revealed some of the records of her ward: only infants weighing less than 4 pounds, 10 ounces are admitted. If they weigh less than 3 pounds, 5 ounces, their average stay ranges from 50 to 71 days. If they weigh more, the hospital will release them within 26 to 50 days. And, if the infant weighs more than 2 pounds, 10 ounces, it has a 50 per cent chance to live. Chance grows with size.

Miss Hansen, a tall, blonde woman, explained the workings of the ward efficiently. Occasionally her talk was interrupted. She stopped, watched a kicking, crying youngster and released a shy smile....

On the 12th floor, which has 22 operating rooms, a patient, let us call him Bill, lay senseless on a table, dreaming of hope. A huge man, he breathed heavily, oblivious to the hub-bub about him.

Theatrics

A sense of theatrics pervaded the room. Working in the excitement were three doctors, two resident doctors, one intern, two anesthesiologists, three medical technicians and two nurses. Their skills tested perfusion, a new cancer fighter.

Dr. Oscar Creech, young chairman of Tulane University's department of surgery, performed the operation. The technique, developed at Tulane, one of two medical schools attached to Charity, had been used on less than 10 persons in the world, all patients at this hospital.

The technique entailed using the heart-lung machine to isolate the blood vessels of the diseased area from the rest of the body. Then nitrogen mustard, a cancer fighting drug, could be injected into the diseased area alone.

The fat thigh of Bill, whose cancer had spread from a black wart on the heel of his foot, lay exposed before Dr. Creech. The surgeon started to cut open the thigh and attach tubes of the heart - lung machine to Bill's blood vessels.

Soon the tubes touched, and tension ceased. Dr. Creech stepped back and let his mask slip off. A half-hour later, the heart-lung machine stopped. The required quantity of nitrogen mustard had been administered.

Still Dreaming

Soon Bill, still dreaming of hope, was wheeled back to his ward. He had been part of two Charity Hospital goals: to heal and to promote science. Perhaps Charity had failed in both with Bill. Perhaps not. As the operation ended, one doctor confided in a visitor, "We think this is the hottest thing in cancer research today," he said....

Back on the ground floor, in the director's office, A. P. Richard II, the balding, bespectacled administrative assistant, waved a cigarette holder and handed a fat book to a visitor. It was Charity Hospital's annual report, 175 pages of closely printed figures, including the 11 million dollar annual budget.

"You just can't tell the story of Charity," Richard said. "It's too complex"......

One of the three largest American hospitals, Charity is too complex, like people.

TV notes

The "U. S. Steel Hour" play March 12 is "Give Me My Son," a drama about adoption, with Richard Kiley, Betsy Palmer, Alexander Scourby and Lori March in the leading roles.

The "Johns Hopkins File" program on ABC March 16 will introduce seven outstanding scientists who will submit their ideas of what things will be like 10 years from now. This is the 10th anniversary of TV programs emanating from Johns Hopkins University.

Frank Sinatra's guest on his March 28 ABC program will be singer Ethel Merman.

Arthur Godfrey will divide his morning CBS radio and TV activities beginning March 31. The simulcast practice will be discarded. The radio portion will be presented from 10 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. The TV series will be from 11 to 11:30 p.m. and will be on five days a week instead of the present four.

Violinist Jack Benny and sometime pianist Harry S. Truman will participate in a special benefit concert by the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra March 22 in Kansas City. The comedian has been making a number of such appearances for benefit purposes around the country in the past year. The former President will introduce Benny, and concert officials hope he will consent to providing some keyboard accompaniment for the fiddler.

AMBASSADORS AT WORK: Ling Tung, Chinese-born conductor of the Seventh U. S. Army's symphony orchestra, rehearses the young musicians in Germany. The symphony has been acclaimed by European music critics.

CULTURAL AMBASSADORS

Army Symphony Wins Acclaim

By REINHOLD ENSZ

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — A group of 70 young American soldiers is showing Germans that the land of Elvis Presley also appreciates Beethoven and Brahms.

The soldiers — frequently described by the German press as America's best ambassadors — are members of the Seventh U. S. Army's symphony orchestra, the only military symphony in the world.

Before the symphony was organized here in 1952, many Germans had a low opinion of American musical tastes. If you tried to tell them there are Americans who go for something besides jazz and hilly billy music, they were apt to raise their eyebrows in polite skepticism.

And if you went one step farther and insisted that some Americans were on familiar terms with the music of such German composers as Beethoven and Brahms, you would have an argument on your hands. Some would even argue that no orchestra outside Germany could play Beethoven properly.

Win Sympahty

But then came the Army's symphony and the Germans got a jolt. Especially the music critics, who suddenly found themselves writing things like this:

(Bamberg's Fraenkischer Tag) —"We in old Europe are always tempted not to take cultural ambassadors from the new world in a wholly serious way. And if an orchestra consisting of soldiers play Beethoven and Mozart, one might have suspicions about such boldness. But how little these and other prejudices were justified was revealed by a concert given by the symphony orchestra of the 7th Army."

(Radio Free Berlin) — "That these splendid boys win our sympathies faster than all the nuclear divisions which are ready to defend us, is easily understandable."

(Bamberg's Volksblatt) — The orchestra members played Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms "so well that perhaps even Erich Ollenhauer, if he had only heard them, would have expressed good will and the hope that they remain in Germany." (Ollenhauer is leader of West Germany's Socialist party.)

Sindelfinger Zeitung) — "One does not exaggerate too much if one places the sumphony orchestra of the 7th U. S. Army . . . among the important orchestras Europe."

Then there was the critic who had apparently been quite certain that European culture never got across the Atlantic. Writing in Karlsruhe's Badische Volkszeitung he told his readers about an exciting discovery:

"It was very revealing how the American musicians understood how to interpret music which was strange to their nature."

The composers: Mozart and Mendelssohn.

After hundreds of concerts, the Germans gradually became used to the idea that American soldiers could do something beside chase "frauleins" and wear loud sports shirts. But then, late in 1956, the orchestra astounded Germans all over again. It got a Chinese for a conductor.

He was 26-year-old Ling Tung, who had lived in Shanghai until 1947, when he emigrated to the United States. True, he had lived in the United States ever since leaving China, but Germans were not prepared to understand that anybody from the land of rice and bamboo was familiar with their music.

After a concert conducted by Tung, the Bamber's Volksblatt headlined:

"German music from China."

And the Fraenkischer Tag proclaimed, with a touch of apprehension: "Brahms in Far East hands."

The Nuernberger Zeitung thought he was wonderful, but couldn't come up with a ready explanation for his skill. So its critic wrote:

"His sensitivity could very well come from familiarity with the filmy watercolors and colorful woodcuts with which China has been blessed for years."

Simple Explanation

Actually Tung's musical training goes back to when he was 5 when his mother — the director of Shanghai's Conservatory of Music — began drilling him. After arriving in the United States, he played violin with the New Orleans Philharmonic, the Minneapolis Symphony and the Boston Pops. He also had a scholarship at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia.

At 26, Sgt. Tung is the oldest member of the orchestra. All are enlisted men and their ages range downward to 18. Their youthfulness has made Germans aware of another fact, namely, that American youngsters are interested in classical music. When Germans talk about regular American symphony orchestras, they like to point out that some of their members, especially the conductors, were Eduropean born.

Taking note of the youthful Army symphony, the influential Frankfurter Allgemeine said it is "proof that America has a large reserve of young musical talent."

The orchestra was founded in June 1952. "Its purpose," says an Army report, "was to promote and enhance the friendly relationships between the German civilian population and the American soldiers.

"The success of this type of cultural endeavor was assured from its very beginning. Its success is due, primarily, to the traditional German love for classical music."

Another purpose was to present the works of modern American composers to German audiences. But this hasn't always worked too well.

Second Work Turns Out As Excellent

THEY CAME TO CORDURA by Glendon Swarthout (Random House, $3.50.)

In one sense, this is a novel based on our abortive Punitive Expedition in 1916 against Mexico's famous revolutionist and bandit, Francisco (Pancho) Villa. In another, and truer, sense it is an exploration of the human heart and of one of its most mysterious attributes: courage.

It concerns itself with Major Thorn, awards officer of the campaign, ordered by General Pershing to escort five cavalrymen slated for the Medal of Honor (men of Socrates' so - called "golden race") across the barren state of Chihuahua to Cordura and safety. With the group is the hot - blooded "Geary woman," a prisoner suspected of treachery.

Major Thorn is tortured by what he mistakenly believes to be a secret. In an earlier action he has been unable to summon up the courage appropriate to an officer and a gentleman; he has, in fact, been guilty of cowardice. That is why the heroes in his charge fascinate him, why he worships them. However brutally and even bestially they may react on the almost impossible trek —beset by hunger, thirst, lust, fever and fear he feels dedicated to accomplish his mission of shepherding them to Cordura, so death cannot cheat them of personally receiving the supreme award for their one - time magnificent conduct. He has a fixation to understand and to save them.

How Thorn, because of this compulsion, forces his way against fearful odds through desert country and moral jungle, and how chance solves the seemingly insoluble, makes a unique reading experience.

Face The Future Is Good Reading

FACE THE FUTURE By John M. Work (Vantage Press. $3)

For a long while John M. Work has been saying things people ought to hear and seldom do. In this book, Face the Future, as in all his writings, he pinpoints with charm, wit, and a total lack of pretentiousness, the foibles and the follies of our way of life, and discusses how to eliminate them in order to create a future no one will be ashamed — or afraid — to face. His answer? Democratic socialism.

"We want our country to stand for liberty and justice for everyone, do we not? Any thinking person must be painfully aware that it is not doing so at this writing. Why isn't it . . . and how can it?

"Please don't get me wrong. America is a thousand times better — yes, a million times better —than any totalitarian country. But . . . it nevertheless falls tragically short of the goal of liberty and justice for all."

"Three villains" — ignorance, prejudice, and inertia — must be exterminated before we can build a world fit to live in, the author affirms. It can be done, he believes, if each of us puts his social conscience into action and goes forward as a reasoning, courageous adult. With Browning, Mr. Work cries, "Make no more giants, God, but elevate the race at once!"

Calling for a new awareness of the need for improving the genus Homo, he challenges us to re-evaluate our own beliefs . . . and prejudices; for, says Mr. Work: "In an atomic age, fundamental thought and action are more than ever essential. I urge that we rise to the occasion . . . that we face the future."

Alamo Glory Re-Explored In New Book

13 DAYS TO GLORY: THE SIEGE OF THE ALAMO. By Lon Tinkle. McGraw - Hill. $3.95.

Santa Anna closed in on the Alamo on Feb. 23, 1836, and by March 6 he was ready with his thousands of soldiers to unleash the final assault on the less than 200 men under Travis. Bowie, co - commander, was injured and bed-ridden; the famous Davy Crockett did his immortal best; and the entire garrison sold its lives dearly on one of the great days of our history.

In a stirring account dug with scholarly thoroughness out of a great mass of source material, Tinkle tells how and why "Remember the Alamo" became an unforgettable battle cry.

Written by a Texas teacher and editor, it won the local, authoritative praise which counts from numerous reviewers, among them Frank H. King who called it "a swift story of the siege" and "a penetrating study'. from which "the men of the Alamo emerge with new stature." He continued:

"New material from the little known 'Travis diary' shows him in a new light as a passionate man who yearned for life and a new family as he wrote his messages of doom.

"This story of the days to glory explores every facet of the Alamo epic. It includes a scholarly analysis of the legend of the line Travis drew with his sword on the dirt floor of the Alamo and then asked those who would fight and die with him to cross over. One man refused and fled.

"Historians may doubt. But most of us line up with J. Frank Dobie. As a boy when Dobie visited the old fortress he first looked—as many still do — for the place where Travis drew the line. 'Nobody forgets the line,' says Dobie. 'It is drawr too deep and straight.' "

MADE UP OF PEOPLE

Charity Hospital Is More Than Bldg.

By STANLEY MEISLER

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (AP)—A hospital is more than bricks and stones and broken bones.

It is a nun swishing heavily past the schizophrenic patient who says he stepped down from the cross.

It is a young intern sweating his eyeglasses for the woman who hears a dragon in her ear.

It is a cool nurse minding the charts while a tiny thing squirms for life, and a blood-stained surgeon cutting swift and sure at a senseless giant.

A hospital is people.

In New Orleans, more than 600,000, a total amost equal to the city's population, seek medical help at Charity Hospital each year. About 75,000 remain for treatment in the 3,062 hospital beds. Almost 3,000 die, while almost 13,000 are born, about 35 each day.

Medical treatment is in the hands of 230 resident doctors and 130 interns. About 40 nuns, 100 head nurses, 150 nurses, 240 practical nurses and 800 nurse aids, helped and watched by 200 students, take care of the ill. The total hospital payroll comprises 3,200 employes. There are almost as many off the payroll, for Charity Hospital uses 2,400 volunteers and another group of 600 people, including the nuns and doctors paid by other organizations.

But these awesome figures do not tell the full story of one of America's great and gigantic institutions.

Real Story

The real story of Charity or any other hospital may be caught only by watching and hearing and understanding the people who make up these numbers. . .

On the third floor, Sister Juliana stepped quickly through the psychiatric wards. She stepped in a long tradition, for the Sisters of Charity, the Roman Catholic order to which she belongs, took over the nursing duties of the hospital in 1834.

The 36-year-old Sister Juliana, born in Chicago, came to Charity Hospital in 1939, the year the new building was completed at a cost of almost 13 million dollars. Three years later, the young nun was appointed head of psychiatric nursing, a job she stillholds.

She explains that being a nun, a symbol ot protection, has advantages in psychiatry. Patients, seeking security, understand the rustling skirts, the starched head dress, the scrubbed pink face mean kindness and help. Some patients may approach her more easily than other nurses. Her religious habit brings rapport.

One patient, John, a schizophenic, sulked in a corridor by the elevators. His bathrobe was loosely closed around his pajamas. He puffed a cigarette quickly and nervously.

"Sister Juliana," he said in a hurried, indignant tone. "They just took me off the cross after I was up there two years. They thought I was crazy during my first 33 years. And now they also think I'm crazy."

No Shock

No shock, no embarrassment, no fear came from Sister Juliana, just a smile. There is a difference been sacrilege and illness. She patted him on the arm, spoke a few words, kind words, and stepped on. . .

On the ground floor, Joe Holden, a 28-year-old intern, returned to the emergency room from an ambulance call. He had caught a couple who lost their auto race to the hospital. By the roadside, Joe delivered a baby.

Joe, a thin man who squints behind eyeglasses and often talks softly and unsurely, did not find the adventure more dramatic than his other deliveries. Tonight was his 61st.

If Joe, who wants to be a general practitioner, were an intern at a private hospital, he probably would have fewer deliveries to his credit. But at Charity, the medical school graduates, who spend at least a month in each hospital department, do much of the actual work.

A Negro woman, her face twisted by unceasing pain, slipped into one of the cubicles in the emergency room, which was Joe's assignment this month. She cupped her ear with a hand and moaned. After hunting new batteries for his instrument, Joe peeked inside her ear. He spied a roach.

Roach In Ear

"A roach in the ear—that's a common New Orleans ailment," Joe explained and picked up a bottle of oil. He described what she felt and heard—a constant buzzing that amplified into terrible thunder and a wild motion that grew into horrible crushing steps. He drowned the roach with oil.

Then he inserted a long clipper-like tool into her ear canal and pulled out the insect. Her twited face snapped back to shape, and she grinned.

"Did you ever have a roach in your ear before?" Joe asked.

"No, sir, that was the first time," she answered.

"Well that was the first time I ever took one out of an ear," he said...

On the ninth floor, Anne Hansen, the assistant supervisor of nurses, checked the nation's largest unit for premature babies. She peered through the glass wall, watching the tiny pink and chocolate infants, squirming and wrinkled, grasp the air with their minute hands. Each lay in the warmth of a separate incubator.

Ninety Babies

The ward usually cares for ninety infants. Miss Hansen actually has little contact with them. Her job is to supervise, keep records, and teach student nurses. It is the nurse aides who do the diapering and feeding, using a diet, incidentally, that includes a New Orleans favorite—red beans and rice, which is rich in iron and protein.

Miss Hansen pointed to charts and revealed some of the records of her ward: only infants weighing less than 4 pounds, 10 ounces are admitted. If they weigh less than 3 pounds, 5 ounces, their average stay ranges from 50 to 71 days. If they weigh more, the hospital will release them within 26 to 50 days. And, if the infant weighs more than 2 pounds, 10 ounces, it has a 50 per cent chance to live. Chance grows with size.

Miss Hansen, a tall, blonde woman, explained the workings of the ward efficiently. Occasionally her talk was interrupted. She stopped, watched a kicking, crying youngster and released a shy smile....

On the 12th floor, which has 22 operating rooms, a patient, let us call him Bill, lay senseless on a table, dreaming of hope. A huge man, he breathed heavily, oblivious to the hub-bub about him.

Theatrics

A sense of theatrics pervaded the room. Working in the excitement were three doctors, two resident doctors, one intern, two anesthesiologists, three medical technicians and two nurses. Their skills tested perfusion, a new cancer fighter.

Dr. Oscar Creech, young chairman of Tulane University's department of surgery, performed the operation. The technique, developed at Tulane, one of two medical schools attached to Charity, had been used on less than 10 persons in the world, all patients at this hospital.

The technique entailed using the heart-lung machine to isolate the blood vessels of the diseased area from the rest of the body. Then nitrogen mustard, a cancer fighting drug, could be injected into the diseased area alone.

The fat thigh of Bill, whose cancer had spread from a black wart on the heel of his foot, lay exposed before Dr. Creech. The surgeon started to cut open the thigh and attach tubes of the heart - lung machine to Bill's blood vessels.

Soon the tubes touched, and tension ceased. Dr. Creech stepped back and let his mask slip off. A half-hour later, the heart-lung machine stopped. The required quantity of nitrogen mustard had been administered.

Still Dreaming

Soon Bill, still dreaming of hope, was wheeled back to his ward. He had been part of two Charity Hospital goals: to heal and to promote science. Perhaps Charity had failed in both with Bill. Perhaps not. As the operation ended, one doctor confided in a visitor. "We think this is the hottest thing in cancer research today," he said....

Back on the ground floor, in the director's office, A. P. Richard II, the balding, bespectacled administrative assistant, waved a cigarette holder and handed a fat book to a visitor. It was Charity Hospital's annual report, 175 pages of closely printed figures, including the 11 million dollar annual budget.

"You just can't tell the story of Charity," Richard said. "It's too complex"......

One of the three largest American hospitals, Charity is too complex, like people.

TV notes

The "U. S. Steel Hour" play March 12 is "Give Me My Son," a drama about adoption, with Richard Kiley, Betsy Palmer, Alexander Scourby and Lori March in the leading roles.

The "Johns Hopkins File" program on ABC March 16 will introduce seven outstanding scientists who will submit their ideas of what things will be like 10 years from now. This is the 10th anniversary of TV programs emanating from Johns Hopkins University.

Frank Sinatra's guest on his March 28 ABC program will be singer Ethel Merman.

Arthur Godfrey will divide his morning CBS radio and TV activities beginning March 31. The simulcast practice will be discarded. The radio portion will be presented from 10 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. The TV series will be from 11 to 11:30 p.m. and will be on five days a week instead of the present four.

Violinist Jack Benny and sometime pianist Harry S. Truman will participate in a special benefit concert by the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra March 22 in Kansas City. The comedian has been making a number of such appearances for benefit purposes around the country in the past year. The former President will introduce Benny, and concert officials hope he will consent to providing some keyboard accompaniment for the fiddler.

AMBASSADORS AT WORK: Ling Tung, Chinese-born conductor of the Seventh U. S. Army's symphony orchestra, rehearses the young musicians in Germany. The symphony has been acclaimed by European music critics.

CULTURAL AMBASSADORS

Army Symphony Wins Acclaim

By REINHOLD ENSZ

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — A group of 70 young American soldiers is showing Germans that the land of Elvis Presley also appreciates Beethoven and Brahms.

The soldiers — frequently described by the German press as America's best ambassadors — are members of the Seventh U. S. Army's symphony orchestra, the only military symphony in the world.

Before the symphony was organized here in 1952, many Germans had a low opinion of American musical tastes. If you tried to tell them there are Americans who go for something besides jazz and hilly billy music, they were apt to raise their eyebrows in polite skepticism.

And if you went one step farther and insisted that some Americans were on familiar terms with the music of such German composers as Beethoven and Brahms, you would have an argument on your hands. Some would even argue that no orchestra outside Germany could play Beethoven properly.

Win Sympahty

But then came the Army's symphony and the Germans got a jolt. Especially the music critics, who suddenly found themselves writing things like this:

(Bamberg's Fraenkischer Tag) —"We in old Europe are always tempted not to take cultural ambassadors from the new world in a wholly serious way. And if an orchestra consisting of soldiers play Beethoven and Mozart, one might have suspicions about such boldness. But how little these and other prejudices were justified was revealed by a concert given by the symphony orchestra of the 7th Army."

(Radio Free Berlin) — "That these splendid boys win our sympathies faster than all the nuclear divisions which are ready to defend us, is easily understandable."

(Bamberg's Volksblatt) — The orchestra members played Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms "so well that perhaps even Erich Ollenhauer, if he had only heard them, would have expressed good will and the hope that they remain in Germany." (Ollenhauer is leader of West Germany's Socialist party.)

Sindelfinger Zeitung) — "One does not exaggerate too much if one places the sumphony orchestra of the 7th U. S. Army . . . among the important orchestras Europe."

Then there was the critic who had apparently been quite certain that European culture never got across the Atlantic. Writing in Karlsruhe's Badische Volkszeitung he told his readers about an exciting discovery:

"It was very revealing how the American musicians understood how to interpret music which was strange to their nature."

The composers: Mozart and Mendelssohn.

After hundreds of concerts, the Germans gradually became used to the idea that American soldiers could do something beside chase "frauleins" and wear loud sports shirts. But then, late in 1956, the orchestra astounded Germans all over again. It got a Chinese for a conductor.

He was 26-year-old Ling Tung, who had lived in Shanghai until 1947, when he emigrated to the United States. True, he had lived in the United States ever since leaving China, but Germans were not prepared to understand that anybody from the land of rice and bamboo was familiar with their music.

After a concert conducted by Tung, the Bamber's Volksblatt headlined:

"German music from China."

And the Fraenkischer Tag proclaimed, with a touch of apprehension: "Brahms in Far East hands."

The Nuernberger Zeitung thought he was wonderful, but couldn't come up with a ready explanation for his skill. So its critic wrote:

"His sensitivity could very well come from familiarity with the filmy watercolors and colorful woodcuts with which China has been blessed for years."

Simple Explanation

Actually Tung's musical training goes back to when he was 5 when his mother — the director of Shanghai's Conservatory of Music — began drilling him. After arriving in the United States, he played violin with the New Orleans Philharmonic, the Minneapolis Symphony and the Boston Pops. He also had a scholarship at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia.

At 26, Sgt. Tung is the oldest member of the orchestra. All are enlisted men and their ages range downward to 18. Their youthfulness has made Germans aware of another fact, namely, that American youngsters are interested in classical music. When Germans talk about regular American symphony orchestras, they like to point out that some of their members, especially the conductors, were Eduropean born.

Taking note of the youthful Army symphony, the influential Frankfurter Allgemeine said it is "proof that America has a large reserve of young musical talent."

The orchestra was founded in June 1952. "Its purpose," says an Army report, "was to promote and enhance the friendly relationships between the German civilian population and the American soldiers.

"The success of this type of cultural endeavor was assured from its very beginning. Its success is due, primarily, to the traditional German love for classical music."

Another purpose was to present the works of modern American composers to German audiences. But this hasn't always worked too well.

I JOHN 1:10 — "If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." (King James Version)

• • •

Some do away with sin in their lives, not by the grace of God, but by a simple mental trick. They say there is no such thing as sin. It is just an old-fashioned concept conjured up by religious folk to keep people from being happy.

To do away with sin this easily is a nice trick if you can do it. But our text says you can't do it. You only trick yourself. "If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves."

The evidence is all in favor of this statement. Those who try to dismiss the whole idea of sin are the very ones who end up with all sorts of vague and morbid feelings of guilt and frustration and unhappiness.

When we run away from reality, we become the victim of unreality and illusion. If we start out from what we aren't, we won't have much of a chance to become what we might be.

Pastor, Heights Christian Church
Shaker Heights, Ohio

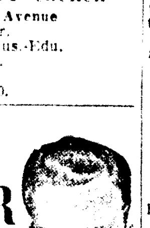
MY ANSWER by Billy Graham



QUESTION: As a group of young people we are inclined to believe what you have been preaching. However, we want to have fun before we give our lives to the Lord. Don't you think it would be better for us to get this out of our system before we begin going to church? S.V.

ANSWER: Either you are making a very foolish decision or else you do not understand what the Christian faith is. I JOHN 1:10 — "If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." (King James Version)

* * *

Some do away with sin in their lives, not by the grace of God, but by a simple mental trick. They say there is no such thing as sin. It is just an old-fashioned concept conjured up by religious folk to keep people from being happy.

To do away with sin this easily is a nice trick if you can do it. But our text says you can't do it. You only trick yourself. "If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves."

The evidence is all in favor of this statement. Those who try to dismiss the whole idea of sin are the very ones who end up with all sorts of vague and morbid feelings of guilt and frustration and unhappiness.

When we run away from reality, we become the victim of unreality and illusion. If we start out from what we aren't, we won't have much of a chance to become what we might be.

Dr. Waymon Parsons
Pastor, Heights Christian Church
Shaker Heights, Ohio

Meeting Scheduled

Monroe Temple No. 1 of the Pythian Sisters will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Castle Hall.

Members are urged by club officials to attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Trenton Ass'n Plan Session Of Revivals

Preaching, singing, high attendance goals and a concerted effort to enlist new members and revival of old ones will be evident in all the churches. Evening service is planned in each church at 7:30 nightly. Some of the churches plan a morning service also.

Rev. E. E. Taylor is the director of the campaign which is a pilot effort working toward 1959 when all 28,000 churches of the Southern Baptist Convention will engage in a simultaneous revival effort.

Tigers Dominate All-District

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

You may do it for any reason you choose, but don't forget your donation to the Little League park memorial for Dr. William L. Bendel Sr.

Maybe you do it for the kids who'll benefit by such a park. Maybe you do it for the kids already grown to men who were helped along the sport trail by Dr. Bendel sometime in the past thirty years. Maybe you do it for some other personal reason that has nothing to do with sports. But all contributions, while a memorial to the departed Little League president and benefactor of youth in general, will become a material aid to the recreation of Monroe's youngsters.

A total of $2,832 was announced yesterday as the first contribution tabulation of actual cash or personal checks in the hands of the fund trustees. Many other pledges have been made, and certainly there are a lot more who intend to contribute.

Get your contribution in the mail to "Monroe Little League Baseball, P.O. box 1293, Monroe, La."

Bob Carter, the ex-Ouachita Parish High all-state football and basketball player who once played professional baseball in the Brooklyn Dodger system, is now an area scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hugh Alexander, Oklahoma City, Okla., chief Dodger scout for the southwest division, including Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Old Mexico, announced the appointment of Carter.

"As you know Bob was a former player in the Dodger organization," Alexander wrote us. "We thought very highly of Bob as a player and thought he was a credit to the organization as a player and person.

"We are happy to have Bob in the scouting department and sincerely believe he will be of a great assistance to us in the Monroe area."

We haven't had the official schedule from Coach Bill Ruple yet, but the Neville High Tigers are going to present a peculiar football slate this season.

Only two games will be played in Neville Stadium, and they'll come on successive weekends, October 3 with Jonesboro-Hodge and October 10 with Ruston, both big double-A conference battles and one has to be homecoming.

But Neville fans shouldn't become too alarmed because the Tigers will be visitors in seven other games. Two of these will still be in the Twin Cities against West Monroe and Ouachita. The Bengals open in West Monroe September 5, and end their schedule by visiting Ouachita November 14. In between they'll be playing at Haynesville, Sept. 12; Bastrop, Sept. 19; North Caddo, Oct. 17; Tallulah, Oct. 24; Natchez, Miss., Oct. 31. Open dates come before the Jonesboro-Hodge and Ouachita games.

JACKSONVILLE OPEN

Berg Beats Setback To Take Lead Again

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Patty Berg went from first to second to first again in the $5,000 Jacksonville Women's Open golf tournament Saturday.

The Minneapolis, Minn., veteran was at the top of the list when she prepared to tee off. But a delayed ruling which resulted in a two-stroke penalty pushed her into second place before the second round began.

The late ruling changed her first day 72 to a 74 and a five-way tie for second place.

The 40 year-old Miss Berg was not to be denied, however. She fired an even-par 72 to take over the lead once more with a 36-hole score of 146.

As Miss Berg explained it, the penalty was assessed because she grounded her club in a sand trap when she took a double-bogey six on the seventh hole. "I knew my blast out of the trap was poor, but I thought it was over the mound. I brushed my club against the sand and then noticed the ball had rolled back into the trap."

The good-natured player asked tournament Chairman Gordon Spottswood for a ruling. Spottswood conferred with Betsy Rawls who said she didn't think Miss Berg's action was grounds for a penalty.

"It was the first time in 15 years that I hadn't hit the ball out of a trap," Miss Berg said.

Miss Berg asked Spottswood for a definite ruling again. However, he wasn't able to come up with one until Saturday afternoon after conferring with a rules committee made up of Marlene Bauer Hagge, Betty Dodd and Kathy Cornelius. The committee, after studying the book, ruled that Miss Berg would have to be penalized two strokes.

One stroke behind Miss Berg was Wiffi Smith, St. Clair, Mich., who put a 73 with her previous round of 74 for a 147 total.

Neville, J-H Put Two Each On Boys Team

BASTROP, La. (Special) —The Tigers of Jonesboro - Hodge and Neville, the district's two top teams, each claimed two positions on the district 2-AA boys all-star team while Neville and Bastrop, the only two schools playing girls basketball and the state finalists, divided the six spots on the girls all-district team.

Selected by the district's basketball coaches and released yesterday by Bastrop Coach Darrell Foreman, the boys team is composed of John Bailey and David Brown of Jonesboro - Hodge, Fred Southerland and Ronnie McNabb of Neville and John Tom James of Ruston.

The girls all - stars are forwards Betty Hemphill and Ann McDonald of Neville and Lois McGough of Bastrop and guards Kin Trousdale of Neville and Linda Burks and Sally Wheat of Bastrop.

A second team was selected in the boys division and included Allen Herbert of Ruston, Robert Cook of Jonesboro - Hodge, Francis Genusa of Neville and Larry Brakefield and Troy Spigner of Bastrop.

Jonesboro - Hodge won the district boys championship with a 7-1 conference record but lost in the state semi - finals to Natchitoches Friday night. Neville with a 6-2 loop mark, was second and was eliminated in the state quarter-finals, also by Natchitoches.

Neville, loser of only one game all season, won the conference girls championship with two regular season wins over Bastrop and defeated Bossier and Eunice to reach the state finals. Bastrop whipped Jena and Hammond in playoff competition.

Juniors dominate both the first and second boys teams with three third classmen on each outfit. Bailey, McNabb and James are the juniors on the first team and Herbert, Brakefield and Spigner on the second. The rest of the all-stars are seniors.

Jonesboro-Hodge's Brown is the biggest player on the first team at 6-5. Bailey and Southerland, both all-state last season, are 6-1 as is James. McNabb stands 5-10.

Cook of Jonesboro - Hodge, 6-5, is the tallest man on the second team. Brakefield and Spigner are 6-2, Herbert 6-1 and Genusa 5-8.

Misses McGough and Burks of Bastrop made the all - state team last year and Miss Wheat was on the second team. These three, along with Neville's stars, McDonald, Hemphill and Trousdale are strong candiates for all - state again this year.

Men Defeated In Battle Of Sexes, 75-73

The ladies—as they usually do —won another battle of the sexes at the West Monroe gym last night as Hazel Walker's girl Arkansas Travelers edged the Twin Cities All-Stars, 75-73, on "Goose" Garroutte's field goal in the last five seconds.

The girls trailed most of the way but always had the edge in the clowning department although the men tried hard with such old-fashioned stuff as the "hidden ball trick." The boys also fouled often—"hugging" rarely seen in conventional contests, being their favorite misfraction.

The girls also pulled their share of illegal shenigans but the officials, being gentlemenly chaps, usually looked the other way.

3RD STRAIGHT DAY

Rains Delay New Orleans Tourney

By GERALD MOSES

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (UP) —Heavy rains for the third straight day stopped the opening round of the $20,000 New Orleans Open today.

PGA officials refused to give up and re-scheduled the first round for early Sunday at the 6,800-yard par 72 City Park course, now thoroughly soaked this week by nearly five inches of rain.

Eighteen holes will be played Monday — weather permitting — and the two 18-hole rounds will be played Tuesday.

Park officials did not like to discuss cancellation prospects but they said that with the $15,000 Pensacola, Fla., open set to start Thursday one more delay could kill the tourney, New Orleans first in 10 years.

Despite soggy greens, play went well today for many of the 50 players who made it past the first nine.

More than two dozen completed 18 holes.

Although the scores will be erased at tomorrow's start, Bob Rosburg of Napa, Calif., beamed with pride at his five under par 32-35—67 on 18 holes, the best score of the day. Rosburg grips his clubs like a ball bat and the galleries enjoyed his unusual swings. He fired a five under par on the first nine.

"I was driving some good ones and my chip shots came through," Rosburg said.

PGA champ Lionel Hebert was coasting with a one under par coming onto the last green when the rain started pelting.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., had reached the fourth hole before the field rttired to the dry clubhouse.

"I don't see how they can play tomorrow," Palmer said. "The greens are not playable today."

SANTA ANITA DERBY

Silky Sullivan Comes From 20 Lengths Behind To Win

ARCADIA, Calif. (UP)— Silky Sullivan turned on his fabulous speed Saturday in the $130,500 Santa Anita Derby before the biggest crowd ever to witness the race and pulled away to a victory by some three lengths.

Trailing by about 20 lengths going into the final turn, Silky Sullivan proved his ability to show the same stretch burst of speed he displayed in prep races. Jockey Willie Whoemaker took him to the outside and the colt turned loose with a dazzling display of running that drew an outburst of cheers from the record crowd of 63,000 racing fans.

The race had been expected to be between Old Pueblo and Silky Sullivan but Silky's runningmate, Harcall, closed in the stretch, although from not so far back, to finish second. Pace-setting Aliwar was third and Old Pueblo finished fourth in the field of 10 three-year - olds. Silky Sullivan's winning time of 1:49 2-5 over a track called fast but which was slow at the start of the day's program.

The Silky Sullivan entry was sent off at slightly more than even money and returned $4.30, $5.10 and $3.30 across the board with Aliwar paying $5.80 for show.

The huge crowd had turned out to see if Silky Sullivan was some sort of racing freak or a classic runner as his trainer Reggie Cornell had termed him. They were not disappointed.

The only surprise, if it could be called that, was when Shoemaker kept Silky Sullivan closer to the early pace than he had run in his previous races. On at least one occasion he dropped back 35 lengths and almost won the race.

Today Silky Sullivan closed the final quarter in 24 and 2-5 seconds—brilliant time— but not as fast as he closed in a sprint prep 10 days ago when he ran the final quarter in 22 and 2-5.

The victory was a rich one for the colt that had won but one previous stakes in his career. His share of today's purse was $83,400 which more than doubled his previous earnings of $40,550. It was the seventh win for Silky Sullivan in 12 starts.

Northwestern Statistics Best In Gulf Basketball

By TRUMAN STACEY

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) —Northwestern State's Demons turned in the finest statistical record of any team in the Gulf States Conference during the 1957-58 conference seasons.

The hard-fighting Demons, who won their last five games to tie McNeese for the conference championship, had the best record in team offense, free try shooting and rebounds.

McNeese, the co - champion with Northwestern, was far out in front of the field in team defense. SLI had the best field goal percentage, and Southeastern Louisiana committed the fewest personal fouls.

The Demons averaged 72.1 for each of their 10 conference games in winning the team offense crown. Northwestern's free try percentage was .722 and they averaged 35.7 rebounds per game in leading the conference in that department, along with the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs.

McNeese's team defensive average was 48.3 per game, best since the GSC became a 10-game circuit, and the finest in McNeese history. The Cowboy mark is not an all-time defensive record, however. The Louisiana Tech team of 1948-49 had a 44.1 defensive average per game — giving up 706 points over a 16-game season.

SLI's Bulldogs fired away at the basket 508 times during the year, and hit 229 baskets for a .450 mark — a Gulf States conference record. Best previous mark was .449, established in 1955-56 by McNeese's national champions.

Southeastern committed only 17.3 fouls per game, the fewest of the season. SLI had the most, 232 in the 10-game slate.

McNeese Tops Northeast In Track, 79-62

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 8 (AP)—McNeese State won a 17-event dual track meet today by amassing 79 points to Northeast State's 62, although Don Styron gave an outstanding one - man performance for Northeast.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

You may do it for any reason you choose, but don't forget your donation to the Little League park memorial for Dr. William L. Bendel Sr.

Maybe you do it for the kids who'll benefit by such a park. Maybe you do it for the kids already grown to men who were helped along the sport trail by Dr. Bendel sometime in the past thirty years. Maybe you do it for some other personal reason that has nothing to do with sports. But all contributions, while a memorial to the departed Little League president and benefactor of youth in general, will become a material aid to the recreation of Monroe's youngsters.

A total of $2,832 was announced yesterday as the first contribution tabulation of actual cash or personal checks in the hands of the fund trustees. Many other pledges have been made, and certainly there are a lot more who intend to contribute.

Get your contribution in the mail to "Monroe Little League Baseball, P.O. box 1293, Monroe, La."

Bob Carter, the ex-Ouachita Parish High all-state football and basketball player who once played professional baseball in the Brooklyn Dodger system, is now an area scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hugh Alexander, Oklahoma City, Okla., chief Dodger scout for the southwest division, including Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Old Mexico, announced the appointment of Carter.

"As you know Bob was a former player in the Dodger organization," Alexander wrote us. "We thought very highly of Bob as a player and thought he was a credit to the organization as a player and person.

"We are happy to have Bob in the scouting department and sincerely believe he will be of a great assistance to us in the Monroe area."

We haven't had the official schedule from Coach Bill Ruple yet, but the Neville High Tigers are going to present a peculiar football slate this season.

Only two games will be played in Neville Stadium, and they'll come on successive weekends, October 3 with Jonesboro-Hodge and October 10 with Ruston, both big double-A conference battles and one has to be homecoming.

But Neville fans shouldn't become too alarmed because the Tigers will be visitors in seven other games. Two of these will still be in the Twin Cities against West Monroe and Ouachita. The Bengals open in West Monroe September 5, and end their schedule by visiting Ouachita November 14. In between they'll be playing at Haynesville, Sept. 12; Bastrop, Sept. 19; North Caddo, Oct. 17; Tallulah, Oct. 24; Natchez, Miss., Oct. 31. Open dates come before the Jonesboro-Hodge and Ouachita games.

JACKSONVILLE OPEN

Berg Beats Setback To Take Lead Again

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Patty Berg went from first to second to first again in the $5,000 Jacksonville Women's Open golf tournament Saturday.

The Minneapolis, Minn., veteran was at the top of the list when she prepared to tee off. But a delayed ruling which resulted in a two-stroke penalty pushed her into second place before the second round began.

The late ruling changed her first day 72 to a 74 and a five-way tie for second place.

The 40 year-old Miss Berg was not to be denied, however. She fired an even-par 72 to take over the lead once more with a 36-hole score of 146.

As Miss Berg explained it, the penalty was assessed because she grounded her club in a sand trap when she took a double-bogey six on the seventh hole. "I knew my blast out of the trap was poor, but I thought it was over the mound. I brushed my club against the sand and then noticed the ball had rolled back into the trap."

The good-natured player asked tournament Chairman Gordon Spottswood for a ruling. Spottswood conferred with Betsy Rawls who said she didn't think Miss Berg's action was grounds for a penalty.

"It was the first time in 15 years that I hadn't hit the ball out of a trap," Miss Berg said.

Miss Berg asked Spottswood for a definite ruling again. However, he wasn't able to come up with one until Saturday afternoon after conferring with a rules committee made up of Marlene Bauer Hagge, Betty Dodd and Kathy Cornelius. The committee, after studying the book, ruled that Miss Berg would have to be penalized two strokes.

One stroke behind Miss Berg was Wiffi Smith, St. Clair, Mich., who put a 73 with her previous round of 74 for a 147 total.

Tigers Dominate All-District

Neville, J-H Put Two Each On Boys Team

BASTROP, La. (Special) —The Tigers of Jonesboro - Hodge and Neville, the district's two top teams, each claimed two positions on the district 2-AA boys all-star team while Neville and Bastrop, the only two schools playing girls basketball and the state finalists, divided the six spots on the girls all-district team.

Selected by the district's basketball coaches and released yesterday by Bastrop Coach Darrell Foreman, the boys team is composed of John Bailey and David Brown of Jonesboro - Hodge, Fred Southerland and Ronnie McNabb of Neville and John Tom James of Ruston.

The girls all - stars are forwards Betty Hemphill and Ann McDonald of Neville and Lois McGough of Bastrop and guards Kin Trousdale of Neville and Linda Burks and Sally Wheat of Bastrop.

A second team was selected in the boys division and included Allen Herbert of Ruston, Robert Cook of Jonesboro - Hodge, Francis Genusa of Neville and Larry Brakefield and Troy Spigner of Bastrop.

Jonesboro - Hodge won the district boys championship with a 7-1 conference record but lost in the state semi - finals to Natchitoches Friday night. Neville with a 6-2 loop mark, was second and was eliminated in the state quarter-finals, also by Natchitoches.

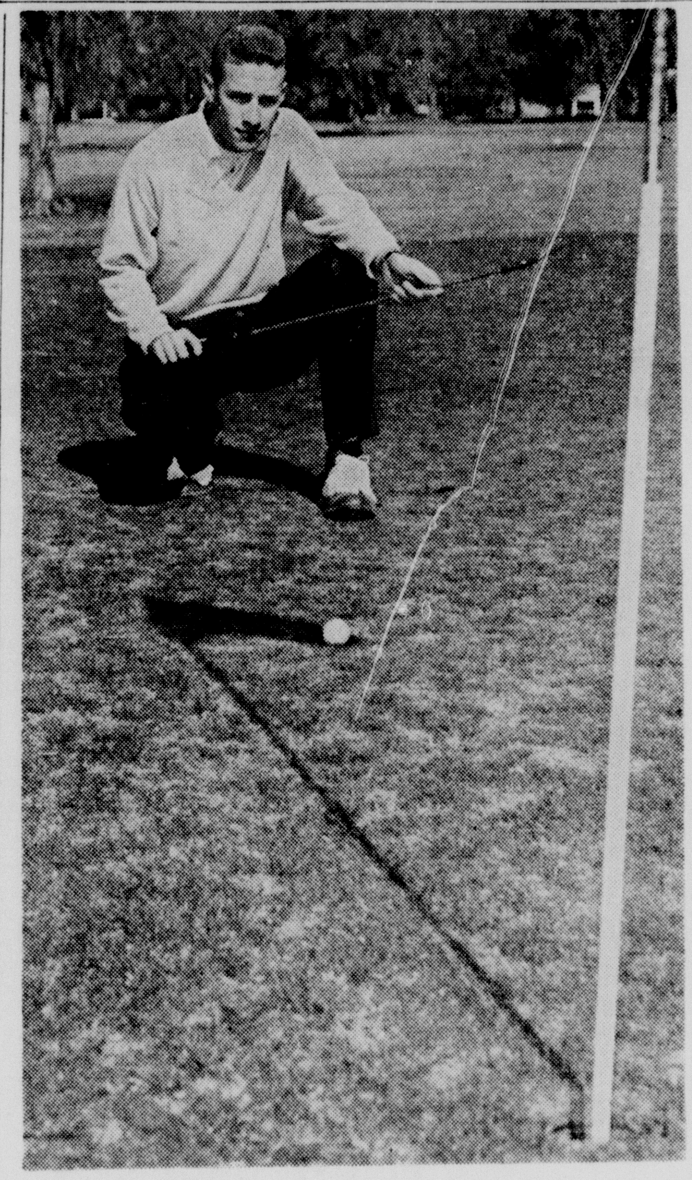
Neville, loser of only one game all season, won the conference girls championship with two regular season wins over Bastrop and defeated Bossier and Eunice to reach the state finals. Bastrop whipped Jena and Hammond in playoff competition.

Juniors dominate both the first and second boys teams with three third classmen on each outfit. Bailey, McNabb and James are the juniors on the first team and Herbert, Brakefield and Spigner on the second. The rest of the all-stars are seniors.

Jonesboro-Hodge's Brown is the biggest player on the first team at 6-5. Bailey and Southerland, both all-state last season, are 6-1 as is James. McNabb stands 5-10.

Cook of Jonesboro - Hodge, 6-5, is the tallest man on the second team. Brakefield and Spigner are 6-2, Herbert 6-1 and Genusa 5-8.

Misses McGough and Burks of Bastrop made the all - state team last year and Miss Wheat was on the second team. These three, along with Neville's stars, McDonald, Hemphill and Trousdale are strong candiates for all - state again this year.



L.S.U. GOLFER—Jack Rivers, former Neville High of Monroe star, is a member of the Louisiana State University golf team. Rivers was the Louisiana Jaycee champion in 1956, and won two invitational tournaments last year — the Magnolia, Ark. Invitational, and the Kraft Paper Tournament in Bastrop. He is a sophomore in LSU's College of Commerce. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vagie H. Rivers, live at 1618 Park Avenue in Monroe.

Men Defeated In Battle Of Sexes, 75-73

The ladies—as they usually do—won another battle of the sexes at the West Monroe gym last night as Hazel Walker's girl Arkansas Travelers edged the Twin Cities All-Stars, 75-73, on "Goose" Garroutte's field goal in the last five seconds.

The girls trailed most of the way but always had the edge in the clowning department although the men tried hard with such old-fashioned stuff as the "hidden ball trick." The boys also fouled often—"hugging" rarely seen in conventional contests, being their favorite misfraction.

The girls also pulled their share of illegal shenigans but the officials, being gentlemenly chaps, usually looked the other way.

3RD STRAIGHT DAY

Rains Delay New Orleans Tourney

By GERALD MOSES

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (UP)—Heavy rains for the third straight day stopped the opening round of the $20,000 New Orleans Open today.

PGA officials refused to give up and re-scheduled the first round for early Sunday at the 6,800-yard par 72 City Park course, now thoroughly soaked this week by nearly five inches of rain.

Eighteen holes will be played Monday — weather permitting — and the two 18-hole rounds will be played Tuesday.

Park officials did not like to discuss cancellation prospects but they said that with the $15,000 Pensacola, Fla., open set to start Thursday one more delay could kill the tourney, New Orleans first in 10 years.

Despite soggy greens, play went well today for many of the 50 players who made it past the first nine.

More than two dozen completed 18 holes.

Although the scores will be erased at tomorrow's start, Bob Rosburg of Napa, Calif., beamed with pride at his five under par 32-35—67 on 18 holes, the best score of the day. Rosburg grips his clubs like a ball bat and the galleries enjoyed his unusual swings. He fired a five under par on the first nine.

"I was driving some good ones and my chip shots came through," Rosburg said.

PGA champ Lionel Hebert was coasting with a one under par coming onto the last green when the rain started pelting.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., had reached the fourth hole before the field rttired to the dry clubhouse.

"I don't see how they can play tomorrow," Palmer said. "The greens are not playable today."

Ken Venturi, top money winner of the year, and holder of three tournament championships already in 1958, was next up on the first tee when the round was halted. The closest he got to the greens yesterday was a practice round he fired for appreciative spectators who returned to the course hoping to see action.

BATON ROUGE AND KEN VENTURI

Ken Venturi, 26-year-old San Francisco pro, looks like the finest player since the Hogan era at this point. Young Ken seemed to have ice-water in his veins this past week at Baton Rouge. He opened the tourney with a 3-under-par 69 and trailed pace setting Arnold Palmer by two strokes. Venturi was two under coming to the par-five-eighteenth in the second round and needed a birdie to tie Palmer and John Barnum for the lead—he stroked in a 10-footer without batting an eye-lash for his second straight 69. Saturday and the third round came along with its thrills, too.

Lionell Herbert, the stocky Lafayette pro, trailed the leaders by one shot and played in the threesome just ahead of Venturi and if ever there was a time for Ken to give to the pressure, it was then. Herbert birdied four out of the first six holes and his gallery was going wild with loud cheering and clapping. Herbert three-putted for a bogie on the par-four-seventh and then birdied the par-four-eighth. Lionell again three-putted on nine by missing an 18-incher for his par. This gave him a 3-under- par 33 for the front nine. He added one more birdie on the back for a 68.

Venturi turned the first nine with a 1-under-par 35. He birdied the sixteenth and was walking down the eighteenth fairway to play his second shot when it was announced over the loud speaker system that he needed a birdie four to tie Herbert for the lead.

The young pro laid his third shot 16 feet from the pen, studied it carefully, and then calmly dropped it in the middle of the cup for his third straight 69 and a tie for the lead. Commented Venturi "I feel lucky to be in a tie for the lead. The way the gallery was yelling, I though Herbert must have had a 60."

Up to this point, Herbert had rounds of 71-68-68 for a 207 total. The steady playing Venturi had 69-69-69 for the same total of 207.

The fourth and final round got underway with Venturi, Palmer, and Julius Boros playing in the next-to-last threesome. Herbert was in the last threesome just behind Venturi which was just the reverse of the way it had been the day before. Venturi hit the greens consistently and birdied five and six to turn in 34. Herbert began to show the pressure and began to spray his shots. He turned in 38. Young Ken had grasped the lead by four shots and there was no stopping him now. He birdied eleven and twelve to go four-under-par and then settled down to pars until the three-putted sixteen for his only bogie of the day. 69-69-69-69—276 for a four-stroke victory only one stroke shy of the record set by Sammy Snead in 1952.

Venturi was the California amateur champion in 1951 and 1956 and had just gotten out of Uncle Sam's service when the Master's invitations went ou in 1956 for the coveted tournament in Augusta, Ga. Venturi got the very last invitation to be issued. He started off the first round by taking birdies on the first four holes and was quoted as saying "I found myself four-under-par on the first four holes and decided what the hell — I may as well shoot for the moon."

And he did — He fired a brilliant 66 which was 6-under-par the first round. No amateur had ever won the Masters and Venturi found himself with a three shot lead over his nearest rival, Dr. Cary Middlecoff. He followed up his first round with a 69 to push his lead to four strokes over Middlecoff, still his nearest contender.

Middlecoff shot a 35 on the front side during the third round to overtake and lead Venturi by a shot as Ken looked not to sharp with a 40 but the back and hardest nine proved to be a different story — Middlecoff shot a 40 and Venturi was said to have made a legend at the Masters as he put three tremendous drives on deadly line in the face of 40 mile per hour winds and birdied thirteen, fourteen, and fifteen which are the three hardest consecutive holes on the course. He came in with a 35 on the back to retain his four shot lead with only one 18-hole round between him and the distinction of being the only amateur to ever win the Masters Tournament.

Venturi thought he was supposed to have been paired with his teacher and the person mainly the reason for his fine game—Byron Nelson. But the pairings were not that way and Ken was upset about it because he felt like Nelson would give him all the moral and mental support he needed for one more round under the tremendous pressure of being the only amateur to lead the Masters for three straight rounds. Ken shot a two-over-par 38 on the front nine and still had a fat lead over the field but he yielded to the pressure on the back nine to fire a high and sad 42. This gave him an 80 for the last round and as an anti-climax Jack Burke, Jr. more or less backed into the winner's spot with a final round of 71. That made nine shots he gained on Venturi in one round to beat him by only one stroke. Middlecoff finished third, a stroke behind Venturi.

Venturi turned pro just fifteen short months ago on November 28, 1956. Since then, he has annexed five major tournaments to his win column. In 1957, he won the St. Paul and Miller Opens back to back by two and five shots respectively and this year before Baton Rouge, he won the Thunderbird and Phoenix, Arizona Opens by five shots and one shot respectively. Should he win at New Orleans this week, he would keep that unique record of back to back wins intact.

Many of his fellow pros consider Ken as the greatest active golfer in the world today and if he keeps up his winning ways, most everyone is going to be inclined to agree.

Quoting Ken after four straight 69's in his Baton Rouge win—"I don't care so much about the money, I just like to win. I'm in a rut — but it's a pretty nice rut to be in."

JACKSON, MISS., OPEN

Fred Hawkins captured the 35-hole Jackson, Miss., Open Tournament with two even par rounds of 70 for a 140 total. The Jackson Tourney was planned to give the players a chance to win some money that didn't survive the 36-hole cut at Baton Rouge. The tournament proved highly successful as quite a few good players were cut at Baton Rouge. Byron Nelson, Mike Krak, Bob Toski, and many more gave the Jackson galleries plenty of fine golf on the Jackson Country Club course. Even par won the tournament because of the 500 additional yards added to the course serveral months ago which made it into a real championship course.

Howell Sharpest Shooter In SEC

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 8, (AP)—Mississippi State's Bailey Howell won the 1958 Southeastern Conference field goal accuracy crown, and almost cornered rebounding honors too.

SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore today announced the specialty champions for the just-concluded basketball season, once more turning the spotlight on the 6-7 Maroon center. Howell only recently was named to the all-America second team—and also was picked as the SEC's most valuable player.

Howell was first in field goal accuracy with a .515 percentage of completions. Florida guard Joe Hobbs led in free throw accuracy with an .859 percentage, and Tennessee center Gene Tormohlin was first in rebounds with an average of 16.6 per cent in 23 starts.

Howell was behind Tormohlen with a 16.3 mark for 25 games.

Howell Hobbs and Tormohlen were named to the SEC all-conference squad of 10 players.

Howell sank 226 of 439 field goal attempts for his .525 percentage. He was the only conference sharpshooter to break .500.

Hobbs had a clear edge in the free throw department scoring 98 points in 114 gift tosses for his .859 season record.

Tormohlen, also 6-7, pulled in 384 rebounds in 23 games, compared to 406 in 25 games by Howell.

Demon Spring Football Game Hit By Rains

NATCHITOCHES, La. (Special) —Head Coach Jack Clayton said today the annual "Purple-White" spring football game has been canceled and that all persons who purchased advance tickets for the intra-squad tussle would have their money refunded.

"Our fast - approaching baseball and track seasons make it necessary for us to call off the game. Most of the football squad either plays on the baseball team or goes out for track," he said.

The spring contest, scheduled originally for last Wednesday afternoon, was not played because of a heavy downpour of rain before game time.

Clayton added that the bad weather also has contributed to the decision to cancel the game. "It would be at least another week before we could resume full-scale practice, and the idleness could bring about injuries," he added.

WEARS COWBOY DUDS

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Warren Spahn, pitching star for the Milwaukee Braves, has a different garb in the off season. He dons the duds of a rancher and when he comes to town from his spread near Hartshorne, he blends so well with the cowpokes that few would suspect he is the National League southpaw star.

Royal Union Blazes Home First In Louisiana Derby

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (AP)—Jockey Johnny Heckmann took Royal Union out to an early lead and blazed the Reverie Knoll Farm flash through the stretch today to win the $49,675 Louisiana Derby at the Fair Grounds.

The mile and one-eighth test for three-year-olds rang down the curtain of the Fair Grounds' winter meeting before 16,420 fans who made Royal Union a slight favorite in the 10-horse field.

Heckmann kept the chestnut son of Hill Prince in front except for a brief moment in the back stretch when Willow Brook Farm's First Fair went to the top for an instant.

Royal Union rolled into the home stretch with a short margin and outlasted a gallant charge by Crabgrass Stable's Noureddin to win by three-quarters of a length.

The Reverie Knoll pride returned $7.60, $4.80 and $4.60. Noureddin, who whipped Royal Union in the Derby prep last week, paid $5 and $3.80. Maine Chance Farm's Ebony Pearl took the show spot and returned $5.20.

Royal Union's time over the track, turned into a guagmire by early afternoon rains, was 1:52, two and two-fifths seconds off the track mark, but good, considering the condition of the strip.

Reverie Knoll's owner, Freeman Keyes of Chicago, was in the press box and screamed: "Go on with him, Johnny" as Heckmann pushed Royal Union out of the gate on top.

The victory was Royal Union's third in three starts and justified the high hopes held for him at the beginning of the year. Keyes said the stable first decided to try to rate the colt off the pace but the signals were changed when the track turned up sloppy.

Noureddin earned $8,000 for his owners while Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham collected $4,000 for Ebony Pearl's third place finish.

The first race went to the post in a cloudburst with Quick Donde responding to strong handling to win and pay $8.60. Dusty Drive took over in the stretch to win the second race and return $14.20. The daily double paid $64.40.

Closed Video Of Title Bout For Fans Here

Some 2,200 fight fans in the greater Monroe area will be the only ones to see the Carmen Basilio - Sugar Ray Robinson world's middleweight championship bout on TV at the same time it takes place at the Chicago Stadium on Tuesday evening, March 25.

These boxing enthusiasts will witness the encounter from their seats in the Neville auditorium which will present the blow-by-blow goings-on over the facilities of TelePrompTer Corporation big screen close-circuit television, at 10 p.m., local time.

Special equipment has been installed to bring the fight, which is promoted by the International Boxing Club. The important fight will not be shown over home television.

Mrs. Porter Wins Florida Golf Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UP) — Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., won her second straight Florida East Coast Women's Amateur golf title Saturday by defeating Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, Ga., 3 and 2, on the windswept Ponce de Leon course.

It was the first major victory of the season for the 26-year-old Mrs. Porter, who has held such titles as the National Amateur, Canadian Amateur, and the North-South Open.

Mrs. Porter relied on fine putting and wedge play and took advantage of frequent lapses by Mrs. Reynolds around the green.

Mrs. Reynolds won only one hole, taking the 11th when Mrs. Porter hooked her drive into the woods.

Techmen Cut Spring Grid Drills Short

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Rainy weather forced Louisiana Tech's footballers to cut short their annual spring drill period which got underway on February.

Scheduled to close out the allotted 20 days of practice on Thursday, the Techmen had to be satisfied with only 18 sessions this spring after being plagued by bad weather off and on during the period.

We feel as though we accomplished about as much as we wanted to, reported head Coach Joe Aillet, who pointed out that the Bulldog mentors were especially pleased with the results of the drills. It was another very enjoyable experience, commented Coach Aillet, with a fine group of young athletes who displayed a very friendly and co-operative spirit.

There is an extra $25 a day for the low daily score for the pros and one dozen golf balls for the low amateur. It is a 72-hole medal play tournament with four 18-hole rounds to be played Thursday through Sunday.

Dick Metz is the defending champion but he will be running into some mighty stiff competition from a real fine field of amateurs and pros. Buster Cupit, Johnny Myers, Leonard Warren, Johnny Revolta, Dale Morey, Curtiss Person, and many more will be on hand trying to win.

1958 STATE AMATEUR TOUNEY

The Louisiana State Golf Association's 1958 State Amateur Tournament will be held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club here on Thursday, April 24 through Sunday, April 27 with Winnie Cole as the host pro. Qualifying will be on Thursday over the 18-hole layout. The championship flight will consist of 32 players and will be match play. All other flights will consist of 16 players each. The first round losers in the championship flight will make up the first flight. All of the matches will be 18 holes except for the championship finals and it will be 36 holes. The entrants are restricted to members of member clubs and they must have been a resident of Louisiana for one year or more prior to the qualifying date.

A new champion will be crowned as Jim McGonagill has moved to California and cannot defend the title he's won so many times that it's hard to count 'em up. All of the state's leading amateurs are expected to participate.

Howell Sharpest Shooter In SEC

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 8 (AP)—Mississippi State's Bailey Howell won the 1958 Southeastern Conference field goal accuracy crown, and almost cornered rebounding honors too.

SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore today announced the specialty champions for the just-concluded basketball season, once more turning the spotlight on the 6-7 Maroon center. Howell only recently was named to the all-America second team—and also was picked as the SEC's most valuable player.

Howell was first in field goal accuracy with a .515 percentage of completions. Florida guard Joe Hobbs led in free throw accuracy with an .859 percentage, and Tennessee center Gene Tormohlin was first in rebounds with an average of 16.6 per cent in 23 starts.

Howell was behind Tormohlen with a 16.3 mark for 25 games.

Howell Hobbs and Tormohlen were named to the SEC all-conference squad of 10 players.

Howell sank 226 of 439 field goal attempts for his .525 percentage. He was the only conference sharpshooter to break .500.

Hobbs had a clear edge in the free throw department scoring 98 points in 114 gift tosses for his .859 season record.

Tormohlen, also 6-7, pulled in 384 rebounds in 23 games, compared to 406 in 25 games by Howell.

Demon Spring Football Game Hit By Rains

NATCHITOCHES, La. (Special) —Head Coach Jack Clayton said today the annual "Purple-White" spring football game has been canceled and that all persons who purchased advance tickets for the intra-squad tussle would have their money refunded.

"Our fast - approaching baseball and track seasons make it necessary for us to call off the game. Most of the football squad either plays on the baseball team or goes out for track," he said.

The spring contest, scheduled originally for last Wednesday afternoon, was not played because of a heavy downpour of rain before game time.

Clayton added that the bad weather also has contributed to the decision to cancel the game. "It would be at least another week before we could resume full-scale practice, and the idleness could bring about injuries," he added.

WEARS COWBOY DUDS

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Warren Spahn, pitching star for the Milwaukee Braves, has a different garb in the off season. He dons the duds of a rancher and when he comes to town from his spread near Hartshorne, he blends so well with the cowpokes that few would suspect he is the National League southpaw star.

Royal Union Blazes Home First In Louisiana Derby

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, March 8 (AP)—Jockey Johnny Heckmann took Royal Union out to an early lead and blazed the Reverie Knoll Farm flash through the stretch today to win the $49,675 Louisiana Derby at the Fair Grounds.

The mile and one-eighth test for three-year-olds rang down the curtain of the Fair Grounds' winter meeting before 16,420 fans who made Royal Union a slight favorite in the 10-horse field.

Heckmann kept the chestnut son of Hill Prince in front except for a brief moment in the back stretch when Willow Brook Farm's First Fair went to the top for an instant.

Royal Union rolled into the home stretch with a short margin and outlasted a gallant charge by Crabgrass Stable's Noureddin to win by three-quarters of a length.

The Reverie Knoll pride returned $7.60, $4.80 and $4.60. Noureddin, who whipped Royal Union in the Derby prep last week, paid $5 and $3.80. Maine Chance Farm's Ebony Pearl took the show spot and returned $5.20.

Royal Union's time over the track, turned into a guagmire by early afternoon rains, was 1:52, two and two-fifths seconds off the track mark, but good, considering the condition of the strip.

Reverie Knoll's owner, Freeman Keyes of Chicago, was in the press box and screamed: "Go on with him, Johnny" as Heckmann pushed Royal Union out of the gate on top.

The victory was Royal Union's third in three starts and justified the high hopes held for him at the beginning of the year. Keyes said the stable first decided to try to rate the colt off the pace but the signals were changed when the track turned up sloppy.

Noureddin earned $8,000 for his owners while Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham collected $4,000 for Ebony Pearl's third place finish.

The first race went to the post in a cloudburst with Quick Donde responding to strong handling to win and pay $8.60. Dusty Drive took over in the stretch to win the second race and return $14.20. The daily double paid $64.40.

Closed Video Of Title Bout For Fans Here

Some 2,200 fight fans in the greater Monroe area will be the only ones to see the Carmen Basilio - Sugar Ray Robinson world's middleweight championship bout on TV at the same time it takes place at the Chicago Stadium on Tuesday evening, March 25.

These boxing enthusiasts will witness the encounter from their seats in the Neville auditorium which will present the blow-by-blow goings-on over the facilities of TelePrompTer Corporation big screen close-circuit television, at 10 p.m., local time.

Special equipment has been installed to bring the fight, which is promoted by the International Boxing Club. The important fight will not be shown over home television.

Tickets for the special closed-circuit telecast will go on sale next week at Dew Music Company, Monroe. In light of the great public interest in the fight telecast, as evidenced by the many telephone inquiries, the local sponsors have predicted an early sellout.

Techmen Cut Spring Grid Drills Short

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Rainy weather forced Louisiana Tech's footballers to cut short their annual spring drill period which got underway on February.

Scheduled to close out the allotted 20 days of practice on Thursday, the Techmen had to be satisfied with only 18 sessions this spring after being plagued by bad weather off and on during the period.

We feel as though we accomplished about as much as we wanted to, reported head Coach Joe Aillet, who pointed out that the Bulldog mentors were especially pleased with the results of the drills. It was another very enjoyable experience, commented Coach Aillet, with a fine group of young athletes who displayed a very friendly and co-operative spirit.

Mrs. Porter Wins Florida Golf Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UP) — Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., won her second straight Florida East Coast Women's Amateur golf title Saturday by defeating Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, Ga., 3 and 2, on the windswept Ponce de Leon course.

It was the first major victory of the season for the 26-year-old Mrs. Porter, who has held such titles as the National Amateur, Canadian Amateur, and the North-South Open.

Mrs. Porter relied on fine putting and wedge play and took advantage of frequent lapses by Mrs. Reynolds around the green.

Mrs. Reynolds won only one hole, taking the 11th when Mrs. Porter hooked her drive into the woods.

BOWLING

With Tommy Higgins

J. C. Walters Insurance of Lansing, Mich. recently rolled the fourth highest team triplicate on record, 1019. The three 1019's were followed on two successive league nights by matches in which the Walters team lost a game each night when the opposition rolled 1019. Another oddity was that Joe Joseph, former star of the Walters team, now is a member of the Detroit Stroh's Beer team that set the triplicate record of 1144 on Dec. 7, 1950.

Emil Joseph has the season's best triplicate. three 237's rolled in the Toledo Times Traveling League on Jan. 16. . . . Bowling's leading producer of 300 games, George Billick of Old Forge, Pa., has moved up one step on the all time list of American Bowling Congress approved 300 games. Billick's 14th perfect game, rolled at Old Forge, Pa., gives him a lead of three over Hank Marino of Milwaukee. Next is Pat Patterson of St. Louis with ten, followed by Walter Ward of Cleveland and Frank Clause of Old Forge with nine each.

An entry blank for an ABC tournament once was sent to Mrs. Lorene Craig, an outstanding Kansas City, Mo. bowler who has competed in men's leagues. It seems she was carried on the membership roll of a men's league under her nickname—Rip!

Hottest streak of the season occurred in Milwaukee two weeks ago when Al Savas connected for successive league blasts of 772, 726, 685, and 762 for 2945 pins and a 245 average. . . . Best three in succession this season are 784, 735 and 734—2243, by Ray Bluth of St. Louis during the last week of January.

Dick Hoover, 1956 and 1957 ABC Masters tournament champion, has won his third straight Ohio match game title. The Akron ace, who will defend his Masters title at Syracuse, May 24-28, totaled 5014 pins for 24 games.

Runnerup was Art Schreier of Dayton with 4860 and the best six game block of 1346.

Fewer than 60 openings still remain for the eight game qualifier for the 1958 Masters tournament. Qualifying will be held May 24-25 on the ABC tournament lanes. The double elimination finals follow through May 28.

Masters entries, at $30 per man, can be made by writing to ABC Tournament Headquarters, Onondaga War Memorial, Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Nearly 28,000 bowlers will compete for $355,472 in prize money in the 1958 American Bowling Congress tournament, according to Frank K. Baker, ABC executive secretary.

The 5,434 teams entered in the 72 day event at the Syracuse (N.Y.) War Memorial comprise the 11th largest team field in the tournament's 55 year history. The $355,472 prize fund has been exceeded only six times since the first ABC tournament was held in Chicago in 1901.

The 1958 tournament has drawn teams from 39 states, District of Columbia, Canada, Hawaii and Saudi Arabia, the latter being a team of American oil company workers who will take in the tournament during their vacation.

The tournament, which will run March 29 through June 8, is the second to be held in the East in three years, Rochester having been the site in 1956. Syracuse hosted the tournament once before, in 1935 when a record 2837 teams were entered.

American Bowling Congress membership for the 1957-58 season had reached 496,353 teams on Feb. 3, the midpoint of the fiscal year. This is approximately 14,000 teams under the alltime record, set last season, of 510,130 teams. The current season runs through July 31.

ABC sanctioned leagues also were near the alltime record on Feb. 3. The total was 52,652 leagues, 1662 shy of last season's record.

In a practice session on Feb. 4, 68-year-old John Hartman of Sioux City, Iowa, rolled a 300 game. The oldest man to roll a 300 in ABC anctioned competition was Robert Watson of Los Angeles, who was 70 when he rolled a perfect game in 1947.

MONDAY NIGHT

Lady Wrestlers At Kallio's Arena

There'll be "something old, something new" at Kallio's Arena Monday night with two new matmatwomen to tangle and a 4-women to tangle and a 4-man tag team match on a double main event wrestling card.

MAE MASTON

Jeanette Collins, "The Kentucky Wildcat" will meet May Matson in the ladies bout and new Louisiana heavyweight champion Bernard Hodgemyer and Charley Laye to snarl and quarrel with George Curtis and Jack Larue in the tag affair.

Both matches will be over the 75-minute or less route with two falls needed to win. Bill Barney will be the referee.

Fighting out of Bowling Green, Kentucky, Miss. Collins is said to richly deserve her title "Wildcat." Quick as a cat and twice as deadly, she'll nonetheless have a tough time beating Miss Matson, a Tampa, Florida native.

Curtis and Larue, who have proved to be a deadly duo in relay wrestling, will be making their second straight appearance as tag partners here. Last week they defeated Phil Brummett and the Great Mephisto in straight falls.

Curtis was the star of last week's performance, winning both falls by pinning Mephisto. Swift and strong, he's one of the best bonebenders doing business in this area.

Laye was scheduled to appear with Mephisto on last week's card but was forced to cancel because of the death of his mother and Brummet replaced him. A former claiment of the world's light heavyweight championship and ex-Louisiana king, he is always tough and has a big bag of tricks.

Hodgemyer, winner over Barney last week for the state title, is determined to prove his victory was no fluke and show up well in the tag match. The big, long-haired grappler has paired with Laye several times and the two work well together.

START MARCH 15

Tech's Spikemen Have Busy Slate

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's 158 track campaign, highlighted by the Southwest Recreation Meet and the Florida Relays, will put the Bulldogs seeing action in 10 events, according to the schedule announced by Athletic Director Joe Aillet.

The Canine thinclads will open the season March 15 in the Southwest Recreation Meet, Ft. Worth, Tex., and will wind up in the Gulf States Conference Tournament at Lafayette on May 17.

In between those dates the Techsters will participate in the Florida Relays, Southwestern Louisiana Relays, and Northwestern Louisiana Relays. In two, three or four team meets the Bulldogs will also clash with Ouachita College, East Texas State, Oklahoma Baptist, Howard Payne, Northwestern Louisiana, Southwestern Louisiana and Northeast Louisiana.

The Tech schedule will bring to Ruston for the first time in several years the Southern Amateur Athletic Union track meet on May 9 and 10. The junior S.A.A.U. meet on May will be open to high school and non - winning college S.A.A.U. athletes and the senior division will be open to any amateur athlete in this southern district which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, South Arkansas and Tennessee.

Tech track Coach Jimmy Mize will have 12 lettermen back from the 1957 team. Outstanding runners returning include sprinter and hurdler Joel Thomas, Rodessa senior who was high point man of the conference meet last spring, and middle distance men Tommy Powell Vivian junior, and Frank Heathman, junior of Shreveport.

Shot and discus work should be co. out between Tommy Hinton, Ruston senior, and Sidney Anderson, Plain Dealing junior, two experienced men among the candidates for the field events.

A sensational freshman on the team is speedster Pat Garrett of Ruston. On Dec. 29 he placed third in the 100 yard dash at the highly competitive Sugar Bowl Invitational Meet, New Orleans. At Ruston High School, Garrett set two state dash records when he covered the 100 yards in 9.5 and the 220 yards in 20.7 seconds.

Northwestern Opens Baseball Work Today

NATCHITOCHES, La. (Special) —Northwestern State College's baseballers, delayed by rains and an unexpected holiday, are scheduled to begin official practice here Monday.

The Demons, who finished with a first place tie in the Gulf States Conference championship race last year, will welcome 14 returning lettermen - more than ever before - back to the fold.

Coach Alvin "Cracker" Brown, observing that the caliber of GSC play has proven tough in the past, thinks that "the team should be better this year but the competition will be tougher." This will be Brown's seventeenth year as NSC baseball mentor.

Kemp "Flash" Gordon, Billy Jack Booth and Billy Roy Cook are three of the returning monogram winners who could play a big role in the Demons' quest for another successful diamond season.

Gordon, a junior this year, was second leading hitter on the team last year with a .342 average for all games. Gordon, a first baseman, also proved to be a proficient hitter against conference pitching, rapping out a .377 batting average in GSC play.

Another player who should come up with a key performance is shortstop Billy Jack Booth, Booth led the squad in conference hitting by posting a healthy .391 average, and had an overall batting mark of .309.

Billy Roy Cook, by virtue of his fine 1957 pitching performance, figures to again be the backbone of the mound staff. Cook paced Demon hurlers with 10 victories and one defeat over the course of the entire season last year. Seven of Cook's victories came in conference play, where he had a 1.80 ERA.

Four other pitchers who won letters last year will again be available for mound duty. These include Billy Osborn - who came on strong at the end of last year's campaign and who won the title-clinching last game of the season - as well as Robert Lewis, Larry Reeves and Blake Sims.

The three returning outfielder - lettermen are H. A. Butler, Gerald Cloutier and Jerry Lott.

Roland Knott and Glenn Reeves, both catchers, will be back again this year after winning letters last campaign as will be third baseman David Sosa. J. W. Beck, and outfielder - infielder, will also be on hand.

Northwestern opens the 1958 baseball season on the road, meeting Centenary College in Shreveport on March 22. Twenty - seven games have been scheduled for this year.

Oak Ridge Hosting 1st Retriever Trial

OAK RIDGE, La. (Special)— Louisiana's first retriever trial, sponsored by the North Louisiana Retreiver Club, will be held near here today.

With approximately 25 days scheduled to run, the trial will start at 10 a.m. and continue through the day. It will be held in the Moss pasture near here.

Club president, Earl Barham issued an invitation to the public to attend, free-of-charge. He said signs have been erected to lead out-of-town spectators to the scene.

According to Barham, four series will be run, time permitting. Using pigeons and ducks as game, dogs will be entered in an 80-yard single, land retrieve, a 60-yard water retrieve, a double on water and double on land.

"For those persons who have never seen a field trial, this will be a good chance to bring the family out and enjoy the sport," Barham stated.

Highlighting the event will be the running of an outstanding retriever owned by W. L. Kinney of Shreveport. The animal won the qualifying stake at Port Arthur, Tex.

The North Louisiana Retriever Club, the only one of its kind in the state, was organized recently to "stimulate interest in training retrievers in this area," Barham explained.

"Since the trial will be our first, prizes will not be awarded," he said. "The purpose of our first trial is to encourage participation."

Dog owners will be charged a $3 entry fee, which will be used to pay for the cost of the birds and other expenses involved in sponsoring the trial.

(2) Card of Thanks

My family and I wish to thank our friends, relatives and acquaintances for their kindnesses during my illness and stay in the hospital. Special thanks go to Dr. J. W. Schonlau and the 3rd floor nurses at the St. Francis Hospital. To the many who sent flowers gifts and food; to those who called and visited at home and in Monroe, we say thanks. We can never say fully what it has meant to us.

GEORGE H. TAYLOR and FAMILY
Start, La.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation of the many acts of kindness in connection with the death of B. B. Logan, husband and father.

Oft times words fail to convey the deep appreciation for what has been done in times of sorrow. We feel we can never repay for the thoughtfulness of our unnumbered friends.

Mrs. B. B. Logan Sr., B. B. Logan, Jr., Donald E. Logan, Mrs. Martha Hinton and Mrs. Mary Ann Strong.

BOWLING

With Tommy Higgins

J. C. Walters Insurance of Lansing, Mich. recently rolled the fourth highest team triplicate on record, 1019. The three 1019's were followed on two successive league nights by matches in which the Walters team lost a game each night when the opposition rolled 1019. Another oddity was that Joe Joseph, former star of the Walters team, now is a member of the Detroit Stroh's Beer team that set the triplicate record of 1144 on Dec. 7, 1950.

Emil Joseph has the season's best triplicate, three 237's rolled in the Toledo Times Traveling League on Jan. 16. . . . Bowling's leading producer of 300 games, George Billick of Old Forge, Pa., has moved up one step on the all time list of American Bowling Congress approved 300 games. Billick's 14th perfect game, rolled at Old Forge, Pa., gives him a lead of three over Hank Marino of Milwaukee. Next is Pat Patterson of St. Louis with ten, followed by Walter Ward of Cleveland and Frank Clause of Old Forge with nine each.

An entry blank for an ABC tournament once was sent to Mrs. Lorene Craig, an outstanding Kansas City, Mo. bowler who has competed in men's leagues. It seems she was carried on the membership roll of a men's league under her nickname—Rip!

Hottest streak of the season occurred in Milwaukee two weeks ago when Al Savas connected for successive league blasts of 772, 726, 685, and 762 for 2945 pins and a 245 average. . . . Best three in succession this season are 784, 735 and 734—2243, by Ray Bluth of St. Louis during the last week of January.

Dick Hoover, 1956 and 1957 ABC Masters tournament champion, has won his third straight Ohio match game title. The Akron ace, who will defend his Masters title at Syracuse, May 24-28, totaled 5014 pins for 24 games.

Runnerup was Art Schreier of Dayton with 4860 and the best six game block of 1346.

Fewer than 60 openings still remain for the eight game qualifier for the 1958 Masters tournament. Qualifying will be held May 24-25 on the ABC tournament lanes. The double elimination finals follow through May 28.

Masters entries, at $30 per man, can be made by writing to ABC Tournament Headquarters, Onondaga War Memorial, Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Nearly 28,000 bowlers will compete for $355,472 in prize money in the 1958 American Bowling Congress tournament, according to Frank K. Baker, ABC executive secretary.

The 5,434 teams entered in the 72 day event at the Syracuse (N.Y.) War Memorial comprise the 11th largest team field in the tournament's 55 year history. The $355,472 prize fund has been exceeded only six times since the first ABC tournament was held in Chicago in 1901.

The 1958 tournament has drawn teams from 39 states, District of Columbia, Canada, Hawaii and Saudi Arabia, the latter being a team of American oil company workers who will take part during their vacation.

The tournament, which will run March 29 through June 8, is the second to be held in the East in three years, Rochester having been the site in 1956. Syracuse hosted the tournament once before, in 1935 when a record 2837 teams were entered.

American Bowling Congress membership for the 1957-58 season had reached 496,353 teams on Feb. 3, the midpoint of the fiscal year. This is approximately 14,000 teams under the alltime record, set last season, of 510,130 teams. The current season runs through July 31.

ABC sanctioned leagues also were near the alltime record on Feb. 3. The total was 52,652 leagues, 1662 shy of last season's record.

In a practice session on Feb. 4, 68-year-old John Hartman of Sioux City, Iowa, rolled a 300 game. The oldest man to roll a 300 in ABC anctioned competition was Robert Watson of Los Angeles, who was 70 when he rolled a perfect game in 1947.

Northwestern Opens Baseball Work Today

NATCHITOCHES, La. (Special) —Northwestern State College's baseballers, delayed by rains and an unexpected holiday, are scheduled to begin official practice here Monday.

The Demons, who finished with a first place tie in the Gulf States Conference championship race last year, will welcome 14 returning lettermen - more than ever before - back to the fold.

Coach Alvin "Cracker" Brown, observing that the caliber of GSC play has proven tough in the past, thinks that "the team should be better this year but the competition will be tougher." This will be Brown's seventeenth year as NSC baseball mentor.

Kemp "Flash" Gordon, Billy Jack Booth and Billy Roy Cook are three of the returning monogram winners who could play a big role in the Demons' quest for another successful diamond season.

Gordon, a junior this year, was second leading hitter on the team last year with a .342 average for all games. Gordon, a first baseman, has proven to be a proficient hitter against conference pitching, rapping out a .377 batting average in GSC play.

Another player who could come up with a key performance is shortstop Billy Jack Booth. Booth led the squad in conference hitting by posting a healthy .391 average, and had an overall batting mark of .309.

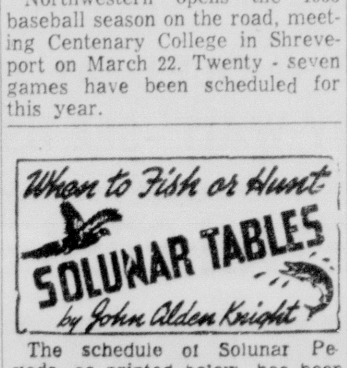
Billy Roy Cook, by virtue of his fine 1957 pitching performance, figures to again be the backbone of the mound staff. Cook paced Demon hurlers with 10 victories and one defeat over the course of the entire season last year. Seven of Cook's victories came in conference play, where he had a 1.80 ERA.

Four other pitchers who won letters last year will again be available for mound duty. These include Billy Osborn - who came on strong at the end of last year's campaign and who won the title-clinching last game of the season - as well as Robert Lewis, Larry Reeves and Blake Sims.

The three returning outfielder - lettermen are H. A. Butler, Gerald Cloutier and Jerry Lott.

Roland Knott and Glenn Reeves, both catchers, will be back again this year after winning letters last campaign as will be third baseman David Sosa. J. W. Beck, and outfielder - infielder, will also be on hand.

Northwestern opens the 1958 baseball season on the road, meeting Centenary College in Shreveport on March 22. Twenty - seven games have been scheduled for this year.



The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Lady Wrestlers At Kallio's Arena

There'll be "something old, something new" at Kallio's Arena Monday night with two new matmatwomen to tangle and a 4-women to tangle and a 4-man tag team match on a double main event wrestling card.

MAE MASTON

Jeanette Collins, "The Kentucky Wildcat" will meet May Matson in the ladies bout and new Louisiana heavyweight champion Bernard Hodgemyer and Charley Laye to snarl and quarrel with George Curtis and Jack Larue in the tag affair.

Both matches will be over the 75-minute or less route with two falls needed to win. Bill Barney will be the referee.

Fighting out of Bowling Green, Kentucky, Miss Collins is said to richly deserve her title "Wildcat." Quick as a cat and twice as deadly, she'll nonetheless have a tough time beating Miss Matson, a Tampa, Florida native.

Curtis and Larue, who have proved to be a deadly duo in relay wrestling, will be making their second straight appearance as tag partners here. Last week they defeated Phil Brummett and the Great Mephisto in straight falls.

Curtis was the star of last week's performance, winning both falls by pinning Mephisto. Swift and strong, he's one of the best bonebenders doing business in this area.

Laye was scheduled to appear with Mephisto on last week's card but was forced to cancel because of the death of his mother and Brummet replaced him. A former claiment of the world's light heavyweight championship and ex-Louisiana king, he is always tough and has a big bag of tricks.

Hodgemyer, winner over Barney last week for the state title, is determined to prove his victory was no fluke and show up well in the tag match. The big, long-haired grappler has paired with Laye several times and the two work well together.

START MARCH 15

Tech's Spikemen Have Busy Slate

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's 158 track campaign, highlighted by the Southwest Recreation Meet and the Florida Relays, will put the Bulldogs seeing action in 10 events, according to the schedule announced by Athletic Director Joe Aillet.

The Canine thinclads will open the season March 15 in the Southwest Recreation Meet, Ft. Worth, Tex., and will wind up in the Gulf States Conference Tournament at Lafayette on May 17.

In between those dates the Techsters will participate in the Florida Relays, Southwestern Louisiana Relays, and Northwestern Louisiana Relays. In two, three or four team meets the Bulldogs will also clash with Ouachita College, East Texas State, Oklahoma Baptist, Howard Payne, Northwestern Louisiana, Southwestern Louisiana and Northeast Louisiana.

The Tech schedule will bring to Ruston for the first time in several years the Southern Amateur Athletic Union track meet on May 9 and 10. The junior S.A.A.U. meet on May will be open to high school and non - winning college S.A.A.U. athletes and the senior division will be open to any amateur athlete in this southern district which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, South Arkansas and Tennessee.

Tech track Coach Jimmy Mize will have 12 lettermen back from the 1957 team. Outstanding runners returning include sprinter and hurdler Joel Thomas, Rodessa senior who was high point man of the conference meet last spring, and middle distance men Tommy Powell, Vivian junior, and Frank Heathman, junior of Shreveport.

Shot and discus work should be cut out between Tommy Hinton, Ruston senior, and Sidney Anderson, Plain Dealing junior, two experienced men among the candidates for the field events.

A sensational freshman on the team is speedster Pat Garrett of Ruston. On Dec. 29 he placed third in the 100 yard dash at the highly competitive Sugar Bowl Invitational Meet, New Orleans. At Ruston High School, Garrett set two state dash records when he covered the 100 yards in 9.5 and the 220 yards in 20.7 seconds.

The schedule:

Mar. 15 — Southwest Recreation Meet at Ft. Worth, Tex.

Mar. 22 Ouachita College at Arkadelphia, Ark.

Mar. 29 — Florida Relays at Gainesville, Fla.

Apr. 8 — East Texas State, Oklahoma Baptist, Howard Payne at Commerce, Tex.

Apr. 12 — Southwestern Relays at Lafayette.

Apr. 19 — Northwestern Relays at Natchitoches.

Apr. 26 — Northwestern Louisiana, East Texas State at Ruston (night).

May 1 — Southwestern Louisiana, Northeast Louisiana at Monroe.

May 9, 10 — S.A.A.U. at Ruston,

May 17 — Gulf States Conference Meet at Lafayette.

OAK RIDGE, La. (Special)— Louisiana's first retriever trial, sponsored by the North Louisiana Retreiver Club, will be held near here today.

With approximately 25 days scheduled to run, the trial will start at 10 a.m. and continue through the day. It will be held in the Moss pasture near here.

Club president, Earl Barham issued an invitation to the public to attend, free-of-charge. He said signs have been erected to lead out-of-town spectators to the scene.

According to Barham, four series will be run, time permitting.

Using pigeons and ducks as game, dogs will be entered in an 80-yard single, land retrieve, a 60-yard water retrieve, a double on water and double on land.

"For those persons who have never seen a field trial, this will be a good chance to bring the family out and enjoy the sport," Barham stated.

Highlighting the event will be the running of an outstanding retriever owned by W. L. Kinney of Shreveport. The animal won the qualifying stake at Port Arthur, Tex.

The North Louisiana Retriever Club, the only one of its kind in the state, was organized recently to "stimulate interest in training retrievers in this area," Barham explained.

"Since the trial will be our first, prizes will not be awarded," he said. "The purpose of our first trial is to encourage participation."

Dog owners will be charged a $3 entry fee, which will be used to pay for the cost of the birds and other expenses involved in sponsoring the trial.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation of the many acts of kindness in connection with the death of B. B. Logan, husband and father.

LEADER - - Harold Woods Jr. has been appointed leader of the special gifts division of the Ouachita Parish Cancer Crusade. The Monroe native is bringing young business leaders together in an all-out effort to fight the disease. During the next two weeks, the group will enlist the financial aid of the business firms in the area. Early response has been termed "excellent" by officials in the drive.

1958 Forestry Conference March 27-28

Vertrees Young of Bogalusa will deliver the keynote address at the 1958 Southern Forestry Conference, slated for March 27 and 28 in Monroe, it was announced today.

The announcement was made by J. Walter Myers of Atlanta, Ga., executive director of the Forest Farmer Association, which sponsors the annual conference. This will be the first time in the 17-year history of the conference that it has been held west of the Mississippi River, Myers said.

Young, who is president of the Louisiana Forestry Association and past president of the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., is president of Gaylord Container Corporation, Division of Crown Zellerbach.

"Forest Farming Comes of Age" will be the theme of the session, which will attract timberland owners from throughout the South. J. V. Whitfield of Burgaw, N.C., president, will be in charge of the conference. Headquarters will be the Virginia Hotel.

Opening on March 27 with general sessions, the meeting will move to the annual Forest Farmer luncheon and afternoon panel discussions, followed by a social event as guests of Louisiana paper mills. On March 28, following morning sessions, conference delegates will go by bus to Crossett, Ark., for a tour of the Crossett Company mills and the Crossett Research Center of the Southern Forest Experiment Station.

An alternate tour will go to Tallulah, highlighting hardwood forestry progress and facilities of Chicago Mill and Lumber Company. Both groups will return to Monroe that night for the annual Forest Farmer banquet.

Ralph T. Wall of the Louisiana Forestry Commission in Baton Rouge will serve as special program coordinator for the entire meeting. Committee chairmen include Vernon Robinson of Monroe, exhibits; Travis MacClendon of Monroe, entertainment; A. B. Smith of Monroe, tours and transportation; J. Scott McWilliams of Monroe, registration; and Ed Kerr of Baton Rouge, publicity.

Speakers will be announced later, Myers said.

Annual Meet Of Women's League Set

The choosing of the agenda for the new year will be an important feature when the annual meeting of the League of Women Voters is held tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Frances Hotel.

Also on the program will be the election of officers and approval of the 1958-59 budget.

The board of directors of the league has recommended a "Know Your Town" survey for the coming year.

Officers recommended by the nominating committee are Mrs. William P. Morrow, second vice president; Miss Jo Ann Richardson, treasurer; Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, first vice president; Mrs. W. D. Clark, Mrs. Guy H. Popham and Mrs. Raymond Boyd, directors, and Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. Aline Bannister and Miss Myrtle Rodgers, nominating committee for 1959.

Officials of the league said prospective members are invited to attend this meeting. Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling FA 3-3991 or FA 3-1009.
